THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

IT PAYS to buy in this Province.

PROGRESSING FAVORABLY.—Mr. Ewen Cameron, who left here on a holiday a few weeks ago in the interest of his health, after consulting Dr. Berryman, of St. John, entered the General Hospital there. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he is progressing favorably.

ENTERTAINED.—Mrs. C. S. Hickman, Dorchester, N. B., entertained very pleasantly a number of her friends last week at bridge. Some of those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. George Mahon, Mrs. Blanchard, (Charlottetown), and others.

BISHOP OF CALGARY.—Included in the recent orders from Rome, as published in a late issue of the Boston Post, is one nominating Rev. J. T. McNally, son of John T. McNally, Summerside, as Bishop of the new diocese of Calgary, Alberta. Father McNally was born in Summerside 41 years ago. After graduating from St. Dunstan's College he spent several years teaching before entering upon his duties for the priesthood, to which station he was raised on April 6th, 1896. The consecration taking place at Rome, and two years later, was granted the degree of D. D. Since returning to America he has had charge of several parishes, including Ottawa and a parish in Ontario. He is now located at Portland, Oregon.—J.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.—Institute meetings have been held during the past week at York, Marshfield, Union and Brackley. Organization will be favorably considered at all these places. These meetings have been conducted by Mrs. Dunbrack accompanied by Miss Katherine James of Charlottetown, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, and have been well attended. The lecture report being most hospitably entertained while in the different districts. In this Province there may be some doubt as to the good to be attained through the work of Women's Institutes. This may be due to the fact that the women are ignorant to the aims and objects of the organization. In the minds of some people Women's Institute work may be associated with instruction in cooking and that only. It should be remembered however, that the work undertaken by these Institutes is most comprehensive, while the preparation of foods and their relation to the body demands a share of study by the members, attention is given to other matters that also interest the home-maker. The objects of this organization shall be the dissemination of knowledge relation to domestic economy, including household architecture, with special attention to home sanitation, a better understanding of the economic and hygienic value of foods, clothing and fuels and a more scientific care and training of children with a view of raising the general standard of health and morals of our people. Truly a most worthy object, the betterment of home life and the upbuilding of character. In this noble Canada of ours, where influential men are bending their energies to nation-building and the general prosperity of this fair Dominion, is not this the home for Institute Women to bend their energies to character building? The foundation is laid in the home, and the Institute is for making women efficient in the home.—Cohn.

BOTTOM'S CATALOG.—The catalog recently issued for the Bingara stallion Bottom (41818) is one of the best of its kind ever sent out by any stallion owner. It contains sixteen pages, is well illustrated, with cuts and is printed on best magazine paper. The cover is in two colors. On the first page is a cut of Bottom's owner. The second page is an introduction. Page three has a splendid cut of Bottom with his description. Page four has opinions of such leading trainers as Frank Bouletier, Hal-Jack, Jack Leonard, Hingham, Mass., Raymond, Cape Traverse, Tommy Conroy, Tignish. Page five has a cut of the great Baden 2,054, bred at Allen Farm and of the same identical breeding as Bottom. It gives a list of Baden's winnings and races. Page six has the races and winnings of Berka, 2,144, full sister of Bottom. She was one of the very best trotters in America over the half-mile tracks last season, winning ten races. Page six has a cut of the world's greatest money winning sire of 1912, Bingara (34707) with his breeding, and description. Page seven has some Bingara facts which will make quite an impression on the breeding public. Page eight has Bottom's extended pedigree. Page nine gives a cut of Kremlin, 2,074, grandsire of Bottom and the greatest brood mare sire of 1912. Page ten has a word picture of the celebrated Allen farm, the birth place of Bottom. Page eleven has some advice on the benefit of breeding to a fashionable sire. Page twelve has an extract from a "write up" in the Examiner re Bottom's victory in the recent championship at the horse show. Page thirteen has a description of Bottom's dam Kadika, one of the Allen Farm's greatest brood mares, and a few words to the critics. Page fourteen has a cut of Fred J. Cameron, the manager of the Allen Farm. Also a list of some of the horses he has marked. The catalog was issued by the Maritime Stationers and compiled by Joseph R. Barr, of the Bonnell Advertising Agency. It reflects great credit on its originators and should prove a splendid advertisement.

Scramble for Coppers

Some street arabs in Waterloo road had a fine haul. A crowd of boys scrambled for the coins and secured a considerable number of them.

Undertaker Dies at Funeral

There was a sudden death at the funeral of the late Mr. William Francis, Milford Haven. Mr. Lloyd was forty-seven years of age.

Fight With a Mongoose

What is believed to be a mongoose has been killed by a party of sportsmen who were rabbiting with three dogs at Brooklands Farm, Bolney, Sussex. The animal was found by the dogs in a small wood, and when attacked it defended itself vigorously. The three dogs—a fox terrier, a sheepdog, and a retriever—were badly bitten, but the terrier finally got a grip, and the animal was killed. It was about 2 1/2 feet in length from nose to tail.

Woman's Remarkable Experience

"Found drowned" was the verdict at the inquest on William Mountain, a pit sinner, at Dover. Mrs. Rowbotham, wife of a driver in the Army Service Corps, said that on the night previous to discovery of the body a man whom she alleged to be Mountain called at her house and told her to go with him, as her husband had been hurt. He took her towards Shakespeare Cliff, and in a lonely spot attacked her and tore practically all her clothes off. A soldier found her in a collapsed condition.

Unable to Read at Thirteen

At Paisley two boys, John Cooper and Edward Cooper, thirteen and seven years respectively, were charged with having been found wandering. It was stated that they frequented fair grounds in various towns, and within the last year had resided at many places. The elder boy was absolutely uneducated and could neither read nor write, while the younger boy had never been at school. They were committed to Paisley Industrial School.

Antiquated Tall Hats

During the hearing of an action at Longford Quarter Sessions by a draper's assistant for a year's salary against a draper who failed and was evicted, Mr. Dolny (for defendant) said the assistant stayed on when there was no business being done, and when there was nothing to sell in the place. For months before the eviction the shop stock consisted of hundreds of handboxes and some antiquated tall hats that nobody would buy. His honor gave a decree for salary for portion of the time claimed for.
