"Waltham" Means Assured Quality

UNLESS you are an expert watch-maker, competent to dissect a watch and judge of its quality, you must buy on "faith." And your faith must be reposed chiefly in the maker of the watch.

For more than sixty years the name "Waltham" has been inseparably associated with the highest quality in watch mechanism. If you are buying a watch for yourself, or are selecting one to present to a valued friend, see the comprehensive array of Waltham styles and sizes at your jeweler.

Open Shop Rules Operating

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—New rules dominated by railways and authorized by the Railway Labor Board and opposed by Unions were put into operation today when four hundred thousand railroad shop employees in the United States started to work. Rules were designed by the board it is stated to bring about greater economy and efficiency in the shops and includes the recognition of the open shop. The board states, however, that the open shop ruling is more important theoretically than actually, because only a small percentage of the railroad employees are unorganized.

The Meighen Government have transformed the big Liberal budget, the Transcontinental Railway, into a self-sustaining road by their wise method of handling it. The last three months have showed a surplus of earnings over receipts. This is the road that the Liberals now want to hand over as a gift to their friends. Don't let them do it. Vote them down.

Plans To Meet His Men in Death

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A solemn assignment is to be kept in the Fort de Loncin, at Leige, in Belgium, writes R. J. Cruikshank in the London Daily Mail. The day when it will be kept is known to no man, but it surely will be. The tale begins amid the smoke and thunder of a gigantic battle. It is the early days of the long terror. The ledge parts, more sorely tried, most faithful of defenses, are being smashed and shattered by monstrous guns. In particular, the Fort de Loncin holds out an incredibly long time. It is sheeted in flame and rent by exploding shells, work is splintered like glass, and heavy iron twisted like paper. Small hope here for poor flesh and blood humanity. The big magazine blows up. There is the horror of a dazzling flash of flame, of a thunder and a shaking like that of the world, two hundred soldiers lie buried forever, deep beneath a mountain of concrete, which has been hurled savagely into the solid earth by the force of the explosion.

At last the force is surounded, and overpowered. The gallant, valiant, valiant who has led the forlorn hope, is taken prisoner, and with him such few of his men as remain alive. Among them is an excellent N. C. O., Gabriel by name. Death is threatened, indeed, seems close at hand. "I will die with my soldiers," cries the leader with the gesture of the Latin temperament, but they spare him.

Here is the second chapter of the story. Deep amid the wreckage of the Fort de Loncin there has been built a crypt. It is cold and dark at night, as at night, in wooden coffins, on whitewashed shelves, repose the remains of 47 soldiers who died in the defence of Fort de Loncin in those terrible days of '14. They sleep deep and quiet, with those other 200 who are buried beneath the concrete. The crypt is winding and devious, on the model of the ancient catacombs.

It is a serene afternoon in the year of peace, 1921. Col Naussence, a courtly soldier, is over the crypt when he made so stout a stand. He is grey-haired, grey, spoken, logical. He tells the history of the defence very modestly. It is quite by accident that one catches the end of the story. It is from Gabriel that it comes. He stands there thinking in the sunlight, the typical old sergeant, major retired and in "civilis". "There are 47 coffins in the crypt down there."

"That is so."
"But there are 49 places, so you say. How is that?"
"There are two who have not yet been carried there."
"Where are they?"
"M. le Colonel is the one. I am the other. It is his purpose to be with his soldiers in death. And I, as forty-eight and forty-nine will be in their places. The crypt will be complete."
The valiant defenders of the great fort will meet forever in the cool, dark crypt. It will be the last roll-call in the Fort de Loncin.

Canadian to Take Piece of Kipling?

Her Excellency, Lady Byng, the distinguished guest of the Toronto Women's Press Club yesterday afternoon at the residence of Col. F. F. Deacon, Rosedale, addressed a large assemblage of Canadian women writers on the subject of journalism. To Her Excellency there was no field more fascinating than that of journalism, which kept one in touch with the swift-moving current of public affairs. The very machinery necessary for the production of the products of the pen, from the running press to the editor's desk, had always interested her. Lady Byng, on behalf of the Press Club, was presented by Mrs. R. G. Black, the president, with the club's emblem, in gold. Mrs. Black and Miss Kelly, president of the Canadian Women's Press Club, paid tribute to Her Excellency and to her delightful books, "Barriers" and "Anne of the Marshland," which exemplified the writer's love of true beauty and her admiration for old-fashioned chivalry. It was the first time in the history of Canada the president said that the position of the leading lady of the land, had been filled by a novelist of such repute.

As Lady Byng stood in the beautiful drawing-room she was typical of royalty, as far as Canadians at home have been permitted to see the splendid representatives of the throne who have visited Canada. Yet she seemed to be one with Canadians as she related her interesting journalistic experiences. It was alarming, she said, to address a group of writers, for writers were very clever. Journalism had always had a fascination for her, the energy of it, the editor's office, the whole working machinery, even the old clothes worn by the men and the worn-out coats which they seemed to cling to as a badge of distinction. With regard to her book reviewing, she said that she had been too honest, she was afraid, to make a living, for she always read each book through from the beginning. Even the most technical books, she had struggled through and had been rewarded when she was told by the author that she had grasped the book. Each book which she had reviewed she added to her library. She now had a very interesting collection of them.

