

LIBERAL CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

The Liberal Conservative Convention held at Centreville on Thursday, March 27th was a significant assemblage.

Mr. Arthur Trainor was elected chairman.

Premier Arsenault opened the proceedings with an exhaustive, pointed and convincing speech, outlining the policy of the Government in plain and impressive terms.

Mr. John H. Myers was unanimously chosen to contest the district in the interest of the property holders, and Mr. John W. Warren, Kensington, was selected to represent the franchise electors.

The business of the convention being completed the Premier was invited to address the meeting and made the speech of the occasion.

Mr. Warren, he said, though a new man in the province of politics, still had made a record in industrial activities that must commend itself and he has developed a business in Kensington that asserts itself, and shows how he has the ability to achieve success along commercial lines.

Mr. J. W. Warren also thanked the convention for the confidence reposed in him in placing the destinies of the constituency in his hands.

Not one discordant note was struck throughout the convention, and this concordance and unanimity furnish evidence for the convention that the results of the election must return Messrs Myers and Warren successful at the polls.

Mr. Myers thanked the delegates for the confidence that had been placed in him, and accepted the nomination confident that the best interests of the people, as guarded by the Liberal-Conservative party, must prevail at the polls.

RETURN OF 36th C. F. A.

(Ebelbert Doty Pitt in Sydney Post).

The sombre days have passed, and now this hour we reach our hearts, we give our joy, to you:

You bore for us the pain, and paid our due That freedom should not die to German power.

To you that fought, from us who stayed, the dower Of Canada's unchanging faith swept true;

The faith whereby our striving spirits knew That life shall bloom again to love's great flower.

Oh! take our joy, and take our silent tears For those who shall return no more, that lie Beneath those fields of France; they shall not die

Within our hearts while Freedom guards our tears; While in our souls we see the coming years New born, to Destiny divinely high.

WHO WON THE WAR?

(Toronto Globe.)

A subscriber to The Globe for fifty years writes calling attention to an article on the war in The Saturday Evening Post by Mr. Samuel G. Blythe in which it is stated:

"The great outstanding success of our part of the war—indeed of the war itself—was the American buck private. He won it. The reason Germany quit was not any other reason than the American soldier, the private."

Our correspondent says that, having a number of relatives in the fight, including a brother, a nephew, and a cousin, he watched the course of events on the Western front pretty closely, and "somehow I came to believe that the French were the big noise in winning the war; that the British, including Canadians, Australians, South Africans, and other of Lion's Cubs were there and did some decisive fighting, plenty of it; that the British navy also figured in the scrap, but perhaps my impressions were all wrong," he would like to know the truth about the matter.

A considerable portion of the The Saturday Evening Post is devoted to fiction, and it is possible that through a printer's error some of it was dovetailed into Mr. Blythe's article.

IN MEMORIAM

NEIL MCPHEE

The deep sympathy of the whole community goes out to the sorrowing relatives and friends of Neil MacPhee whose sad death at the early age of 26 years occurred at his home at Harmony on February 2nd.

Deceased had been an efficient section man on the Elmira Branch since its opening, had always been in robust health until he contracted influenza, pneumonia developing and despite tender hands and loving care he passed to the great beyond after a short illness of eight days. All who knew Neil loved and esteemed him; he was of a quiet reserved nature, beloved by all who knew him especially his friends who knew and understood his many qualities and though we will miss and mourn him we willingly bow to God's holy will.

Both were laid to rest on Monday February 3rd in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Cemetery, Souris. A requiem Mass having been sung by Rev. J. A. McDonald who also officiated at the graves. There are left to mourn two sons and five daughters viz: Joseph, Peter, Judith, Mamie, Irene, Victoria and Katie who will always cherish the memory of a tender and loving mother and a kind and affectionate brother.—R. I. P.

ish were decisive factors in the final crushing defeat of the enemy."

As our correspondent says, the British navy also figured in the war and the King complimented the seamen on their work, but, having been a naval officer himself, he may not be impartial. We therefore quote from The New York Sun:

"King George told no more than the bare literal truth when he said that without the (British) fleet the struggle could not have been maintained. . . . Of course we all know this. It has been plain from the first, but it will not do to forget it when peace terms and final settlement come. Let us always remember that but for the British sailors and the French army Germany today would rule the world and we would be slaves."
