OTTAWA, Oct. 27 (CP)—Total landings of fish and shellfish in the Grand Banks during the first nine months of 1946, a decrease of 80 per cent over the same period of 1945.

On the Atlantic coast, where cod is the dominant species, landings have been consistently lower in 1947 than in 1946. While there was some relative improvement in the September catch compared with the same month of 1946, the total landings up to the end of September, at 175,000,000 pounds, was nearly 100,000,000 pounds below landings during the comparable period of 1945.

Unfavorable fishing weather and unsatisfactory fishing conditions in some areas, were mainly responsible for the reduced landings.

The lobster fishery, which vies with cod as the major source of revenue to Atlantic coast fishermen, has also suffered a sharp reduction in 1947 both in the quantity and value of landings. Total landings to the end of September amounted to 27,600,000 pounds valued at $6,800,000 compared with 35,200,000 pounds valued at $10,300,000 in the same period of 1946.

Unfavorable fishing weather and lower prices were mainly responsible. Bad weather seriously curtailed the important sword-fishery off Nova Scotia. Landings of herring on the Atlantic coast were 15 per cent below those of 1946 up to the end of September.

HALIFAX, Oct. 27 (CP)—Two large fish companies, National Sea Products Limited and General Sea Foods, today announced an immediate increase in price of fishermen for cod handled at their Halifax wharves from $2.75 a hundredweight to $3.25 but officials said it was "too soon" to predict whether the increase would reach the consumer.

The companies absorbed an increase of 1-2-3-4 cent a pound last month but that could not take this one. The boost would be passed to the retailer and possibly to the consumer who now pays about 30 cents a pound for cod in Halifax.

There could be no sound export policy for Germany unless the country could be subsidized down the drain, so are the Americans. Cannot our American friends begin to invest in food in Germany immediately in the hope of earlier restoration of German economy and the saving of future dollars.

GREGG ANNOUNCES

tion is engaged. In establishing the new board, Mr. Gregg is following the example of the Customs Department, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the Post Office Department.

Hitherto promotions and reclassifications in the service were recommended by the branch supervisor and his assistant.

This system, departmental officials admitted today, led to abuses. If the branch supervisor had a valuable man whom he wished to retain, he would give him a low rating for a promotion.

On the other hand if he wished to get rid of an unsatisfactory employee, he would give him a very high rating, often regardless of the man's real qualifications.

Creation of the new rating board does not affect the right of a Departmental employee to appeal a promotion within 14 days. It is felt however that with an independent board, appeals will be fewer than in the past. The Civil Service Commission, however, has the final say in all promotions and reclassifications, but as a rule accepts the recommendations of these boards.

Boys Guest Speakers At Rotary Yesterday

Air Cadet Charles Rogers and King's Scout Paul Cudmore were guest speakers at Rotary luncheon yesterday, each giving an interesting account of his recent experiences overseas.

Rotarian Gordon Avar presided at the luncheon, other guests present being Messrs. Victor L. Charlottetown and Dr. A. W. Blair, Regina.

Following is the text of Air Cadet Rogers' remarks: "My story begins at Montreal, Saturday morning of last July 26th. I was one of 46 Canadian cadets who gathered in the Air Force Manning Depot at La Cliche to begin what I think we all considered, the experience of a lifetime. During the time before our departure, we were divided equally into two parties: one was called North Party, and toured parts of Northern England and Scotland; the other party, of which I was a member, was called South Party, and toured South England and Wales.

"The other half of the English party was delayed in Newfoundland because of radio trouble in their plane. That evening we were guests at a banquet given in the Queens Hotel in Montreal at which Mr. Carter, President of the Air Cadet League welcomed the English boys to Canada.

"We took off on the first leg of our flight to England Wednesday morning July 30th. We stopped overnight at Gander and next evening saw North Party leave on schedule for England. Our party was delayed until Saturday when repairs were completed on the radio of the plane which had been bringing the second half of the English party to Canada.

"Midnight Saturday, 2nd August, we left Gander and landed at Heathrow Airport near London about 6:30 Sunday evening, after a brief stop Sunday morning to refuel at the Azores. Our first night in England was spent at an air force station called 'Heron', 49 miles west of London.

