Cardinals Take 3-1 Victory From Cincinnati

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Whitey Ford, Harry Walker and his hitting streak of 22 consecutive games, Lanky Harry Gumbert and a two-hitter today as St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Cincinnati Reds, 3-1, in the only contest of a scheduled double bill at St. Louis.

His performance and the Cards' ability to score thrice on the four blows Bucky Walters allowed sent the Cards into a three game edge over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Ending a game that limped through two hours and 35 minutes, Joe Orenco hit a home run with two out, broke a tie that had lasted from the sixth inning. Joe got his single off Kirby Higbe, the fourth Dodger elbow of the day who was charged with his second loss.

In Pittsburgh, a four-run rally in the sixth inning pulled the Pittsburgh Pirates from behind, giving them a 4-2 victory over Chicago and a tie with Cincinnati for third place in the league.

It was Rip Sewell's fourth straight triumph over Chicago and his seventh of the season against two setbacks. Fielding particularly by Gustine, Huck Geary and Elbie Fletcher, helped him great.

In Philadelphia, outfielders Ron Northey and Coaker Triplett slugged the Phillies to a two-day victory over the Braves, 6-4, and 2-1. Before a ladies day crowd of 6,679 in the first swing-shift doubleheader in the major leagues.

Philadelphia's victory was a 10-5 triumph over the Braves in the second game, a game and a half ahead of the Braves whom they displaced. The first game began at 11 a.m. E.D.T.

Rice Still Uncertain About Race

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Chief specialist J. Gregory Rice, who has been heralded as the "Gunder Heagg" foot-racing rival, hasn't sent in his entry for Sunday's National A.A.U. track and field championships and he confesses a notable lack of enthusiasm about his impending clash with the swift Swede.

Rice explained today that his failure to fill out an entry blank was due to the fact that he hasn't received official permission to compete from his superior officer at the United States Maritime School at Kings Bay.

He seemed confident however, that it was merely a matter of waiting until a change of orders comes through official channels.

As for his chances of beating Heagg, whose best time for 5,000 meters is 17:10.4, Rice said he is 58.2 as compared to Rice's 14:33.4, that's where Greg just can't get steamed up. He's in fine physical condition, but he adds, "I don't have the enthusiasm I should have."

It was pointed out that Heagg might be in top physical condition either after a long voyage from Sweden on a tanker followed by only a short training period. Heagg suffered a slight cut on his knee today when he wound up a training session at Duxbury, Mass., trying to make a four-foot high jump.

His lack of training might even things up. Rice admitted, "but there's still 35 seconds between us and that's a lot to make up in a race."

Athletics Win Doubleheader

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Philadelphia Athletics opened a five-game stand at Boston today by winning both pieces of a twin bill with Boston Red Sox, 7-4 and the night cap 4-2.

In the opening game, the visitors made three runs in the fifth inning off Lefty Oscar Judd, formerly of Ingersoll, Ont., when Dick Sieber, Orenco's hit coming with two out, broke a tie that had lasted from the sixth inning. Joe got his single off Kirby Higbe, the fourth Dodger elbow of the day who was charged with his second loss.

Anton Ciarlone hurled the last two frames for Boston, and Everett Pagan worked the final inning for the A's.

The Athletics' pitcher Jesse Flores won his eighth game of the season, but his first against the Red Sox by keeping his well scattered in the second game.

Philadelphia decided it in the fourth after two were gone. Jim Fyack hit two-bagger and Irv Hall Hal Wagner and Flores singled in order. With a hit batter in the box, the A's gathered three runs.

American League Games Are Lengthy

By DAVE HOFF (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, June 15 (AP)—When you take the family to an American league baseball game this season, bring a basket lunch. Chances are you'll be staying late.

For the junior circuit teams, who never used to sleep well unless they crushed the opposition that day, at least a half-dozen runs this year are going in for marathon baseball at a record clip.

Up to today, 40 games had been played in the American League—and 35 of them had gone extra innings. At that rate the circuit easily will top its high of 100 over-time contests set in 1916.

Places where you can expect to get up to today's games are Washington, Boston and Detroit. Six extra-inning games have been sprung on unsuspecting fans in each of those cities this season, and Boston Red Sox fell into the habit so badly they wandered off the field for a more marathon tilt on the road.

No teams have played the equivalent of two games on a day since April 27, 1914 only once, but Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators care necessarily 27 times they averaged 15 scoreless innings. Philadelphia finally won out 2-1 in the 16th.

War Prisoners Canadian Folk In Mutual Aid

Written for The Canadian Press By Kathryn O'Neill

TORONTO, June 15 (CP)—Founded in Montreal in January, 1942, the response to the Canadian prisoners of war in Germany and Italy and developed later with contacts through the Red Cross and the Canadian Prisoners of War Relatives Association now has a membership of more than 100 in various cities and towns across the Dominion.

The Association was founded officially by Mrs. David Walker, now known as Mrs. M.F. Rowland (W.D.), whose husband was captured early in the war. Mrs. M.F. Rowland is a secretary of the Ontario branch of the Red Cross.

