CANADA'S SOFT COAL SITUATION.

Leading Montreal Importers Pessimistic. MONTREAL, July 13.—From statements of leading coal importers of this city, it appears that the soft coal situation in Canada is steadily becoming worse, and there is no factor yet in sight which may tend to bring about a change. A leading coal merchant, when speaking about the proposed scheme of buying Alberta, said that the plan is farcical, for the mines in the West already market all their own production, and if it was shipped to eastern points their other users would be in the same position as here.

FASHIONS FOR CANADIANS

Jersey is the most popular wool material and skirt of the serge. The new arrangement is very smart. Jersey for school dresses for children for the coming season. Color combinations are in high favor, white and navy, red and navy, tan and brown, and navy and tan being approved. A little frock may be of one color, with narrow pipings of the self fabric in contrasting color, or the two colors may be combined in about equal proportion—a skirt of one and blouse or waist of the other shade.

Simple Frock for a Flapper

The fancy for wool jersey is justified because it is less expensive than serge and for general wear it gives better service. It does not get "shiny" and needs little pressing. For dresses a rather light weight is usually chosen. For suits for both girls and boys a heavy wool jersey is to be popular. The frock shown in to-day's sketch may be of wool jersey, if designed for early fall wear. If meant for a dressy frock for either present or later wear it may combine satin and crepe de chine in two colors, or it may be developed in linen or cotton. The beauty of the dress is the color and possible fabric combination. It may be made of the two silks, it may be embroidered on the bodice in a silk and metal embroidery. Fawn colored crepe de chine might be used for the bodice and navy satin for the skirt, sleeves and bodice to be embroidered in navy and gold. The frock might be made of navy tricotine and black satin if desired. This is one of the highly approved fabric combinations for women's dresses for fall. An interesting point in this fabric combination is that the skirt is always made of the satin while the coat, sometimes a short, loose "coolie" coat, sometimes a straight line coat that is knee length, is made of wool fabric. The ordinarily accepted method of effecting a satin and tricotine combination is to have waist and sleeves of the silk
