

For Sunburned Skin

In the glorious outdoor life of summer there is one thing that will add greatly to your comfort—Penslar Vanishing Face Cream.

It is by far the most delightful of summer creams—a certain protection against sunburn and windburn and certain relief if applied to the already sun-burned skin.

NOTED VISITOR.—There arrived on a transient visit to the city yesterday by the S. S. Halifax Mr. Booker T. Washington, the noted Negro Educationist and orator. He was accompanied by Mrs. Washington and his son, Mr. E. D. Washington and party consisting of Dr. A. J. Kenny, Mrs. Kenny and Mrs. M. S. Joschenberger. This is the great educationist's first visit to the Island and he expressed himself highly delighted with the place. He visited a number of fox ranches. While here he met the Misses Stanley and their sister, Mrs. B. E. Logwood of Bedford, Mass., who is a friend of Mrs. A. A. Kenny. Mr. Washington is a prominent acquaintance of Colonel Roosevelt. Mr. Washington devotes his entire time to the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute of Tuskegee, Alabama, of which he is principal. It is not only in his work of teaching the colored race, but in his ability for lecturing that Mr. Washington has won a foremost place among the educators of the United States. Mr. Washington has visited Canada before, but not the Maritime Provinces. He has lectured before the Canadian Clubs of Montreal, Ottawa and other Middle West cities on previous visits. In the Tuskegee Institute of which Mr. Washington is principal, industrial and vocational training is specialized. They have 1600 colored students, men and women. The institute covers 300 acres and possesses one hundred buildings, valued at $1,500,000 with an endowment of $2,000,000 and supported wholly by individual enterprises. There are 186 instructors employed and it has sent out 7,000 graduates. Mr. Washington says that everywhere in the South he heard praise for Canada and what has been done in this war. Mr. Washington and party returned yesterday by the Halifax after visiting points of interest in the city.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH SERVICES.—The Rev. A. R. Beverley will preach at the morning and evening services on Sunday.

BASEBALL MATCH.—A series of ball games will be played between Summerside and Charlottetown for the Championship of the Island shortly, which ought to prove interesting as the teams are very well matched.

INGENIOUS SIGN.—A very ingenious sign advertising "Zam Buk," the well-known healing ointment, has been displayed during the last week in the window of Hughes' drug store. It depicts a bright youngster whose forefinger, which has evidently been badly cut with the knife he holds in the other hand) is being bandaged by his maternal grand parent, after an application of "Zam Buk." The boy is quoted as urging the old lady to "put on more, granny."

THE MAN WHO BROUGHT CANADA CAPITAL

HALIFAX, Aug. 13.—Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, who is the general manager of the Bank of Montreal negotiated the forty-five million dollar loan for the Canadian Government in the New York money market in July, has been the responsible factor in bringing more capital to the Dominion than any other individual.

There have been many brilliant financiers who have striven strenuously in the past ten years and brought huge amounts of money to Canada. But without exception the capital sought has been for the upbuilding of their personal achievements.

But William Mackenzie's money-getting trips to London, for instance, became the subject of cartoons in the daily newspapers. Time after time he has crossed the Atlantic returning with his satchel, so to speak, full of cash.

The capital went into the Canadian Northern Railway or closely associated enterprises. The money went to further the propositions which the Canadian Northern Railway interests had in hand, immediately. So it has been with the other financiers.

But Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor has occupied a unique position. The capital he sought was not for his own use. It was to further none of his personal ambitions or those of his bank.

It was to come to Canada in one form or another, for the upbuilding of the great Dominion in which as a Canadian he took a personal pride.

It might easily be estimated that Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor during his banking career has succeeded in drawing a billion of dollars to Canada for investment.

It was Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor (then Mr. Williams-Taylor) who really set the flood of capital loose upon Canada. Almost from the moment, in 1905, that he became acting manager of the London, England, branch of the Bank of Montreal, he began a campaign to awaken an interest in the Dominion. Then, too, began the more aggressive efforts of federal and provincial governments toward inducing a large settlement of the provinces, the cities, the towns and the country.

When Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor took a keen interest in all that was Canadian. He went to London thoroughly versed in Canada; he has never ceased to study the fundamentals of his country.

Sir Frederick's appointment as manager of the London, England, office dates from 1906, his appointment having been confirmed a year after he took over the acting management, until the end of 1913, when he became general manager of the institution in which he has had such a brilliant career.

During those years Canada rolled up the monumental sum of £246,278,200, borrowed entirely from British investors. Of this capital required, it is safe to assume that fifty per cent. was negotiated through the Bank of Montreal in London. It would, therefore, come from the hands of Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, as the manager of the branch. It was Canada's growing time, bearing out Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who coined the phrase, "the 20th century belongs to Canada."

But Sir Frederick's undoubtedly the guiding hand that led truly a billion dollars of capital into this great new country. It was a master mind that advised. His is the assertion: "I venture to say that Canada has admittedly been well financed."

Thomas Shaughnessy, the C.P.R. president and a marvelous advertiser for Canada. There are many other eminent Canadians whose worth is admitted and who have been responsible, personally, for a great part of the upbuilding of Canada. But it is the none who during his residence in England accomplished more than Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor.

Was there information asked—the manager of the Bank of Montreal, in London, was always accessible. Was there advice wanted Sir Frederick was ready. Frederick became to British investors the Braddock of Canada. That the Bank of Montreal recognized his worth was demonstrated when after thirty-five years' service, and at the age of fifty, he was appointed general manager of the institution, made foremost of Canadian bankers.

The British covered up a him by King George in 1913 was undoubtedly in recognition for his immense services to the overseas Dominion.

When toward the close of 1912 critical London began to analyze the Dominion's financial position, and many an unkind thing was said of Canada's standing. Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor uttered an energetic defence that carefully and closely reviewed our economic position. He proved conclusively that Canada's fundamentals were sound. He based his opinion on the assertion: "surely it is sound economic and profitable logic that no borrower can be charged with over-borrowing provided he is in a position to pay his interest regularly and is undoubted for the principal sum at maturity."

The case of the well-reasoned address, which he made, was the greatest respect throughout Britain. Sir Frederick made use of one thought. It was in substance: "The development of the Dominion with funds from this country and from other countries, will continue beyond peradventure, and if I may say so, under proper advice there is no better field for investment the world over."

Even as he spoke Sir Frederick of course could not have seen into the future. Strange as it may seem, Sir Frederick is now proving the one who is succeeding in opening the flood gates of capital from these "other countries" into Canada.

The negotiation of the forty-five million dollar Canadian loan in New York the other day is a notable achievement. It marks the creation of the Dominion's first obligation outside London. It marks at the same time the most momentous, and largest individual loan ever created by the Dominion government. Canada has entered the New York money market under auspicious circumstances. For Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, after the Minister of Finance, is directly responsible. The immediate and remarkable result of the huge loan in New York city is particularly gratifying under all the circumstances.

When these aspects have been considered, the some-time ago statement of Hon. R. Lemieux, K.C., M.P., with reference to Sir Frederick may not seem undue flattery. "An extraordinary man was the Hon. R. Lemieux's tribute. "Few can realize the amount of good he is doing the Dominion, while ably discharging the duties of his high office at the same time."

PRINCE EDWARD THEATRE

The "Harmony Duo," Arthur Huskins and DeWitt Cairns, still continue to draw capacity audiences with their clever and harmonious singing, providing a rare treat to all lovers of good singing. Long before the first show was over there was standing room only, every seat being taken. The pictorial programme was both interesting and varied. "The Troubadour," a two part feature with Murdoch McQuarrie in the role of a Spanish minstrel. The acting was clever and embellished with beautiful tropical settings. "His Brother's Keeper," another fine two-reel number, tells a story of two brothers, the elder all firmness and self-reliance, the younger weak, pleasure-loving and reckless. Most of the incidents are consistent with life. The scenes are varied and selected with excellent judgment. "The story of the Silk Hat," featuring the popular King Baggot, proved a novel and interesting reel. The story being told by the aid of silk hats. The Greater Motive, a drama of the prize ring, in which some clever boxing was displayed. "A Hot Finish," well deserved its name, bringing forth roars of laughter. The same pictures will be repeated to-day, afternoon and evening, also "The Harmony Duo" will sing for the benefit of the children, who cannot come at night.

