MAKE PRESENTATION—At the regular meeting of the Ladies Guild of St. Andrew's Church last week, held at the home of Mrs. Marvyn H. White, George Street, a parting gift of friendship was presented to Mrs. W. E. Fletcher, who with Mr. Fletcher is leaving at the end of the month for Ontario. The presentation took place just after the transaction of business and came as a pleasant little surprise. Mrs. White was assisted by Mrs. J. Alex. MacLean, in serving refreshments. The meeting closed with the members tendering their best wishes to their departing member.—Sydney Post-Record.

HOST OF CELEBRITIES MAKE "BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD" GALA ENTERTAINMENT AT PRINCE EDWARD

Sweeping back in brilliant splendor to the joyous eighties and the gay nineties, onward to modern times, "Broadway to Hollywood," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's glittering cavalcade of the theatre, is the unusual attraction now playing on the Prince Edward screen for three days.

This picture is unique in that while essentially a vivid drama of three generations of a vaudeville family, it at the same time injects the pomp and pageantry of the Gay White Way of an earlier and more colorful period. Gorgeous ballets in color, songs and acts by Fay Templeton and other noted stars of the past pass in review in stage sequences as a brilliant background on which are told the romances, joys, sorrows, triumphs and disappointments of a lovable family of "troupers."

"BEST OF ENEMIES" COMES THROUGH AS SMASH COMEDY AT CAPITOL

Again Fox comes crashing through with a motion picture that is as timely as the daily newspaper and as interesting. The return of Buddy Rogers has started an avalanche of more or less artistic expression in its favor, but it remained for Fox to control its course within the bounds of a motion picture such as "Best of Enemies," in which Buddy Rogers makes his return to the screen and Marian Nixon scores heavily. It had its premiere at the Capitol Theatre yesterday.

This is truly a picture you all must see. With Frank Morgan and Joseph Cawthorn heading the supporting cast, it is distinctly worth

Glooscap The Mythical Superman Of Mic Macs

What has been termed the most Aryan-like of any mythological character ever created by a savage mind was Glooscap of the Micmacs, an inhabitant of the Maritime Provinces, a mythical supreme superhero, who lived among them but invisible. He never grew old and was immortal. He was unmarried and lived in a wigwam with an old lady termed the Beaver and who kept his home and was a servant. He controlled the forces of nature and was obeyed by the animals, was high-minded, hospitable and generous. His favorite residence was Cape Blomidon, in Minas Basin, which received the name of Glooscap (Glooscap's home).

One of the quaint stories of Glooscap, states the Tourist Bureau of the Canadian National Railways, has to do with Reversing Falls, Saint John, N. B. where occurs twice in every twenty-four hours "the battle of the tides." At low tide the water of the Saint John River flows into the harbor of the town and at high tide the action is reversed, the water of the harbor flowing into the river. The Beaver was annoying other animals and was warned by Glooscap to behave himself. Not heeding the warning, Glooscap decided to go after him. The Beaver fled to the mouth of the Saint John River and built a dam across it so high that the whole country was flooded for many miles, forming a huge lake. Glooscap continued to search for the Beaver and when he arrived at Saint John, seeing the dam, he built a dam across it so high that the whole country was flooded for many miles, forming a huge lake. Glooscap continued to search for the Beaver and when he arrived at Saint John, seeing the dam, he built a dam across it so high that the whole country was flooded for many miles, forming a huge lake.

Memorial Service At Montague DANISH EXPLORER PASSES

A memorial service honoring the memory of Sir Arthur Currie, was held in the Presbyterian Church at Montague on Sunday. The returned men met and formed up in front of the Bank of Nova Scotia and paraded to the church. The parade was in charge of Mr. W. A. MacLellan, President of the Montague Branch of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. Rev. Mr. Lewis officiated and gave a very eloquent address.

Following is the order of service: Prelude, Largo-Handel, by the organist, Mrs. H. Davison.

Call to worship, Rev. Mr. Lewis. Chorus—"O God Our Help in Ages Past."

Hymn—"Lead Kindly Light." Scripture Reading. Vocal Solo—"Crossing the Bar," Mrs. W. Hubley.

Hymn—"Abide With Me." Address. Vocal Solo—"The Trumpeter," Mr. Allison McLean.

Hymn—"Now the Laborer's Task is Over." Benediction. Last Post. Two minutes silence. Revellie—Hume.

