NEW MULBERRY TONE NOW ALL THE RAGE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—With silk all the rage it is not wonderful that one of the newest popular colorings should be a mulberry tone. The shade is deeper and richer than the pearly which was so widely worn last summer. It has a blue rather than reddish cast, and is so dark that in some lights it appears almost black. It is frequently used for dresses in conjunction with embroideries of beads, brilliants and pearls.

PROMISES MADE TO MONTREAL POSTMEN.

MONTREAL, Oct. 15.—Following interviews during the past few weeks between Hon. P. J. A. Cardinal, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and representatives from the Letter Carriers' Association of Montreal the Minister has issued the following statement:

"In a telephone conversation with the Hon. Charles Murphy, he assured me the Civil Service Commission was willing to consider favorably the recommendations for the increasing of the number of postal employees. In addition he said that his department had in mind a sum of money for that purpose but that probably this sum would not be enough to cover the increase. He added that when the commission would return his recommendations his department would apply the money in hand to the augmentation. He further stated that whatever Government would be in power, the situation of the postal employees would not remain in a status quo, but that it would be bettered.

The representation from the Letter Carriers' expressed themselves as satisfied.

APPLE TREE FERTILIZING.

An experiment has been tried extending over three years at Sidley, B. C. Dominion Experimental Station to determine the effect of various fertilizers upon the growth of apple trees. The following fertilizers were used separately: nitrate of soda, two pounds per tree; muriate of potash, 2 pounds per tree; acid phosphate, 4 pounds per tree; the whole mixed and used at the rate of four pounds per tree. Nitrate of soda gave the greatest amount of growth, but muriate of potash and acid phosphate gave the highest yield of fruit, particularly the latter, although both showed a tendency to check the growth. The varieties of apples used in the test were: King of Tompkins Co., Gravenstein, Red Astrachan, Lowland Raspberry, Grimes Golden, Orange Pippin and Wagener.

A WEMBLEY COMEDY.

One of the hundred thousand things to see at Wembley is an exhibit representing a grocer's shop in which cheese, oatmeal, bread, sugar, and so on, are lying about with no wrapping. Dummy rats, mice and other small beasts are shown eating up the good things, and it is explained that this proves the danger of impure food. It should be made up in properly packed parcels before being exposed for sale.

But there are real rats and mice at Wembley, and one night they discovered the unwrapped food and did what the dummy rats were pretending to do—ate it all up, so that in the morning there was not a scrap left. They drove home the moral all right, but at rather too heavy a cost for repetition every day!

Industrial Commission Needed

(Historical)

There is no doubt but that there is a large and varied field open here in this Province, and in the neighboring provinces, for the prosecution of new industries and the extension of some of the existing establishments. If an earnest effort were made to find out just where we stand and how to proceed. This at the outset would call for a Government Commission whose duty would be to enter thoroughly into the matter and consider and report on the possibilities of this new field. The greatest care should be taken, first of all, not to propose any line of manufacture which is already in existence. The same would apply to resources which are already developed. In such cases the investigation should decide on what is feasible and could be carried on successfully. Before proceeding further with the different resources which are lying idle let us demand of all candidates for new industries whether they are or are not heart and soul in favor of such an enquiry being made. If not, turn them down at the polls—if it is not clear that they mean business. If they do mean business, and are nearly over, we would suggest that candidates would state in the press at once just which they are willing to do on the subject would they all stand together for the appointment of a Commission such as is suggested.

Now let us look into what calls for a commission of this character. There are the fishing resources of the Province. There has been nothing said so far as we have seen in the present campaign as to how this industry stands. There is no doubt nevertheless that there is a wide field for new development. It is an important part of our resources, and if new fish were put into the operations an immense increase in the revenue from it for the fishermen would be the result. Bear in mind that the fish has a far-reaching effect on this industry, and should be framed in accordance with the recommendations laid down by the most expert and disinterested men that could be chosen to make the enquiry. Nothing should be left undone to safeguard the industry and at the same time show up the possibility of investing capital safely in it.

Agriculture in recent years has been undergoing great changes, but has not been so seriously neglected as the fishery business. It might also profit by a careful scrutiny of the operations carried on and how the Government at Ottawa could materially assist the industry.

As a field for the establishment of smaller industries in the way of manufacturing such a commission could also render good service. It would open the eyes of our people if the opportunities were brought to light, and how such industries are springing up and making employment and profitable investment in other countries.

The winter navigation question has never ceased to be a stumbling block to manufacturing. Other sources of facilities such as the construction of the shore-front railway are in prospect and would combine to extensively to the inauguration of such enterprises as those alluded to, and also afford help to news ventures. This would all come under the review of such a body as we have proposed.

We have no desire to cast any reflections on any man's opinion as there is no denying the fact of King. The following phrase uttered immediately after a referendum by the Reichstag, which was the basis of the oath of the Kaiser, is regarded as particularly objectionable:

"The supreme law for us all is the fulfillment of that duty which we owe to the Fatherland, to the Reich and to the oath to the Kaiser, which we have sworn to His Majesty."

