TIM BUCK FREE AGAIN

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, Nov. 25—A free man once more, Tim Buck, Communist leader, was welcomed home during the week end by numerous friends in Toronto after spending more than three years behind the walls of Kingston penitentiary for being a member of an unlawful association and party to a seditious conspiracy.

Buck, one of seven convicted Communists to go to Kingston, was sentenced to five years and a month but he was released Saturday night and came to Toronto to be greeted by nearly 4,000 men, women and children who crowded the Union Station. When he stepped from the train Buck was greeted by his wife and two children and the cheering crowd.

Among those who greeted him, was Rev. A. E. Smith, general secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence Leag embezzlement of $66,000 worth of stock in his main holding company Middlewest Utilities Company, to put up as collateral for Martin's personal loan.

The youthful federal prosecutor Dwight H. Green, who had successfully prosecuted Al Capone and had with assistance from Washington presented the mail fraud case to the jury, was silent as to plans for trial of the other federal indictment against Samuel Insull in which it charges him and associates with conspiracy to defeat bankruptcy laws.

His only comment on the mail fraud verdict was "We gave the case our best effort."

The prosecution had charged that Insull and his associates had violated the federal mail statutes in the promotion and sale of stock in the Coroporation Securities Company, huge Insull investment trust which collapsed in 1932 with losses aggregating almost $120,000,000.

Only about $60,000 was realizable from the wreck of the concern During the trial the prosecutors alleged its stocks were worthless when offered for sale, if the proper accounting methods were applied to its financial structure.

Blames Depression

Insull, who took the stand in his own defence and recited the Horatio Alger story of his own rise since leaving his native England as a youth in what the jurors after said was one of the most striking strokes of the defence play, contended the world-wide depression was responsible for the shattering of his utility holding concerns. He declared he had lost every cent of his own once great personal fortune along with that of his investors.

The jurymen, locked up for seven weeks and separated from families' and business for the 52 days of the trial, said after their release yesterday, they had virtually agreed two weeks ago in favor of the defendants.

Three ballots only were taken and the first of Judge Wilkerson's four possible verdicts—blanket acquittal—was decided on with the third.

The Government had concentrated its fire on the "big four" of the defendants—the two Insulls, Harold L. Stuart, president of Halsey Stuart and Company, brokerage-investment concern which had handled much Insull financing and Stanley Field, philanthropist and nephew of Marshall Field, pioneer Chicago millionaire. Jurors said their only ballotings concerned these. The government had virtually "passed" the other defendants to acquittal with statements that their parts in the irregularities charged were small, or their knowledge slight

Others Acquitted

The other defendants who were acquitted:

Charles B. Stuart, vice-president of the Corporation Securities Company and vice-president of Halsey Stuart and Company, brother of H. L. Stuart.

Clarence T. MacNeille, Secretary of Halsey, Stuart and Co. He served as secretary and treasurer of Corporation Securities several months.

Clarence W. Sills, a vice president of Halsey, Stuart and Co., and Corporation Securities Company.

Charles R. Whitworth, a resident partner in the accounting firm of Touche, Niven and Co., and auditor for Corporation Securities.

Fred H. Scheel, vice president of Utility Securities, marketing company for Corporation Securities.

Frank R. Evers, secretary of Utility Securities.

Robert W. Waite, vice president and Treasurer of Utility Securities

George A. Kemp, assistant secretary of Utility Securities.

Philip K. McEnroe, vice president of Corporation Securities.

Edward J. Doyle, acting president of the Commonwealth Edison Company and director of Corporation Securities.

Frank K. Shrader, a vice president of Halsey, Stuart and Co. He was a director of Corporation Securities.

Waldo F. Tobey, Samuel Insull's personal attorney. The Government charged that he approved the accountings it branded as attempts to deceive investors

BLACKHAWKS, 4; BOSTON, 0

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(A.P.)—Chicago Blackhawks playing their best hockey of the season, trounced Boston 4-0 tonight to go into a pointtie with the Bruins for leadership of the National Hockey League's American division.

The battle was characteristic of meetings between the two teams, rough and fast all the way, and delighted a crowd of nearly 10,000.

