FOX THIEVES MAKE BIG HAUL

Raiders Enter and Rob Ranches of Messrs Jenkins and McKendrick—Loss is Heavy One.

A very daring robbery was perpetrated on Friday evening last when the fox ranch of Mr. J. D. Jenkins, Mount Edward Road, about three miles from Charlottetown, was entered and some eighteen or more young foxes were stolen. Entrance was effected by climbing the fence in the rear of the ranch, and the party or parties who perpetrated the robbery, picked the largest and oldest fox pups. Almost every pen was visited and the young litters passed by, but the largest pups that could be placed on rations for themselves were taken. Mr. Jenkins did not become aware of his loss until the day following, when on checking over his foxes he found that some of the best pups had been stolen. Suspicions had previously been

A STEP NEARER TO REPARATION SETTLEMENT

British and Belgian Premiers Confer in London—Inter-Allied Conference Date now Nearer.

(British United Press)
LONDON, May 5.—As a result of Prime Minister Macdonald's conference with Premier Theunis of Belgium at Chequers Court over the week end a new inter-Allied conference for making the experts' reparation plan effective is closer at hand than has been previously anticipated according to the view of British officials who have had an opportunity to learn something of the informal conversations held at the Premier's official country residence.

The British view is that another milestone has been passed on the long road toward a reparation settlement and that two more are visible ahead. These are the French elections next Sunday and the Belgium conference with Mussolini at Milan May 18th. If these are passed successfully Premier Macdonald, Poincare, Theunis and Mussolini are likely to meet in London or Paris during June.

NEW HARDWARE STORE ONE OF FINEST IN EASTERN CANADA

Fennel & Chandler Now Open for Business in Completely Remodelled Store on Queen Street Formerly Occupied by Mr. Stanley Wedlock—Renovating Very Efficiently Completed by Firm of McDougal and McAulay.

That substantial structure on Queen Street known as the Rogers building is now occupied by the old established firm of Fennel & Chandler, who, as is well known, formerly conducted their business on Victoria Row. Their new building, which was purchased by Mr. Chandler last January, has been renovated throughout by Messrs McDougal & McAulay, a firm of contractors about whose work no comment is necessary. The store is now one of the finest in Eastern Canada. The front, which is of the latest and most pleasing design, is almost entirely of plate glass. The heavy window columns have been replaced by overhead steel beams. The main entrance is paved with red Welsh tiles and presents a very attractive appearance. The commodious show-windows on either side are finished in Douglas fir; the bevel edged flooring provides space for metallic sign letters.

MISS GWENDOLEN LAZIER

A large section of the floor in the main store has been lowered ten inches, bringing the whole to the level of the street. A novel feature of the interior is the hardwood ledge built into the walls and providing additional space for the display of goods. All the shelves are easily accessible by means of Wilcox sliding step ladders. The south wall of the interior is lined with cupboards for fancy hardware. The doors of these are flush and fitted for exhibiting samples. Further down is a large oak case having countless drawers for small miscellaneous articles. Beneath the ledge and counter are patent nail bins all within easy reach. Along the opposite side are open shelves for paints and enamel wares. The rear wall is fitted with cases for hinges and the ordinary

RUSSIA ASKED TO GIVE UP SOVIETISM FOR CREDITS

Stage Set in Little Hotel in London for Great World Political Drama—Chance For Soviet Success About Even.

(United Press)
LONDON, May 5.—A modest little hotel, accustomed to calm and placid procedure by uneventful occupants, but now pervaded with an atmosphere of suspicion and of tense activity. A modest little hotel, quiet and unpretentious rather obscure, in fact—tucked away retiringly on the least fashionable side of a park. Pleasant enough, and perfectly respectable, this little hotel, but far from swanky. Just a decent little place.

But now the quiet little place is all cluttered up with preparations for big-league stuff—if the language of baseball and diplomacy may be mixed. The Russian delegates to the London conference are quartered in the quiet little place. They work there and they sleep there, when they aren't over at the Foreign Office trying to reach an agreement with Great Britain regarding the relations of the two great regions of the earth that are ruled by Labor Governments. The stage has been set, in the quiet little hotel, for a vital scene in one of the world's greatest political dramas. Playing for Big Stakes. As the Russians play this act, evolved, formulated and rehearsed in their modest little hotel, they will influence directly or indirectly the attitude toward Russia of the United States and Japan; they will prepare the way for getting a big chunk of British trade, or they will make the way even more difficult than it is now; they will win or they will lose what Premier MacDonald has indicated is the last chance for a long, long time of an Anglo-Russian agreement. So, no wonder there is an atmosphere of reserve, of suspicion, of super-caution in the modest little hotel now—where before there was never anything more subtle or mysterious than retired army officers. The MacDonald Labor Govern-

TO JOIN ENDS OF EMPIRE BY AIR ROUTE

First Line Will Be From London to India and Australia—Plane to Carry 200 Passengers.

(British United Press)
LONDON, May 5.—The cabinet committee which has been sitting for some weeks past under the chairmanship of Hon. J. H. Thomas Colonial Secretary concluded investigations and has made certain recommendations relative to the future of the airship problem in Britain which has been sent to the whole cabinet. If the latter accepts these recommendations work will be begun immediately on the first super airship which will bring the very remotest parts of the British empire within seven days of London.

This new airship will carry about 200 passengers and eleven tons of mail and will have a speed of at least eighty miles per hour. It is expected the first service to be inaugurated will be to India and Australia later linking up Canada, New Zealand, China and South Africa with this initial route. The new scheme is announced as a compromise between a purely state controlled service and the plan of private ownership which was put forward by Commander Burney which attracted much attention at the time it was suggested. Commander Burney's scheme would in all likelihood have been accepted in its entirety but for the heavy expense involved which would have made it impracticable as an independent enterprise.

CANADA MAKES PROTEST TO WASHINGTON

U. S. Dept. Gives Out Correspondence on Proposal to Divert Water From Lake Michigan.

(Canadian Press)
WASHINGTON, May 5.—The State Department today made public correspondence with the British Embassy dealing with the proposal to divert water from Lake Michigan for the Chicago Sanitary District Navigation Canal, in which the opposition of Canada to further diversion was registered. The correspondence covered a period from December 29, 1923, to April 2, of this year. The communications of the State Department consisted largely of letters informing the Embassy of the status of court action in the case and of legislation touching upon it. Under date of December 29, 1923, H. G. Chilton, Counselor of the Embassy, wrote Secretary Hughes that the Government of Canada had received numerous communications protesting against the diversion and that the Dominion authorities still maintained their attitude of opposition. The letter inquired the status of suits instituted by the United States Government with a view of preventing increase of diversion and expressed the hope that the proceedings would be vigorously pushed.

On February 9, Mr. Chilton told Secretary Hughes the Canadian Government wished to send W. J. Stewart, its Chief Hydrographer, to be present at congressional hearings on the bill for a nine foot channel from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. Mr. Chilton again wrote Secretary Hughes on February 13, that
