—LARGE OFFERING AT JANUARY FUR SALES—According to advice received by the C.N.S.F.B. Association there is a very large offering of furs on the January market in London for the seventh week. Hudson Bay 25,000; Huts 16,000; Lampon 24,000; Anning and Cobb 10,000; a total of 75,000. This is much larger than last year, the offering for this sale in January being 57,000. There are a large quantity of Norwegian skins, in this lot which partly accounts for the exceedingly heavy bulk. Indications are good for the sale. The Association reports furs coming in steadily.

—DEATH OF MISS GRETA DESROCHES—There passed away at her home in Long River on Dec. 30, Miss Greta Desroches at the tender age of twenty years. There are left to mourn her father, an uncle, mother, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Desroches, and the following sisters and brothers: Alice, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Ambers, N.S.; Edna, Mrs. John Hardy, Newell; Robert, in Darley, P.E.I.; Peter and Frank Summerside and Everett at home, to whom much sympathy is extended. The funeral took place on Wednesday, January 2nd, from the home of her parents to the Peoples' Cemetery at Kensington. Rev. Mr. Somers officiated. The pall bearers were Messrs. Herbert Proffit, Frank DeRoche, Leonard Paynter and Everett Desroches.—S.

—MISSES OFFICERS—The Executive Division, No. 266, Sons of our regulars, Wilmet Valley, held their regular meeting on January 1st with Bro. Reuben Large in the chair. —A WELCOME VISITOR—Mrs. Fred. D. Bennett has returned to North Lake after a very pleasant visit to Stanley Bridge and Matpeque. Mrs. Bennett always receives a warm welcome from a host of friends. When at Stanley Bridge she attended the chicken supper and bazaar which was held at the home of Mrs. H. S. McEwen under the auspices of the W. M. Society. All the ladies of this society were glad to see her back again and at work as she is still one of their members. They all were sorry to learn she had not come to stay but look forward and hope to see her settled again in her home here before long. She surely is missed in the church and community work where she took such an active part. At Matpeque she visited her old home and was the guest of her brother, Mr. James Wood and niece, Mrs. Alex. Craig, and Mrs. Dan Morrison. Here too she always receives a warm welcome. She visited a lot of old homes and met a lot of old friends. Her many friends are always glad to see her come and sorry when the time comes for her to say farewell for she was a general favorite amongst young and old while she lived in this community.

—PERSONALS—Miss Dorothy MacMurdo, of Kelvin, has been visiting friends in Summerside.—S.

—Mr. Borden Connell of Summerside, spent the New Year vacation with friends in Baltic.—S.

—The following letter is self-explanatory, and the car referred to was shipped from Northern Station and loaded by the people of the Anglican and United Churches.

Yours sincerely,
A. H. Hart-Davies.

Rev. A. H. Hart-Davies, The Rectory, Port Hill, P. E. I.
Rev. Dear Sir: I received your letter of Nov. 22nd with reference to the car of potatoes, etc., which you and your good people had shipped to this drought stricken community.

On behalf of the residents of Minton and vicinity I take great pleasure in extending to you and the people who filled this car our heartfelt thanks for your kind and generous deed.

The car arrived here on December 7th and I am pleased to be able to report that great care was exercised by the distribution committee and everyone in need received their share.

As to the need of the community which you asked me to describe, I have to state that the need was very great. The grain crops in this district during the past six years have been more or less of a failure and this year practically a total failure, but this is the first year that no potatoes or garden vegetables have been grown as a heavy frost came on the night of July 6th and completely killed all potatoes.

Please tell your people that we are more than thankful for all the work they have gone on to our account.

Yours sincerely,
J. E. McGuire,
Secretary Local Relief Committee.

A friend of ours in Summerside and a great admirer of Mac Steele, wrote us an interesting letter recently in which he praised to the skies Mac's stable of horses for the coming year's campaign. Referring to the highliner Morning Express 2.10 he is convinced that Mac will head many Maritime summaries with this boy.

Looking up the Year Book we find Morning Express a contender in every race he has started in over half-mile or mile tracks. Last summer he won at Rockingham, N. H., in 2:05 1/4, which is enough speed for anybody's horse, and also trotted several miles better than 2.10. He is eligible to the 2:16 mixed and will be a worthy competitor for Betty S. and other good ones in this vicinity.

By the way, Mac had his first plane ride, from Boston to Saint John, accompanying the owner of Morning Express. He liked it fine and plans to have more trips by air within the next few months. Asked to his sensations he said that flying is much more sport than riding behind a real fast one. Well, here's love to you, Mac, and to your new patron, Mr. Barker, for bringing such a good trotter.

