GREB-DELANEY GO WILL BE A BATTLE

Young French-Canadian is Bound to Make the Middle-weight Champion Extend Himself to Win, When They Meet in at the Yankee Stadium Next Month.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 5.—When Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, meets Jack Delaney, the slim Bridgeport challenger, at the Yankee Stadium in June, many of the experts believe the title holder will be in for the warmest time of his career. Some think he will be stopped.

Greb has been scheduled for the warmest time in his career so many times that he should have been burnt to a crisp by this time, if there were good reasons for believing that he did have a hot time of it.

The champion is, without a doubt, one of the most individual types that has ever held a title. With the possible exception of Johnny Dundee, the greatest freak of the ring, Greb has fought more, and in more classes, than any fighter of the present day at least.

He has been given little credit for a record that is really remarkable. The critics say that he can't hit, that he is a slapper, that he doesn't know how to box, that he has to use rough tactics and that he hasn't a single attribute of a great fighter.

In spite of this, Greb goes out and beats any fighter that he really wants to beat. He was the light heavyweight champion twice, and he lost the title twice to Gene Tunney on two peculiar decisions. He then turned around and won the middleweight championship and announced, with all sincerity, that he was willing to fight Dempsey.

It is told about ring circles that Greb once made Jack Dempsey look not so good when he boxed him several years ago while Dempsey was in training for the Brennan fight, and it is more or less known that Dempsey declined to accept the services of Greb when the Pittsburgher volunteered to help him get in shape for Carpenter.

Greb's greatest assets are the heart of a lion, the confidence of a champion and the possession of enough energy to go fifteen rounds with the speed of a shadowboxing.

CHURCH LEAGUE

Probably the closest contested match played so far in this league took place last night between the St. Pauls and Methodist teams. At the end of the first game the Methodists were leading by three pins. At the end of the second they were leading by 44 and at the end of the third they had a majority of 41 pins.

J. A. Bentley rolled excellent games for the winners while W. Carmody held up the reputation of the losing team.

Following are the results:

New York's Winter League fans were very fearful about Heine Groh. They mulled over the "dope," which was to the effect that the diminutive but sensational third baseman of the Giants was about through. But Heine has been just as sensational as ever. Before season was much more than a week old his funny looking bat—the only "bottle bat" in the big leagues—had produced two home runs. His general condition was greatly improved by an operation which he underwent during the winter.

flyweight. Greb took Tom Gibbons, when the St. Pauls fight heavy-weight was in his prime, and gave him a lacing in Madison Square Garden. Gibbons said later that he was not in shape, and it is known that does not show in the records.

For several years it has been the opinion of the experts that Greb would go along to a natural end unless someone discovered a strong legitimate middleweight, one with speed and a snappy punch who would not be bothered by the necessity of making weight.

Delaney is just such a fighter. He is a tall, rangy, young French-Canadian, with a good punch, with a lot of clever boxing in him and with plenty of experience.

If Greb is as poor as he has been said to be, Delaney ought to win the championship. If Greb finally has begun to feel the results of his activity in the ring and his weight-making, Delaney has a fine chance to win the title.

Last year Delaney was regarded as being one of the best prospects in the class, but the wise boys whispered around that he didn't have much of a heart and that he had a china right hand.

Accepting the words of the wise ones, Dan Hickey picked him out of a dozen or more fighters when the boxing commission said that Dan's

Prizes Offered the Boys Are Servicable and of Regulation Weight and Size—Great Training Going on in Preparation For Races—List List of Entries Will Be Published Shortly—Don't Forget Fellers, "The Big Day," May 31st.

The Sports Department notice with much pleasure the large number of boys seen on the streets these days practicing, or should we say getting into shape, preparatory to the Guardian's big Stilts Race to be held on Saturday afternoon, May 31st.

Another list of entries were received yesterday and judging by the interest shown by the boys, a large field will face the starter's gun when the time to line up comes around.

Arrangements have been made to handle all entries received, therefor a hundred contestants may get into the races as easily as twenty, and every boy will be accorded an equal opportunity no matter in what class he is entered.

In reference to the nine prizes offered for first, second and third positions in the different classes, every winner may rest assured that the award in each case is well worth competing for—for instance, in the under-ten-years class, a nice, aerifiable sport sweater worth $2.00 will be given for first; sneaker boots, which every boy needs during the summer sport season, comes second, and third a nifty sport cap, which any boy may well feel proud of possessing.

In the ten-to-fourteen class, the first prize is a regulation baseball bat (the kind used in the big leagues) and second, a catcher's mask, also regulation size; and for third a dinky baseball mitt.

ENTRIES NOW COMING IN FOR STILTS RACE

Prizes Offered the Boys Are Servicable and of Regulation Weight and Size—Great Training Going on in Preparation For Races—List List of Entries Will Be Published Shortly—Don't Forget Fellers, "The Big Day," May 31st.

Fourteen years and up. The prizes offered for this race are a pair with anything given for boys' competitions in the Maritime Provinces. The first prize being an official league baseball glove of the best material available, worth $5.50, for second, a catcher's mask of the same style and size used by the leading professional ball clubs of Canada and the United States, and for third a Spalding cork centre official league baseball, valued at $2.00 (highest prize).

Boys, if the prizes referred to above are not worth competing for we'll take our Kellys off and go about our business. In addition to the prizes offered each and every contestant will be photographed before the different races and on their completion the winners of each heat will again be pictured and a reproduction of same will appear in the columns of the Guardian Sport Page.

It's only a little over three weeks from today when the big event will be held, so the boy who wishes to finish well up among the prize winners, had better get started right away and train hard and faithfully for the grid.

To those who haven't as yet secured a pair of stilts on which to compete, their attention is directed to the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue. Now, all together, fellows! Let's see you work; get into the swim and show your stuff on the 31st of May.

BASEBALL

A friendly game of baseball was played at the Victoria Park Monday afternoon between Grade VI and Grade VII of Q.S.S., the latter winning by a score of 10 to 12. The line-ups are as follows:
