Malpeque

Mrs. Gavin Walker of Crapaud, is spending a week with her daughter Mrs. Vernon MacDougall, Malpeque.

Mr. George Buxton, of Charlottetown was the guest of his daughter Mrs. Ralph Bearisto, Malpeque.

Messrs John O. and Vernon Currie of Charlottetown, motored to Malpeque on Wednesday and spent a few days with friends in Malpeque.

Despite Tuesday evening's unpleasant weather the "Doing our Bit" Mission Band of Hamilton held a successful social at which they realized twenty two dollars and fifty cents.

Rev. A. N. and Mrs. Gillis, spent the week end with friends in Charlottetown. Mr. Gillis occupied the pulpit of the United Church in that city on Sunday the 22nd. Nov.

Mr. Hartwell Crozier, Kensington was a visitor to Malpeque on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Huestis, of Wilnot spent Sunday with friends in Malpeque.

Miss Anne Keir, Alberton spent several days at her old home in Malpeque.

Miss Muriel MacNutt is the guest of her Uncle Dr. E. J. Keir, Alberton.

Rev. Mr. Kochaley, Sec'y, for the Maritime Provinces for the Armenian Relief Fund addressed an attentive audience on Sunday morning in the Malpeque Church in the presence of the Rev. Mr. Huestis, Mr. Dan Baisito and soon groups of young and old were gathered at given of the atrocities inflicted on the Armenian people by the Turks and an earnest plea was made to save the residue of these Christian people. A collection was taken which amounted to sixty dollars. In the evening a splendid affair was given in which he pointed out the characteristics manifested by the early disciples after the departure of their risen Lord namely—zeal, earnestness and faith, and some power and a vision are needed for service today.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Archibald Henry in the passing away of her brother Mr. Herbert Champion of Alberton, ere he had reached the fiftieth year of his age.

Mr. Charles Taylor, Malpeque has resigned his position as agent for the Agricultural Mutual Fire Insurance Co. for the eastern section of Prince County. Mr. Taylor has served in this office with efficiency and courtesy and his official visit to his many friends will be greatly appreciated. In and later cream and cake were served. A missed, for all with whom he transacted business for about fifteen years had come to regard him as a friend and anticipated his retirement with pleasure. While regretting Mr. Taylor's retirement it is pleasing to note that he will have a worthy successor in Mr. John Thompson, Margate.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Donald, Sea View received a very pleasant surprise about a week ago on the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day. About fifty of their relatives and most intimate friends gathered at their home to assist them in celebrating this glad time. The occasion recalled many pleasant memories of the intervening years and the evening was in part given up to a splendid programme of music, readings, etc. The chair was occupied by Mr. Frank MacNutt and the principal number on the programme was an address read by Mrs. Wallace MacNutt, Darley, and a valuable presentation

It's Pretty Tough

It's pretty tough, after a man has spent his money, time and energy in building up a business in Prince Edward Island . . . to have a lot of business he could take care of go out of the Province.

It's kinda discouraging to give your all to a community and not get any consideration in return.

These advertisements are run to draw your attention to the fact that Prince Edward Island concerns deserve your business, price and quality being equal . . . and they are in many instances. At least give them a chance, and thus co-operate for the community welfare.

Japanese Favor Undersea Power

TOKYO, Nov. 24.—The informal proposal of the British to abolish the submarine has not yet aroused the enthusiasm of the Japanese. Only a few of the vernacular papers have commented editorially and virtually all officials have spoken adversely, declaring Japan favors the abolition of undersea water craft under certain conditions. The principal of which is that all nations must agree, and must guarantee to carry out the agreement. Japan is in a peculiar situation owing to her extreme insularity and is always suspicious of any proposal of the powers for abolition of armaments. While her submarines are few and no facts are known concerning their efficiency, it is generally understood her naval men are concentrating on the protection of Japan's sea lanes. The submarine develops upon her the attitude of the Government is one of extreme caution regarding the British proposal. Members of the Cabinet informally discussed the abolition of the submarine and it was given out that Japan's approval is conditional upon all the powers agreeing. As a matter of fact, Japan has always resented the 5-5-3 ratio and some of the papers stress the importance of the powers restricting their armaments before they agree to do away with the submarine.

