PROVISION FOR 4TH JUDGE—The House was occupied yesterday chiefly with the second reading of a bill respecting the constitution of the Supreme Court, providing for a fourth judge. The bill, introduced by Attorney General Johnston, contained many clauses dealing with the Court of Chancery which were deleted. The bill, shown of twenty-one clauses was passed with some further amendments at the evening session. Hon. C. E. Hughes continued the budget debate. It was decided to hold three sessions a day in an endeavour to wind up the business of the House as quickly as possible. The House accordingly adjourned until 10 a.m. today.

The general impression amongst most of the people in the fur business is that the industry has come through the period of reconstruction after the war in better shape than any other industry, and the belief is that general conditions are improving.

In these words Mr. W. Chester McLure, who returned home Monday night, after a trip to Canada and the United States, summed up the situation. Mr. McLure visited the fur markets in Montreal, Toronto, Chicago, St. Paul and St. Louis. He did a considerable amount of business, selling a large part of his stock.

He will return early next week to New York to complete his trip in eastern territory. The auction sales will start soon. There will be a sale of silvers in New York next Wednesday and on May 9th 550 silvers, the majority from the Island, will be offered in Montreal.

In that city the fur situation is improving, both from a retail and wholesale standpoint and fur sales are anticipated. In a few days the prices realized at the London sales will be made known. These are expected to be encouraging.

Mr. Prescott was born in Prince Edward Island and when young followed the sea and rose to the rank of Master. He retired, took up telegraphy and was employed by the Intercolonial Railway for some time. After leaving the Island he located in Boston and entered the employ of the Boston and Maine at the Oak Island Station, when he came to Beverly as ticket agent. He was appointed Postmaster February, 1914 and reappointed October 1st, 1918. He was a member of the Jubilee Yacht Club, a Vestryman of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, a member of Liberty Lodge of Masons and was for several years on the Democratic City Committee. He leaves two daughters, Miss Maude Prescott and Mrs. L. Rea Jenkins. Mr. Prescott visited Georgetown a few years ago.

At the Rotary luncheon yesterday, Post Office Inspector Wheeler was the chief speaker, his subject being the Postal Service. He gave an interesting historical sketch of the development of the service in general from the days of the very long ago, as referred to in scripture up to the present time. He then touched on progress of the service in the United States, Canada as a whole and in Prince Edward Island referring to the establishment of the service between the island and the mainland, and the interior service. Today we have 125 post offices and 176 rural routes, so that every section has a daily service, a condition unsurpassed by any other province. The program from the Charlottetown Post Office in 1921 was $60,000, the largest in its history, and the revenue from the province was $152,000. From 200 to 500 bags of mail are handled daily on the trains.

Rotarian W. K. Rogers on behalf of the business men briefly commended the splendid postal service and the efficient work done by the officials under Mr. Wheeler's able direction. Rotarian Roy Quigley was chairman today, and the guests present were Rotarians Bailey and Briggs of Halifax. Rotarian Frank Hutcheson gave a two minute talk on "The Rotarian's Duty in the Public Library." This was Stork Day, and Rotarian Lewin received for his little son, the Club's silver cup, the presentation being made by Rotarian W. E. Fletcher, the last preceding recipient. The happy father then made a fitting reply. As appropriate to the occasion "Every Briton's" was sung during the presentation ceremonies. Rotarian J. O. Hyndman spoke briefly on the "Save the Children Fund," reading correspondence from Sir Louis Davies and others to refute unfounded articles in the press calculated to prevent subscriptions being given. Mr. Hyndman also bespoke a good attendance of Rotarians at the meeting in the Board of Trade rooms tomorrow evening to deal with the question of Supervised Playgrounds for Charlottetown. The Club met for the first time in their new rooms.

FRIDAY
ON OFFICIAL DUTIES—Mr. W. H. Prowse, Inspector of Lighthouses, Marine Department, Charlottetown, crossed this week by the car ferry steamer en route to Baletouche and Richibucto. At the former place he will take an examination of applicants for the position of light-keeper, the former keeper having died some time ago. At Richibucto he will look into the matter of changing the Richibucto Bar light, which change is necessary on account of the shifting of the channel.

SECRETARY REMEMBERED—Mr. R. R. Webster, Secretary, treasurer of the Presbyterian congregation of St. Peter's Bay, was recently presented with a "Secretary" by the people of Marie, as a token of their appreciation of his valuable services for many years. An appreciative address was read by Mr. H. H. Cox, and the presentation was made by the pastor, Rev. J. M. McLeod who spoke of Mr. Webster's valuable work in various capacities as Secretary-Treasurer, Elder and Superintendent of the Sunday School. Mr. Webster, who was taken by surprise made a touching reply.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT—A very serious accident occurred near Conway on Saturday last, when Mr. Philip McKenna, section foreman, and another section man, Albert Boyles, of West Devon, were badly injured. It appears that they were returning from work and the trolley car jumped the rails and both men were violently thrown out. The shock was so great and the car was running about 10 miles an hour the fall was heavy. Mr. McKenna was so severely injured that he was picked up unconscious. According to the latest reports he is still unconscious and his recovery is very doubtful. He has been a resident of Conway for a number of years. Mr. Boyles had some of his ribs broken but his condition is not serious.

Cave Man Stuff
BACK near the beginning of things, our prehistoric forebears would have perished from the earth if they had not understood the science of reading advertising.
The cavemen didn't know much about underwear, hair tonic or phonographs, but they did have to eat. The one who could follow the tracks of the game he hunted, or read the meaning of a twisted leaf or broken twig, was best off in life.
Then as now, the most consistent reader of advertising was best dressed, best fed and most contented.
There has been something of an evolution in advertising in the last few thousands of years, but the principle is just the same.
The consistent reader of the advertisements is invariably best informed on what to eat and where to get it; what to wear and how much to pay for it; what to do and how to do it. He's up on the most important things in life. Consequently he gets most from life.
Throughout the ages, advertising has done much to make life livable and pleasant. We owe it much.
Let's make the most of it
