times a man, realizing that a girl is in love with him, will marry her because he does not have the heart to make her miserable. I believe that I understand women thoroughly. Do you think that some day I will meet a woman who can fool me? JACK.

Probably I think most women can fool any man if they want to, but few women desire to, because women have sense enough to know that no lasting bond between a man and woman can be woven of deceit.

If a woman meets a man whom she desires for a husband, she naturally makes every effort to attract him. First, by making herself as good-looking as possible in order to catch his eye and then by making herself agreeable to him by jolly him along and letting him know that she admires him.

Doubtless some woman will use these tactics on you, but she will in no way be "fooling" or deceiving you.

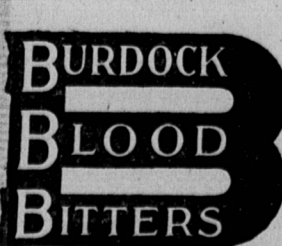

You can use your own judgment in sizing up her motives and exercise your own taste in either exposing yourself to her blandishments or fleeing from them. You may be susceptible to her charms or indifferent to them, but unless you are more stupid than the average man you will not be fooled by her.

Of course many men do marry women who are in love with them just because they haven't the heart to turn them down, but this is because it flatters their vanity and because they prefer being loved to loving. And it is not always a bad choice.

I don't think either men or women understand the opposite sex. That is why they are interesting to each other. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My fiance and I have begun to get bored with each other and on each other's nerves. All the pep has gone out of our engagement and we take no interest in each other. What shall we do? ESTELLE.

Break off the engagement and thank Heaven you found out you were not congenial before you got married. DOROTHY DIX.

Eczema On Hands For Five Years

Mrs. Andrew Volk, Burdette, Alta., writes: "I was very much bothered, for five years, with eczema on my hands and wrists. I tried all kinds of ointments and salves, but they did not help me. A friend told me about Burdock Blood Bitters, and after I had taken two bottles I found I had received complete relief from my trouble."

INJURED BY HORSE — Mr. Duncan Palmer, well known truckman of Summerside is a patient in the Prince County Hospital suffering from a bad scalp wound and a small fracture of the skull. Yesterday morning his condition was reported as good. The accident happened near midnight on Tuesday. Mr. Palmer was bedding down his horse, which is a heavy truck horse, in his stable on Spring Street, when it kicked him, striking his head. He called out and neighbours came to his assistance. Officers White and Kinch, of the Summerside Police Force, were called and brought him to the hospital in their car. Dr. McPhee attended to the injured man. Stitches were required to close the wound to the scalp. Mr. Palmer is resting as comfortably as can be expected. Mrs. Palmer is at present in Moncton, N. B., on a visit to her sister.—S.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Hughes Drug Co., Ltd., and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID tablets with guarantee of money refunded if they do not end your Pile misery.

GARDENING

rains and winds. Among the flowers, stakes of various heights are used for supporting clumps of perennials, individual dahlias, and other tall things, for supporting climbing roses and also for adding real strength for those little wire fences which confine small children and large dogs to concrete walks instead of allowing indiscriminate wandering over lawns and flower beds. Stakes also find a most useful place in the vegetable garden. They carry nettings and strings for peas, and support for tomatoes and possibly cucumbers.

Take A Chance

Now that May has almost arrived it should be fairly safe to try a few rows of those vegetables which are not usually sown until later. Two or three years out of five Canada enjoys a warm open spring with little or no late frost. Of course such weather conditions cannot be guaranteed in advance and the only way to capitalize a season of this kind is to make a practise of sowing a little vegetable seed well ahead of the proper time. If frost does come along, there is small loss as the ground can be used over again anyway, whereas if the stuff pulls through there is the satisfaction of having from one's own garden, vegetables unusually early. Beans, potatoes, corn, tomatoes and a few of the other tender and semi-tender vegetables can be treated in this way. With hardy sorts like spinach, radish and lettuce, one can make the first sowings just as soon as the ground is fit to work. Frost may hold them back but it will not hurt them. Handle the end of the planting season in the same way, that is make a sowing or two after the usual time for planting, so that there will be stuff coming along weeks after the main crop has been picked.

Peonies

Most people consider the wonderful peony a flower of a very short blooming period. Such, however, is not necessarily the case. With literally scores of varieties from which to choose, one can, by selecting early, medium and late-blooming types, prolong the flowering season easily for a full month. In the white varieties alone there is a period of almost a fortnight between the blooming of the earliest and the latest, and there is practically a different date of opening for all well-known types. In a few weeks, when these flowers will be at their best, it is also a good plan to visit gardens and jot down the names of favorites.

LOWER FREETOWN INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of the Lower Freetown Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Scott Jardine, Wednesday afternoon, April 19th, at the usual hour. The president presided. The meeting opened with the Ode and all repeating the Creed in unison. Roll Call was responded to by thirteen members and two visitors each member answering the roll with a Birthday verse. The minutes of the previous meeting were read.
