

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Daby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. CAPTAIN CHARGED WITH MURDER ON THE HIGH SEAS

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Charged with murder on the high seas, Captain George H. Miles, commander of the U. S. shipping board steamer President VanBuren, was arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Hitchcock and committed to the toms. He was arrested on a complaint made "on information and belief" by Assistant U. S. District Attorney Goldkowitz, who has been for some weeks examining witness.

On the voyage of the VanBuren to the Tilbury Docks, London, it is alleged that Capt Miles, making his first voyage as commander of the vessel, so cruelly beat H. G. Baxter, a pantryman, that he died next day, June 25, from his injuries.

This is denied by the captain, who said that Baxter died following collapse from taking drugs. He said that he had a record of twenty-eight years following the sea and that for 16 years he had commanded American vessels. During the war he commanded the U. S. transport Santa Olivia.

PRINCE OF WALES' RANCH DISPOSES OF PRIZE SHEEP

CALGARY, Aug. 21.—At Calgary Exhibition W. L. Carlyle, manager of the Prince of Wales Ranch, sold his first prize and champion yearling Shropshire ewe, also the second prize yearling ewe, and the third prize ram lamb. He sold his first and second prize yearling Oxford ram and the second prize ewe Oxford ram into a breeder from Iowa, U.S.A. He also sold his first prize ram lamb to Thomson of Ontario, and to W. J. Hoover, Bittern Lake, he sold a ewe lamb. These sales broke up the show herd so much that it was not worth while taking the remainder of the succeeding fairs.

Afraid To Let Wife Be Alone

"My wife and I feel that we owe everlasting gratitude to Taulac, for it has made her gain ten pounds and she now has better health than in years," said Clayton Zwicker, 2 Edwards St., Dartmouth, N. S. who works for the Maritime Telephone Co.

"My wife was in miserable health for seven years and although she tried many medicines she grew worse and I was afraid to leave her alone. She was so weak she could hardly walk across the room. Her appetite was very poor and no matter what she ventured to eat she nearly fainted from indigestion.

"Taulac relieved her in a short time. She now has a splendid appetite and has regained her strength so she can do her housework again. We will praise Taulac as long as we live."

Taulac is sold by all good druggists.

Whole Block Is Kept On Jump By Runaway Monkey

NEW YORK, August 21.—A wild South American monkey that stands two feet six inches in his stocking feet is at present terrorizing the residents of the block bounded by Seventh and Eighth avenues and 22nd and 23rd streets. Since 10 o'clock yesterday morning he has been racing over the roofs in the block, swinging into open windows, jumping from roofs to trees, perching himself on the roof of the Presbyterian church at Eighth avenue and causing a panicky feeling among the guests of the Chelsea Hotel.

Several times he has entered the hotel. Once to choke a couple of song birds to death in the room of the manager, Arthur Wolfe, where he threw about the cages and stirred clothes about the room. His antics in other rooms caused the guests to sleep with an eye open all night and hope that the fly screens might prove a barrier that would prevent an intrusion.

He is still enjoying the freedom of the city without going through the formality of having a golden key presented to him by Mayor Hylan on the City Hall steps along with resolutions passed by the Board of Aldermen. Not having these credentials, he has confined himself to the block.

In the time he has been at liberty he has furnished damage suits sufficient to keep the city court busy for a week and annoy his owner, W. Simmons and Company, owners of a bird and animal store at No. 256 West 23rd street. The only asset which Mr. Simmons may be able to interpose is the amusement and excitement the monkey has furnished.

It was some time after 10 a.m. yesterday that Mr. Simmons discovered the cage of the monkey was broken and he was gone. He is, according to his owner, a Kapishian monkey that comes from the west coast of South America. After a search about the place, Simmons saw a crowd in the street and joined it. The monkey was scaling the Chelsea Hotel. He disdained the fire escapes and was going up a drain pipe. Persons went to the roof to head him off and he disappeared into one of the open windows of the hotel.

With the knowledge that there was a surprise awaiting some guest, the crowd lingered. The monkey came out, made the roof and went over to the roof of the Presbyterian church near the corner of Seventh avenue. Dark-are usually due to straining when constipated. Nujol being a lubricant keeps the food waste soft and therefore prevents straining. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it not only soothes the suffering of piles but relieves the irritation, brings comfort and helps to remove them.

ness set in with him sitting on the ridge pole of the church. All he needed apparently was a ukulele to make him happy.

Guests with windows open had a jumpy feeling all night in the hotel, and this morning reports arrived of what had occurred. A middle-aged woman guest came from the bathroom this morning to see the monkey perched on a chiffonier, examining a silver-backed brush and mirror. She snatched a slipper at him with him went a gold brooch pin. This he examined for a while, and when reinforcements arrived in response to her telephone call he went away. He evidently dropped the pin, as it was not found.

For a while before noon he was the centre of attraction of a crowd that surrounded the Greenwich Bank Building at Seventh avenue and 23rd street. He swung on electric light wires and took his noonday exercises without the aid of any phonograph records. The general hope was that he would tear a little of the insulation from one of the wires and that would end his troubles, but he did not.

At No. 202 West 23rd street is the Paris Silk Undergarment Factory. The machines in the place are operated by girls. The monkey made a giant swing from the electric light wire and went into the third floor window. There was a scream and that became a chorus as the girls ran for the exits. The monkey gave a chatter, watching the disappearing operatives, and raced through the place holding to a piece of silk that weighs nothing and which unwrapped from a bolt of silk like a fishing line from a reel. His finish was a leap from the window into a tree in the back yard.

In the course of the day it was decided the thing to do was to poison him, so bananas containing poison. It was said, were scattered on the roofs. After 1 o'clock this afternoon he was sitting up on the roof of the church, where he makes his headquarters. He had eaten the bananas, but he gave no evidence of dying and was not even seasick.

On one of his escapades soon after his escape he jumped from the roof of the six-story building at No. 244 West 23rd street and landed on the ground. Simmons and his helpers watching him were sure he was dead, but he bounded up and scaled a fire escape and disappeared over the roof of a house in 22nd street.

Simmons has been persistent in efforts to catch him. Every now and then someone in the block comes in and reports the monkey in a new place and having done some new damage, and announces Simmons will be expected to pay for the damage. When chased for the monkey seeks the church roof, which has become a sanctuary because of its inaccessibility.

RETURNED MAN SERIOUSLY HURT

APOHAQUI, Aug. 21.—A serious accident occurred here on Thursday afternoon, when Andrew Bell, Jr., was terribly injured by a pitchfork while at work in the hay field. Mr. Bell was driving through his meadows with an empty hay wagon in which the pitchforked fork was standing. The spirited horses took fright and the handle of the work flow up, one of the tines striking Mr. Bell, passing through his face, putting one eye out and causing the other painful injuries. Mr. Bell was alone at the time and in a dazed condition he rushed to a nearby brook and washed the blood from his face and by this time was found by his brother-in-law, Murray McAllister, who assisted him to the house.

Medical aid was hurriedly summoned and Dr. McAllister and his attending nurse made record time in reaching the wounded man. The physician deemed it wise to order his removal to the hospital after first aid was given, the unfortunate young man was taken to St. John by the 8.10 train, accompanied by Asa Campbell, who returned by the midnight train. He reporting that the wounds had been treated and that one eye was utterly destroyed but the exact extent of Mr. Bell's injuries cannot be ascertained.