The Bruins, who played their second match in two nights, kept pace with the Hawks until early in the second period when penalties helped Chicago to its first goal. With Dit Clapper and Babe Siebert serving time, Tommy Cook cashed in to give the Hawks the lead. They had to wait until the third period before scoring again, but once started, beat goalie Tiny Thompson for three in a row.

Johnny Gottselig punched one home, and Mush Marsh added the third. Then, as the Bruins sent in five-man waves on the Hawk cage, Cook stole the puck, skated in alone and scored again.

Along with scoring two goals, Cook did a little fist-fighting with Eddie Shore and both drew major penalties at the end of the first period. Happy Emms, Boston winger, drew a two-minute assessment early in the opening session, which led indirectly to a 10-minute misconduct penalty for Nels Stewart. Stewart argued so vehemently with referee Goodman the latter plastered him with the 10-minute layoff.

TENSE

it by a mighty show of armed force and political power.

The danger of conflict growing out of cooling friendships and rising nationalistic animosities among nations is clearly seen by French leaders, whose talk of "menaces" particularly in the direction of Chancellor Hitler, has become outspoken.

The French have mingled words of confidence at Europe's stability with warnings to guard against attack.

In the first place France is enlarging her army, stationing her armaments and rebuilding her air forces in a vast modernization programme. Second, she is seeking to bring Great Britain closer.

She also has been in negotiation with Russia, the aid of whose army against Germany in case of attack is reported to have been offered her.

She has not abandoned the hope of inducing Germany, Russia, Poland and the Little Entente to sign an eastern "Locarno" pact. France's influence in Poland and the Little Entente is regarded in diplomatic circles as having been weakened in recent months with various nations in Europe finding their interests and aspirations conflicting.

Her apathy in the Yugoslav-Hungarian controversy over the assassination of King Alexander is reported to have displeased Yugoslavia, with whom Czechoslovakia and Rumania are allied in the Little Entente.

France has supported Mussolini in guaranteeing Austria's independence against Hitler, but Franco-Italian differences over naval power in the Mediterranean, and her colonial problems in North Africa, still remained unsettled.

HOPING FOR THE BEST

GENEVA, Nov. 25—This seat of the League of Nations, eternally optimistic, was hoping tonight the bitter Yugoslav-Hungarian conflict would resolve itself into a warfare of words and nothing else.

Many leaders said that if the covenant of the League of Nations is a "living reality," nations have a right to bring their grievances to Geneva for discussion.

Nevertheless, the atmosphere was one of nervousness increased by recent political events, including the discussion in the French Chamber of Deputies on German rearmament and the movement to obtain revision of post-war treaties.

The Yugoslav-Hungarian crisis was the most immediately annoying. Treaty revision, however, is possibly a more fundamental problem at present. Austria has joined Hungary in demands for treaty revision as far as arms and armament are concerned.

MUSSOLINI'S TACTICS

ROME, Nov. 25—It was apparent tonight that Italy sees her part in the present delicate European situation more as that of mediator than as one of the disputing factions.

Premier Mussolini's careful tactics have been designed to avoid injury to the recently budding Franco-Italian understanding which would be greatly embarrassed by an open break at this time with Belgrade.

It is feared here such a break would force France to choose between the Little Entente and Italy, and there was no assurance that she would throw away her present allies for an understanding with Rome.

Mussolini at the same time is following an entirely new policy in the Danubian Basin. Contrasted with Italy's recent pronounced opposition to any close relation between Austria, Hungary and Germany, she is now inviting German friendship and cooperation for those countries.

This gesture has eased the tension between Rome and Berlin, and Il Duce has expressed the hope it would lead to an amicable settlement of the major Danubian question.

There is no tendency here to overlook the seriousness of the present European situation, but it is not considered as grave as some picture it.

CONCERN FELT IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, Nov. 25—The Soviet press almost ignored today the reported agreement of a tentative alliance between France and Russia in case of war with Germany, and turned its attention to the possible results of the London naval conference.

The newspapers expressed general concern over the trend of the conversations.

