STRICKEN TOWNS REBUILD; VIGOROUS SPIRIT SHOWN

PORPCINE, July 16.—The total result for the past twenty-four hours' search in the bush has been the discovery of but one more corpse, and his death was due to the fire. The bodies of Stanley Nicholson and Shaw were recovered from the Lake, but their names were already on the death list, and the total now reaches 62. As a dozen search parties have scoured Redstone, Langmuir, Deloro and Shaw, and prospectors are coming in by hundreds every day without reporting any more fatalities, it may be assumed that the majority of the long list of missing are alive.

Two more men died in the down county hospitals—namely William Wilson and Diedo Dillips, and since a party has searched the district in the vicinity of the Powell property without discovering any trace of a man, it can hardly be hoped that Coyne, Villa Garcia and Arthur Dexter are not entombed below the charred timbers of the shaft, where they crawled for safety. Andy McLeod arrived from Trout Lake, 25 miles from Porcupine with news of the death of Mike Robinson a Finlander.

Amnestically lay down on the trail and confessed that he had taken poison, but it was working too slowly. He gave Tom Fox, an Indian, $32 to bury him, and that seemed to be his only concern.

After McLeod had thrown brush over the body to prevent the flies eating it, he came into town and reported. Provincial Officer McKay has gone to fetch the body tonight.

Officials of the T. & N. O. Commission arrived last night and have arranged to send in $5,000 in cash and $5,000 in provisions, besides other supplies. Eaton's supplies have arrived and were just what was needed. There are now for a few days ample food supplies and tents for every man, woman and child. The clamor is now for lumber to start rebuilding.

Practically every firm of substance in South Porcupine has planned for a larger edifice, and many new firms have bought lots. As the foundation of the Dome mill appears to be only slightly injured, the stamps should be dropping by Christmas.

The damage at South Porcupine is now estimated at $500,000, and at Porcupine $200,000 of which possibly one-third is covered by insurance. The damage at the Dome will be $500,000, and at the other mining properties another half a million.

Two thousand people have taken advantage of the free fares and have left the camp, and the residue can easily be taken care of here.

Three prospectors have just returned from Cripple Creek district, and report no tragedies on the road. The camp is now rapidly recovering from the shock of the horror, and men are going back into the bush to work at the mines, or are leaving camp. It is not anticipated now that many more bodies will be discovered in the lake. Every man is returning to his own affairs. One cynical promoter was heard to remark: "Well, there's one thing sure: this fire will advertise the camp more than a hundred years of publicity."

The bush is still smouldering everywhere, and until there have been several days' hard rain there is constant danger of a fresh outbreak, but not on so terrific a scale. It is admitted that the intense heat had dried the charcoal dust till it flamed at the last spark, and the camp fires burned with a white flame on the day of the disaster, indicating the presence of gases in the air. Conditions were abnormal in every respect.

The attitude of the average prospector out in the bush is well expressed in the words of A. Brice who was in Elloradio township at the time: "If I could sell out I would leave this country and go back to a job in a town. We were never in danger ourselves, but the country we came over yesterday in the southern Shaw was dreadful. Every trail was obliterated and the windfalls lay as if mown down. If I had trodden on a body I should not have known it in that awful wilderness. I hope that everyone got out, but I am afraid, as great droughts just left the fire dried up many swamps and small creeks."

Some men have come through from the Kenogami and Cripple Creek districts and declare that all is well. No word has yet been received of the three entombed in Powell shaft, and little hope is entertained for their recovery now.

Railroad officials, who are working night and day seize a blanket and drop just where they find themselves. Last night a string of men thronged in blankets had as their pillows a stack of empty coffins, and on several occasions prospectors fast asleep in their blankets on the floor were taken for corpses laid out for burial.

So callous has average man become that he takes coffins as a matter of course and uses them as seats or dumping table, as they best suit his purposes.

"I wish to go on record said Ambrose Monell, managing director of the Dome mines, that consider all our men behaved nobly on the day of the terrible fire. They acted with great heroism and endeavored to save life and property at the Dome at the verge of imperilling their own lives. They have earned our warmest gratitude."

According to the statement of A. P. Turner, President of the Canadian Copper Co., the loss at Dome mines will be between $350,000 and $400,000, as apart from the foundations of the mill and batteries, everything has been swept clean. Mr. Monell and Captain Lawson, General Superintendent at Copper Cliff, will remain on the spot for at least two weeks to personally supervise the reconstruction of the plant. A spur will be immediately built for the railway to carry all materials. The Dome are taking care of all their workmen in a most thorough and practical manner.

City Threshers, threw open both buildings for the accommodation of beds for the survivors. Between 300 and 400 people took advantage of his hospitality.

At noon on Saturday Hon. Frank Cochrane received a telegram stating that Matheson was safe, and that all danger was past. This will dispel the fears aroused by Friday's despatches that the fire was threatening that town.

