Colors for Sallow Skin

Dear Miss Leeds—I enjoy your talks very much and was wondering if you would answer the following question for me. I have black hair, hazel eyes and dark skin. What colors should I wear? Nearly every color I put on makes my skin look sallow. I would appreciate your advice. A. P.

Answer—You may wear old gold, maize, deep russet, deep cream, mahogany, warm browns, peach, dark warm reds, grape, wine, burgundy and ruby, dull pinks, dull brick, midnight blue, warm gray, old rose, dark silent tones in green. Use a touch of dark rose rouge to increase the richness of your skin. Keep your skin in good condition by wise diet, fresh air and exercise. A dull, sallow skin usually indicates a sluggish circulation and irregular elimination of waste products from the body, and it is usually the woman who stays indoors most of the time at some sedentary occupation whose skin looks lifeless and dull. Sallow complexions need the fresh air and tonic effect of the sunshine. A change of habits, outdoor exercise, wise diet and regular facial massage will cause a marked improvement in a great many cases. A few minutes daily facial massage, semiweekly steaming, together with a weekly bleaching pack may be used with advantage in your case. Besides such adjustments in living, exercise, fresh air, sunshine and correct local care, the choice of becoming colors will bring out your type of beauty and individuality.

Motners, Mix This at Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The 16 ounces thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of the trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Happenings of the Week

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Harper and their winsome young daughter, Miss Claire have returned to Ottawa. While here they were the guests of Senator and Mrs. Prowse.

Mrs. Edgar T. Tufts and family of Dartmouth, N. S., returned this week to their home after spending a very pleasant autumn in this fair Province.

The Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Heartz, attended by Lt.-Col. J. Parker Hooper, Mrs. Hooper, Dr. and Mrs. Houston, attended The Black Feather, the fine Armistice play presented on Monday and Tuesday evenings, under the capable direction of Miss Barbara McNeill.

It was generally remarked that among so many exquisite new gowns worn at the Armistice Dance on Monday, that it was impossible to pick out the Belle of the Ball. Evening dresses have completely changed within the year and some lovely trailing gowns were very gracefully worn, especially by the younger people. Chaperones on this happy occasion were Mrs. W. S. Stewart, Mrs. I. E. Croken, Mrs. A. G. Bruce.

Mrs. T. B. Woodman was among the Bridge hostesses entertaining very pleasantly at her home on Thursday.

Poppy Day results show that the people of Charlottetown have not forgotten their soldiers—living or dead—and it was a pretty sight to see old and young laying their poppies at the foot of the monument on Armistice Day after the service.

Mrs. F. G. Kennedy entertained at a cosily arranged Bridge at her pretty home in Southport on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. A. A. Pomeroy was among the Bridge hostesses entertaining for Mrs. R. N. Taylor, of Westmount, this week.

Mrs. Brown, wife of the Rev. C. N. Brown, received Tuesday for the first time since taking up her residence in Charlottetown, and during the afternoon and evening the Parsonage was pleasantly filled. In the drawing room, profusely decorated with chrysanthemums in the pastel shades. Mrs. Brown was assisted in her pleasant duties of receiving by Mrs. Ramsay, wife of Dr. E. H. Ramsay, while in the evening the ladies were joined by Rev. Mr. Brown and Dr. Ramsay. The door was prettily attended by Miss Ruth Sinclair, while Mrs. H. D. Johnson, Mrs. G. E. Full, and Mrs. R. H. Rogers ushered. In the dining room rose chrysanthemums and rose tapers added attractiveness to the lovely tea table, which was presided over by Mrs. G. H. Taylor, Mrs. James Paton, Mrs. J. H. Ayers and Mrs. R. E. Mutch. Assisting in dispensing hospitality were Mrs. (Rev.) D. M. Sinclair, Miss Berna Huestis, Mrs. F. B. To wear a boutonniere at present is to proclaim oneself an aristocrat of fashion; at least so say the stylists, pointing to the circumstance that the leading couturiers of Paris almost invariably add a boutonniere of some type to each street costume.

The new boutonnieres are not the recent ordinary, unimaginative copies real flowers, however. They are flowers, yes, but flowers gone modernistic, caricaturing their lovely originals with lines carefully geometric and materials strikingly incongruous. A gardenia will be neatly disected into two color halves, black and silver, to wear with a tweed ensemble in grey and black, and one side of the flower will be in black felt and the other half in the amusingly daring material, tin — ordinary prosaic tin!

