Three young men from P. E. Island who raised a disturbance on the steamer Empress Monday and who continued their annoyance after boarding the I.O.R. train at Point du Chene, gave the police a lively time at the I. C. R. depot at Moncton. One of the men was landed, while the other two ran, and have not yet been caught by the I. C. R. police who went after them. Officer Perry attempted to arrest the three men when the train arrived here. They put up a stiff resistance, but the I. C. R. police managed to get the bracelets onto one of the men. While he was doing this, the other two ran up the depot platform, and along up the St. John line. After seeing one man safely placed in the police patrol, and started for the police station, Officer Perry boarded the Boston express, in the hope of sighting the other two offenders. The men were all intoxicated and caused great annoyance to the passengers on the steamer Empress on the way from Prince Edward Island. They had second-class railway tickets, but persisted in remaining in the first-class car, despite the objections of the conductor. They will probably be severely dealt with if captured, as the I. C. R. has been making examples of those who create disturbances on the train.—Transcript.

The storm-scarred standard which flung its tattered folds to the breeze above the Post Office yesterday was a rather shabby emblem of this glorious Dominion. It should be folded away as too out-of-date to represent this young country.

During the severe wind storm on Tuesday night a large poplar tree on Water Street was broken off a few feet from the ground, taking with it a large number of telephone wires which required quite a lot of time yesterday to be straightened out. The tree which is now supported by another one, is most dangerous, and will no doubt be attended to promptly as the danger signals are there to protect the passerby.