"Originally several wives of prisoners in Germany kept in touch with each other by personal correspondence. We can't say all day-eyed Ontario secretary, who is a war-guest from England. Her own husband was taken prisoner at Comokomk in June, 1942.

"Since the Association has been founded, the monthly news letter and the regular meetings has often been held at the homes of all day-eyed Ontario secretary, who is a war-guest from England. Her own husband was taken prisoner at Comokomk in June, 1942.

Moderator Praises Canadians Overseas

TORONTO, June 14 (CP)—R. Rev. F. S. Moderator of the United Church of Canada, today returned to Toronto after six weeks in Britain, with high praise for the behavior of the Canadian folk during their stay in Britain.

"The Archbishop of Canterbury spoke to me in the highest terms of the behavior of the Canadian folk during their stay in Britain," said Dr. Slater.

"If there is one thing that should be said to the people here in Canada it is that they should not write depressing letters to the fighting men. If little Johnny is in the front lines, he is either in the service forces or engaged in some remunerative occupation.

The Chief Justice then reviewed the war situation. While the events of the past few months were highly encouraging, he said, "we must not regard this encouragement as justification for complacency or undue optimism, but rather as an incentive to a greater and sustained effort to bring about a final and most successful conclusion that is possible."

Critical Of Ruling In Protested Game

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (AP)—William D. Cox, President of the Phillies criticized today a ruling by Ford Frick, National League president, on a Philadelphia game played in St. Louis June 5 and announced he would take an appeal to baseball commissioner K.C. Phillips.

The game ended 1-0 in favor of the Cardinals after 7 1/2 innings. Frick sustained Cox's protest that St. Louis made no effort to cover the diamond, but ruled that the game should be continued from the point where it was stopped.

Cox described the ruling as "an outrageous straddling of the fence."

"The rule (number 26) specifically states," he said, "that under such conditions the game should be declared forfeited."

Charlottetown Girl Flier Home From Service Overseas With The R.A.F. Ferry Command

Back in Canada for the first time in nearly a year, Flight Lieut. Gloria K. Large, of the R.A.F. Ferry Command, arrived home in Charlottetown last evening and was warmly greeted by a host of friends and acquaintances.

Grand Jury

hearing Sept. 1. An application to set aside the jury in this case will be heard in Chambers on Thursday next. The issue appeal will be heard June 16 and the Prohibition case on the docket the last case on the docket was settled by allowing the appeal without costs and the case was dismissed. This was settled out of Court.

One of the highlights of the Court opening was the presentation of the award of the Chief Justice from the members of the P.E.I. Law Society. This followed the charge to the jury.

Simon Paoli was chosen as foreman of the Grand Jury and other members are: Thomas McGrover, Nine Mile Creek; Albert E. Tombs, Charlottetown; Charles McPadden, Riverdale; D. Nicholson, Charlottetown; Samuel E. French, Charlottetown; James E. Moffat, Mayfield; William M. Rowe, Charlottetown; Walter Scott, Kinross; Warren L. Desable, Ernest Champlain, Charlottetown.

Address To Jury

"At this busy season of the year, when farm labor is scarce, it is a matter of congratulation that the duties of the grand jury and petit jury alike are not such as to require any protracted spending of time," said Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell in addressing the Grand Jury.

"His Lordship's reference was to the absence of any criminal code. He commented on this as evidence of the progress of the law. It did not denote complete absence of lawbreaking, inasmuch as a great many cases can be disposed of by speedy trial and by magistrates and justices of the peace. It did however, substantiate the creditable fact that there has been since the last session of the Court an absence of any charge of a comparatively serious nature.

The sheriff's report also indicated a comparative absence of the more serious types of law breaches. It shows that thirty-seven prisoners were admitted to Queen's County Jail since the last sitting. Of these fourteen were for drunkenness, five for driving on a license for an offense against the Prohibition Act. Seven were for theft, six for an offense against the Criminal Code, and one for an offense against the Excise Act, two for vagrancy, one for theft and six for drunkenness.

"The total number of crimes the Court attributed in part to the vigilance of the law enforcement authorities and partly to the fact that the law is being enforced either in the service forces or engaged in some remunerative occupation.

The Chief Justice then reviewed the war situation. While the events of the past few months were highly encouraging, he said, "we must not regard this encouragement as justification for complacency or undue optimism, but rather as an incentive to a greater and sustained effort to bring about a final and most successful conclusion that is possible."

Chief Justice Replies

His relations with the Bar, the Chief Justice said in reply, had always been cordial. He trusted they would continue to be so. While it would not be possible for him to give judgments pleasing and entirely satisfactory to both sides, he could assure the members and public through their clients the public of his very best effort to dispose of issues fairly in all cases.