Dr. F. T. Bowness of Kensington, spent the New Year's holiday in Charlottetown the guest of his brother Byron Bowness. The doctor has turned over his fast pacing mare Claire Napoleon 2:12 1/4, to Myron McArthur, who will get her ready for her 1935 races. His Captain Cope was one of the most successful Maritime bred trotters last season. Another good prospect the doctor has which has not had much training but if given an opportunity would be real, is Great Hal, pacer by Captain Aubrey 2:07 1/4, out of a Direct Hal mare.

The death occurred a week ago of Asoff (2) 2:14 1/4. Many of our readers will have forgotten this son of Peter the Great 2:07 1/4, and Polly Worthy (2) 2:27 1/4, granddam Dolly Phoebe, full sister of Phoebe Wilkes 2:08 1/4 and Phoebe W. 2:06 1/4. He was foaled in 1908, therefore 26 years old at the time of his death. His greatest bid to fame is being the sire of Peter Manning 1:56 1/4, the world's champion trotter.

The name Phoebe W. 2:06 1/4, will stir memories of many of our older horsemen. This mare was campaigned through the Maritime Provinces, and we remember correctly took part in "Free-For-All" race at Charlottetown.

Will Twenty Grand come back and show his old form in the $1000 handicap at Santa Anita in February? This marvelous running horse won the Kentucky Derby as a two-year-old and by himself until his racing was cut short two years ago by tendon trouble.

The most notable horse in trotting annals to make a comeback was the double galter Jay Eye See, his first horse to start the 2:10 list. He was foaled in 1878 and began his racing as a four-year-old, winning two events. In 1883 he won five races and took a time record of 2:10 at Providence, R. I., which was then half a second of the world's record. In 1910, made by Maude S. in 1881, on August 1st, 1884, he lowered the world's record to 2:10, but only held it for one day as Maude S. reduced it to 2:08 1/4 on August 2nd to 2:09 1/4 and afterwards to 2:08 1/4 in 2:08 1/4. All the above performances were to high wheels.

After the close of 1884 Jay Eye See was laid away by lameness at Racine, Wis., until 1892, when at the age of fourteen he was owned by Jackson I. Case being trained him as a pacer. In his first start at that gal he paced in 2:17. Two weeks later he won at Washington Park, Chicago, in 2:08 1/4 and on August 26th, 1892, won at Independence, Ind. in 2:06 1/4, making him the world's double galter champion. There is something for you to think about, boys!

If you have any idea of resurrecting an old race horse and bringing him back to form, remember that it requires a very long, slow preparation. The inactivity leads to fatty degeneration of the heart muscle, in fact all the muscles suffer and unless most careful methods are used the horse will never get to the races successfully.

Oh, by the way, there was another notable comeback horse, Country Jay 2:08 1/4. In 1901 he made a high class campaign in the Grand Circuit stakes being either first or second in fourteen starts. He did not appear again until eight years later when he once more showed to advantage, lowering his record to 2:07 1/4 and establishing a world's record of 2:04 1/4 under saddle. In 1910 he made a sensational campaign, winning every race but one and that one to The Backstretch 2:01. He then won a world's record making stallion. At fourteen years of age he took a new record of 2:05 1/4.

Delving into some old stuff we came across another wonderful horse, the knock-kneed pacer, Bert J. 2:01 1/4, that Ed Geers drove to so many victories. He was the first four-year-old to beat 2:10 and in 51 starts was only once back of third. His score shows him 32 times as far as is necessary to reform the system and to make it effectively work again. Some advanced thinkers tell me that if we do, the capitalist system will be changed out of all knowledge. I hope and believe that that is not so. I cannot bring myself to agree that there is anything radically wrong with the system which advocates reform will not remedy. But that is yet to be decided. Clearly, it would be unwise to circumscribe our activities by any attempted forecast of all that should be done. We can but move forward carefully. We can but examine every justice and test its merits in all possible ways. We must not be reckless and adopt anything which has been tried and tested, until we are satisfied that the change is wise one.

Momentous Changes In Economic System To Safeguard Canada

I think the fairest and most satisfactory way to get at the faults of the present economic system and to canvass the best course for them, is to examine into our conditions of life at the present time.

Two Living Standards

For purposes of practical study we may set up two standards of living. The actual one and the realizable one. The one we should be enjoying.

The two basic factors which determine our standard of living are:—our income, that is wages, salaries, interest and dividends; and the cost of living.

We are in the fashion of referring to the former as "income" and to the latter as "outgo."

Let us first examine income. To do so, I think it is helpful for the purpose of illustration, to divide all recipients of income, from whatever sources into two broad classes: non-producers, and producers or workers. The non-producers is he whose income, if he has any, comes from the proceeds of investment; that is, he gets theoretically at least, a return of so many cents on the dollar on his investment, whether it be in stocks, bonds, rents or mortgages.

