Prince Edward Island, and Summerside in particular, mourns today the loss of a prominent and deservedly honored citizen in the death last Friday night of Mr. George Warren Robinson. Three months ago Mr. Robinson went to Boston, Mass., for medical treatment, and although the very best was procured, including a specialist from Montreal, he gradually declined, until he passed away at the residence of his sister, Mrs. F. A. Blanchard.

Mr. Robinson was at his death, in his 68th year. He was a native of Tryon and in early life started his career as a miller at Wilnot Valley, purchasing the property now known as Clark's Mills. In 1899 he came to Summerside and established the following year Mr. Robinson's Roller Flour Mill, which is now widely known throughout the Island and New Brunswick. This business was further extended two years ago by the addition of a bakery and was also converted into a company, known as Robinson's Mill and Bakery, Ltd., of which the late Mr. Robinson was President.

Mr. Robinson was one of the pioneers of the fox industry, being the first to enter what was known as the "combine," having purchased the first pair of foxes sold alive for breeding purposes. This was in December, 1910, and from that purchase has developed one of the largest individually controlled fox ranches in the province.

In 1889 he married Lucy Waugh, daughter of the late Mr. Samuel Waugh of Wilnot, who is left to mourn together with one son, Mr. B. W. Robinson of Summerside, and four daughters, namely:—Mrs. Marcus Calder, of Charlottetown; Mrs. S. K. Donald, of Moncton, N. B.; Mrs. Morley M. Bell, of Summerside, and the Misses Lulu and Jessie at home, to whom The Guardian wishes a particularly wide circle of friends in extending deep sympathy. One son, Ralph, died in 1910. Surviving are one brother, Mr. A. J. Robinson, of Tryon, and four sisters, Mrs. F. A. Blanchard and Mrs. Fred Scurah, of Boston; Mrs. C. W. Nelder, of Tryon, and Mrs. Alice Gillingham, of Florida.

The late Mr. Robinson was a truly ideal citizen and his life was marked by great activity, conscientiousness and kindness known to all his neighbors, friends and acquaintances, by whom he will be very greatly missed and ever remembered. The honored remains are expected to arrive at Summerside tonight (Monday), accompanied from Boston by Mrs. Robinson, and his daughters, Mrs. Bell, Miss Lulu and Miss Bernice, and also by his sister, Mrs. Blanchard and her husband, who were with him to the end.

The funeral is tentatively arranged to take place on Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m., from his late residence to the Baptist Church and People's Cemetery. S.