Lady Byng was afraid that women writers were egotistical. To illustrate this she told the story of one who said "I was young, interrupted as I was. Today, in England, there were few outstanding novelists. Canada should all this produce a young, virile country should produce a great novel. I know, she said, had a great deal of writing. Why should not a great Canadian author arise, depicting the wonderful scenes of the east and west and of the half-explored north. She hoped that such a day would come for Canada.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Masons throughout the world are intensely interested in the announcement of the sale price of the temple in New Brunswick to succeed the late Senator Donville. The estate of Lord Darnley, the husband of Mary Queen of Scots, makes the price about $160 an acre, or less than New England farm land. The estate was the birthplace of the historic temple at New given as 140,000. As the estate of Lord Darnley, the husband of Mary Queen of Scots, makes the price about 912 acres, this Mary Queen of Scots.

C. E. F. CANTEEN FUNDS

THE GOVERNMENT HAS DECIDED THAT THE CANTEEN FUNDS AMOUNTING TO ABOUT TWO MILLION DOLLARS SHALL BE DISPOSED OF AS THE MAJORITY OF THE EX-MEMBERS OF THE FORCES MAY DETERMINE

For this purpose a ballot will be taken, the closing date for which will be February 1st, 1922. Those eligible to vote will be all ranks and ratings (including Nursing Sisters, C. A. M. C.) of the Canadian Forces who served during the late war.

The four suggestions set out in the ballot form have been selected from a large number of proposals sent in by the various soldier organizations and by individuals. They are, in the opinion of the Committee, the best of those received.

The Committee has realized that the proposals submitted on the ballot will not in all cases meet with the views of the individual and therefore has left a blank space in which the voter should insert any additional suggestion he may have to offer. Such suggestion should be marked with the order of his preference, as indicated below.

The Committee has been formed of ex-members of the Forces, including representatives from the three largest ex-soldier organizations.

Ballot forms may be obtained from every Postmaster in the Dominion of Canada and all offices of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. They will be distributed to the patients in D. S. C. R. Hospitals.

The question of direct distribution of the funds in the form of cash to all ex-members of the Forces was also considered, but in view of the very small sum such distribution would mean to each individual, it was felt that much more would be accomplished by devoting the whole amount to improving the condition of the more needy, or the greatest sufferers from the war.

Study the specimen of the ballot form printed below, and the method of marking it, so that your vote may be duly recorded.

BALLOT FORM — CANTEEN FUNDS DISPOSAL	Mark Your Preference in Order of Choice—Thus 1, 2, 3, etc.
A. Establishment of memorial workshops for the provision of sheltered employment and home employment for disabled ex-service men, including the tuberculous.	1
B. Establishment of non-competitive industrial enterprise jointly owned and operated by ex-service men.	2
C. Provision of scholarships or other educational facilities for the children of ex-members of the Forces in need of such assistance.	5
D. Provision of burial facilities for ex-members of the Canadian Forces, who die in indigent circumstances.	4
E. This space left blank for any further suggestion.	3

Fill in under E the other plan you desire (if any), marking it with the others in the order of your choice. Sign your name on other side before mailing.

EXAMPLES OF MARKING

Mark opposite your first choice 1.

Mark opposite your second choice 2.

Mark opposite your third choice 3, and so on.

Opposite E fill in any other suggestion it is desired to submit, and mark opposite it the order in which you wish to vote for it.

Specimen ballot shown here indicates that the voter is in favour of:

- Scheme A as a first choice;
- Scheme B as a second choice;
- His own suggestion as a third choice;
- Scheme D as a fourth choice, and
- Scheme C as a fifth choice.

ANY ONE OF THE ABOVE SUGGESTIONS WILL ABSORB THE TOTAL AMOUNT OF CANTEEN FUNDS AVAILABLE

EXPLANATION

With regard to:

Scheme A.—The committee in submitting the recommendation had in view the experimental Memorial workshops carried on by the Red Cross in Montreal, Victoria and Vancouver, and by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment in Toronto and Hamilton. The result of operation of these shops shows that this line of work can be successfully carried on to provide employment, graded according to the disabled man's capacity, which then he is able to work in the Workshops or carry on work at home.

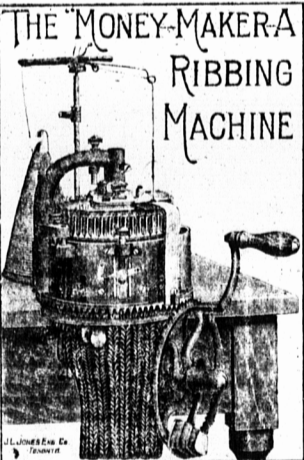

Scheme B involves the establishment of a non-competitive industrial enterprise, jointly owned and operated by ex-service men and women. This suggestion was advanced with a view to providing employment for disabled ex-service men, would enable all others to participate. While not in any concrete form, it was reported by several members of the Committee as a possible means of evolving, through discussion some practical proposal that might be of value.

Scheme C.—The committee had in view the provision of facilities for one year in Business College, Technical School, High School or University.

Scheme D.—The proposal is to provide burial facilities for those ex-soldiers not entitled to them under Government provisions, and who die in indigent circumstances.
