The sudden and tragic death of Mr. Daniel K. MacDonal, which occurred on Friday morning, July 19th, 1935, has saddened the whole community of Hartsville and many neighboring districts where he was known and loved. Mr. MacDonal was killed instantly by a fall of gravel in the pit where he was at work.

At their home on the Glen Valley Road Mrs. MacDonald was preparing dinner when she heard the heart-breaking news. No one will ever quite realize how terrible the shock of such tidings must have been. Nevertheless, a few intimate friends who were present at the time can bear witness to the gallant and courageous spirit of the young wife. From an unseen source she was given strength to carry this heavy cross.

The funeral service was held at Mr. MacDonal's late residence on Sunday afternoon, July 21st, and the vast throngs which attended were a silent tribute to the esteem in which he was held. The service was conducted by Mr. Rudolph J. Moran, the acting minister of Hartsville Presbyterian church. Mr. Moran, deeply touched by the tragedy, delivered a thoughtful address in which he paid tribute to Mr. MacDonal's splendid character and stressed the Christian's assurance of immortality. Rev. R. At St. Mary's Church, Summerside, Prince Edward Island on Tuesday morning, August sixth at nine o'clock, a very pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of immediate relatives and friends when Miss Mary Ellen, daughter of the Rector, the Ven. The chancel was tastefully decorated with sweetpeas, flax and ferns. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the choir assisting with the music. The simple but impressive service opened with the choir singing that beautiful hymn, "Glory to Thee who safe has kept."

The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. Thomas White, was dressed in white muslin de sole and carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. She was attended by her youngest sister, Miss Betty who was very sweet in pink organdy. The groom was attended by Mr. Mark H. White of New Ross, a brother of the bride. Following the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served at the rectory to the immediate relatives. The day had a special significance as it was the 39th anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents and congratulations were in order to Ven. C. De W. White, D.D., and Mrs. White as well as to the newly married couple. After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. May will reside in Auburn, Mass.—P.

HERE FROM LIVERPOOL, N.S.—A welcome visitor to his old home is Mr. Cecil Day, Editor and proprietor of the Liverpool, N.S. Advance, and son of Mr. R. L. Day, Spring Park Avenue. Mr. Day began his newspaper career on The Guardian six twenty years ago, and has gone steadily ahead ever since. He acquired the Advance, when it was not in a very healthy state, but by his energy, enterprise and enthusiasm he has built it up to be a very prosperous institution and one of the leading weeklies in Nova Scotia.

The following was taken from "The Saunterer" column of the Worcester Evening Post: Bill Cantwell, who lives out My Street Way, is an employe of The Post, but that won't prevent us from using him as the subject in this column. Bill has a weakness for brass bands, and he they on the street "on the air" he will be found all attention while they are playing. It seems when Bill was just a printer's apprentice and also a moving spirit in a boys' organization he and his pal organized a brass band in the home town and would you believe it, that band is still functioning, though its membership has been completely changed over the period of 40-odd years of its existence. At first, when the boys went on parade they had a bass drum to keep them in step. A suggestion was made to Bill that there should be good band "timber" among the 100 or more boys in the organization, so it was followed by action and the band organized. Bill states that he played the hardest instrument in the outfit—the baritone—as anyone who knows will agree.

The recent death of William Crosbie, who organized Crosbie's Band in South Worcester many years ago, brought back memories of Bill's trying to break in with Mr. Crosbie when he first came to Worcester, but he didn't make it, for the good and sufficient reason that Bill's teaching was in the "treble" clef, whereas the Crosbie Band played in the "bass" clef. However, Bill's band is still in the running, and it looks as if it will continue indefinitely, which is something to be proud of.

Mr. Cantwell is a native of Charlottetown and the band which he led a part in organizing was the League of the Cross Band. The only surviving original charter member at present living in Charlottetown are Mr. William Brown, who was the first bandmaster and Mr. H. E. Cantwell who later succeeded him. Mr. Cantwell is a brother of the Bill Cantwell mentioned above. Rev. Father Hogan, of St. Dunstan's Basilica was spiritual director of the Band when it was first established. Mr. Bill Cantwell was at one time an employe of The Guardian.