A telegraphic despatch received by Hon. Senator Robert Jaffray on Saturday stated that Jack Taylor, the S. P. S. student, who is in the hospital at New Liskeard, is not in a serious condition, and is receiving every attention. He will probably be able to leave the hospital in a week.

All the Dome party were astonished at the completeness of the wreck, both on their property and all through the country. Pieces of galvanized iron around the shaft were carried as by the blast of the furnace hundreds of feet and scattered all over the country. Mr. Monell has already planned the details of a new mill and plant. It will be built of steel and brick and made absolutely fireproof.

REPORT OF COM. ON STATE OF ORDER. Cape Wolfe, July 14, 1911. G.W.P. and Representatives: Your Committee on the State of the Order beg to report:—

While it affords us pleasure to meet the representatives here assembled we fully agree with the G. W. P. that a greater attendance would afford a greater pleasure.

Though we regret the loss of many of our associates who were in the fight when Grand Division met with Star of Hope Division above twenty years ago we trust that their example will encourage those that remain to carry on the work for the promotion of every good.

Though the past few years have been fruitful in the spread of temperance principles both from a legal and moral standpoint, the work is not completed and many difficulties are in the way with the G. W. P. that we should have legislators in sympathy with social reform.

That the unrestricted importation of liquors into this Province is the greatest hindrance to making a sober community. The Government owes us the legislation required to remedy this evil.

That unscrupulous doctors and druggists, for a money consideration, dispense liquor indiscriminately; the fool's willingness to part with his money satisfying their phantom consciences.

That the existence of a club into whose meeting place the members can lure the youth of the town to treat them to intoxicating beverages is an invasion of the law and a disgrace to the town where such moral fester is permitted.

That no Inspector should be appointed without the sanction of the temperance people, and that the officer who forfeits their confidence should forfeit his office.

That all druggists should be required to send Provincial Treasurer a quarterly report containing specific and full statements of the purposes for which liquors were sold.

We should know why so many prohibition documents are defective, why so many informations are not acted on and why fines when levied are not collected.

Machinery for catching tin can operators should be perfected. Too many second and third offences are treated as first offences.

do something to abate the dog nuisance. AERONAUT FELL INTO THE OCEAN

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 16.—Within 10 feet of the high water mark on the beach, near Deal, A. J. Roberts, an aeronaut, who started in his dirigible balloon from New York yesterday for Philadelphia, was found in an unconscious condition early today. Roberts had been forced to pull the rip cord of his gas bag when the gasoline gave out and he found that he was being carried out to sea during the night. He dropped into the ocean half a mile from shore and swam to the beach, he said. The dirigible was swept off shore by the wind.

Roberts was carried to Allenhurst and given stimulants and finally became able to tell his story. He said that when he ascended he intended making only a trial trip, but finding the wind favorable he decided to try to reach Philadelphia. Before he had gone very far, however, he encountered contrary winds and made a landing about 12 or 15 miles from New York, he thought.

Adjusting his engine, he made another ascension and after a long interval saw lights along shore and heard the sound of the surf. He tried to make a landing, but the dirigible was hit by a squall from the north-west and he was driven out over the sea. To add to his troubles, a fog came up and soon caused the gas in the big bag to cool. The airship dropped gradually until the car trailed in the water, but Roberts threw out ballast and the dirigible ascended again. Roberts said that he worked his way in until he was about 300 yards from the shore, but then discovered that his gasoline was giving out. Fearing that he would be driven out to sea in a helpless condition he pulled the rip cord. He climbed to the outside of the basket, hung on until the dirigible was about 50 feet from the water and then dropped into the sea.

Roberts thought he was then about a half a mile from shore. While swimming around trying to get his bearings he came across a plank. Using this as a buoy, he said, he would gradually become exhausted. The aeronaut declared that he had the slightest recollection of striking the beach and it is supposed he was unconscious when he floated ashore. He was well enough this afternoon to return to New York.

Digby, N. S. Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Gentlemen,—Last August my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts, (small ones) healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in four weeks' time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The Liniment is certainly wonderful in its working. JOHN R. HOLDEN. Witness, Perry Baker.

STOCK JUDGING AT MT. ALBION

The stock judging class held by Prof. McEae of the Live Stock Department at Mount Albion School was well attended. All ages were represented from young boys up to John Stewart, who is ninety-four years old and as smart as ever. Quite a nice row of aged cattle faced the judge, first place being given to a cow owned by Benjamin Jenkins. A pure bred Jersey cow, soon due to freshen, owned by Wm. H. Stewart, was much admired. Seven two year old grade Ayrshire heifers, the property of the Strathcona Farmers' Institute, were very favorably commented on by Mr. McEae and all look forward to some good records from them in the future.