Patu's daytime clothes are frequently enlivened by the presence of a deceptive demure and tailored boutonniere, which reveals its true character under the expansive influence of a ray of sunshine, a wicked answering sight proving it to be made of bright sequins. The two little flowers making up this nosegay are in vividly contrasting colors, such as red and bright blue, and they rest on leather leaves also in red and blue.

Chenille-embroidered flowers are another favorite version of the boutonniere fashion though the chenille tries not to be as gracefully adaptable as it usually is. In one design two rosebuds, one green, one white, looking as much like little balls of chenille yarns as like rosebuds, repose complacently at the centre of the formal circular leaves which are nothing more nor less than three little hoops of wire wound across with the green chenille thread. Chrysanthemums made of innumerable fat little tails of chenille tapering to points come in pastel shades to blend with any costume.

Fur forms the basis of a number of these eccentric boutonnieres. In a four-leaved flat flower of indeterminate variety. Narrow strips of brown fur, so narrow that the fur itself is but a thin fringe, lacelike in its effect, outline the petals of a stiffly modern flower in gold leather

Boutonnieres for the street costume are not always worn in the buttonhole nor even in the vicinity of where the buttonhole would be if there were one. A recent French illustration showed the little bouquet perched far out on the shoulder at the top of the sleeve. Certainly flowers for evening have definitely abandoned the snuggling position they once occupied at the side of the neck. Now they are apt to be found somewhere on the hip or among the folds of the skirt, though a few still cling tenaciously to the point of the corsage or in the back.

Household Cares

Fall Heavily on the Woman Who is Run Down — Thin Blood the Trouble

To the woman who has her housework to do and her family to attend to, illness is almost a calamity. Many a woman keeps on with her household duties when she is feeling ready to drop. Her head aches, she may be breathless at the least exertion she has little relish for food, and always feels tired and nervous. The trouble is poor blood—thin watery blood, and she badly needs the health help that only Dr. Williams Pink Pills can give her. The rich, red blood which comes through the use of these pills promptly restores anaemic sufferers to good health. Among the thousands who have found new health through the use of this medicine is Mrs. John W. Macdonald, Cardigan, P. E. I., who says:—"I can most strongly recommend Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I was so run down in health that I was unable to do my housework alone. My husband thought I would never get better, as I had tried different kinds of medicine, with no benefit whatever. I was advised to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, which I did, and to my joy I found they were just the thing I needed. I took six boxes of the pills and found myself restored to my old-time good health."

Try Dr. Williams Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate resistance that will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now or you can get the pills by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

In Memoriam

MRS GEORGE H. STEVENSON

As the leaves in autumn fade and fall so passed to her eternal rest Maude Alice, dearly beloved sister in Christ wife of Elder George H. Stevenson. She had been in ill - health for a period of several years but for the past year had greatly improved Throughout her illness with ever the hope of a complete recovery, those who loved her did what they could to alleviate her suffering and to hasten her return to health. But just as the autumnal frosts had touched with glory the trees about our hillside she was called home at the early age of fifty-eight years.

A loving devoted and unselfish wife and mother she will be greatly missed in the family circle - where there is none can take her place. In Church work she was ever a faithful helper. To community welfare interests she gladly gave her services, opening her home on many occasions to both young and old in social activities.

She leaves to cherish her memory besides her husband two brothers and two sisters Martha and Cyrus Smith of New Glasgow, Watson of Wheatley River and Adelia, Mrs. MacNeill of Central Butte, Sask. also six children Edna, Mrs Harold Bagnall and Marion Hazel Grove, Nellie, Mrs. Percy Manuel, of this city - Evelyn, Esther and Herbert at home.

The funeral which was held from her home on the 3rd of October was largely attended though it rained heavily. Rev. C. E. Armstrong, her pastor, conducted the services Rev. John Murchison, of St. John sang that beautiful hymn "Shadows" The Floral tributes were. Pillow. The Family. Wreaths and Spray. The Women's Institute Mr. and Mrs. Toombs and sister Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dickieson and family; The Missionary Society New Glasgow Christian Church, Mrs B. Houston and family; and Mrs Charles Dickieson.

Interment was made in the family plot New Glasgow Cemetery.

but has one vacant chair."

MR. WILLIAM MacNEVIN

A gloom of sadness passed over the town of Howland, Maine, when news of the death of William MacNevin was heard. He was at his usual duties as Mill Watchman until two weeks ago, he went to the Paine Hospital, Bangor, Maine. When examined it was found that his condition was very serious and in hopes to save him, he submitted to an operation on Friday, November 1st and although all that medical and loving care was done to prolong life, he passed away at noon Sunday, November 3rd.

