Dorothy Dix Says— COMMON SENSE FORMULA GREATEST NEED IN MARRIAGE

Fewer Divorces In Old Days Because Wedded Couples Realized They Had Lifetime Job Ahead Of Them

Dear Miss Dix—I get so fed up on all the formulas on marriage. What the deuce did they do in Grandmother's and grandfather's day? They married and spent their time rearing a half dozen or more children (without formulas, too). They didn't have time to think of divorce.

ANSWER—There are several good reasons why it was easier to pull off a successful marriage in Grandmother's and Grandfather's day than it is now. One of them is because in those days married people felt that their marriage was a binding contract.

Grandma and Grandpa knew that they couldn't swap their mates off for sheiks and glamour girls, so they didn't let their eyes roam in at every fascinator who crossed their path.

Another reason why it was easier to make a success of marriage in Grandma and Grandpa's day than it is now is because husbands and wives didn't demand so much of each other.

Also, in those days no husband expected his wife to remain young and beautiful and slim for 40 years at a stretch, nor did any wife demand that her husband should be a great lover and a dancer like a gigolo.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I love a boy who is in the army and he doesn't want to marry until he gets out. I haven't much confidence in men, so must I wait for him or marry another boy who wants to marry me and who has a good job and who loves me, but I don't love him? There is also a girl who is wealthy and who would love me everything I want, but I don't love her either. Which one of these three should I marry?

ANSWER—My, but you must be an IT girl if you have three men on a string who want to marry you when most girls think they are lucky if they have even one bonafide proposal. But, such being the case, what's your hurry about getting married to any one until Mr. Right comes along and combines in himself all the things that make marriage worth while to a woman—love and wealth and the invisible something that his own fancy and makes him the one man in the world to you?

Of course, marriage is a woman's dish, but you can't make a happy marriage if you just put love alone into it any more than you can cook a palatable and nourishing pudding if you don't use anything but sugar. Nor would you enjoy a lifetime diet of one in which the sweetening was left out and was only a nasty mass of flour and milk.

Of course, marriage is a woman's dish, but you can't make a happy marriage if you just put love alone into it any more than you can cook a palatable and nourishing pudding if you don't use anything but sugar.

Wedding Of Miss Dorothy MacArthur In Hollywood —The Woman's Realm

The following wedding is of particular interest as the bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. (Dr.) T. F. Fullerton and her parents former P.E. Islanders with many relatives and friends here.

One of the most beautiful church weddings was solemnized Friday evening, October 10, when Miss Dorothy Margaret MacArthur, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry H. MacArthur, 2105 Addison Way, was united in marriage to Victor Graham Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Turner, of Hollywood. The bride's brother, Rev. John F. MacArthur, pastor of the Eagle Rock Baptist Church performed the ceremony, and the wedding was assisted by the bride's father, Rev. Arthur, pastor of the Fountain Baptist Church of Hollywood where the ceremony took place.

The church was artistically decorated in white floral arrangements, which with the lighted cross above the altar and the shower bouquets of white flowers formed a lovely background for the bridal party. Mr. Dee Libbey rendered several solos preceding the ceremony, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Libbey, who also played the wedding march.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a princess gown of white satin, with train, her long flowing veil was held by a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and bouvardia.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. John F. MacArthur, matron of honor, wore a gown of powder blue and carried a muff of wisteria noisette; her bridesmaids, Misses Beverly Spain, Marion Bouchie, Grace Ford, Doris Why Carrier, Jean Richards and Laura Lita Cooper, wore similar frocks of mauve and carried bouquets of blue delphiniums. The two little flower girls, Dorothy and Wynelle Martin were dressed in white and carried blue flowered muffs, and the ring bearer, Charles Robert Higgins, wore a dress suit.

The bridegroom was attended by Cecil Klassen as best man, and Messrs. George Henricks, Stewart MacArthur, Warren Spain, Sam Ewing, Jr., Henry Richman, Jr. and Fred Tompkins, served as ushers.

