ORANGE JUICE AND HEALTH

For Stomach and Skin.

Few of us realize what an important part the skin plays in keeping us well or making us ill.

The millions of tiny glands, or pores, are intended to rid the system of waste matter, which the blood brings to the skin. It is a well-known medical fact that the healthy skin carries off more Urea or waste matter than the kidneys. Just think how much poison remains in the system when there is any skin trouble.

The skin and stomach are intimately associated. Find a person with a dry, harsh skin and you will find one who suffers with indigestion or constipation, and both, usually.

Both may be relieved by a judicious use of orange juice. Both can be cured by taking the juice of an orange every morning before breakfast, and taking "Fruit-a-tives" at night. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. The fresh juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are separated from the pulp, and then combined in such a way that the medicinal action is intensified.

Orange juice alone will not cure Skin, Stomach or Bowel troubles. But when taken in connection with "Fruit-a-tives," a positive cure results. "Fruit-a-tives" may be obtained at all dealers or will be sent on receipt of price—50c a box—6 for $2.50. 'Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

George Cresceus (2 yrs) 2.48-4

Something about the great Cresceus King of trotters and Sire of George Cresceus

In the first place there is the fact that Crescaus is Cresceus. His name, when flung in the balance, outweighs those of all the other trotting stallions "whose name the golden tongue of fame has uttered." His deeds, his achievements—they are household words wherever equine speed is known or prized. The gap that separates him from all others of his gait and sex is so wide that it is, in very truth, the case of "Eclipse first and the rest nowhere," ever again. It is unnecessary to stop and enumerate his long list of world's records. Everybody knows them by heart. For one great thing that any other trotting stallion has ever done, he can show a dozen greater. His crown is thickly gemmed with stars, but one of which would be sufficient to confer celebrity on any other horse. With him they are only parts of a "stupendous whole"—a greatness so colossal as to be without precedent or parallel. He was—or is—not alone a speed marvel; but also a giant in strength, a lion in courage, a phenomenon in consistency and wearing power. In the sum of their attributes, some horses—as some men—seem to transcend the limits which nature, as we conceive it, has set. Of these is Cresceus. Every one readily admits this. It can not be denied. And out of it all stands this one important fact that he is a stallion—THE ONLY STALLION THAT EVER HAS HELD THE WORLD'S TROTTING RECORD.

George Cresceus 42246, whose 2-year-old cut appears above, is a handsome chestnut horse of splendid conformation, Sired by Cresceus and is gaited and acts like his noted Sire. He holds the Provincial 2 year old trotting record mile heats for 1907 which he won at Halifax after a few weeks training, thus proving that 'blood will tell.' Below are some remarks made by the Halifax papers about this fine colt when he raced there.

"The big share of the stake went to the chestnut colt from Charlottetown George Cresceus by Cresceus 2.02¼ the champion trotting stallion of the world, and George bears a MARKED RESEMBLANCE to his noted sire. "The Cresceus Colt had the speed of the quartette. The Cresceus colt's speed again gave him the lead. The Halifax Chronicle Oct 1907.

After the second heat there was nothing to it but the Fredricton mare and the great Cresceus whose SUPERIOR BREEDING seemed to tell in the two final heats which he captured in rather easy style. The Halifax Herald Oct 1907.

At Charlottetown against a field of six Commodor trotters and pacers (half mile heats) he beat the whole field by many lengths, except the pacer Arena Bell which he forced to go to the wire in 1.20 in the half mile heat. F. BEALES

ORIGIN OF GERRYMANDER.

In the last number of the 'Voter,' editor Henry Barrett Chamberlin, drops into Massachusetts history and tells where the gerrymander was born His version is as follows :—'The word gerrymander came out of Massachusetts during the year these United States tried conclusions with Great Britain for the second time. The apportionment Act of Feb. 11, 1812, suggested the name, owing to the fact that some of the districts were formed into fantastic shapes.

Towns were separated and single towns were isolated from their proper counties. As a matter of history it stands almost alone as the rankest bit of work of the character ever attempted in American politics. The re-districting of today is equitable and sincere as compared therewith. There is not a body of politicians extant that would have the nerve to even suggest the proposition that became a law in those days.

Nathan Hale, one of the editors of the Boston Weekly Messenger, published a map exhibiting the two Essex districts in the edition of his paper of March 6 and the paper stated at the time: "The country Essex has been divided in two districts. . . . . to which the ingenious carvers have been unwilling to assign names. The district of which the extremes are Salisbury on the north side of the Merrimack River, and Chelsea . . . . may be properly called by the name which children give to a letter in the alphabet' 'crooked S' or one district may be denominated concave and the other convex, as one of them fits into the other very much as the half of a small egg may be put into the shell of a larger egg." The map was displayed by J. G. Cogswell, afterwards librarian of the Astor Library, at a dinner at Colonel Thorndike's house in Summer Street. Here it was examined and discussed and someone remarkid that the outer district but needed wings to resemble a prehistoric monster. The suggestion was at once acted on by the artist Elkanah Tisdale: 'Someone called for a name for the figure, and a guest proposed the term salamander. Another guest, thought to be Mr. Alsop, quickly protested, and suggested that as Governor Gerry had signed the bill and permitted it to become a law it should be named after him—hence the word gerrymander.'

