"AERTEX" The ideal summer underwear! perfect comfort moderately priced. Dip your hands in a basin of water, try to dry them on a blanket—slow work eh? Wet them again and try drying on a linen towel—mark the difference. That's the difference between woolen underwear and "AERTEX". Wool does not absorb moisture—"AERTEX" does. "Aertex" is a light, cellular fabric—so made as to preserve a constant circulation of air round the body—and so absorbent that all perspiration is gathered up and passed off—keeping the skin always dry and cool. Then again Aertex is more durable and cheaper than ordinary cellular underwear. Suit with short sleeve shirt, $2.10. Suit with long sleeve shirt, $3.00. Combinations $1.75. Moore & McLeod.