PUT OFF THE DIVORCE TILL THE WAR IS OVER.

OTTAWA, August 14.—An interesting incident has developed in connection with an application for divorce by the wife of a Canadian officer at the front. He has written the senate divorce commission that if the hearing of the application is deferred until after the war the granting of a divorce may not be necessary, the hint being that fate may sever the bonds in the meantime.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM SHORCLIFFE

(Continued from page one) Fred May is also a Captain in this regiment, so also is a young Sherman. He told me that his mother had been a patient of father's. Webb Stanley who is with the Heavy Battery Officers in the Division, Ham Bethune is also doing exceptionally good work. So in fact are all the Islanders. You can justly feel proud of the boys from home. Fred Macrae and I are trying to get a complete list of all the Islander boys who have left Canada. This is quite a difficult task, as a great many enlisted from other Provinces, and the next of kin are in a great many cases living away, so on their papers there is practically nothing to show that they have come from the Island, but every day I am meeting some. Yesterday I met Percy Jardine who is Artemas's son. He is Signaling Sergeant with the 32nd Battalion. Hammond Johnston is a Sergeant with the Field Artillery. Jack McEachern from Souris is in the same Battery. I was down to Otterpool, where the Heavy Battery are stationed, and among the other boys, saw Jack Gordon. You may tell your mother if you see her, that he is looking very well indeed and the Colonel gave me very good accounts of him. I have not seen any of the Island nurses, but when I go up to London, I will enquire from the Canadian Office their whereabouts. The 32nd Hospital Unit are now in France, but a long way from the firing line. The war news of late as you have seen by the papers is not very encouraging. On the western front they are no more than holding their own on the eastern front, the Russians are being badly driven back. Critics seem to think that it is only a matter of days before Warsaw falls. The Germans are going to take a lot of beating, and I am afraid it is going to be another year at least before the war is over. You may tell them at Wither that Joe is very well and is quite pleased with the work and is very anxious to

CAKE AND SHIRTS WANTED

The following letter was received by Mr. Malcolm Stewart, Springton, from his son Spencer, who enlisted in Western Canada, and went to the front in the 10th Contingent; he is in the 10th Battalion: Dear Father:—I received your letter last night when I came out of the trenches. I have not got much time to reply, as we have to clean up to meet Borden and Hughes some time today. We came out of the trenches all covered with mud, as it has been raining for the last few days. We have to go back to the trenches tonight again. Capt. Du from Charlottetown, has gone back to England I think he was sick. Tell mother to send me some cake; it would go fine out here. Some of the fellows get cake from home all right. I get lots of socks, but shirts are hard to get. Had one on for two months. Had to wash it in cold water, and put it on wet, as I lost my pack and everything in Festubert, but I got a new outfit today. Quite a number of the boys got blown up at Festubert. We lost 337 out of 800 in three days. I had some narrow escapes, until I am never scared. I can hear the German shells going overhead. They are four miles away. I would not write much at a time or they cannot write the letter through. I will send a card every chance. Your loving son SPENCER.

ALMOST ANY WIFE.

On bargain day she goes the rounds till about three. And then—Well, then her money's spent. And so is she.

Provincial Exhibition Halifax September 8th to 16th

Notwithstanding the fact that WAR is the first thought of the people of this Country today, yet the question of production is at the same time to be considered in connection with WAR.

The Agricultural and Live Stock people are being urged to make this a year of production, and in this connection the Manufacturers also play an important part.

In order to know what is being produced in the Maritime Provinces, the Exhibition Associations are continuing their work, in order that the Agricultural and Industrial people may show what is being done.

At the Provincial Exhibition at Halifax is the greatest and best opportunity to make this display of production, and we are looking to see this one of the best ever put on at this Fair.

The amusement end will not be neglected, and consequently combining the two, we promise our patrons the best Fair yet held on our Grounds.