At the same time it was known Soviet Russia is gratified by the outcome of Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff's negotiations with Foreign Minister Pierre Laval in Paris, seeing the possibility that an Eastern Locarno pact may be effected as a result of closer relations between France and the U. S. S. R.

The importance of the Far Eastern situation to Russia was the basis of interest in the London negotiations. Russia's attention has been divided between the Fascist interest in Austria and what the Russians call Japan's imperialist interest in Asia.

RECEIVES FRENCH WAR VETERANS

BERLIN, Nov. 25—Student disorders in the Czech and German universities at Praha, reported to have been inspired partly by anti-German elements of Czechoslovakia, coupled with Chancellor Hitler's reception of two French veterans last week, shook Germany from the detached isolation with which she has sought to view international manoeuvres until after the Saar plebiscite.

Since this Sunday was a national civilian memorial day in Germany, newspapers were publishing war pictures and reviving the Hitler cry "Germany wants peace!"

"If France and Germany come to an understanding the nightmare will disappear," Hitler has said. This phrase of his was widely republished.

Hitler was said to have reiterated his peaceful intentions to the French veterans whom he received, but was allegedly misquoted in the press of Paris.

International sources professed to foresee an overture to the League on the horizon, after the Saar plebiscite, or a frank statement of armament intentions.

THIRD TITLE FOR ACADIANS

WOLFVILLE, N. S., Nov. 25.—Acadia University students rejoiced tonight over the winning of their third rugby title—a win over Sydney Mines Royals by their fast moving intermediates with a 11-0 score.

Saturday's game brought a brilliant climax to a successful season for the Collegians. Before attaching the Nova Scotia intermediate championship they had won both the senior and intermediate Halifax City League titles.

KUHN DRAWS AN ASSIST

BOSTON, Nov. 25—"Doggie" Kuhn supplied a vital assist to Leo Murray Saturday night for Providence's only goal in a 1-1 overtime tie in a Canadian-American Hockey League game here. Gene Carrigan scored in the third period to neutralize Murray's second period marker. Goalie Benny Grant of Boston was knocked unconscious in the last period by a hard drive and was replaced by Percy Jackson, Cubs' spare goalie.

A.N.P.A. Seek '34 Newsprint Price

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—Noting announcements of increase in price of newsprint $2.50 a ton for the first six months of 1935, by 14 companies, Editor and Publisher today says the American Newspaper Publishers' Association is continuing its efforts to make the 1934 price prevail.

"In the meantime," it says, "publishers are awaiting with keenest interest the forthcoming statement of the Great Northern Paper Company," the major newsprint producer in the United States.

Editor and Publisher continues:

The A. N. P. A. is questioning the interpretation of some of the announcements. It is asserted in a bulletin that in view of the fact that some of the newsprint companies supplied material tonnage during 1934 at less than the basic price, publishers have the right to assume that the price announcements are not to be read as indicating that the increase starts from the basic price.

Instances were offered from the past of how prices were established in the first major producer making an offering. The bulletin reiterated the A. N. P. A. stand that the price for 1935 had been stabilized by the arrangements made between St. Lawrence Paper Mills Company and Powell River with their customers.

The bulletin critized International for reversing its position in 1928 when it offered a lower price for newsprint than was standard, and made the price stick for the entire industry. International Paper Company, the bulletin said, "is endeavoring to disregard the fact that the price has been fixed," and if successful, it is asserted, "there will be a departure from the same base price for all."

It was also said that newspaper production capacity exceeds any possible demand and that the Canadian mills are allocating their tonnage, increasing materially the production cost of those who surrender tonnage.

The flood of announcements from newsprint companies was interpreted in the bulletin as indicating "stimulated cooperation" in the newsprint industry. "In the past," the bulletin said, "not more than three or four major mills have made price announcements, the others simply following the lead set by the major units."

GUEST OF AUSTRIAN GOVT.

VIENNA, Nov. 25—The arrival here of Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary as a week-end hunting guest of the Austrian government, stirred anew discussions here about possibilities of war growing out of Yugoslavia's protest to the League of Nations.

Although Goemboes' trip ostensibly was merely for pleasure, many said he would see Italian emissaries here as well as Austrian leaders in order to strengthen Hungarian friendships.

