THE MEN'S STORE

For conscription

WINNIPEG, Dec. 17 (CP)—Ralph Maybank, Liberal member of Parliament for Winnipeg south centre announced at a Canadian Legion meeting in suburban St. James last night that he favors conscription of men for overseas service. Mr. Maybank said he endorses the Canadian Legion's resolution calling for an all-out war effort in Canada and said that in the matter of conscription of wealth it might be better to tax than to take. (The Canadian Legion resolution, presented to Prime Minister Mackenzie King in October, asks for complete and scientific mobilization, organization and utilization of all of Canada's resources in such a manner that Canada may be geared to produce essential foods and munitions and to wage war to her maximum capacity.)

In Memoriam

MRS. WILLIAM E. HAMMILL
Friends learned with regret of the passing of Mrs. William E. Hammill, whose death occurred at her home, 101 Edward Road, on Saturday, December 13th.
Born in Johnston's River 44 years ago, a daughter of Mr. Ronald Currie, now residing in this city, and the late Annie Currie, the deceased enjoyed a large circle of friends.
She leaves to mourn, her husband, linotype operator with the Patriot, and the following brothers and sisters: Margaret Jane and John, Albert; Florence (Mrs. Walter Manning), Jamaica Plains, Mass., and Cecelia (Mrs. Walter Melniss), City to all of whom the Guardian extends sincere sympathy.
The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from the residence of her sister, Mrs. J. Dunn, 45 Dorchester Street, to St. Dunstan's Basilica, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Capt. Rev. W. McCordie, who also officiated at the grave.
The pall bearers were: Fred Driscoll, William McCabe, E. Dwyer, W. G. Galt, Fred McDonald and William Gregory.

Fail to find Student's body
SACKVILLE, N. B., Dec. 17 (CP)—Searchers for the body of Melvin Green, Sydney, were again unsuccessful today as the remains continued hidden in still smouldering ruins of the men's residence at Mount Allison University.
Death toll of yesterday morning's fire was three, with a number of other students injured and two remaining in serious condition.
A coroner's jury empaneled today viewed the bodies of Joseph Fraser, Picton, N. S., and Frederick Farrey, Saint John, N. B. Dental work was the only means of identifying Fraser's body. That of Farrer, identified yesterday, was forwarded to Saint John today.
The jury adjourned pending conclusion of an investigation by police and other officials as to the cause of the fire which was unexplained.

U. S. Soldiers, Airmen to go To Eritrea

LONDON, Dec. 17 (CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation said tonight "thousands" of United States soldiers and airmen will go to Eritrea within the next few months to establish the new American military base in the former Italian Red Sea colony.
The BBC said William Bullitt, President Roosevelt's representative in the Middle East, will act as official observer. Factories, assembly plants and repair shops would be built "with lightning speed."
"New cities and more railways are planned," the BBC added, "and planes, tanks and other equipment will be turned out in great numbers."
Administration of the conquered Italian colony will remain with Britain, the BBC said.

New war job For women Is outlined

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP)—The new war job of Canadian women—keeping a record of their purchases—was outlined tonight by Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, in an address over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.
By her record of prices the housewife will be able to watch for increases which would break through the general price ceiling established Dec. 1 by the Prices Board. Mr. Gordon said Canada is asking "her 3,000,000 women for a great contribution to the war effort."
"I have said that Canadian women are the guardians of the price ceiling," he said. "The highest prices charged at retail in Canada."
Each case should be divided into four columns, with the list of goods bought in the first column, and details in respect to quality, type and other factors in the second column. The third column should carry the names of stores where purchases were made and the fourth should have the highest prices charged at these stores during the Sept. 15-Oct. 11 basic period.