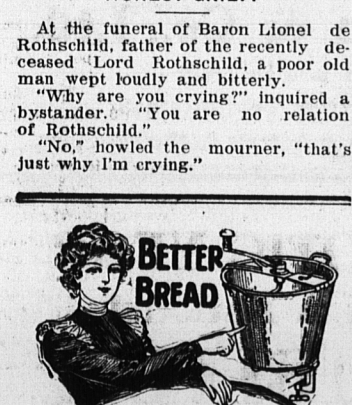

Exhibitors must make their entries before August 21st, and anyone not receiving Prize List can obtain same by writing the Secretary, M. McF. Hall, Halifax.

ALLIES ASSURED OF A COMPLETE VICTORY WHEN TIME IS RIPE

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Albert Thomas, under-Secretary of War in charge of munitions, tells the Petit Parisien that France's efforts to produce munitions, are different in method but equal in results to those of England which he recently viewed. The newspaper quotes him as follows: "We have an army which at the present moment is armed so as to withstand any shock, an army which on the other hand is capable of making a strong offensive. Its morale is good that is to say the army is prepared to remain as it is, if necessary. "Every day our strength grows both in England and France. Notwithstanding the formidable resources at the disposal of Germany it is not possible that the resources of the Allies does not assure them when the time is ripe for complete victory. What we have, what England has and will have, all the resources that she can create, will assure us supremacy. I am convinced that I know it every day. I repeat to my friends, my conviction that we shall be victorious."

HONEST GRIEF.

At the funeral of Baron Lionel de Rothschild, father of the recently deceased Lord Rothschild, a poor old man wept loudly and bitterly. "Why are you crying?" inquired a bystander. "You are no relation of Rothschild." "No," howled the mourner, "that's just why I'm crying."

In Just Three Minutes

Madam, you can make better, cleaner and wholesomer bread in three minutes with the UNIVERSAL bread maker and raiser than is possible in half an hour in the old-fashioned, by hand way.

With the UNIVERSAL bread maker your hands do not touch the dough, it does away with all hand kneading, simple and light to operate, that even a mere tot could work it. It's easy to clean, always ready for instant use.

If you wish to save time and lighten your labor on baking day, you should get a UNIVERSAL bread maker. Small in price big in satisfaction.

See our window display—step inside and let us show you this unique bread maker.

WAR CONTRACTS ENQUIRY IN NOVA SCOTIA

KENTVILLE, Aug. 12.—This was another star day in the Davidson inquiry. A number of the ancient if not honourable dervic horses sold to the remount officers, were under review and their histories were inquired into. Joseph A. Copley, of Kingston, swore that Dr. Chipman told him A. B. Harvey was a decent fellow, for Harvey had given him $10 after selling his horses.

Albro Morse stated that he saw Dr. Church give something to one horse in the barn out of a bottle. A little later this horse kicked the end out of the barn.

Dimcock Bowly sold a mare with a colt about 3 1/2 months old. The colt mours a mother gone to the war. But in extension the mother was carefully milked before being put on the train.

Ingram Bowly stated that McKay would not buy the good horses he took to him. Bowly told him he had a horse home which had the heaves. McKay told him to telephone home for it. He did so and sold the horse in quick time.

William White sold another, with all the infirmities known to horses except spavins. This was a unique specimen which will not raise the reputation of Kings county horses.

The series of trades and counter-trades made in a few minutes was so intricate that the commission and everyone else except the owners got lost in the maze. The record of a large number of horses was of such a character that it would turn any ordinary person sick.

Abner Woodworth, an elderly man, gave evidence as to his horse, while a grandson, Robert Graves, who has made a record not at all to his credit, now most unfriendly toward his grandparent, contradicted some statements made by the former. The grandson's bad blood was evident. Mr. Thompson, K.C., remarked: "All this trouble is over ten dollars in connection with a rotten old horse."

A number of the witnesses both today and on previous days were refused fees by Sir Charles Davidson because of the character of the horses offered by them.

THIN FOLKS WHO WOULD BE FAT INCREASE IN WEIGHT TEN POUNDS OR MORE.

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE. "I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal amount of fat the nutrition processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strengthening fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution.—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.
