THE AFTERMATH OF DIGGING.

(J. E. M. in Toronto News.)
Blessed has been the rain,
For white it fell,
Full many a muscle-strain
Eased, and got well.

There was the back, which kept
Creaking—like cheese,
So that I seldom slept
With any ease.

There was the off hind leg,
Stiff, I confess,
I was a Silas Wegg
In awkwardness.

There was the shoulder strain,
It was no fun,
Still, why should I complain?
Digging is done.

Blisters have hardened now,
Pains have departed,
Joy is upon my brow
I am free hearted.

Soon as the land is dry
Back I may go
Without a single sigh,
Bearing my hoe.

Closetman was feeling his way before definitely engaging the physician famous for his high charges.
"Fardon me, doctor," he said, "but do you—er—take off anything for cash?"
"Certainly," was the reply. "What would you like taken off—a hand or a foot?"

LATE POTATO BLIGHT ALREADY APPEARING

Immediate Spraying Strongly Recommended.

Reports from Ontario to the effect that the potato blight is developing there to a considerable extent are borne out by Mr. Paul A. Murphy, Dominion Plant Pathologist, who states that the disease is widespread in Nova Scotia on early varieties and has been found even on late potatoes. This is very much earlier than the blight usually appears and the outlook for late planted crops there is not encouraging unless the weather becomes dry and sunny.

The same weather conditions which have favoured the disease elsewhere have been operating in Prince Edward Island also and it may make its appearance at any time. Farmers who have made the necessary preparations to spray their crop with Bordeaux mixture are recommended to do so at once to get the best results even if other work has to be postponed. Spraying acts by preventing the disease and a large part of its efficiency is lost if a considerable amount of the foliage has already become infected.

The Field Laboratory of Plant Pathology, which has been experimenting on this question here for two years, recommends four applications of Bordeaux mixture made up in the following strength:—

4 lbs. bluestone, 4 lbs. stone lime and 40 gallons of water.

The preparation of this mixture is simple. Either the 4 lbs. of bluestone may be dissolved in 2 gallons of water (hot water hastens this operation) in a wooden pail and then added to 36 gallons of water in the tank of the spraying machine, 4 lbs. of good stone lime being meanwhile slacked and stirred up in 2 gallons of water in another vessel and then strained into the tank, or the bluestone and lime may have been previously dissolved in strong solutions in separate vessels in the proportion of 30 lbs. of bluestone in 40 gallons of water in one barrel and 80 lbs. of good stone lime in another barrel.

These strong mixtures are called stock solutions each of which contains 2 lbs. in each gallon. As in the previous method 36 gallons of water are first put in the tank of the machine, to which are then added 2 gallons of the stock solution of bluestone (equivalent to 4 lbs. of bluestone) and 2 gallons of the lime mixture, previously well stirred, which is equivalent to 4 lbs. of lime. The mixtures made in both these ways are the same and the latter is easier to handle and much more expeditious.

Any poison may be used with the Bordeaux mixture to kill the potato bugs, either arsenate of lead paste 3 to 5 lbs. in 40 gallons, or arsenate of lead powder 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 lbs. in 40 gallons, or Paris Green 1 lb in 40 gallons. Whichever is used, the poison is made into a thin cream with a little water and added last thing to the Bordeaux mixture before application.

For effective spraying a good machine which keeps up a high pressure and forces the spray out in the form of a fine cloud, is a necessary requisite and the best results will always be obtained by the man who exercises the greatest thoroughness in covering the foliage of the plants thoroughly with the Bordeaux mixture.

"There's a man planting potatoes, said farmer Cornotossel, "when he ought to be playing golf."
"You don't approve of gardening."
"Yes I do. But if he'd go ahead and play golf he wouldn't be spilling good potatoes that somebody could use."

"I won five dollars betting?"
"How?"
"Bet my dog could stay under water five minutes."
"Did he?"
"He's there yet."

"The first of these, who before her marriage to Cameron was Miss May C. Ostrander of Bridgeport, Ct., was Cameron sent away for the sentence which, she said, he so richly deserved. Her love, she said, had been turned to hate by Cameron's action in deserting her and unlawfully marrying another woman.

The second woman, Miss Beatrice Caswell of Jamaica Plain, whose marriage to Cameron, accompanied by the skirling of the bagpipes of his regiment as they played the "Cock of the North," was given such a wife publicly some time ago, declared that she loved him still and pleaded that he be given a chance to go back and clear his name by dying as a soldier should die.

Cameron, who wore nothing suggesting a soldier but his khaki shirt, sat throughout the entire hearing with tears pouring down his cheeks in a manner that, court officials say, has never been equalled in the courthouse. He cried all the while and at the end of the trial he said: "I am sorry that I have failed to do my duty. I am sorry that I have failed to do my duty. I am sorry that I have failed to do my duty."

