Other speakers were Rev. Bennett MacDonald, Grand River; Rev. Urban Gillis, Wellington; Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson, Bedeque; Mr. Donald Baker, Summerside; Mr. Martin Gallant, M.L.A., and Mr. Chandler of Charlottetown, who represents the Carnegie Library.

Refreshments were served to the visitors before they left for their homes.—S.

At the same time, cabinet ministers meeting with President Manuel Azana voted to call into military service all men in the 1932 to 1935 classes from Almeria and Huesca Provinces.

Meanwhile, poorly-clad Government fighters were battling in the cold to hold defence lines west of Madrid against a frontal attack by insurgent forces in the Avila sector.

A Fascist flanking movement south of Navalperal, the War Ministry said threatened to trap the Government force.

Officials admitted Fascist artillery fire had cut communications on the Western Front between Government outposts and the supply base at Cerberos.

The ministry reported a Government patrol south of Talavera de la Reina had captured Villa Tebraso and sized a train of supplies after a battle in which 22 Fascists were killed.

Officials here admitted the civil war was becoming "daily more ruinous" with quarrels over distribution methods hampering the work of rationing food supplies to the capital's civilians.

—BURGOS, SPAIN, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Insurgent military leaders tonight taunted the Socialist Government for "impotent" counter-attacks on the Fascist troops slashing toward Madrid.

The insurgent advance, they said, had been purposely delayed to see what strength the Madrid Government could muster against them.

The counter-attacks were ineffective, the Fascists said, and the big push in the capital is now underway, with its most advanced units only 20 miles from the objective and still driving forward.

General Francisco Franco, the supreme military leader, was said tonight to be concentrating his troop movements on Madrid itself, believing the Government-held cities of Bilbao and Santander would fall before units of General Emilio Mola in the northeastern sector near France.

The final assault upon Madrid would probably be launched this week-end, the insurgent leaders declared, if their troops continue the speed of their present drive.

At the same time, Britain and France are able to calm the Soviet and the three nations accused by Russia at Friday's scheduled meeting of the nations which agreed to keep hands off Spain, the question of neutrality may become one for individual governments, to be handled according to national dictates, it was asserted by observers.

The non-intervention scheme has been recognized generally as lacking complete effectiveness because of Portugal's absence.

Now that Russia has announced its intention of bringing up the charges which Spanish Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo raised before the League of Nations, it was believed Britain might join in formally presenting the Spanish Government's allegations before the international committee.

At the same time, Britain probably will ask the governments represented not to take hasty action. Russia's action appeared to portend difficulties for Premier Blum

Annual Meeting Of Wellington Library Board

ANNUAL MEETING — The Library Committee of the Wellington Library Centre held their annual meeting on Tuesday evening, Oct. 8th. Mr. Peter Gallant president occupied the chair and in a short address reviewed the activities of the year. He was pleased to report that the library now has over 1,000 members which he considered excellent for a country library. The library owned their own building and much benefit was derived from the volumes now at their disposal.

The chief speakers were Professor Blanchard and Professor Croteau of Prince of Wales College. Professor Blanchard spoke on the excellent work the libraries are doing in the Province. Professor Croteau spoke on adult education and its importance in a rural community.

Other speakers were Rev. Bennett MacDonald, Grand River; Rev. Urban Gillis, Wellington; Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson, Bedeque; Mr. Donald Baker, Summerside; Mr. Martin Gallant, M.L.A., and Mr. Chandler of Charlottetown, who represents the Carnegie Library.

A pleasing addition was some vocal selections by Mr. Obed Hubert, who was accompanied on the piano by his wife.

Refreshments were served to the visitors before they left for their homes.—S.

VIOLATION OF NEUTRALITY PACT CHARGED

The note charged that 14 planes have been sent from Hamburg to Seville through Portugal; 12 large German planes have been sent to Seville; and that Italian poison gas has been sent from Lisbon to the Spanish frontier.

"It is sufficient to recount the following facts—on Sept. 10, 23 freight cars with boxes containing unassembled parts of 14 airplanes from Hamburg came through Portugal to Seville—on Sept. 20, 12 big German planes landed at Tetuan, (Spanish Morocco), and later these planes were used.