The following is the address given by Rev. Mr. Lewis:

Gentlemen: Now he has passed beyond our ken—a true soldier—a great Churchman—a and a worthy citizen, wherein lay the secret of his life—why because he possessed the Spirit of his Master and thus could say "There is one safe guide to settle all problems, one unfailing light—if we remember that faith is better than doubt, love better than hate."

Sir Arthur ever followed the path of duty, and in doing so showed forth his great courage. He had an honesty of purpose but no regard for self simply as self. He had a great faculty for leadership and a great faculty for devotion, fidelity and self sacrifice. Yes he was what some may call an old-fashioned thinker, ever believing "He profits best who serves best."

For over three years he guided the destinies of the British Empire, unopposed by success. He was a great Canadian, Canada first and foremost, though he loved the Empire. He played no politics. He walked with kings and never lost the common touch.

Again I ask what was the secret of his life. Some will praise and glorify his military career, but I want you to think of him as not only a Churchman but a man of God. A question was asked him while he was having his portrait painted in England. What England hoped the great world for I want to make his England indebted and put Canada, the world in—without a moment's hesitation came the answer. What we need is a return to the Bible and family worship in these we will always find peace and comfort. Our God is a God of peace, some may say, but these words are a striking evidence of the broad Christian foundation on which his character was built.

He heard the clarion call to duty, like a true soldier he obeyed, he felt like Nelson that at all times there was need of the great signal, he was waiting for the trumpet's call, and when the call of death came he could ask Trumpeter, what are you calling now, and he part knowing that he was following his great Commander. So on Dec. 24th they laid to rest by the mountain side in that great Metropolis of Canada, that city famed in history, Montreal, the mortal remains of our great hero, Sir Arthur Currie, with all his titles and degrees was laid in Mother earth symbolizing that death levels and behind the life that is in the memory we this morning honor and stand another, who died and knew the power of sacrifice, The Master, the great Knight, The Christ.

"The shouting and the tumult dies. The captains and the Kings depart. Still stands thine ancient altar O! An humble and a contrite heart."

Yet behind the grave and the life of each of the servants of God is the Christ who says "I am the resurrection and the life."

German Protestants Seek To End Church Dispute

(By Louis F. Lochner Associated Press Foreign Staff)
 BERLIN, Dec. 25.—An ultimatum by a powerful Protestant Church body tonight opened a rebellion of evangelists and church leaders to deprive Archbishop Ludwig Mueller of the last vestiges of his authority. Representatives of the Pastor's Emergency Federation which embraces more than 4,000 clergymen whose spiritual heads are former Reichsbishop Friedrich Von Bodelschwingh and the Rev. Martin Niemoller, gave Bishop Mueller a note which observers believed, might bring to a head the bitter and long-standing church controversy.

They advised the Rev. Mr. Mueller that if he does not by next Saturday reform the Protestant Church Cabinet in such a manner as to give a hope of real peace within the Church they will inform the Federal Interior Ministry and the public that they no longer give him confidence in the Reichsbishop.

The representatives declared also if the problem is not forthcoming they will be neither willing nor able to meet the district of their congregations in the Reichsbishop's residence which they charge, has not led to a needed reformation in the church based solely upon the articles of faith.

It was further stated that Mueller was at present to keep up a semblance of peace within the church by promulgating laws which he has no authority to propose.

India Gratified By Achievements At Regina Shows

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 25.—(C.P.) India is quite pleased with the results of its participation in the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference in Regina last summer. Observing the Indian Trade Commissioner at Hamburg in his report on London trade with Continental Europe and Indian participation in the Leipzig Fair "had for the most part a dismal tale to tell of the New Delhi correspondent of the Times of India says."

"Quite the contrary is the story set forth in a newly prepared report on Indian participation in the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference which was held in Regina, in the Province of Saskatchewan in North-west Canada, between July 24 and August 5 this year. 'Show what you grow and share what you know' was the slogan on which the affair was run. At the invitation of the Canadian Government the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research for India organized an exhibit of some of the more important Indian agricultural products and arranged for the Indian section of the exhibition.

"Sir Tiruvayagundi Vijayaraghavachari, the Vice-Chairman of the Council, was in charge of the exhibit. A few years ago the Canadian Government to open their big Ottawa Exhibition, Indian participation at Regina appears to have reflected the sense of the importance of the kind which was born in him and it was very thorough and well organized.