Poison Gas Inhuman

Minister of the Navy Takarabe stated in favor of the abolition of the submarine, but thinks the power should first abolish poison gas which is considered more cruel and inhuman. The Ministry is still extremely fearful of the Japanese high seas, still desires a maximum of 1000 submarines. A spokesman for the Foreign Office explained it is necessary to educate the public to the benefits of reduced armament from the point of view of economy as well as humanitarianism. The Government is unquestionably favorable to any new disarmament conference because Japan's financial situation is somewhat precarious and every effort is being made to reduce budget expenditures for the navy to 1926. Only 15,000,000 yen is allowed for new construction and consequently any move to cur expenditures for armament provided all the nations agree, will receive the support of the Japanese. The only difficulty is that the Japanese are still suspicious of other countries, and will require proofs before disarming.

Princess Brings Fame To Fried Potato Seller

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Fame and wealth have come to a Montmartre artist who until a few days ago sold fried potatoes for a living. Emile Boyer had talent, perhaps genius; but he did not know it until one day a friend told him one of his pictures, which he had painted for his own amusement, was exhibited for sale at the Gallery of a prominent Paris art dealer.

Boyer visited the dealer and the friend's information correct. Though the picture was signed with a pseudonym, "Utrillo," the painter persuaded the skeptical dealer to go with him to his tumble-down store. The dealer bought on the spot a dozen land, while not serving customers fried potatoes.

Prosperity had come to the little Montmartre home, but fame came later, only through the caprice of a princess. One day Princess Lucien Murat became hungry while wandering up and down the steep streets of the romantic old hill and stepped into Boyer's shop. She asked for a nickel's worth of "pommes frites" which he most gallantly served on a silver platter. The princess looked around in wonder at the pictures nailed on the wall and ended by arranging to have Boyer paint her portrait.

That portrait was hung in the princess's salon and made Boyer's fortune. He has three studios now and cannot execute all the orders received from society folk.

Attacked; May Die

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—Clement Mainault, 26, of L'Anorale, Quebec, was this morning lying in a critical condition at the Notre Dame Hospital suffering from a scalp wound and a possible fracture of the skull, sustained when he was attacked by an unknown assailant while riding home on his bicycle Saturday night from Berthelville, where he is employed. The young man was found lying in the road covered with blood.

Robbery apparently was not the motive as a sum of money was found in his pocket. He is still unconscious.

A NEW WAY TO GIVE GREAT WEALTH.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—John Sheldon's dog cost him his wife. In the superior court yesterday, Mrs. Ida May Sheldon testified she and Gauthier received similar sentences.

Sheldon and Ryan were also convicted in Toronto and sent down for ten years each. Quinn and Gauthier received similar sentences. Joy aroused her suspicion, she said, and underneath the beggar's false beard she found her husband. She was granted a divorce.

Insane Man Was Masquerading As Liquor "Sleuth"

HALIFAX, Nov. 25.—George Bayrs, a well-known character around Charlottetown, who for the past few years, has been going about representing himself as a private detective and espousing any cause that happened to appeal to him, as at last been rounded up and will doubtless be committed to the county home for the insane. Chief County Constable Umlah stated his findings.

Of late Bayrs has been canvassing for funds which he stated were to be used to secure the release of John Gilt from the penitentiary and this week he visited the home of John Gilt's father at Hammonds Plains. He was treated hospitably, but when he left he is alleged to have taken with him goods to the value of over $20. A warrant was issued for his arrest and Constable Slaughter, while trailing him, was unable to locate him. Yesterday, however, he was arrested at Glen Haven by Byron Dauphinee, justice of the peace and brought into the city.

He has been making a nuisance of himself lately by searching houses all over the county, representing himself to be an agent of the Mounted Police, and putting in telephone calls, payable at the county end of the wire, reporting on the "clues." Yesterday he was arrested, declaring that Sgt. Blakeney had sent him out to search for him. He was recognized by Byron Dauphinee, who got in touch with Chief County Constable Umlah and the chief instructed Umlah to bring the prisoner in. He will be examined by the jail physician and an effort made to get him committed to the county home as a person not responsible on account of vagrancy.

Umlah also of vagrancy. The chief had also information against Sam Lesser, who was ordered to leave the city and has been making trouble at Bedford, threatening assault on one man here. The chief will also investigate the story of two hobos camping at Rocky Lake and begging from the people at Bedford.