"The Spanish Government received a report that on Sept. 27 a load of poison gas and military munitions of Italian origin were sent to the Spanish frontier from Lisbon."

"The rebels," it continued, "possess tanks, and bombers of German and Italian origin x x x Among the airplanes shot down by the militia forces were nine airplanes of German origin."

"The Soviet Government fears that the situation as created by repeated violation of the London non-intervention pact makes the agreement non-operative."

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Russia's accusation that Germany, Italy and Portugal have violated the agreement for non-intervention in Spain probably will split the neutrality plan wide open, informed observers said tonight.

Unless Britain and France are able to calm the Soviet and the three nations accused by Russia at Friday's scheduled meeting of the nations which agreed to keep hands off Spain, the question of neutrality may become one for individual governments, to be handled according to national dictates, it was asserted by observers.

The non-intervention scheme has been recognized generally as lacking complete effectiveness because of Portugal's absence.

Now that Russia has announced its intention of bringing up the charges which Spanish Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo raised before the League of Nations, it was believed Britain might join in formally presenting the Spanish Government's allegations before the international committee.

League Covenant Revision Planned

GENEVA, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A step looking toward revision of the League of Nations Covenant was taken today while the League's Disarmament Committee gave a modest boost to hopes of checking the international arms race.

The Steering Committee of the Assembly proposed the creation of a general committee to decide on procedure for considering Covenant reform proposals.

The League's Disarmament Committee adopted a cautiously-worded report which, approving a French proposal to reconvene the bureau of the inactive disarmament conference, fulfilled the delegates' desire to raise no false hopes.

Narrowly Escape When Home Burns

PICTOU, N. S., Oct. 7.—(CP)—Four members of the family of James Keating, burned in a fire that destroyed their Magdalene Islands home late Saturday night, were brought here today for hospital treatment by the Steamship Lovat.

Condition of Ruben Rankin, a nephew of Keating, was believed to be critical. He was burned about the head, neck arms and lower part of the body from the waist down. Doctors said more than two-thirds of the superficial area of his body had been destroyed.

The Lovat made one of the fastest trips on record to bring young Rankin to hospital along with Mrs. James Keating and her son Archie, both seriously burned, and James Keating suffering lesser effects.

Motorship Afire Off Sardinia

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) BOSTON, Oct. 7.—The coastguard here reported the Dutch twin screw motorship Marnix Van St. Aldegonde, now in the Mediterranean Sea, sent out an S. O. S. tonight, reporting a fire in its two hold and calling for aid.

The message was received by the coastguard patrol boat, Thetis, and relayed to headquarters here. It gave the ship's position as 200 miles east of the Island of Sardinia.

The 19,162-ton ship, the coastguard said, presumably was bound for France. His "Popular Front" Government has been attacked by Leftists because of the non-intervention policy.

Russian Editor Charged In Plot To Overthrow Stalin

MOSCOW, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Fate of Karl Radek, brilliant former journalistic "mouth-piece" of Dictator Joseph Stalin, may hinge on the swaying power of his last news paper article penned in his own self-defence.

Arrested today on charges of complicity in a plot to kill Stalin and overthrow the Soviet Government, Radek had previously written a flaming attack on his alleged fellow conspirators, 16 of whom were shot last August.

Radek, who disappeared shortly after the executions, was jailed by order of Prosecutor Andrey Vishinsky, who accused him of "political and legal guilt" in the counter-revolutionary plot allegedly planned by Leon Trotsky, former Communist party leader now in exile in Norway.

In his last article in the official newspaper Izvestia, Radek confessed his unfaithfulness to the Communist party but defended himself with a vitriolic attack on Trotsky and claimed he had "expiated" his sins by foiling Trotsky's attempted sabotage of the Stalin regime.

Now it is believed that Radek facing the same firing-squad end he so violently demanded for "decaying-souled traitors," in the columns of Izvestia, will base his defence on the part he played in sabotaging Trotsky's alleged plot.

In addition to Radek, three other prominent Soviet leaders may be arrested and brought to trial, it was indicated tonight.

from her home port, Amsterdam, to Batavia, in the Dutch East Indies.