When Col. Guthrie asked Mrs. Cameron, his first wife, if she would rather see Cameron go back to the front where his chances of life or death would be even than have him remain idle in the House of Correction, she replied, "No, I want to see him go to jail. He never was of any use to me and never helped me or my child."

"Let the man go on probation," Judge, said Col. Guthrie, "and I will take him in my personal charge. I will take him back to Canada with me to-night and see that when he goes to France he will be sent out with the 'bombers' on the 'Suicide Club' line. Few men ever come out of that alive."

Miss Caswell was then asked regarding Col. Guthrie's suggestion, and she assented saying that she still loves him and would like to see him given a chance to clear his name of the stain that his marital indiscretions had placed upon it.

Accordingly Judge Creed gave his consent and suspended the 18 months' sentence he had meted out to the piper. Col. Guthrie was then invited to sit beside Judge Creed for the rest of the morning session.

BATTERY BOYS DANCE AS SHELLS FLY OVERHEAD

Mrs. Frank McVarish, Harmony Junction has received the following bright letter from her son who is with the 8th Canadian Siege Battery in France.

"Somewhere in France"
July 5, 1917

My Dear Mother:—Your letter of June 11th I received last evening O. K. needless to say I was glad to get a letter from home, as Canadians mail takes a long time to get to the spot where it is eagerly looked for. We are enjoying lovely weather over here now, which makes our work much easier.

We are kept busy handing over the "big ones" to Fritz all the time, and he does not forget to return the compliment, though not so numerous as ours. Still he has made us move for the fifth time already.

They have taken us away from the open country, where we spent the first of our time in France, this time lodging us in the heart of a once beautiful town.

We see nothing here but brick, tile, and cobblestones. There are a few people who live in the town, or rather under the town, as they all live in cellars.

Yet, we have a rather nice position in a front lawn, where there are some nice cherry and pear trees, also some nice ornamental ones.

We are billeted in a great big cellar, with nice slate floors, each crew have their own room and do their best to make it look like a peaceful abode.

One of the boys found an old violin in a deserted attic, and last night (7th July) we turned the cellar into a dance hall and sure made her rattle while "Fritz" was sending shrapnel into the upper apartments. This is only an old habit of his and nothing out of the ordinary so it did not disturb our time in the least.

I once heard of a watch makers shop getting on a persons nerves, well I would like to see that person over here, when they put on a berage, to cover the infantry in a charge. It sounds something in a small way like the most terrific thunder storm on record, a dozen threshing milks, two dozen derricks, fifty outside wedding celebrations, and a couple of hundred shoemakers shops at work, to represent machine guns.

Still you go about your work on the gun like as if there was nothing going on. I cannot understand how the boys ever hang in out.

I do not want you to be a bit nervous about me mother as I am only one of the bunch and I never felt better nor happier in all my life.

As it is growing dark I will conclude with lots of love and good wishes. From your loving son
JACK

OVERMARRIED SOLDIER GETS ANOTHER CHANCE

FREDERICTON, N. B.—Lt. Col. P. A. Guthrie, the officer commanding the 236 Overseas Battalion—the MacLean Kilites of America—has returned from his recruiting trip to New York. He has been delayed a day in New York to confer with Brigadier General White of the British Recruiting Mission, and thus was unable to come back with the pipe band.

Accompanying the Colonel on his return today were several N. C. O.s., who have been engaged in recruiting duty in Boston, a number of new recruits for the Kilites and last, but not least in many ways—"Jimmy" Cameron, the much-married piper. Colonel Guthrie had stopped off long enough in Boston to attend Cameron's trial, and Judge Creed, instead of sending "Jimmy" to the House of Correction for eighteen months, sentenced him to the "Suicide Club" on the firing line in France.

The story of what happened in the Boston Court yesterday when Cameron was turned over to the Kilites is best told in yesterday afternoon's Boston papers. The Boston Record's story, which was accompanied by a picture showing Piper "Jimmy" leaving the court house with Mrs. Cameron No. 2 on his arm and Capt. P. F. Godenrath and other members of the Kilites prominently shown, follows:

Piper "Jimmie" Cameron of the MacLean Kilites band of the 236th Canadian Overseas Battalion, who yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of polygamy was virtually sentenced to death today in Judge Creed's Municipal Court when after he had been given a suspended sentence of eighteen months, the Colonel of his regiment by an eloquent plea, took him in his custody with a promise to the court to see that he was sent into a position on the front from where few men return.

Never before in a Massachusetts court room was there enacted such a scene as was staged in the sort of atmosphere of Judge Creed's courtroom this morning.

Col. P. A. Guthrie, commanding officer of the regiment which has been so popular in Boston, proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that the tales of his ability as a lawyer that have reached this city from Canada are richly deserved.

