

Do You Care for Your Hair?

Of course you do—every man and woman does. That's why no one likes to lose it.

One of the greatest enemies of the hair is dandruff.

Dandruff is not merely an unsightly nuisance—it's a real menace. It indicates a diseased scalp can't nourish the hair properly.

When the hair fails to get proper nourishment it dies and falls out. What are you going to do about it?

Use Wyeth's Sige and Sulphur, it gets at the root of the trouble by overcoming the dandruff. You will notice the difference after a few applications.

Call and see us we will tell you more about it. 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

ROMANCE NOT DEAD

But Some of the Old-time Frills Discarded in Modern Life

No, Romance is not dead, but it takes a different form in this practical age.

The man of to-day can love just as fervently as in the days of sighs and verse. An exaggerated romantic wooing and a Gretia Green marriage do not appeal to the present-day maid.

Imagine her consternation if her lover serenaded her at night, or suggested an elopement! She prefers a man who will get about his business and provide a good time for her.

Instead of maintaining a lordly reserve as to his business and income, the man of to-day discusses both with his wife, and her woman's wit is often helpful.

It is certainly not sentimental of him to notice that Johnnie's boots are wearing out before he realises the fact that his wife has done her hair in a new fashion, but it is eminently more practical.

The tales of old-world gallantry make excellent reading, but it is doubtful if a courtly wave of the hat would compensate the woman of to-day for a sparsely laid table.

And Chivalry—well, outwardly chivalry has decreased. Woman strives with man in nearly every field of the labor market, and naturally the attitude she assumes does not give rise to over-chivalrous feelings on the part of a man.

But womanly bearing will always call forth courtesy in the average man.

Woman takes a different stand in a man's thoughts to-day to what she did in the—say, early Victorian age. To-day she is accepted more as a comrade and practical helpmate than she was then.

She is not regarded as a divinity, neither is a man regarded as a paragon of virtues. Men and women know each other now as they really are—more alive to each other's limitations, and the knowledge creates a true love based on reality, not a high-flown, sentimental ideal.

The girl of to-day is educated with her brother, and takes her stand in the world with him; she realizes, when grown up, that other men are but a counterpart—she does not expect perfection. But it is a man who combines the tenderness of love with a practical eye to the present and future that the woman of the present day values.

Washing Painted Wood

The easiest and quickest way of cleaning paint is to have two pails of water, one cold, to which a tablespoonful of ammonia has been added, and one hot, with the addition of a little ammonia and soap powder.

With a soft flannel wash the paint with the soapy water, then rinse with the cold water, using wash leather instead of the flannel, and wring the leather fairly dry. Paint washed like this dries with a nice polish, which no amount of drying with cloths and using hot water alone will impart.

BASEBALL CHATTER

The Connaughts won another victory at Victoria Park last evening by defeating the Victorias by the score of 11-7.

P. McDonald started in the pitcher's box for the Vics and only allowed one man to pass the plate in the first inning. At the end of this inning the score stood 5-1 in the Vics' favor. In the next inning McDonald got wild, owing to an injured hand and Martin was put in. At the end of the inning the Vics were ahead 5-2.

In the third inning the Conns got two more and the Vics one. At the end of the fourth the score stood 11-7, the Conns getting two more runs and the Vics were shut out without a run.

Darkness was fast falling, and the Conns struck on Belvidere Links in order to finish the game before it was called off on account of darkness. The Vics came up for their final chance and began hitting McCarey and filled the bases but only got one run.

The game ended 11-8 in favor of the Conns.

Mr. William Garrick as umpire and Mr. Ollie McEachern as Base Judge acted most satisfactorily.

Wife and I Are Friends of INSTANT POSTUM

"There's a Reason"
"I used to drink tea and coffee—was nervous and irritable. Wife said so

"So when the new food-drink, Instant Postum came along she said to herself: Here's where I break Jack of the tea and coffee habit."

"Instant Postum is good stuff. I sleep better, smile more, and miss my indigestion."

A level teaspoonful of INSTANT POSTUM in an ordinary cup of hot water dissolves instantly and makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like STRONG things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

Postum comes in two forms.
REGULAR POSTUM (must be boiled).
INSTANT POSTUM doesn't require boiling but is prepared INSTANTLY by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water.
