The Western Guardian

—IT PAYS to buy in this Province

—THE MORNING DAILY Guardian can be obtained at Lafferty's Tonsorial Parlours, Summerside.

—PHONE 114 for Sinclair & Stewart's Grocery and Shoe Department, an d3 Ring 1 for office until further notice. 3683-12-29M21E21.

—WE ARE SHOWING a big assortment of Men's and Boy's heavy rubbers and overshoes in our Shoe Department, next to Queen Hotel, no advance in price. SINCLAIR & STEWART, LTD. 3683-12-29M21E21.

—LABRADOR HERRING.—Another big shipment of choice, fat Weebl brand Labrador Herring; best on the market. Can be supplied in wholes, halves, quarters and pails. R. T. Holman, Limited. 3686-12-29M21E11.

—RINK OPENS.—Summerside has again scored over its neighboring sister cities the Crystal Rink having been opened last night with a large attendance. Mr. Joseph Gaudet is the proprietor this year, while Mr. B. R. Sharp leads the band.

—KINDLY REMEMBERED.—A committee representing Princetown congregation met at the manse on the 22nd inst., and presented their pastor Rev. John M. Murchison with a beautiful coat. Mr. Jas. K. McGowan gave the address and made the presentation. Mr. Murchison replied in words expressive of his deep appreciation.

—WHIST PARTY.—A whist party of some importance was held at the home of Joseph J. Gallant, Abram's Village, on Tuesday evening. Seven tables were occupied from seven o'clock to eleven; the contest, which was interesting, gave the following results: 1st prize for ladies, Mrs. Peter Gallant (teacher); 1st prize for men, Joseph T. Arsenault. The booby prizes were allotted to Joseph P. Poirier and Clarice Gallant.—M —A PLEASANT SIGHT.—One of the things that tends to liven the appearance of Summerside, and certain roads leading to that town is the number of Autos in use. The roads seem ideal for cars, and their use appears to level out the snow, making them better for carriages and sleighs. Some people entertained the mistaken impression that Autos could only run a few months of the year. To see them wading through the snow one would be led to conclude that it would be very few weeks of the year that they would not be able to run.

—INTENSIVE DAIRYING.—As an instance of the possibilities of the dairy industry in P. E. I., the supplying of milk to the value of $50,000 to the Kensington cheese factory during the season of five months by James Braham, Kensington, is worthy of notice. The milk was the product of ten cows. It is not the largest amount, neither is it the best average per cow, sent to Kensington factory, but it is one item of the product of a hundred-acre farm, with apparently little extra outlay, at the same time concerning the fertility of the soil, and make people hark back to the observation made by the great "Empire builder" the late James J. Hill, during a visit to P. E. I. a few years ago being interviewed by a newspaper reporter, one of the first remarks Mr. Hill made concerning his observations of P. E. I., was "that it is a natural dairy country and is worked by only a small fractional part of its possibilities."—K.

—ABRAM'S VILLAGE NOTES.—Mr. Calixte Arsenault, son of Joseph Arsenault, St. Chrysostome, has returned to his home from overseas. Mr. Arsenault was in the 105th, and was sick for some time, being compelled finally to come home. Mr. John Bernard, son of Joseph Bernard, of St. Chrysostome has arrived home to spend a visit. Mr. Bernard belongs to the 165th, now stationed at St. John. Miss Leah Arsenault, daughter of Daniel A. Arsenault, Maxim Ville, is spending her Xmas vacation at her home. Miss Arsenault was unfortunate in being unable to take the college exams, owing to illness. Her successful college course, however, entitled her to resume her studies after the holidays. Mr. Daniel A. Arsenault, Maxim Ville, left last Monday for the mainland, where he will spend a few months. Several attempts have been made to capture the silver black fox from the Acadia Company's ranch which is still at large, but it was of no avail, though on one occasion the searchers were accompanied by hounds. Miss Alma Leclerc, of St. Gilbert, who is attending convent at Charlottetown, is spending her Xmas holidays at her home, and at Abram's Village. —M

—SELLING LOBSTER SUPPLIES. Mr. John J. McNally of Summerside, was out to Abram's Village on Tuesday, 26th inst., and sold a number of his lobster boats and traps. It is understood that he has abandoned the lobster factory, which he will also sell.—M

—CHRISTMAS TREE.—The Sunday school of St. James' Episcopal Church, Port Hill, held a Christmas tree in the hall on Tuesday evening, December 26th. The young people spent a very pleasant evening in games and plays and before going home were treated by Santa Claus.—P.

