

Happy little lady!

A grateful goodbye hug from hubby, sweet kisses from the children, off to school after a hearty breakfast. The smiles at the empty plates, happy in the knowledge that she has pleased and cared for her loved ones; smiles at the memory of the joy which greeted the steaming pancakes and the Crown Brand Corn Syrup on this morning's breakfast table.

In the near distance the brilliant lights of Canal Street reflected against the sky and from beneath her the scent of madonna lilies rose as headily as wine. Suddenly she became aware of voices behind her over the rhythmic swell of dance music. They were Stacy's and Alice's. "Stacy, how could you do such a thing! Bringing that girl here is a brazen insult to my other guests!" "Why? She's charming and attractive. Everyone enjoyed her singing." "But she's a professional entertainer. What's more she's from Gallatin Street! That name means something in New Orleans history." "Oh, come on, honey, don't be a snob. This is Madri Gras, isn't it?" "There are dividing lines, even in Carnival, Stacy Corbin!" "I thought you were more democratic. Guess I'll have to teach you some Northern ways. If we're going to be married."

Christmas Flowers Can Be Grown in Window Garden

A Winter Window Garden Makes Spring Come Faster, and Teaches Many Lessons.

Growing flowers for Christmas in the modern home is not easy, but it can be done if Paper White Narcissus bulbs are started Nov. 1, and grown in carefully regulated temperatures. Without such care the flowers are likely to be inferior, and the stems weak, because the bulbs have not matured to the degree most favorable for "forcing." "Forcing" is the florist's word for making a plant flower out of season; and the formula for accomplishing this is much the same with all bulbs. Bulbs develop, even in storage; and take time to reach the stage where they are ready to grow. If planted then, they first must produce roots, since top growth without good roots is weak. E.N.R. VICE-PRESIDENT SPEAKS ON RAIL FLIGHT
MONTREAL, October 28 — "The railways of Canada have now reached the point where, with existing freight rates, and in the face of rising costs and fixed charges, they face slow but sure strangulation," stated J. F. Pringle, vice-president, Central Region, Canadian National Railways, in an address, recently, before the Aylmer and District Chamber of Commerce. "Railway management is doing and will continue to do its part in applying sound operating practices to all phases of operation, but there is a point beyond which ingenuity and wit of management cannot go. I have every confidence that the people of this country realize the situation and will keep the railways in a position to render the same service in the future that they have in the past."

She paced slowly back and forth and watched the parade of people coming and going through the roccoco entrance of a new hotel across the street.
The bulky outline of one man in a white linen suit caught her eye as he stepped to the curb and lit a cigarette. Even before she saw his face she recognized the Bundist.
She hesitated. What had happened to the old proprietor? Surely this youngster who could scarcely be out of his teens would be of no help.
"I had a note from Louis, isn't he here today?"
His boyish face assumed a stern expression. "He fell ill this afternoon so he left early. I am in charge of the shop now. Was there something special that you wanted, Miss?"