Emergency Session Of Quebec House

QUEBEC, Oct. 7.—(C.P.)—Quebec province's 20th legislature opened its first session today, an "emergency session" which the Throne Speech forecast would bear an appropriation for the current fiscal year and "a few of the most pressing measures."

These include, said the Throne Speech, legislation looking to the "protection and safeguard of human capital" and agrarian reforms as the main business.

The Lieutenant-Governor reading the speech from Throne outlined the work the Union Nationale Government of Premier Maurice Duplessis planned to tackle in its first session in power.

The Liberal group of 14, under the House leadership of T. D. Bouchard, former municipal affairs minister, listened from the opposition benches for the first time in 38 years.

MUSSOLINI SUPPORTS VON STARHEMBERG

private army at Starhemberg's instigation. Fey was formerly head of the Vienna Heimwehr.

With Starhemberg as the supreme head of the private army, informed Italian circles said, Italy would feel that Austria had her best guarantee of security.

With the Austrian situation up-pest in official circles tonight, it was also reliably asserted Mussolini was grooming his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, as his eventual successor.

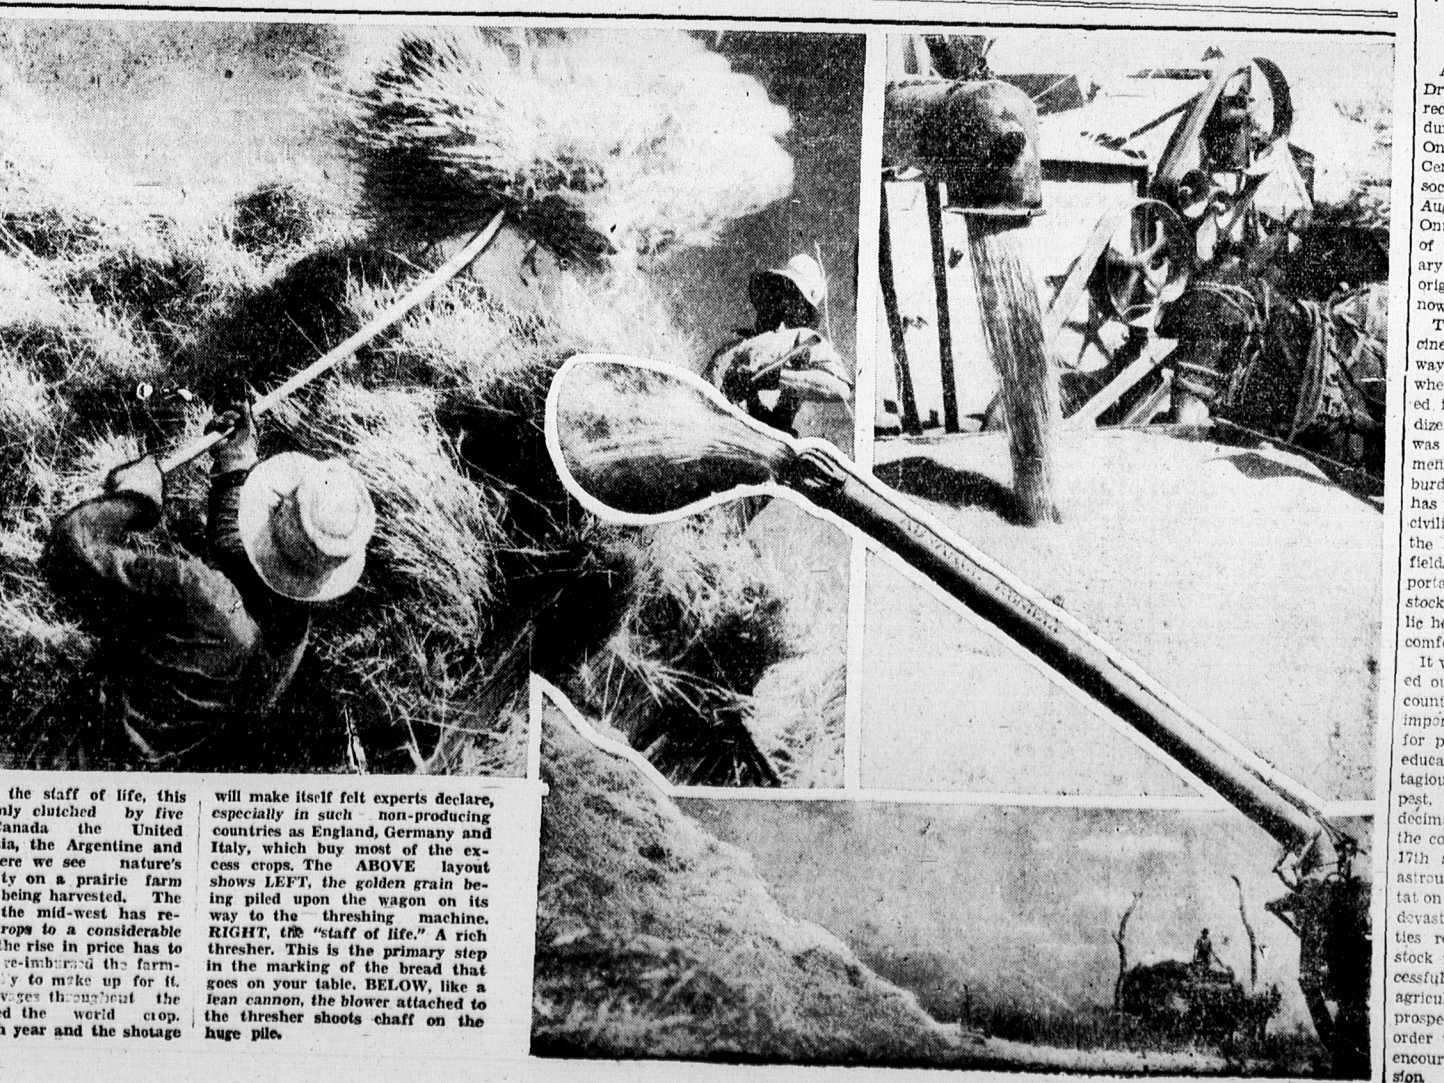

Ciano, at present foreign minister, would be placed at the head of the cabinet, informed sources said, while Il Duce would retain his dictator's title "Capo del Governo" (head of the government).

Veterinary Medicine Aid Agriculture

At a dinner given in honour of Dr. George Hilton, Veterinary Director General for the Dominion, during the joint meeting of the Ontario Veterinary Association and Central Canada Veterinary Association held July 31st, and August 1, 1936, at Brockville, Ont., he gave an interesting outline of the development of the veterinary profession from its modest origin to the important position it now occupies.