The deceased was born in Bonshaw, P. E. Island, sixty nine years ago. When a young man he united in marriage with Miss Euphemia Nicholson, living in Valleyfield where his family was born. About thirty-five years ago he came to Howland, Maine, and twenty-seven years ago he moved his family to that town where he has resided ever since, working for the Paper Company up to the time of his death. He was a very industrious worker, kind and considerate to his family and was holding a position of trust and responsibility when taken ill. He leaves to mourn besides a widow, one son Neil MacNevin of Lincoln, Maine, and four daughters, Mrs. A. D. MacLeod and Mrs. W. H. Birt of East Millinocket, Maine, Mrs. W. E. Morgan of Bristol, Vermont, and Mrs. J. A. Preeze of International Falls, Minnesota; also eighteen grand children, several brothers and sisters, besides a host of friends.

Funeral services were held at his late home Wednesday, November 6th. Rev. W. E. Mitchell, Pastor of the Howland Methodist Church of which the deceased was a member speaking words of comfort to the bereaved and Composite Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, Lagrauge, Me., of which he also was a member giving their Commital Services. Six of their members acting as pall bearers.

Interment was in Mt. Hope Cemetery, Bangor, Maine.

The following who were mourners at the funeral were: Mrs. MacNevin, widow, Mr. and Mrs. Neil MacNevin and two sons, Charles and Elevin of Lincoln, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morgan, of Bristol, Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. MacLeod and son William of East Millinocket, Maine, and daughter Lillian, who is a student nurse at the Eastern Maine General Hospital, Bangor, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Birt, East Millinocket, Maine, Mrs. J. A. Preeze, International Falls, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. William MacLeod, Calais, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Dan MacDonald and son and daughter John and Olive, Mr. John Nicholson, Brownville, Maine, Mr. Neil Nicholson, Howland, Maine.

Dated at East Millinocket, Maine, November 7th, 1929.

BEAUTY ARTS

Removing Stains

The housewife often complains of nails discolored from preparing vegetables, etc. It is quite true that various household tasks make it rather difficult to keep the nails always clean. But rubber gloves may be worn while preparing vegetables and washing dishes, and cotton or leather gloves may be kept handy for performing the dirtier tasks or working in the garden or on the car. The following bleaching lotion is especially effective for removing stains on hands and nails: Two tablespoonfuls of peroxide, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of rosewater.

Shaping the Nails

In manicuring one should keep in mind what the function of the nails really it. As they are meant to protect the fingertips and aid in picking up small objects it is obvious that they cannot fulfill these functions unless they are kept at moderate length. Nails which are too short are not only ugly in themselves, but also they give the fingers a stubby, unattractive appearance. Nails that are too long are equally unattractive and show poor taste. When filing the nails keep them in an oval or slightly pointed shape. The final step in the manicure is applying the polish. This is a matter of personal taste and there are various shades of polish which may be used. It should not be too vivid a red but rather a delicate flesh tint. There are powders, pastes or liquids that may be used.

Hang Nails

There are many women who are troubled with hang nails. These should be cut away very carefully with the manicure scissors or nippers. Be sure that you do not cut too deep and always strilize the scissors before cutting away loose, ragged skin. Apply a little peroxide afterward. Another ill which often accompanies hang nails is hard corners at the outer end of the nails. These may be softened by applying cold cream or oil and wearing glove fingers over them at night for a time.

Many women who keep the nails themselves in fairly good condition are very careless about letting the cuticle grow up around the nails and this, of course, will mar the appearance of an otherwise carefully groomed hand. Constant cutting of the cuticle makes the skin coarse and dry. If milady will form the habit of pushing back the cuticle every time she washes her hands, she will not be troubled with this unsightliness once she gets her nails and cuticle in good shape.

After washing the hands and drying them thoroughly always press back the cuticle at the base of the nails with the towel, taking each finger separately. Apply a little soothing cream or lotion and massage the hands for a second or two. There will result far less trouble with rough, red hands and white spots and ragged cuticle, for massaging the hands and fingers and pressing back the skin at the base of the nails in this manner regularly causes the nourishing juices to flow to the nails and thus keeps them in a healthy, glossy condition.

Needless Pain!

People are often too patient with pain. Suffering when there is no need to suffer. Shopping with a head that throbs. Working though they ache all over.

And Aspirin would bring them immediate relief!

The best time to take Aspirin is the very moment you first feel the pain. Why postpone relief until the pain has reached its height? Why hesitate to take anything so harmless?

Read the proven directions for checking colds, easing a sore throat; relieving headaches and the pains of neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

You can always count on its quick comfort. But if pain is of frequent recurrence see a doctor as to its cause.