After the ceremony the spacious University Hall was thrown open for the guests who numbered approximately 400. The bride and groom were seated at a table decorated to resemble a patio with pools, flower gardens, garden furnishings and a pergola to shelter the bride and groom. Standing with them were their attendants, and in the receiving line were the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. MacArthur, who was gowned in teal blue, her grandmother, Mrs. H. MacArthur, who wore black lace; the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, who was gowned in maroon velvet; the bride's aunt and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. MacArthur, and out of town guests were: a cousin, Mrs. Margaret Lydia of New York City, and an aunt, Mrs. C. A. Voght, of Seattle.

The bride is well known and popular in this community. She attended Eagle Rock High School and is a graduate of E. J. Jones College of Cleveland, Tennessee. The groom is a graduate of Manual Arts High School, attended John Brown College at Sloan Springs, Arkansas, and is associated with a Hollywood bank. Both young people have been ardent workers in the church activities and one of the beautiful gifts received was a complete cabinet of 1847 silverware, from the congregation of the Fountain Avenue Baptist Church.

SEE IT THROUGH

When you're up against a trouble Meet it squarely, face to face; Lift your chin and set your shoulders.

Plant your feet and take a brace When it's vain to try and dodge it. Do the best that you can do. You may fall, but you can conquer. See it through!

Black may be the clouds about you And your future may seem grim, But don't let your woe desert you; Keep yourself in fighting trim.

Even hope may seem futile, When with troubles you're beset, But remember you are facing Just what other men have met. You may fall, but fall still fighting; Don't give up what'er you do; Eyes front, head high to the finish, See it through!

WHEN IS "INDIAN SUMMER"? With warmer weather appearing late in the autumn, conversation every year gets around to the subject of Indian Summer. This year there have been very few periods long enough to be designated as that mysterious season which people talk of but never locate, and with the warmer weather of the past several days it's a question again arises "When is Indian Summer?"

According to popular belief Indian Summer is the period that follows the first snow storm of the season. Others say that it is the first warm days after the first frost.

And it's much too good to be lost. "You could write out directions and leave them in your bank," Crispin suggested.

"I could but I won't. I'm telling you, Crispin." He finished his biscuit and cheese and got up. "Come into the other room and I'll explain."

In the big living room he went to his desk, sat down and took a road map of the district and a pencil.

"Here's the entry of the Teigan," he said. "The coast between that and Torquay is all cliffs, fairly sandstone, partly limestone. You see this here? It's a question again arises "When is Indian Summer?"

Your Dreams Give Clues to Your Suppressed Self

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—A.M. sees a greater predominance of friendly rays than does the P.M. Watch the diet and disposition and don't be warned against recklessness and quarrelsomeness.

APRIL 21 to MAY 20 (Taurus)—Well planned and well timed activities that are wholesome should move smoothly and pleasantly. Fine period for vigorous activity, amusements, sports, competitive games, army maneuvers, trying for new records, and down any irritating inclinations.

MAY 21 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Very stimulating tendencies. It will be wise to temperate your actions with common sense. Recognize your limitations and don't strain health or disposition. Watch the diet; enjoy a pleasant relaxation; have faith in the future and YOU.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Don't think of terms money today—so many other important matters and happy events to occupy your mind and time. Friendly indications for personal affairs, civic events, hobbies and recreation.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Your born before August 8 may find things moving more speedily and smoothly, but all of you are under certain very favorable star aspects. Tone down over-aggressiveness and you'll be all right. Know the value of humility, it's the privilege of the great.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—A pressing need for a stimulating day, such as today may be to you, is cool, quiet planning and action. No need to worry or fuss. Some healthy, pleasant relaxation, hobbies and recreation.

A CHILD BORN ON THIS DAY: Cheerful, versatile, usually good-natured with a flair for the unusual. It's education should encompass broad and pertinent subjects that can be applied fully in this interesting world of ours. Mental concentration, which is sometimes too lackadaisical, should be more absolute.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (LIBRA) Generally favorable, especially for personal matters, routine affairs and the usual week-end activities. If convenient, indulge your favorable hobby or sports for relaxation. Dealing with the public favored.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—With Mars in unfriendly aspect, particularly in the evening, it will be wise for you not to overstrain or be reckless in outdoor activities. Adhere to a sensibly moderate tempo in everything.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 22 (Sagittarius)—Don't overdo yourself with work or other matters. Whatever your schedule, you can accomplish more by attacking it cheerfully and calmly. And it should include recreation.