The practice of veterinary medicine commenced in a very small way, said Dr. Hilton, at a time when nations were chiefly concerned in warfare and in the agrarization of their possessions. It was at first limited to the treatment of the ill of the beasts of burden, the ass and the ox, but it has extended with the progress of civilization and the development of the live stock industry into many fields. It has been and is an important factor in improving live stock conditions, in protecting public health, and in promoting human comfort and happiness.

It was an amazing fact, he pointed out, that authorities in civilized countries did not realize the great importance and the great necessity for providing funds for veterinary education until epidemics of contagious pleuro-pneumonia, rinderpest, and foot and mouth disease decimated the herds and flocks in the countries of Europe in the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries with disastrous economic results. The visitation of these plagues with their devastating effects made authorities realize that a successful live stock industry was essential to successful agriculture, that successful agriculture was imperative to the prosperity of a nation, and that in order to prosper it is necessary to encourage the veterinary profession.

Wheat is the staff of life, this staff is firmly clutched by five countries; Canada the United States, Russia, the Argentine and Australia. Here we see nature's golden bounty on a prairie farm as it is being harvested. The drought in the mid-west has reduced the crops to a considerable extent, but the rise in price has some extent re-imbursed the farmers sufficient to make up for it. Nature's swings throughout the world reduced the world crop. Another such year and the shortage will make itself felt experts declare, especially in such non-producing countries as England, Germany and Italy, which buy most of the excess crops. The ABOVE layout shows LEFT, the golden grain being piled upon the wagon on its way to the threshing machine. RIGHT, the "staff of life." A rich thrasher. This is the primary step in the marking of the bread that goes on your table. BELOW, like a lean cannon, the blower attached to the thrasher shoots chaff on the huge pile.