Hungry Students Discovered fire

SACKVILLE, N. B., Dec. 17 (CP)—Two hungry students, tired from late hours of study, are credited with saving many of the 225 men who were asleep in the men's residence of Mount Allison University before fire destroyed the building early yesterday morning, taking three lives.
When Myer Chernin, Glace Bay, N. S., and James Gould, Canterbury, N. B., went downstairs for something to eat, they saw flames near the elevator shaft in the basement. After ringing the bell, Gould aroused occupants of the first and second floors while Chernin did the same on the third and fourth storeys. Chernin suffered minor burns and came close to death.
Other students were injured in helping their friends. Goodman Cohen, Reserve Mines, N. S., lowered several students to safety from the top floor with a rope improvised from bedding. Injured in jumping to the ground, he was among those taken to hospital.
Congestion on the fire escape was avoided under supervision of Wilfred Ripley, Copper Cliff, Ont., a member of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps.

HEAVY FOOT-SLOGGING

Heard alarm bell, Rolled over and Went to sleep

MONTREAL, Dec. 17 (CP)—Fire destroyed the men's residence of Mount Allison University in Sackville, N.B. early Tuesday almost took the life of Richard Culton of Montreal, who is back with his parents here today.
Culton said that when he heard the fire alarm bell, he just rolled over and went to sleep again. "But I guess I didn't really go properly to sleep. Smoke woke me up after 10 minutes. Then I knew it was no rising bell. It was the fire alarm."
"When I woke up the flames were roaring up the elevator shaft and spreading to either side on each of the four floors. For a while a friend and I tried to direct a fire hose at the flames but it was quite useless. So then we went up the private staircase of the dean to the fourth floor, crawling along the ceiling and knocking on the doors. We must have got about 30 men out that way."
"Fred Farrar, who lost his life in the fire, had been doing something like that to," Culton said, "because he was out of the residence before his roommate was. Later he disappeared."
Culton and his brother, John, are both students at Mount Allison. Richard was quartered on the second floor. John on the fourth. Three students died in the flames and nine were injured.

Wartime Board To Continue On

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—R. F. Culton, national administrator of wholesale trade, told newspapermen today that in all probability the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will continue to operate after the war until such time as the fear of any collapse in the Canadian economic structure is passed.
G. Burton, national administrator of retail trade, supporting this view, declared in any event it was likely the best feature of the plan would be retained permanently.
Replying to a question, Mr. Burton said representatives from Washington were holding discussions with the Canadian board and studying the situation here closely.
"There is no doubt the United States government will have to do something along the lines similar to those adopted by Canada," he said.

These thousands of troops which crossed the Atlantic in the first historic convoy and succeeding ones, look back today on the part they have played in helping to guard this island as a job well done. Now in the forefront of Britain's massed-in-armies, the Canadians look forward to a new year with a belief it will see the corps sharing in momentous events.
In an interview with The Canadian Press, Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton corps commander, reviewed the army's development in the past two years and emphasized that this period in England has provided the vitally necessary time for the basic training given units and laid a "splendid foundation" for operations with the overseas force he indicated he was pleased with the organization set up for reserve officer cadets, specialists and trainees.

"In the past two years, many thousands of our Canadian men have come from civil occupations to learn the new arts of war and learn them well," said the general. "This is all in addition to the remarkable progress made by those men who have remained in the industries."
Training in England has broadened to include duties in many fields. A close relationship between the army and the air force has normally been worked out to give variety of air support to ground units. Plans have been completed for co-operation between air squadrons and artillery. Scientific aids gunnery have been developed.

As I told the McGill University graduates in a speech in October, we should be thankful that so far there has been little direct action against the enemy," he said.
"Otherwise the instrument we forge might well have been destroyed in the making without a full and proper and continuing opportunity to advance the cause we serve."
The general, who commanded the 1st division when it came overseas, said one of the most important achievements has been the manner in which Canadian industry has turned to war production.
"War equipment for the fighting forces now is arriving in Britain in quantity, and this is an extremely encouraging feature of our war effort," he said.
Gen. McNaughton praised the