According to reports from Maribor, northern Yugoslavia, the Yugoslavs have cancelled all military leaves from northern garrisons.

Some quarters interpreted Goembes' departure from Budapest at this time as a gesture intended to indicate his confidence that all was well.

Glace Bay Win Rugby Title

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

GLACE BAY, N. S., Nov. 25 — Glace Bay High School won the Nova Scotia junior interscholastic English rugby title here Saturday, defeating Kentville High School 5-0.

Billie Heustis scored the only try of the game. Catching a rebound of Boyle's chest and dodging Chisholm, Kentville fullback, he dashed over the line. Max Lubetski converted easily.

VERDUN IN WIN OVER ROYALS

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Nov. 25. — Verdun Maple Leafs today crashed through a 6-4 defeat of Montreal Royals in the feature game here of the senior group, Quebec Amateur Hockey Association doubleheader. In the other group Canadiens went on scoring splurge 10-2 at the expense of the slipping Lafontaine which has had players difficulties.

Coached by Cecil Hart, who led the professional Canadiens to two Stanley Cup victories a few years ago, Verdun appeared a rapidly improving team in its second win this season over the fancied Royals. A Royal cast-off, George Brown, almost singlehanded defeated his former teammates, figuring in five goals.

As a result of the week-end games, which included a 3-1 victory for Ottawa Senators at home over McGill University, Canadiens went into a tie for second place with the Collegians and Royals. Verdun crept up beside Lafontaine, three points back of the second place team.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The services at Central Christian Church yesterday were well attended. At the morning service Mr. Preston Beck was heard with fine effect in the solo, "My Task". The subject of the morning service on the twenty-seventh verse of the twentieth chapter of the Gospel of St. Matthew. The address was built around the thought of service as the way to chietainship. Christ being the Divine example, because He was the very Incarnation of Service, being doing good." Of Himself, Our Lord said: "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and give His life a ransom for many." As this was the program of Christ, so must it be the program of every Child of God.

The Sunday School was well attended and attention was called to the proposed observance of Universal Bible Sunday on the ninth of December on which day there will be a special program and a large display of Bibles in different dialects and languages.

The subject of the evening sermon was "Repentance, What It Is", in which the speaker stated that Repentence is not only a single act but a series of acts running the whole gamut of Christian experience and making up what we call the "Life of Penitence", and must not be confused with emotional outbreak, or Godly sorrow, but affecting ones relationship to God, to his fellowman, and his attitude toward the work of the church.

The choir sang Fletcher's "Still, Still with Thee," Mr. Preston Beck taking the baritone solo and Mr. V. L. Dingwell added much to the spiritual content of the service in the contribution of a baritone solo, "The Ninety and Nine."

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

"Men who had been with Jesus," was the subjects of the morning sermon by the Rev. A. C. Vincent, yesterday. From Acts 4, 13, came the words of the text, "Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John —they took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus." Proclamation of the truth arouses enmity. These representatives of the common people unembarrassed, unfearing, quailing not before the dignitaries of the time had an inspiration and a courage that came of the companionship with the Master. His was the companionship that transforms. Through knowledge of him came inspiration and power that made trembling fugitives into saints and heroes. The church today needs courage, needs the boldness born of a daily companionship with Jesus. And His compansionship is shown to the world in its effects. Not in the sermons of the clergy but in the lives of the congregation is the influence that carries the strongest message.

Sunday evening Dr. Vincent spoke on The Fifth Commandment continuing an interesting series. The music of the day included Tours' "Magnificat," Turner's "At even, ere the sun was set," Abt's "Ave Maria." It was intimated that through the week a Teacher training course would be in session each evening at 7.30 in the schoolroom. To this course, or any part of, all interested in Sunday School work are cordially welcomed.

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH

At the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer yesterday morning, Masses were at the usual hours. At the nine o'clock Mass, members of the Junior Holy Family received Holy Communion in a body. High Mass was celebrated at 10.30 by Rev. Father O'Hara, C.SS.R. Rev. Father Cloran, C. SS.R. preached at all the Masses in the morning.