A Letter's Delay Caused Suicide

PARIS, Nov. 25.—A special delivery love letter in which his sweetheart promised a reunion on the next day, and the delay in the ordinary mail and the delay in the delivery was responsible for the suicide of Richard Bret Harte, a grandson of the famous author. Bret Harte, his friends said, after they had discovered his body at the foot of the Mont Parnasse in his garret. Last Tuesday he quarrelled with a young Englishwoman with whom he was in love, and he left him, saying she would either send a special delivery letter within three hours or would never communicate with him again. The letter failed to arrive until noon the next day, and Bret Harte's friends found it, unopened, pushed under his door when they entered the apartment where he lived. Harte's body was found on the floor, and the jets of a gas stove were turned on. A letter was found, scrawled over many pages, the writing beginning firmly, but becoming progressively illegible.

"To you my love, this is my last letter, and I am writing it as I die." The letter began. Finally it ended in a blot.

Harte was known to have been greatly depressed by his failure to emulate his grandfather's literary achievement. He was born in Philadelphia in 1855.

"Red" Ryan Associate Caught In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Gordon Simpson, one of the notorious "Red" Ryan gang, who made a sensational escape from Kingston Penitentiary about two and a half years ago, was captured by the New York City police last night.

A telegram informing Chief of Police Dickson of the arrest was received early this morning. The specific charge against Simpson in Toronto is that of, with "Red" Ryan and others, holding up the Oakwood branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Oakwood and St. Clair Avenues, on Sept. 27, 1923, and robbing it of about $6,000. Simpson, the telegram says was picked up on the photograph and description given of him in a circular issued by the police shortly after the robbery.

Simpson formed one of a gang which terrorized Toronto storekeepers for a considerable period about three years ago. With Simpson was Thomas Quinn a man named Gauthier, Ryan and some others. Their perquisites were the entering of cigar stores, particularly the United Cigar Store chain, and stealing safes. Simpson was his special task to pick up the safes and carry them bodily to a waiting motor car. On several occasions the safes were picked up in various parts of the country, their doors pried off, and their contents gone. There were other store robberies also in various parts of the Province. Simpson and the gang were also convicted of store robberies in Hamilton, for which Simpson was sent down for ten years.

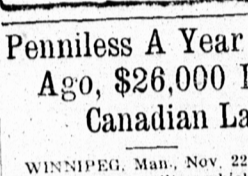

Simpson and Ryan were also convicted in Toronto and sent down for ten years each. Quinn and Gauthier received similar sentences.

Joy aroused her suspicion, she said, and underneath the beggar's false beard she found her husband. She was granted a divorce.

Penniless A Year Ago, $26,000 In Canadian Lands

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 22.—Seven Mennonite families, which arrived in Western Canada in a penniless condition last fall, have cleared a profit of $26,000 by leasing 2,000 acres of farm land at Prosser, Alberta, according to an announcement by T. O. F. Herzog, manager of the Canada Colonization Association.

The announcement added that with the profits from one season's work the families will be able to purchase their own equipment, and have decided to purchase the acreage they have held under lease.

The announcement tersely indicated the success of this group of immigrants. It said:

"These seven Mennonite families have paid their lease money of about $1,500; they have paid about $20,000 on the purchase price of the farm; they have paid back the money advanced them for transportation and have retained $3,500 for current expenses. When it is considered that these people arrived in Canada a year ago, without means, it speaks volumes for the opportunities here for poor landless families from Europe."

It was reported that of the settlers placed by the association in the last year, 98 1/2 per cent, are proving successful farmers.

TRAVEL.

Is there any heart that does not long to run away from the drifting hours of life, to take a holiday? Is there any happy soul that travel does not thrill? What mind, knowing wanderlust, has ever had its fill?

Pictures of a liner set upon a dazzling sea bring a thousand visions to the mind that would be free. Mountain peaks in far-off lands, and dim forgotten plains; foreign flowers laughing through the mist of foreign rains. Places where the meek have dwelt and where the great have trod. Places that, though far from man, are ever close to God!

Journey—it's a wonder word—it cuts the world in two! Does it whisper many dreams into the heart of you?