"The next morning, 4th August, we left Halton for another air force station called Chivnon near the town of Barnstaple on the South coast, about 225 miles from Halton. We stopped for lunch on the way at the Empire Flying Training School at Hullavington and, further on, for a short visit to one of the famous natural hot springs of England, High up in the hills of Devon, we were called 'The Whispering Gallery'.

You walk up a very long winding stairway to this Gallery. I counted 362 steps. The reason for the name 'Whispering Gallery' is that a person standing on one side of the building may be heard on the other side when he whispers. In the crypt below the church one may see the tombs of such famous people as Wellington, Florence Nightingale, and many others.

War Damage "There is considerable damage caused by the war around St. Paul's Cathedral. Part of the Cathedral itself was bombed, but it is now being repaired. I went to see the Cathedral to the Tower of London. As one speaks of the Tower of London he does not necessarily mean one tower, but a group of buildings, most of them in the form of towers. These buildings are famous all through British history. The towers were built in 1076. Another called the Bell Tower was built in 1190. The Traitors' Gate, through which all prisoners were to be hung, was built in 1242. As you walk through the different buildings you can see such things as the clothes which Gen. Wolfe wore at one of his battles. The blocks and axes which were used to execute some of the wives of Henry 8th. You can go into the room in which Sir Walter Raleigh was imprisoned, and in the same building is the famous gallery in which the princes were supposedly murdered. In a little chapel you can see the very spot where Lady Jane Gray knelt in prayer during her 9-day reign. Some clothes and weapons of the early knights are preserved in a museum. Judge Jeffery lived in one of the buildings for a short time. There is a fireplace built of ancient Roman brick. There are stone jugs from the 13th century. During the last war prisoners were kept in the Tower of London. One outstanding example was Rudolph Hess.

"Next I went to Westminster Abbey and the Parliament Buildings. Westminster Abbey is a magnificent building. It is there that the kings and queens are crowned, and there Princess Elizabeth will be married in November. Below the Abbey are vaults visit to Windsor Castle and Saturday afternoon we saw a musical play in the Adelphi Theatre on the Strand.

"Monday, 18th, we visited Madame Toussaud's Wax Works, and, along with the Canadian Sea Cadets, were guests at a reception with the Assistant High Commissioner for Canada at Canada House, Trafalgar Square.

"Tuesday was spent in preparation for the return flight to Canada, and Wednesday morning at 5:30 we left England for home. We spent our Thursday morning in the Azores and early Thursday morning took off for Canada, arriving at Dorval about 5:30 that evening. We were then, along with the English fellows, tendered a farewell banquet at the Chalet on top of Mount Royal. And on Friday morning, after many handshakes, we left for our various homes."

SCOUT CUDMORE King's Scout Cudmore reported as follows: "I was sent to represent the Boy Scouts of Prince Edward Island at the 6th World Scout Jamboree, which was held at Molson, France. The Canadian Contingent was composed of 35 Scouts. There was one or more from each Province of Canada. We met at Miller's Lake, Nova Scotia, for a brief training camp.

"On August 2nd we sailed from Halifax aboard H.M.C.S. Warrior. The Warrior is an aircraft carrier, Navy. Aboard the Warrior we lived the regular naval routine, and were treated as ordinary seamen. Sleeping in a hammock was a new experience for us. On our voyage across the Atlantic the Naval Officers gave us lectures on various naval topics, such as radar, navigation, and signalling. I might say also that we scrubbed our own ships' decks.

"We docked in Greenock, a small port on the Clyde River in Scotland. I imagine most of you have heard of the beautiful Clyde, but you can't realize how really beautiful it is until you sail on it, and actually see for yourself the steeply rising hills, the mountains, and the villages in the valleys. It certainly lives up to its name of the 'beautiful Clyde'.

"We travelled by train through Scotland and England. We stayed in London for a day and night. I saw such places of interest as: St. Paul's Cathedral, the Tower of London, Big Ben, Westminster Abbey, the Parliament Buildings, London Bridge, and also the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace. I would like to tell you a few points which stand out in my memory. St. Paul's Cathedral was built in the 17th century. It is the most prominent of London's buildings. It is a huge building and is really a masterpiece of architecture. High up in the dome there is what is called 'The Whispering Gallery'.

containing the names of all the ancient Kings. The Churches instead of having seats as our Canadian Churches have, are furnished with low chairs which appear to be very old. You can walk through the Parliament Buildings and see the House of Lords, and the House of Commons Chambers. On top of the Parliament Building is Big Ben. It chimed as I was standing in the street below it. Its tones are mellow and beautiful.

