—SOME TASK—Mr. Robert Gorrill, the decorator at Messrs. Sinclair and Stewart Ltd., used almost 500 yards of material in decorating the spacious windows of the store for Christmas. It was inadvertently stated in yesterday's Guardian that Mr. George Gorrill was the decorator. This was wrong as it is Mr. Robert Gorrill who has given the on-lookers such a wonderful example of window dressing.

—SHOW COMING—Mr. Ed. H. Barnstead, the advance representative of the Young-Adams Co., is at present in Summerside arranging for the opening of his company here on Monday night for a 1 week stand. The company are now playing in New Glasgow, N. S. and from Summerside will go to Kensington for 2 nights (Dec. 22 and 23) thence to Charlottetown. Some of the latest Broadway successes and some of the old and ever popular favorites are included in the company's repertoire. Mr. Young is again "on the boards" and playing some of the leading roles, with Miss Marjorie Adams, Miss Young and an entirely new supporting cast. The vaudeville is all new (there are 6 turns) and there is also a jazz orchestra. The Young-Adams Company always give big and versatile entertainment and on their opening on Monday night next at the Capitol Theatre will no doubt be greeted with a bumper stand.

—BUYING FOXES.—Albin Johnson, of Johnson and Jenkins, Belding, Mich., one of the largest dealers and breeders of live foxes, was in the Province recently and spent some time in Kensington. He negotiated with Mr. Heath Bowness an experienced fox-breeder and succeeded in securing twelve (12 pairs) of choice silver foxes. The quality of the stock bought demonstrated what fine judgment Mr. Johnson has for all who saw his purchases were unanimous in pronouncing the arrivals as being any that have left the Province, and this standard is about as high as the degree in excellence that foxes

Mr. McGregor is a director of the big show, which he reports more extensive than heretofore. The exhibits were so numerous that additional buildings had to be used for the poultry and other exhibits. Many friends and acquaintances on Prince Edward Island will be pleased to hear Amos Etter, one of the foremost racing men of the Maritime Provinces won slightly over $1000 (dollars) in prize money with his herd of Shorthorns and Herefords.—K.

—FAIRYLAND.—Overflowing with Xmas Gift suggestions, Holman's Big Store at Summerside, is undoubtedly a very close approach to a child's idea of Fairyland. Throughout the many departments innumerable articles are temptingly displayed and so cunningly arranged that each seems to call for one to take it as a Gift for that close friend or relative. The store throughout is attractively decorated in the proper holiday spirit and the windows, too, give a correct indication of what may be seen within, as they pour their profusion of Gift suggestions before the passerby. Among the several attractive window displays are those featuring Erector Toys, another showing cut glass and silverware, a grocery window, a special display of kitchen ranges and a window full of gifts from the Men's Ready to Wear Department. 1340-12-12-11

—PRESENTATION—Some time before his death Mr. Joseph L. McCullough was waited upon by several members of the different Summerside Baseball Clubs and presented with the following address and a substantial purse of gold—"Dear Friend—As the Christmas season is now approaching, that time of all the year when we can give some tangible expression of sentiments which are more often concealed, we want to take the opportunity of expressing in some slight way the appreciation of the baseball-playing fraternity of Summerside for the splendid services you have rendered the game here. You have been the father of baseball in Summerside and we know that if it were not for your unflinching help and ever-willing assistance we would not have produced through these years the many teams which have made the town of Summerside one of the best baseball centres in Eastern Canada. As the official umpire of the Summerside games and of the Prince County League we know that you have filled an onerous right with the customer until he had answered every question fully and the interrogations were