—SCHOOL WORK.—The half-yearly examination of Port Hill School took place on the afternoon of Friday December 22nd, and was attended by a goodly number of visitors. The pupils who acquitted themselves well were examined in the different branches by the teacher Mr. Hatfield Dymont, assisted by Rev. John J. Bamford. At the close of the examination addresses were given by Mr. James Millar, Mr. William Montgomery, and Rev. Mr. Bamford, all of whom spoke in appreciative terms of the work being done by the teacher.—P.

—COLUMBIAN MEDAL AND PRIZES.—Through the efforts of Rev. Mr. Miller, a "Columbus" medal was secured from the committee in charge of the replica, "Santa Maria," for Alberton High School. This medal was to be awarded to the pupils of the Principal's department, who could write the best essay, not to exceed one thousand words, on Christopher Columbus. Book prizes for similar purposes were awarded to the Vice-Principal's and first intermediate room by Revs. Mr. Miller and Dr. Campbell. Miss Davida Baker, of the senior department won the medal; Misses Dorothy Waugh and Thelma O'Hern, tied for the book prize in the Vice-Principal's department, the result of which was that a book prize was awarded to each; and Miss Mary Rogers won the prize in Miss Campbell's department. The essays of the two senior rooms were judged by Revs. Mr. Miller and Dr. Campbell. The medal and prizes of the Vice-Principal's department, accompanied by cards with the season's greetings, were presented by Rev. Dr. Campbell, and appropriate remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Miller. The essays of Miss Campbell's department were judged by Principal Rowe, and the Vice-Principal, Miss Fiedling. Miss Baker, the winner of the medal, is deserving of the highest praise as she is in Grade VIII, and her fellow competitors are among the best in the province.—A.

—NEW LONDON ICE RACING ASSN.—A meeting of the New London ice racing association was held at Clifton last week and was largely attended. Interest is keen, and a great series of races is expected during the coming winter. It gives horsemen a good chance to get their horses in condition for the summer racing. The officers are: President, Fitzsimmons, John Marks; Gavin Harding; William Toombs; Tynedale Semple who is negotiating with John J. McKinnon for the purchase of New Annan track farm, and many others will be much in evidence at the races this coming winter and no doubt some new stars will be added to the horse racing firmament. There are some "Captain Aubrey" and "Mayor Todd" colts which will likely be hitched this winter. A resolution of regret was passed that Walter Found the starter of the association could not be here this winter to enjoy the races and see the fruits of the good work, which he labored so faithfully to put on a good working basis, but all were agreed to work harmoniously to carry out the races on the plan formulated by Mr. Found two years ago. The officers for the coming year are as follows:—President, Elliphail Howatt, French River; Secy, John L. Lockhart, Clifton; Speed Committee—President, Gavin R. Harding; Secy, Stanley Bernard, Executive Com.—Wm. Taylor, John Quinn, J. A. Stewart, G. R. Harding, Wm. Profit, Geo. Dennis, Stanley Bernard, Wm. Toombs, Hugh Morrison, Wm. Paynter, Isaac Bernard, J. Thompson.—K.

Mr. Bradley was so pleased to be home again among "Island" people, and was so well disposed towards human nature in general as he neared home, that every one in the car within range of his voice was inoculated with the "Peace on Earth Good Will to Men" virus. Those who attended Prince of Wales College in 1896 and 1897 will remember (Joe) Bradley well.—K.

SMILES EVER PROVE BEST OF HOUSEHOLD MEDICINES

Let who will be born with a golden spoon in his mouth—that is a matter of careful selection of parents after proper consultation with the commercial agencies. About the kind of spoon that was to be in my mouth as about the smile that was to be about it and the laughter that was to come out of it. Let those who can be wise; I would be jolly.

