

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN PICTURES FOR GUARDIAN READERS

WHILE DAD DINES AT WHITE HOUSE JOSETTE DANCES

While her father attended a formal dinner at the White House, Mlle. Josette Laval, daughter of Premier Pierre Laval of France, was guest of honor at a dance at the French embassy at Washington on her first night spent in America. Here is Josette (RIGHT) with Reine Claudel, daughter of the French ambassador in their party dresses ready for the dance.

HIGH TIME BABY CHOOSES A CARRIER

Virginia Fox, actress, with her six weeks old baby, Darryllin. Virginia is the wife of Darryl Zanuck, everly Hills, motion picture producer and polo player.

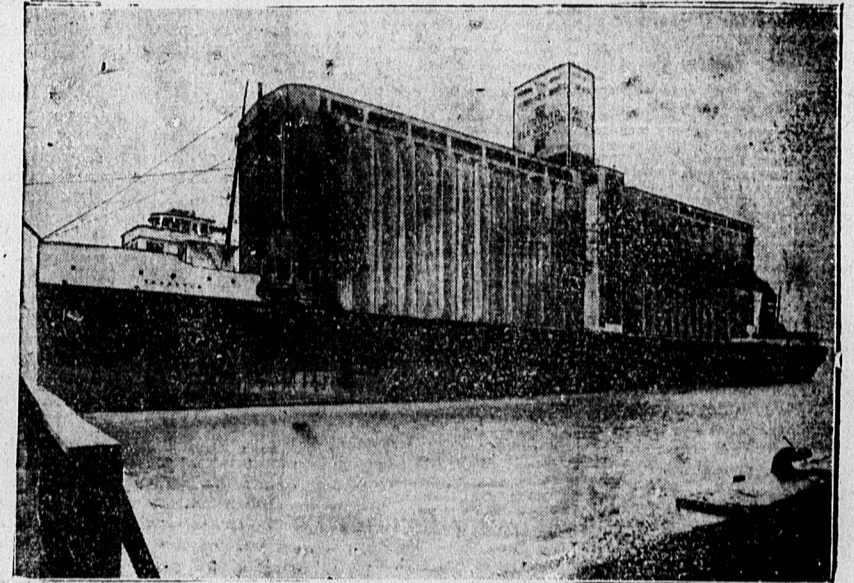

KINGSFORD-SMITH FORBIDDEN TO FLY BY DOCTORS

Here we see J. A. Mollison, flying record holder, wishing Kingsford-Smith farewell as the Australian prepared to leave for home, following his severe attack of sunstroke while attempting to break Mollison's record for the Australia-England flight. Doctors have warned Kingsford-Smith against making any flights for some time to come.

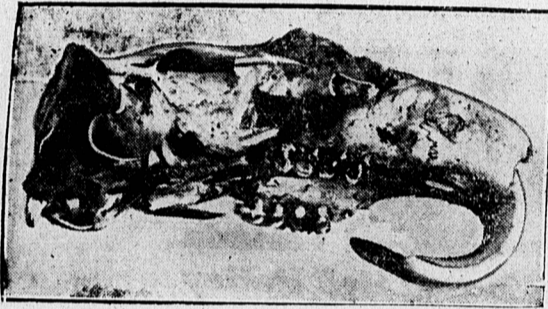

ROYAL TOXOPHILITE SOCIETY HOLD MEET

When things get really desperate, members of the Royal Toxophilite Society go out in Hyde Park and shoot off arrows. Here they are checking up on the damage—some of which is quite good.

HAS CAPACITY OF 340,000 BUSHELS OF GRAIN

This is the steamship Berryton, the largest vessel ever to enter Toronto, Ontario, harbor, seen as she was tied up at the grain elevators. The giant carrier, 480 feet long and of 340,000 bushel capacity, will be used in grain trade on the Great Lakes.

Drop a tear on a ground hog's grave. Unemployed men who went north on roadwork have found the skull of a ground hog which many, many years ago starved to death because its teeth grew too fast. Why the ground hog did not eat and thus wear down his teeth will never be known. It is suggested at the Ontario museum that he had a sore jaw. Maybe he was in a fight with another ground hog, and was hit hard enough to show he had a "glass" jaw. Failure of the rodent to use his teeth caused them to grow just like Jack's beanstalk and eventually the teeth in the top jaw curled back into the roof of the mouth, and the teeth in the lower jaw curled back toward the lower jaw. The poor ground hog could not close his mouth. As he sat in the family circle, other members of the clan clashed their jaws together with will and effort as they looked upon the starving ground hog who had not kept his teeth filed. In a land of promise, a land of plenty, he could eat no food. Filled only with anguish, he, who might have won wide renown and great fortune for himself had he not had a "glass" jaw, slunk away in shame and hunger to die in loneliness and despair, and with an empty stomach.

ENGLISH FOOTWEAR

Are you in a hurry? Do you find rubber boots, gaiters and hip waders cumbersome? Try these. They're zipper-equipped and guaranteed not to stall. As seen at London, England, fair.

COLLECTED BY SIR HUBERT WILKINS

Two polar bear cubs, recently placed on exhibition in national museum at Ottawa, were born on Banks Island far beyond the Arctic circle. When eight months old they were collected in 1914, by Geo. H. Wilkins, now Sir Hubert, then a member of Canadian Arctic expedition of 1913-1918.

"DAD" HALE AT 94

A couple of pipes, a cigar a day, and a feeling that he is falling for the cigarette craze, numbers "Dad" George Paget among the top-notchers in the nonagenarian class. He celebrates his 95th birthday Dec. 11 and is now living with his son near Ahmie Harbor on the Magnetawan river, Ontario.

"FRENCH HENRY FORD" AND WIFE VISIT AMERICA

M. and Mme. Andre Citroen of Paris, France, are visitors to America, M. Citroen, who is France's most famous automobile manufacturer, having crossed the ocean to attend the eighth conference of major industries. During the past week the visitors were entertained in Detroit, where they inspected the Ford motor plant.

SEEN AT LONDON, ENGLAND, DOG SHOW

Sure, it's alive! It's an old English sheep dog and the owner, Mrs. Keith Gibson, is arriving with it for the Crystal Palace, London, kennel club show.

VISITS ANCIENT NIJO PALACE AT KYOTO

Before leaving for China to conduct their flood relief surveys, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh flew from Kasumigaura naval air-drome, Ibaraki, Japan, to the Kitsugawa airport, Osaka, Japan. The Lindberghs are seen ABOVE leaving the ancient Nijo Palace, Kyoto, Japan, which they visited after arriving at Osaka.

FOR INFANT SON OF GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Gold cup presented by the King to his godson, Hon. George St. Lawrence Neufville Ponsonby, infant son of their excellencies, the governor-general of Canada and Countess Bessborough on the occasion of his christening. The present was conveyed to Rideau Hall by Major Eric MacKenzie, recently appointed comptroller of the household of the governor-general.—Canadian Government Photo.

END OF OTTAWA TO MEXICO FLIGHT

Major James Doolittle after his dawn-to-dusk flight from Ottawa to Mexico City, rubs his hands which are stiff from holding the stick. With him is Fred Cleveland, old friend of the flyer, now living in Mexico, who was one of the first to greet him upon arrival. Flight took 12 hours and 24 minutes.