In the evening at 7 o'clock, services consisted of the Rosary, Vespers and an eloquent sermon by Rev. Father Enright, C.SS.R., after which Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Father Enright.

SACRED SONG SERVICE

The regular Sunday evening service of song for all young people was held in St. Peter's Cathedral at half past eight last evening, with a large crowd present.

The Scripture lesson was presented by Mr. Lloyd Dewar and the address was delivered by Canon E. M. Malone.

The topic, "A Visionary Who Accomplished Great Things," dealt with the life and work of Girolamo Savonarola, an Italian ecclesiastical reformer, orator and onetime Dominican monk (1452-1498) who was subsequently executed for heresy.

Canon Malone presided and led in the prayers. The form of service was provided by St. Peter's Church in pamphlet form and included a fine selection of the old hymns.

These Sacred Song Services are being sponsored by the Charlottetown Young Men's Christian Association with the joint assistance of the S. C. M. of Prince of Wales College and are being held in each of the various city church in turn every Sunday evening at 8.30 for the benefit of all young people, students and others. Next Sunday the meeting will be conducted in St. Paul's Church at the usual hour.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Owing to the necessary absence of the Rector, Reverend H. D Raymond the welcome speaker at both the morning and evening services was Venerable Archdeacon Savory, D. D., Rector of St. Paul's Church, Halifax.

Dr. Savary in speaking to the boys and girls endeavoured to point out to them the utter futility of putting their trust in things about them; such things being material are only temporary and consequently will pass away through time. As the boys and girls will pass through this life and continue to live in spirit even after death, they should place their trust in God, who is eternal.

Speaking from the text: "Our conversation is in heaven," Philippians 3:20, Dr. Savary explained that the latest revision of the Bible uses the word "citizenship" instead of the word "conversation". He compared the life of one who was a Roman citizen either by having the honor conferred on him, or by having purchased the honor or by having been born as such, with the life of one who was not a Roman citizen. He then went on to show that although it meant everything to a Roman to be a citizen of his country yet it meant nothing in comparison with being a citizen of God's Kingdom.

During the offertory Mrs. F. H. Trainor and Mr. P. D. Williams sang very acceptably, "Love Divine"—Stainer.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

At the announcement period at the morning Rev. Hugh Miller made fitting reference to the fact that Mr. Henry Smith was on that day observing his 83rd birthday. Mr. Smith is one of our most esteemed members and has long been connected with the official life of our Church. His many friends appreciate greatly the very kind words of congratulation and good wishes so graciously spoken by Mr. Miller.

The Holy Communion of the Lord's Supper was celebrated at the morning worship.

In memory of the Saviour's love We keep the sacred feast,
Where every humble, contrite heart
Is made a welcome guest.

There was a large number present. Rev. Mr. Miller in his pre-communion sermon spoke from the text: "I am come into my garden", Solomon 5-1. God speaks through his flowers. Jesus loved a garden. It was his favorite place for prayer and meditation and His tomb was in a garden. Each of us has our garden, the place of love and beauty, fragrant with His spirit and breathed upon by the words of His unfaltering care. Let us pluck a few flowers and meditate thereon. The wee "Forget-me-Not" "The Bleeding Heart", "The Common Daisy—the flower of desire—what we mean when we sing "Nearer My God To Thee". We come to this table today with a common Daisy in our hand expressing the longing of our souls "To know Him and the power of His resurrection". Then there is the "Easter Lily" with its chalice-shaped flower, reminding us of God's sacrifice in Christ. It symbolizes the cup of the Holy Grail the cup of the communion table the cup of forgiveness.

The sincere regret at the death of Mrs. F. F. Mitchell was evidenced by the large attendance at the funeral services which took place in the Church at 2:00 p. m. Mrs. Mitchell by her life and by her interest in all Church work had earned the salutation, "Well done good and faithful servant."

In the evening, Rev. Mr. Miller spoke on the subject of "Resisting lives". His text being from Isaiah 32-2. "A man shall be as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land". The sermon was an appeal for men and women who would not follow the line of least resistance but those who would be as rock men, God controlled men in resisting the false in modern trends. Rev.