"Another matter of great satisfaction," he said, "is the cordial manner in which my associate Justices have offered their cooperation. As this is a new relationship for me towards legal and judicial questions, I shall find it necessary to rely to a very large extent on their good judgment and experience. The record and the example set in previous years by members of the Judiciary of this Province has been very high. The record of judgments delivered by the Justices of this court in past years is an impressive and valuable one. Perhaps there is no record of judgments which is so impressive, so valuable, from the legal point of view as those of my immediate predecessor, Chief Justice Matheson. His very great ability, his sound common sense and the capacity which he had for expressing his judicial ideas in concise and excellent language, render his judgments a very valuable asset to the Court.

"In this connection there is one matter to be greatly regretted, and that is that the judgments of the Court, particularly those delivered more than say, fifteen years ago, are not available to the members of the Bar or even to the members of the Judiciary in any systematic or ready-to-hand manner. The statute law of the Province is now in first class condition. It is necessary to go back to 1836 and practically the whole of the public statute law is contained in the enactments of the five years from 1826 to 1940. That is a great convenience not only to the judges and members of the Bar, but to the public at large. I may add that the practice of the Court as laid down in the rules of Court has been brought up to date and republished in a concise form which is now available for the judges as well as the barristers. It would, I believe, be a very great benefit to all litigants, and particularly a convenience to members of the Bar and judiciary, if the case law of 1836 were published in the records of decided cases and interpretations under

Grand Jury Report

At 5 P.M. the Grand Jury brought in the following report:

My Lordship: We your Grand Jury members beg to submit the following report: We wish to congratulate you on your qualifications as Chief Justice of our Province.

May we express the wish that you will be spared for a long and useful life. We look forward with confidence that you will administer the law with fairness and impartiality.

In discharge of our duties we visited Queen's County Jail and found nine female and nine male prisoners. The building is in good repair. The interior was found in a clean and satisfactory condition.

At Falconwood Hospital we were accompanied by Mr. Murchison, Medical Superintendent, Dr. Macdonald, and Mr. Dignam. We found 132 females and 140 males. We inspected the institution throughout and found it in first-class condition.

We wish to make special mention of the efficiency of Dr. Murchison and staff in the management of this important public institution.

We recommend that a sensible Nurses' Home be erected. This would relieve the congestion in the Ladies' Pavilion where the nurses are now housed. We would further recommend that modern farm buildings be erected on Falconwood Farm.

Practical Infirmary

Accompanied by the matron Mrs. Garrick we inspected the Institution and found it in excellent condition. Everywhere is seen evidence of efficiency and good management. We found 162 patients we would recommend that the laundry in this institution be enlarged and modernized.

Respectfully stated, SIMON P. PAOLI, Foreman, For self and others.

TRIES BREADCRUSTS FOR CABBAGE FUMES

LONDON, (CP)—One of the "hardest things about war," so far as the early days of the war is concerned, is that the House is continued unrepresentative. It is continued unrepresentative.

ALUMINUM

have done their utmost to meet the requirements of the Allies in the field in which they are operating. In the past, they have stretched their resources to the limit in order to do a job in the winning of the war.

Mr. Graydon began his references to aluminum by stating that Mr. Howe's reply to Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Graydon indicated a certain helplessness in the face of a situation beyond the Minister's control. The Minister had not given the House what it should have had.

"Surely in Canada we have not yet reached the stage where a government need suffer from a state of crippling paralysis with relation to international combination, with which it has sometimes to come in deal," Mr. Graydon said.

In the future international combines and cartels would, if unchecked, prevent the employment of free enterprise and full employment of the Canadian people. Canada should take the lead in reform and move for an international investigation of this and other similar companies.

Mr. Paoli said production of aluminum is necessary for the armaments in different countries. Raw materials were not produced in Canada. That did not make the country a victim of international jurisdiction.

The Company's profits were reasonable in relation to their capital and investment. No action could be taken at any time. The price of aluminum had been criticized but it was the only price which had come down since the start of the war.

When Mr. Howe said Mr. Graydon would stop the war to conduct an investigation, Mr. Graydon leader objected and said he had no need for such a suggestion.

The question of aluminum has not passed the Minister's mind and has not lessened. As a matter of fact it is greater today than it was several months ago and asked whether we could enlarge the production of aluminum. Mr. Graydon said we were obliged to say we had reached our limit. The result is that an expansion is taking place in the aluminum industry.

"I may be entirely erroneous but my judgment is that while we are in this battle to get aluminum to the Allies, we should not start another battle between the government of Canada and the sources of aluminum."

J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F. York South) said he was concerned at the "complacency" with which the government dealt with the aluminum situation outlined by Mr. Caldwell on Monday.

The Aluminum Company of Canada had obtained a water power monopoly at its Saguenay River site, in Quebec Province.

The development program was part of a long-range program to make a wide Canadian-United States area dependent on Canadian aluminum. It was a program to obstruct the St. Lawrence River development. By virtue of monopoly rights, the company would have the aluminum interests power. New York State, Quebec and Ontario had to enter into agreements with the company. All of which were tied up directly or indirectly with the aluminum interests, particularly in the case of the province of Ontario and eastern areas.