This version differs widely from the story of the coming of the word as told by John Fiske in' Civil Government in the United States.' Mr. Fiske's account, which is drawn from 'Winsor's Memorial History of Boston,' runs thus :

'In 1812, while Gerry was Governor of the State, the Republican Legislature redistributed the districts in such wise that the shapes of the towns forming a single district in Essex county gave to the district a somewhat dragon like contour. This was indicated upon a map of Massachusetts which Benjamin Russell, an ardent Federalist and editor of the 'Sentinel,' hung up over the desk of his office. The celebrated painter, Gilbert Stuart coming into the office one day and observing the uncouth figute, added with a pencil a head, wings and claws and exclaimed "That will do for a salamander !" "Better say Gerrymander !" growled the editor : and the outlandish name, thus duly coined, soon came into general currency.'

BUILT OF CONCRETE.

Mr. Sinsabaugh's model twentieth century home is 34 x 30 feet, two stories high, with attic and basement and has eight rooms on the two main floors. While Edison's idea of a concrete house to be poured in one big mould was not yet carried out, yet the principle building material was concrete. The foundation and walls are of concrete blocks. The concrete was mixed on the spot and moulded into the building blocks as required. There was no waste of building material. The floors are of wood and the interior is finished in plaster and oak. Such a house requires very little wood. The style of architecture is of the plain, substantial mission type. This idea is carried throughout the interior as well.

The building is fronted by a large porch, 8 x 32 feet. This concrete and wood-finished house cost less than $3,500.

Poor Blood Brings Misery

Pale Faces and Pinched Cheeks Show That Dr. Williams Pink Pills are Needed.

Anaemia is written on the features of ninety women and girls out of every hundred. Unmistakeable are the sings of "too little blood."

The weaker sex is assailed at all ages by the evils resulting from bloodlessness, from the girl who is weak and languid, with dull eyes, pale, pinched cheeks, fitful appetite and palpitating heart, to the woman who feels never well, with gnawing pains in the back, aching limbs and nervous headaches.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are specially valuable to women of all ages, for they possess the power of making in abundance the rich, red blood without which no woman can have perfect health. They fill the starved veins with new blood so that enfeebled bodies are strengthened, weak nervous systems are fortifieh and robust health restored.

Miss Rose D'Aragon, Waterloo Que., follows the profession of teaching, which brings more than ordinary strain to all who follow this calling. Miss D'Aragon says:—"It seemed as though Iwas gradually going into a decline. I lost all my strength; my appetite was very poor; I was pale and suffered from frequent headaches; I was often dizzy and the least exertion would leave me breathless. I doctored for a time, but with little or no benifit. One day I read in the Waterloo Journal the particulars of a case similar to mine cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I determined to try them. In a few weeks there was a decided improvement in my condition, and by the time I was again in the best of health, and able to enjoy myself as well as any of my young friends."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

PREPARED AT TABLE.

In fact so easy and conveniently are the meals cooked that the coffee, tea and toast are prepared right on the dining room table. The electric coffee percolator, at the turn of a switch, prepares the coffee while the ceral is being eaten, and the toast is ready when the coffee is. The cost of cooking the meals by electricity in this home is estimated at less than $3.50 a month for a famfly of five persons.

By utalizing the waste steam from the electric light plant the cost of heating the house in cold weather is reduced to a minimum. Besides, it saves carrying for a dirty furnace and handling coal and ashes. The room that a furnace and coal bin ordinarily take up can be used for other purposes. With special meter rates for electric heating, the cost of cooking the various meals is no more than as though coal or gas were used, and the cleaniiness, convenience and healthfulness of electricity is worth more than money can buy.

The greatest inventor and genius in the world has predicted that the house of the near future will be made entirely of concrete, cast in a mould. Scientists have perdicted that the home of the future will have no chimney or flue. These ideas are all incorporated in Mr. Sinsabaugh's twentieth century home.

HOW FOOD IS COOKED.

When it is remembered that there are no fires about this modern dwelling the visitor begins to wonder how the meals are cooked. No steel range is visable in the neat and roomy kitchen. No sooty gas stove glares black and threatening from the side walls. The principal article of furniture seems to be an oak sideboard—or something that looks as though it might be a sideboard. This "sideboard" is nothing more or less than one of the new electric stoves. The back of the wooden cabinet is a small switch-board, and all the utensils arranged in the stove are connected to this switch-board with suitable wires and plugs. A turn of a switch and the electric tea kettle is singing over invisable heat. With the same ease the frying pan, cereal cooker, griddle, broiler, vegetable cookers, etc., are made ready to do their share of preparing a meal. Beside the cabinet sits the electric oven when in the heat is so economized and concentrated that the choicest roast can be prepared in less time than it usually takes to start a slow coal fire. The other electrical kitchen devices, including the electric flat iron, are used in the same clean, simple and economical manner. There is no sweltering heat in the kitchen, no soot, no ashes, no dirt, no hot fires for ironing day, no lugging of heavy scuttles of coal from the basement.
