There were bonfires and demonstrations in different parts in the South last night, indicating that De Valera still commands the attention of several followers. Telegrams of congratulation poured in upon the insurgent chief at his Dublin residence.

FIND CAUSE OF MISSISSIPPI DISASTER

U. S. Warship Explosion Caused by Low Air Pressure in Gun.

(Canadian Press) WASHINGTON, July 18.—The court of inquiry which investigated the disaster on the battleship Mississippi, at target practice off San Diego, Calif., which resulted in the death last month of three officers and 44 men, has completed a preliminary report determining the cause of the accident. The accident, the court found, was due to the premature firing of No. 2 turret guns, caused by "foul bore" due to insufficient air pressure and the guns not being cleaned properly of gas before loading. The court also found that the number of casualties was increased by the presence of unofficial observers who crowded the passage ways, making exits more difficult. These observers were members of the crews of other ships in the Pacific fleet.

YACHT ROWENA DOCKS HERE

Mr. Goddard the Owner, a Well Known American Newspaper Man.

The private yacht, Rowena, of New York docked at the Marine Wharf yesterday evening at about 5 o'clock. The Rowena is owned by Mr. Morrill Goddard, editor of the New York Sunday American, and editor-in-chief of the fourteen Sunday Newspapers owned by W. Randolph Hearst. Mr. Goddard, accompanied by his two oldest sons and their chum, is on a pleasure cruise to Labrador, and their voyage will take in the Atlantic sea-board as far as Battle Harbor, Labrador.

The cruising party left New York on July 7th, and have since visited all the points of interest between that city and Charlottetown. Last evening Mr. Goddard and his companions enjoyed a short motor trip to one of Mr. W. K. Rogers' fox farms and were delighted with the beauty of the island, the splendid condition of its roads and the matchless quality of the foxes they viewed at the ranch. Questioned last night as to the U. S. Presidential possibility, Mr. Goddard expressed his opinion that Calvin Coolidge was the forerunner in the race. Mr. Goddard was able to speak in a very interesting manner on the political conditions and other matters of interest in the States. The statement was made before the French officials entered a meeting of the committee which was formed by the conference to deal with the authority of the reparations commission in respect to the action to be taken in the event of possible default of Germany in the execution of the experts' scheme. ALLIES SATISFIED WITH PROGRESS OF CONFERENCE

Deliberations Keep Close To Vital Purpose Of Meeting—Senator Belcourt To Represent Canada.

(Canadian Press) LONDON, July 18.—The experts plan for a reparations deal intended to be devoid of sentiment of political nationalistic feeling, is going through the critical period of its existence under the scrutiny of the experts, who spent the second day of the inter-allied conference at work in the committee rooms in Downing St. Tonight it was authoritatively stated that the Prime Ministers of Great Britain, France and Belgium, were highly satisfied with the progress made. The British are said to be particularly pleased because the deliberations are keeping close to the vital purpose for which the conference assembled, that of adopting broad sweeping measures for making the experts scheme workable. LONDON, July 18.—French members of the committee of the inter-allied conference dealing with the authority of reparations commission announced that they will insist upon their determination to insist upon the taking up by bankers of the proposed loan to Germany as a condition precedent to the recognition that the experts' plan is in effect. The French members also expressed their joint conviction that the economic unity of Germany could not be restored until the proposed loan was under way. The statement was made before the French officials entered a meeting of the committee which was formed by the conference to deal with the authority of the reparations commission in respect to the action to be taken in the event of possible default of Germany in the execution of the experts' scheme. Canada Has Secured Her Point.