In his Kilite Uniform consisting of riding breeches made of the famous MacLean plaid, khaki coat and trim fitting leather puttees, he was a striking and picturesque figure standing within the enclosure set aside for members of the bar.

Piper "Jimmie" sitting facing him clad in "civilians," offered a marked contrast to his leader, upon whose eloquence his fate depended. Other high lights and shadows in the courtroom were his wearing members of Cameron's regiment, and the two women, love for whom had bought "Jimmie" into his sorry plight.

The First Wife's Story.

The first of these, who before her marriage to Cameron was Miss May C. Ostrander of Bridgeport, Ct., was Cameron sent away for the sentence which, she said, he so richly deserved. Her love, she said, had been turned to hate by Cameron's action in deserting her and unlawfully marrying another woman.

The second woman, Miss Beatrice Caswell of Jamaica Plain, whose marriage to Cameron, accompanied by the skirling of the bagpipes of his regiment as they played the "Cock of the North," was given such a wife publicly some time ago, declared that she loved him still and pleaded that he be given a chance to go back and clear his name by dying as a soldier should die.

Cameron, who wore nothing suggesting a soldier but his khaki shirt, sat throughout the entire hearing with tears pouring down his cheeks in a manner that, court officials say, has never been equalled in the courthouse. He cried all the while and at the end of the trial he said: "I am sorry that I have failed to do my duty. I am sorry that I have failed to do my duty. I am sorry that I have failed to do my duty."

When Col. Guthrie asked Mrs. Cameron, his first wife, if she would rather see Cameron go back to the front where his chances of life or death would be even than have him remain idle in the House of Correction, she replied, "No, I want to see him go to jail. He never was of any use to me and never helped me or my child."

"Let the man go on probation," Judge, said Col. Guthrie, "and I will take him in my personal charge. I will take him back to Canada with me to-night and see that when he goes to France he will be sent out with the 'bombers' on the 'Suicide Club' line. Few men ever come out of that alive."

Miss Caswell was then asked regarding Col. Guthrie's suggestion, and she assented saying that she still loves him and would like to see him given a chance to clear his name of the stain that his marital indiscretions had placed upon it.

Accordingly Judge Creed gave his consent and suspended the 18 months' sentence he had meted out to the piper. Col. Guthrie was then invited to sit beside Judge Creed for the rest of the morning session.

Enlist Your Kitchen in the War!

"The kitchen must help as well as the workshop and the trenches"
Mr. Lloyd George has said it!

What does he mean?
He means you must know and practice real thrift—make every dollar you spend on food serve your family and your country. Banish those things which are wasteful and substitute real foods. Lovers of tea and coffee must realize that these beverages are in no sense of the word food, but merely pleasant, slightly stimulating drinks, which, by the way, are soaring in price!

Thrift Suggests Serving Cocoa

It is a scientific fact that a cup of Cowan's Perfection Brand Cocoa contains more actual food value than a cup of beef extract, bouillon, or chicken soup.

Economies like Cowan's Cocoa render the diet more delightful, while saving money. And the saving effected in household expenses will enable you to help win the war another way—by Purchasing War Certificates!

For $21.50 you can buy at your nearest bank or Post office a War Savings Certificate for which in 3 years' time the Government will refund $25.00. Remember every food economy you practice helps to defend the brave boys at the front.

Cowan's Perfection Brand Cocoa can be purchased from all good dealers throughout Canada. Economy also suggests your choice of Cowan's Maple Buds, Queen's Dessert, or Milk Chocolate Bars as the ever welcome confections.

Ask for Cowan's ACTIVE SERVICE Chocolate; just what our soldiers in the trenches appreciate. Specially manufactured to meet their needs.

PEACE RESOLUTION IN BRITISH HOUSE WAS VOTED DOWN

(Canadian Press)

LONDON.—The House of Commons, after employing the whole evening session in a discussion of a peace resolution moved by James Ramsay MacDonald, Socialist and Labour member, defeated it by a vote of 148 to 19. The announcement of the figures was received with some cheers and much laughter.

Irish M. Had Accused the Government of a Bomb Plot Against Him.

LONDON.—Laurence Ginnell, the Irish member who has so often threatened to follow the example of other Sinn Fein members and abstain from attending Parliament, was suspended by the Speaker in the House of Commons this afternoon for refusing to obey a ruling of the chair.

At the conclusion of the question period, Mr. Ginnell accused the Government of having sent secret service men to the House yesterday to discredit the Sinn Feiners, and amid roars of laughter he said that if these men had been searched bombs would have been found in their pockets. In reading a number of threatening and abusing letters which he had received, he declared dramatically:

"I believe my life is in danger in this country. If my life is taken my death will be a death for Ireland, and I consider it cheap."

He refused to resume his seat when ordered to do so, and the speaker instructed the attendants to remove the unruly member. The House adjourned while the attendants hustled Mr. Ginnell from the chamber.
