SORE THROAT?

DEAL promptly with the first sign of hoarseness, soreness or inflammation—it might be the forerunner of laryngitis, influenza or serious bronchial trouble.

The quickest, safest and most soothing remedy is Peps. As a Peps tablet dissolves in the mouth it gives off medicinal fumes that are breathed into the innermost recesses of throat and chest.

In their speedy direct way Peps thoroughly disinfect the throat and air-tubes, destroy mischievous germs, relieve any soreness, inflammation or irritation.

Take Peps whenever you suspect you need them. A Peps in the mouth filters the air you breathe, and fortifies against sudden colds and chills and the infection dangers encountered in trains, street cars and crowded assemblies.

Peps are equally good for obstinate coughs and colds, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, and other chest weaknesses of old and young.

and, while thus employed he frequently loses his balance and rolls over. Frequently with his head erect, the dog utters a short and very peculiar howl, or if he barks it is in a hoarse inward sound, altogether dissimilar from his usual tone."

The period of incubation of the disease or that time which elapses between the introduction of the virus and the development of the symptoms, appear to vary in a remarkable degree. In some cases it is as short as a fortnight, and in others as long as several months or even years. On an average it seems to be about six weeks to three months.

When the disease is about to declare itself, it not infrequently happens, that the wound that had quickly and entirely healed after the bite, began to exhibit evidences of irritation or inflammatory action or at least to be the seat of a morbid sensation such as numbness, tingling, or itching."

The great danger to mankind in the bite of a dog lies, so 'tis said, in the fact that the person bitten imagines or simulates its symptoms, especially if nervous or hysterical, whereas only a very few of those bitten by a mad dog take the disease.

Pasteur, the great French bacteriologist gave much attention to the virus which causes hydrophobia. As a result of his experiments he obtained virus for inoculation by means of which to prevent the disease. In July 1885 he made his first attempt on humanity by inoculating Joseph Meister, a boy who had lately been bitten. This boy received twelve injections of virus and passed the ordeal unharmed. He was discharged as "a successful case." Since then the lives of many other persons have been saved in the same way. Indeed the records of Pasteur's laboratories show a mortality of less than one percent when persons bitten have been treated by his method. This method consists essentially in progressive inoculation with less and less attenuated virus until the use of that of a high degree of intensity is attained. The virus in its different degrees of virulency is obtained from the spinal cord of rabid rabbits which have acquired the maximum intensity of the disease, after a repealed transference of the virus from one animal to another. Sections of the cord free from foreign germs are allowed to remain for different periods of time in a sterilized and dry atmosphere, whereby the virulency of the virus becomes progressively dimished, until it is finally completely lost.

Uncle Sam's Soldiers Train For Civil Life

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A survey of educational training work given enlisted men in the Army along with the military instruction they get in the service shows that 44,719 soldiers are being fitted for places in civil life, representative of some 500 trades and professions.

In the particular month covered by the survey, 7,800 soldiers were attending motor transport schools; 9,300 were enrolled in post schools to qualify for positions in business life, either as clerks, stenographers or accountants; 1,200 were studying medicine and its allied callings; 4,500 were engaged in work connected with the care of animals, veterinary, blacksmithing and horseshoeing; 4,553 were studying cable, radio, telegraph and telephone communications.

Of the remaining soldier students several hundred are learning the printing trade, more than a hundred are working on railway locomotives as engineers, mechanics and firemen. Still others are trying to master scientific and technical subjects, including meteorology.

About 500 soldiers pursue their studies at night. Arrangements have been made for them to leave their military posts each night to attend classes held in schools of nearby community centers.

Father And Son Partners In Lawmaking

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 8.—A Kansas father and his son are partners in the making of laws. Although both are lawyers, they are not partners in the practice of law, living in different cities.

The senior member of the "firm" is Edgar Bennett of Washington, state senator from Washington county. The son, Edgar C. Bennett of Marysville, represents Marshall county in the lower house of the Kansas legislature.

INSTALL "WATER TAXIS" FOR DUTCH CANAL USE

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 8.—"Water taxis" are to be installed here for service in the canals which wind about the city. The taxis will accommodate two to four persons and are really small motorboats with cabins, the taximeter being attached to the shaft of the propeller.

The taxis were decided upon to meet the increased growth of Amsterdam on both sides of the River Ij, as well as the other waterways of the city and nearby dist-

YANKEE HUSTLE CAUSES MEXICANS SHORTEN LUNCH

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 8.—Yankee hustle is menacing another cherished tradition of an alien land.

Mexico, immemorial asylum of the Three-Hour-For-Lunch-Club, accustomed to shut up shop from noon or one o'clock until three or four in the afternoon, is having its siestas disturbed by the flop of flapjacks, the sizzle of "ham-and," the shouts of hurried waiters and the strange and saddening sight of gentlemen sitting upon stools to eat.

The American quick lunch is invading streets which for centuries have dozed half the afternoons away. Instead of a seven-course midday dinner followed by a nap quite a few caballeros and a whole flock of foreigners now are gallopping into American whitefronts, bolting a stack of wheats or a sandwich, and returning to business.

MAYOR FIVE TIMES AND GIVEN BUT FIVE "NOES"

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 8.—To have been elected mayor of town of 3,500 for five consecutive terms, and to have received a total of five votes against him in the five elections, is the record of E M. Bodenheimer, 60-year-old "booster" of South Highlands, La.

South Highlands, a strictly residential town, adjoins the city of Shreveport, but has its own municipal government and its own public utilities. In elections the city votes a blank ballot, having no primaries.
