SKUNK BOUNTY

Parties killing skunks and forwarding identification will take note that only the nose and the white strip on the face must be sent forward. Packages, containing the head and parts of the body, have been sent to the agents. These packages were badly decomposed on arrival, they have created a distinct nuisance.

Any package containing identification parts other than the nose and strip as mentioned above will be immediately destroyed, and no claim in connection therewith for bonus will be considered.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial plants has attracted fresh attention to the frightful suffering of the many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by excessive raids. Eventually places are found for them all places of relative security, but their belongings are destroyed. The task of setting them up with more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult.

The Dominion campaign, which is officially known as "The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims." Every dollar contributed to the Queen's Canadian Fund goes without deduction to the Lord Mayor of London for distribution to the homeless and needy. Contributions from this Province should be forwarded to the Royal Trust Company, Charlotte Town, which reports the following receipts to date: Received Saturday: Mrs. Margaret Muttart, Glen Martin, $10.00. Carry On Canada Corps, of Eastern Kings, proceeds of a dance $113.40. Previously acknowledged $4,430.96. Total $4,545.36.

BUSY HOUSEWIFE HAS RIGHTS TOO

Generally, hard-working housewives with families to think about are too afraid of being selfish for their own good, comments Ruth Willett. The man of the family works hard and turns over most of what he makes to his family's support. But he does think it is his right to indulge in the hobby or outside interest that gives him the relaxation and sense of getting away from it all that he needs. If he likes golf, he spends money on golf balls, green fees, and an occasional new club. And, if he likes fishing, he provides himself with tackle and spends money on fishing trips. If he is a lodge member, he manages somehow to get to meetings and yearly conventions. But his wife, who works equally hard for the welfare of her family, doesn't really believe she has the right to a hobby that costs money or to a periodic holiday. She may tell herself it is her right and save money toward her purely selfish ambition, but when the times come to spend the money she usually backs down and puts it into a rug for the living room or into a week at camp for one of the children, or she makes the down payment on a new ice box. She just hasn't the courage to spend the money on herself, even though she is entitled to it by plucking and scripping and for herself alone. That's the usual story. But out in Kansas there is a farm woman who has the courage to spend the money she works hard all year to save on her own pleasure. For 51 weeks every year she leads the hard life of a farm woman. But on the 52nd she takes the money she has saved as her own and has a real treat. She goes to nearby Topeka, rents a room in a good hotel, and leads the life of a city woman with her money on her hands. Two or three mornings a week she has breakfast in bed—then which there is probably no greater treat for a farm woman, used to being up at the crack of dawn, cooking breakfast for a hungry family. She gets her hair fixed in a new style, has a facial, shops and window shops, sees some movies, and goes home at the end of the week ready to work hard another year to earn another vacation. Housewives as a group would feel less "put upon" and get more out of life if more of them, like this farm woman, had the gumption to take some fun for themselves after they've earned it.

Nothing intrigues a man more than to pick up a hankie and know by the scent just who the owner might be. But—don't mix them. Make your perfume ensemble complete from head to toe by atomizing your cedar handkerchief, glove, hosiery and lingerie boxes with the chosen perfume. As a last touch dab a bit of the perfume behind the ears and on the wrists.

"Imagine it taking a war to set us right"

Husband: "There's one thing we can thank Hitler for. He's got us saving at last." Wife: "Yes! Imagine! Until it became a positive duty we certainly never managed to put anything by each week." Husband: "I think it's partly because these War Savings Certificates are so simple to buy." Wife: "You mean the idea of getting the office to deduct a regular amount each week from your salary?" Husband: "Yes! And how they're mounting up! Quite a nest-egg when you count the interest they're earning." Wife: "Well the more the merrier, I say! There are lots of things we'll need the money for, as the years roll by!"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

ARRIVES IN ENGLAND—Mrs. M.F. Riley, Belle River, has received a cable from her son, Sergeant-Pilot John M. Riley, stating that he has arrived safely in England. Prior to his departure, a large number of friends from Belle River and vicinity gathered at his home to wish him bon voyage and a safe return. After a few well-chosen remarks by Mr. Leslie F. Swart as to the purpose of the gathering a beautiful pen and pencil set and purse of money were presented by Albert MacNeill. Although taken by surprise, John expressed his thanks and appreciation in a very happy and appropriate manner. Lunch was served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

PRESENTATION—Major F. M. Nash, Commanding H. Q. Squadron P. E. I. Light Horse 1st Brigade, Armoured Corps, A.