The President reached the cemetery just after von Arnim had finished speaking. He laid a wreath on the grave of the monarch, after one had been laid there for the Kaiser. Then, in company of Prince Oscar of Prussia and the erstwhile Imperial Premier, the Field Marshal reviewed the march past, not only of the Reichswehr, but also of the so-called fatherland societies, all of which are militaristic and monarchistic. President von Hindenburg wore his old war uniform with spiked helmet and Imperial decorations.

The official character of his participation, he had the presidential standard removed from his automobile. The Berliner Tageblatt agrees with the Vossische Zeitung, however, that this is a mistake, and the Socialist Vorwaerts affirms the "monument was unveiled in the name of William II. The president of the republic gave William II's representative precedence, leaving that to the Reichswehr, at which the Reichswehr was incited to a breach of its oath. This game of field marshal today and tomorrow president serves neither Hindenburg the man nor his high office.

Vorwaerts also recalls that on May 6, 1923, the ex-Crown Prince's birthday, von Hindenburg himself, in an address at a war monument dedication, reminded his hearers, among other things, of his fidelity and attachment to and veneration for His Majesty, our all-gracious Kaiser, King and master."

REPUBLICANS A MARTYR TO CONSTIPATION

MONARCHICAL AFFAIR Staged by Imperial Generals at Potsdam.

VON ARNIM FOR EMPEROR

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—German Republicanism is up in arms over the monarchical manifestation staged by Imperial generals at Potsdam Sunday. The president of the President von Hindenburg and a company of the German Reichswehr. Not only are the Liberal parties making an issue of this "anti-republican" demonstration, but the Catholic Centre party, meant to bring the incident before the Reichstag when it reconvenes next month. Although Hindenburg himself is a Republican, the president's attack centres on Defence Minister Gessler, who is not only civilian head of the Reichswehr, but is also acting chancellor in Luther's absence at Locarno. What critics of the Reichswehr, and possibly incidental to the unveiling of a monument to the war dead of the Kaiser's Augusta Guard Regiment—want to know is, why Herr Gessler lets the army of the Republic participate in a demonstration against the Republic, and why, as chief of the Government, he did not warn President von Hindenburg against attending so subversive an affair?

Herr Gessler announces today that a formal pledge was given him that the dedication ceremony would be absolutely non-political in character, and that he is investigating both the behavior of the Reichswehr officers present and a Republican speech, in which a General Six von Arnim committed himself and everybody else present, including the Republican troops, to unbroken fidelity to the Kaiser.

The text of this speech, which is emphasized, was delivered before the military cemetery, where the monument was unveiled, seems to have vanished. Quotations published in the Republican press—the Reichswehr papers have not printed a word of it—are alleged by the Monarchist faction to be inaccurate. The Socialists and Democrats demand the passage of laws depriving the Reichswehr of the pension paid them by the Republic in the event of their taking part in anti-Republican activities. It is also urged that, since the formal promise of the organization was violated at the Potsdam ceremony, the text of speeches is proposed to make in the preface to manufacturing. Other sources of facilities such as the construction of the shore-front railway are in prospect and would combine to extensively to the inauguration of such enterprises as those alluded to, and also afford help to news ventures. This would all come under the review of such a body as we have proposed.

HINDENBURG PROTESTED

According to the Achtung Abendblatt, President von Hindenburg himself called von Arnim severely to order for the general's behavior. The Reichswehr papers have not printed a word of it—are alleged by the Monarchist faction to be inaccurate. The Socialists and Democrats demand the passage of laws depriving the Reichswehr of the pension paid them by the Republic in the event of their taking part in anti-Republican activities. THE WATER-SPRITE CASTLE

This is the third day's chapter of the story of "The Water-Sprite." Children who cut out the dolls every day will at the end of two weeks have a complete set of Color Cut-Outs with which to act out the interesting story.

The two children tumbled down through the waters of the well. When at last they came to the bottom they found themselves in a country of green meadows and trees and streams. Before them stood a shining castle with domes and towers.

This magnificent castle belonged to the wicked water-sprite who owned the well. The little brother and sister marched straight up to the door of it and knocked. Immediately it was opened by the water-sprite, who had been watching for them.

BOYS MAY DIVIDE $3,000 REWARD.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15.—The two young sons of a St. Agathe store-keeper will likely be awarded the $3,000 reward for information leading to the apprehension of three of the five desperadoes who recently escaped from the jail here. When two of the fugitives brought some provisions in the village store the boys recognized them from published pictures and phoned in a tip to the police. Search parties later located the trio in a nearby haystack. They surrendered without offering any resistance when the posse threatened to set fire to the haystack. When searched at the police headquarters here, John Stanton and his companions had only nineteen cents between them.