I know a table at which sit people so good that their mere presence is a benediction; but their meal time is a season of silence seldom broken, and one comes from it with a sense of having fed exclusively upon gloom. If in your home circle there is one, child or adult, of a cheerful temperament, who sees always the sunny side of things, or better still the funny side of things, bless the good fairies who laughed over his cradle and the providence that brought him under your roof.

Smiles Are Golden.

And try, oh, try, even if it does not come naturally to you, to encourage that sunny disposition; see that it is not suppressed, treasure every bit of mirth and give full value to every smile. It is by no accident that a baby's laugh rings in the heart like a silver bell—haven't you seen a whole railroad station full of tired old grouches turn round, look at each other and smile in spite of themselves as a little child's happy giggle rang out over the door and wrangling noises of the place?

Haven't you seen a man or a woman with a real smile wade right through an obstacle that had defied all the attacks of wisdom and anger and wealth? "The voices with the smile wins." Indeed it does!

Auntie Doleful visits her sick neighbor and tells her all the woes and ills and wickednesses of the village; how the ill woman's children have been misbehaving while she has been sick; how they have been exposed to the measles and punished in school, and how much worse the invalid looks than when she saw her before.

Good Humor Essential.

And then comes one—mayhap esteemed a frivolous person without weight of stability—chuching her way into the house and up the stairs, laden with cheerful tidings and happy thoughts; the doctor can skip a visit! and the nurse go out for a walk. Such an one is good medicine.

Maybe if we had a nurse with a cheerful face and a sunny smile about our cradle we should have had a different outlook upon life. It is more important than the ornamental things that we get later on under the name of education.

I believe a sense of humor and a sense of proportion are pretty much one and the same thing, and what is wisdom after all but a sense of proportion, a keen judgment of the real importance and relation of things? Usually a keen sense of humor and a keen spiritual insight go together—it is an equipment that keeps its balance and carries us over hard places.

Sometimes to us old kill-joys the laughter of the young people seems silly and irresponsible, and possibly there are times when a word of Ultimate Wisdom is absolutely required; but believe me, nine times out of ten the impulse to say it is the impulse of a Chronic Wetblanket. The benefit of the doubt should go always in favor of joining in the laugh.

"Of such," said One who may have been a bit weary of the company of the Solemn, "is the Kingdom of Heaven." And so saying, He gathered to Himself the little children who were right at hand, in their laughing business of being happy.

"AU MILITAIRE."

A British soldier went into a grocery establishment to buy some articles. Seeing some red herring lying on the counter, he asked what they were.

"Soldiers, my friend," said the grocer, winking at the company.

"Are they?" rejoined the son of Mars.

"When I'll take them as deserters," and off he walked with his prisoners, to the discomfiture of the witty grocer and amusement of the bystanders.—Tit-Bits.

PEARY WANTS AIR FLEET

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Unless this country builds a great fleet of airships, the millions it is spending on its army and navy will be wasted.

Later in his speech Admiral Peary was made by Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, the discoverer of the north pole, at a dinner of the Hunters' Fraternity of America. The dinner was given by A. A. Anderson the artist, in his studio, above the Beaux Arts Building at Fortieth street and Sixth Avenue, and as guests of honor Mr. Anderson invited Admiral Peary and Raold Amundsen, the discoverer of the south pole. The tables pointed toward the four points of the compass and Peary sat beneath an electric "north star," while Amundsen sat beneath an electric "Southern Cross," and dogs. It showed that men with main force were able to overcome the tangible difficulties in this way, and did not have to wait for the aid of new scientific methods.

"The one great meaning of the present war is that it is not only the command of the sea, or the command of the land that counts in modern warfare," Admiral Peary said in his address. "This war in Europe has shown that command of the air is necessary to genuine defence.

"The millions we are putting into our army and the millions we are putting into our navy and into our coast defences will be wasted unless we export these defences with a great air fleet, and the defences without this will be worthless. That is not all, however. The billions that have been put into building up our great coast cities and the millions put into the construction of the Panama Canal may be thrown away unless we have a great air fleet to help protect them."

Policeman: Come down out o' that young man.
Reporter: But I'm a reporter, and want to get a description of the fire.
Policeman: Get out wid you. You can't stay there. You kin find out all about the fire from the paper in the mornin'.
