WHO ARE YOU? A Hastings? The Romance of Your Name

By RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

This name was undoubtedly adopted in England from the Danish leader of a horde of Northmen, and was a name formidable to both the north and south of Europe.

The name is even older than the Norman Conquest, for it was upon the estate of the Castle of Hastings, where the immortal battle of Hastings, 1066, was fought, and it is found that the family was living there even before 871.

Henry and George Hastings, grandsons of the first Earl of Huntingdon, became Puritans and fled to New England. Thomas Hastings followed in 1634 and later John Hastings came to American shores with his family. Joshua Hastings, also, a member of this family, came from Swerford, England. They were staunch supporters of the Colonies and played their part in establishing the new Nation.

A distinguished bearer of the name of Hastings in recent times was the late Thomas Hastings, architect, whose works include the memorial amphitheatre near the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, in Arlington, the New York Public Library, the interior of the Metropolitan Opera House, and the Saint-Ambrose Chapel in the Cathedral of Saint Paul the Divine, in New York City.

Etiquette

By Roberts Lee

Q. Is it permissible to address a person when talking with them, or to attract their attention?

A. No.

Q. When traveling in a sleeping car, who is entitled to the seat facing forwards?

A. The person who has the lower berth.

Q. What is "A la carte"?

A. It is the French for "according to the bill of fare at the table."

A correspondent writes:—Could you explain if, under the following circumstances, Mr. So and So made a "faux pas" in etiquette.

"At a public dance Mr. So and So takes a lady friend with whom he is not keeping company or hasn't taken to the dance) for the last dance and does not escort her to her home. (His girl, if any, not present.)

No. It is not expected or necessary for a partner who has only danced with a lady to see her home.

A Morning Smile

The joke editor on a Chicago newspaper approached his chief with the request that he be transferred to some other work.

"What's the matter?" asked the chief. "You're doing fine."

"Well, it's this way," replied the humorist. "I got married a few weeks ago, and now if I print a joke about wives my wife thinks I mean her; and if I mention a mother-in-law there is trouble again. Then, one of my wife's brothers is a minister, another a plumber and another an ice-man. Besides, she has a half-brother who is a book agent, and they are all big, husky fellows with ugly tempers. Oh, and I forgot to mention that they are all Scotch. If you don't mind, I'd like to go out and get evidence against the gangsters."

INSTITUTE MEETING

The Launching Women's Institute held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. John P. McDonald with fifteen members present. Meeting opened by singing Institute Ode, followed by roll call and reading minutes of last meeting. Then the different committees gave their reports. School committee reported new shades needed for school windows, also the desks needed, repairing both of which will be attended to immediately. A box of fruit was ordered to be sent to a sick man in a neighboring district. A cabinet of silver is to be loaned to help increase the funds. New committee appointed for this month are School, Miss Mamie Morrison and Miss Annabelle McPherson; sick, Miss Annie McDonald and Mrs. Tom Blackett. Meeting closed by singing National Anthem, after which the hostess served a very dainty supper. Next meeting will be at the home of Miss Annabelle McPherson. Roll call to be suggestions on "How to improve our school garden."