"It is hard to explain the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace, but it is certainly a wonderful sight.

At Paris "On August 10th, we left London on our way to Paris. Near Dover we saw the place where Caesar landed in Britain in 55 B.C. As you sail out of the harbour you see the White Cliffs for which Dover is famous. They extend for miles.

"We crossed the English Channel to Calais, and then took a train to Paris. Paris is a beautiful city, and three outstanding points in my memory. I saw the Eiffel Tower, Arc de Triumphe, and Notre Dame Cathedral. The Eiffel Tower is a huge tower. It is so high that as you look at it from a distance the top is clouded by a haze. The Arc de Triumphe is a large arch and engraved on its walls are the names of all the battles in which the French fought. At the bottom of the arch is a small figure which is kept burning in memory of the French Unknown Soldiers. Notre Dame Cathedral is a very large building with beautiful stained glass windows. It has a choir with about 50 members. The pipe organ in Notre Dame is one of the most beautiful organs in the world, and it was wonderful to hear its music.

"At the Jamboree we met boys from all parts of the world. There were from 30 and 40 thousand Scouts there from different nations. It was most interesting to meet the boys from other countries, and to try to talk with them. Most of the time our conversations were limited by differences in language but we usually managed to trade a few badges as souvenirs. Not being able to speak French was a disadvantage, because most of the boys at the Jamboree could speak French.

"We left camp at 2:30 one morning and went by train to Dieppe. Dieppe is badly damaged from the war. We crossed the English Channel from Dieppe to New Haven and then went to London for another day and night. I spent this day and night with a boy who had stayed in Charlottetown during the war years, and attended West Kent School. Many of you will remember him: Malcolm Joyce. He asked me to say 'hello' to all his old friends. He took me to the famous Wembley Stadium in Wembley, where the football championships of Great Britain are played. Malcolm, who learned to play hockey in Charlottetown, is now one of the best junior players in Wembley. It was a strange experience for me to watch people skating on ice on the 20th of August.

"I returned to the Warrior in Greenock. On the way we spent a morning in Glasgow. Two interesting incidents about our return voyage across the Atlantic were the presence of a stowaway on board and a Miles Gemeni taking off the Warrior about 10 miles outside Halifax. There are many more events of interest, far too many to talk about, but I must say that one outstanding event was the sighting of Canadian shores on our return crossing of the Atlantic."

Local Bible Society Plans Annual Drive

The local branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society launched its annual campaign for funds last evening at a supper meeting held in the Baptist Church Hall with about seventy men and women workers representing every denomination in the city, being present.

Present also were Rev. J. D. Davison, Rev. J. T. Ibbott, Rev. T. E. MacLennan, Rev. M. D. Dunbar, Rev. T. H. B. Somers and Major Victor MacLean.

Mr. Warren Lord, president of the local branch, presided and expressed the thanks of the executive to the various workers. The secretary, Mr. R. J. Rupert, instructed the collectors and allotted districts.

A sound film entitled "We Too Receive" was shown, depicting how the sending of the scriptures to a foreign land had led to the miraculous saving of a Canadian boy's life during the recent war.

Following the film, Rev. E. M. B. Wheelock, district secretary of the Society, spoke briefly, expressing his admiration for the fine spirit of co-operating evidenced by the large gathering of men and women collectors.

"You workers represent the trust and nobility in the life of Charlottetown," said Mr. Wheelock, and you are playing a most important part in the carrying out of the great commission. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel."

30 Fires Burn In Three Provinces

(By The Canadian Press) Rangers and volunteers are battling at least 30 fires in tinder-dry forest areas of three Eastern Provinces.

In New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, most blazes are under control. But some are making slow, creeping headway and the possibility of new outbreaks is considered great.

43 Killed In Crash

ATHENS, Oct. 27 (AP)—A Swedish airliner, officially reported as carrying 40 or more persons, crashed Sunday night atop towering Mount Hymettos, 112 miles southeast of Athens, killing all aboard.

The plane, a four-engined Sky-master en route from Istanbul, Turkey, to Athens, virtually disintegrated when it crashed and caught fire.