"India had a large exhibition stall (at Regina) . . . The result was many complimentary comments by visitors. The stall was regarded as one of the most attractive, picturesque and informative in the exhibition and 130,000 people visited it. B. D. Aeli, Indian Trade Secretary, London, was in charge and read some of the dozen important papers sent in for the Grain Conference which was organized by the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists."

The official Indian report on its exhibit at Regina, the exhibition and Conference indicates the objects aimed at were "propagandist, educational and not directly commercial," and these objects, it was claimed, were fully achieved.

AN IMPROVISED SCROOGE'S CHRISTMAS

Scrooge, as mean a miser as one could be, Had a strange visit on Christmas eve, From Ghosts in succession and number three; The Ghosts of Christmas Past, Christmas Present and Yet to Be.

The first showed experience of his youth, The second how Christmas might be spent forsooth; And it showed him too, eventually, Some people's opinion of him, incidentally.

The third showed the shadow of future things, A vision of all that it brings; He saw himself dead, un mourned by none; Caught in the web he had spun.

Scrooge awoke at last on Christmas Day And found the Ghosts had vanished away; He resolved to live in a better way, "Merry Christmas" to all he did say.

"Make up the fire," he cried, "I'll make a turkey as I'm alive; Fetch a surcease as big as you can find." "I'll make someone's Christmas the merrier," can be.—Kathryn Murchison.

Seek Stabilization Of Gold-backed Currencies

(By Richard L. Turner Associated Press Staff Writer)
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Convicted that the new Roosevelt silver stabilization move had virtually forestalled extreme inflationary legislation at the coming United States Congressional session, Washington tonight turned to studying a Presidential expression of hope that the action might soon be extended to other media of exchange presumably gold.

President Roosevelt told newspapermen he was anxious that the nations of the world get together some day on other fundamental currency bases, as they had on silver. The immediate interpretation was that he referred to stabilization of gold-backed currencies, but he gave no indication of how soon he thought such action might be feasible.

Meanwhile, the political implications of the silver move absorbed many students of the President's monetary programme. Although praised many of the inflationists called the President's action only a step in the right direction which should be followed by outright re-coinage of the white metal. They expressed a determination to continue working toward that goal.

Annual Meeting East Royalty W.I.

The annual meeting of the East Royalty Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. P. S. Bradley with an attendance of thirty-three members and two visitors. The meeting opened by singing the Ode and repeating the Creed. The roll call was answered by payment of dues. The minutes of the last annual meeting, also last regular meeting were read and adopted. The President, Mrs. P. S. Bradley, gave her report and in a few well chosen words thanked the members for their co-operation during the year.

The financial statement was then read by the Secretary, Mrs. Alex. MacKinnon. The sick and school committees gave their report. Bills were presented and paid.

A new sick committee was appointed for the ensuing quarter. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president and of-

V. O. N. Spends Active Month In Glace Bay

The following will be of interest to many here. Miss Seaman referred to is a daughter of Mrs. J. D. Seaman of this city.

"The Victorian Order of Nurses in Glace Bay spent a very busy month during November 1933. The staff, under the supervision of the superintendent Miss Seaman, cared for 256 patients, 131 being active on the first of the month, and 125 admitted. Of these new cases 18 were expectant mothers and six were maternity patients who had not been under the supervision of the order until labor had started. This large number of late minute calls makes it very difficult for the order to give a satisfactory and adequate service and it is hoped that the prospective patients will make greater use of the nursing service available to them in preparation and supervision for this event, 30 surgical cases and 25 medical

Directs U.S. Coast Guard Against Rum Fleet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—(A.P.)—coast because we had no aeroplanes there."

Acting Secretary of the United States Treasury Henry Morgenthau said today he was personally directing coast guard activities against a rum fleet of 173 vessels operating off United States shores.

Morgenthau said he was "doing everything possible to prevent landings" and had been following the entire smuggling efforts "personally."

He said of the 173 rum boats under surveillance by the coast guard, 165 flew British flags, four French, one Panamanian flag, one Spanish-Honduras flag and two Canadian flags.

"The responsibility is still the coast guards," Morgenthau replied to a question about getting the navy's assistance on the coast.

"We needed help on the Pacific