The producer, on the other hand, does not work for his income. It is his investment money which works. He may have earned that money or it may have been given to him. That makes no difference to his earning power.

The relationship between wages or salaries or rents and the current wealth of the country, and it does not automatically adjust itself to them nor can business fairly and effectively adjust it.

The most effective method of adjustment I know of is taxation. Just here, I think, a good many who are listening to me would ask: Do you consider that the income of the non-producer in relation to the income of the producer is a fair division of the current wealth of the country? And to that I would unhesitatingly answer "No."

I think there is, from all worth while points of view, an inequality in the distribution of income, and I think as between the non-producer and the producer, there must be devised, by some plan of taxation to be considered at once, a better balance, not only in fairness to the producer but also in the interests of the non-producer.

Income Question

For I doubt if the present disequilibrium can indefinitely continue without serious injury to the whole economic system. This question of the distinction between the producers' and non-producers' income is one of vast importance to us all and one which cannot be put off or put aside for any purpose just now as to outline the basis upon which we will set about to improve our standard of living.

Meanwhile, I think we should assume and proceed upon the assumption that there is an inequality of income as well as a sentimental distribution between those non-producers' incomes which are normally above, and those which are normally below, a certain figure.

Now, we may divide the producer or worker into three basic classes:—the rural and urban worker, the agriculturalist, and what is sometimes colloquially called the white-collar worker.

This latter class shares in common with their brethren in agriculture and industry, the hardships of these times. Their problems are essentially the same and they stand in need of the same measure of relief from them. Those problems and their solution I shall deal with first, 13 times second and 5 times third.

In 1894 he won every start, twelve in all, earning over $30,000, and continued as the champion of his sex from 1894 to 1901 when he had to yield the honors to Prince Alert 1:59 1/4, and do not think that Week after week that old knock-kneed chap was racing with some of the greatest pacers that ever lived and they were going right at two minutes every heat!

Highlights Of Premier's Address

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire)

"As a lawyer I had to do, for more than 20 years, with big business and finance. I have some knowledge of finance."

"When in the past I praised it, (the capitalist system) I did so with knowledge. When now I analyze it and point to its defects, I do so also with knowledge. Bear that in mind."

"All I can tell you is that we will go just as far as is necessary to reform the system and make it effectively work again. I cannot bring myself to agree that there is anything radically wrong with the system which adjustment and reform will not remedy."

"Clearly, it would be unwise to circumscribe our activities by any attempted forecast of all that should be done. We can but move forward carefully."

"I think there is, from all worth while points of view, an inequality in the distribution of income."

"I believe there should be a uniform minimum wage and a uniform maximum working week. There must be an end to child labor. There must be an end to the reckless exploitation of human resources and the trafficking in the health and happiness of Canadian citizens. There must be an end to the idea that a work man should be held to his labour throughout the daylight hour of every day. I for one believe that our workers must have more leisure."

If all our scientific improvements, our intensive organization, our inventions, all our mechanical triumphs, all the devices which make for increased production and simplification of production—if all these things do not help the worker to greater happiness and a better and healthier life, what is the use of them? Some people say to increase production so as to increase earnings, so as to put more money into the pockets of the non-producer.

But people who talk that way have not stopped to think. For if there is any truth in what they say, the system is the victim of its own imperfections. It is not to be removed. We all agree that modern science which provides the motive power for the advance, shall not be made party to anything so imperfect as the negotiation of private property. My idea is that this stupendous improvement in the technique of production should make itself manifest in the happier conditions of the worker.

Then there is another phase of the worker's life upon which we must have a more definite agreement and arrangement. When, because of fluctuations in industrial production, the worker is thrown out of employment, he should not be punished when the fault is that of the machine. For whatever is the cause of these depressions, whoever is to blame for them (if any one is to blame), assuredly it is not the worker. If he is able and willing to work, but can get no work, provision must be made for his security in a decent way. By this I do not mean the dole. The dole is a rotten thing. It is alike an insult to the worker and a disgrace to the producer. It is a disgrace to the producer and the producer, there must be devised, by some plan of taxation to be considered at once, a better balance, not only in fairness to the producer but also in the interests of the non-producer.

Expect Early Approval Of Marketing Board

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—Early official approval by the Dominion Marketing Board is expected to be given to the plan to control and regulate the marketing in Canada of Nova Scotia apples.

Setting up of a local board of five members with the head office at Kentville, N. S., to be known as the Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Board, is proposed for the carrying out of the scheme. Of the personnel of five, two would be representatives of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers Association, one of the Nova Scotia Shippers' Association with two Nova Scotia members of the fruit export board of Canada comprising the remainder of the board.
