WILL GO TO INDIA A SECOND NOAH

Denver Physician Sees The End of The World And Wants to Warn The Non-Christians.

New York, Nov. 29.—Immovable in the belief that he sees the signs of the millennium's approach, Dr. Herman C. Menkel is going to consider himself a second Noah. He says he will give up his Denver practice, acquire in seven years' residence here, and with his wife go to Hindustan. There he will warn the natives to mend their ways, and put their houses in order for the impending coming of Christ.

The latest prophet of the day of judgment is head of the Institute of Physiology and Therapeutics, Temple Court, with the winds of Ruth in her mouth, Mrs. Menkel, an ardent disciple of her zealous husband, is going to sacrifice her home and friends here, and accompany him to labor at his side. Many quotations from the Scrip are given by Mr. Menkel adduce to substantiate his convictions. In every condition, social, ethical, religious and political of today he reads the handwriting on the wall.

"I am fully convinced that the day of judgment is at hand," he says. "And I shall follow out the injunctions of the Lord as delivered through the Scriptures, to spread the message to every nation's tongue and people."

"The signs will be unmistakable, even to those who are not true believers. It is written in Matthew xxiv 29 30:30 Immediately after the tribulations of those days shall the sun be darkened and the moon shall not give her light and the stars shall fall from the heavens and the power of the heavens and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken."

"And then shall appear the sign of the Son of Man in heaven, and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn and they shall see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory."

"And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of the heavens to the other."

UNCERTAINTY IN WALKING

TOLD OF THE APPROACH OF LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA, BUT CURE WAS BROUGHT BY

Dr Chase's Nerve Food

What an object of pity is the victim of locomotor ataxia, as he strives in vain to control the action of his legs and makes an awkward effort to walk. Locomotor ataxia is only one of the many forms of paralysis to which neglected nervous diseases lead. Wisdom suggests treatment at the first signs of danger. Headache, sleeplessness, irritability, indigestion, trembling or twitching of the nerves and despondency are among the early symptoms. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, used at this early stage, soon restores vigor to the wasted nerves and builds up the whole system.

Mr. Victor Higgins, Windham Hill, Cumberland Co. N. S. writes: "My case was a peculiar one. It was one of those strange nervous diseases which are so difficult to describe. The doctor said that my nervous system was all run down. I experienced that uncertainty in walking which indicates the approach of paralysis and locomotor ataxia, and I now realize that I am greatly indebted to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the great good it has done me."

"I could not work, read or write or do anything regarding energy or the concentration of mind. Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I could not get an hour's sleep all night. My brain and nerves seemed to be all unsettled. I sleep well now and believe that my nervous system has been fully built up by this splendid medicine."

Mrs. Robert Bustard, Maxwell, York County, N. B. writes: "I can say that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food entirely cured me of what I believe was the beginning of locomotor ataxia or paralysis. My nerves were very bad, and at night, I could not sleep at all, nor could I control my arms or legs. They seemed to fairly jerk me out of the bed."

"For six months I was this way and cannot describe what I suffered, but now I am entirely cured, thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 10 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co. Toronto.

THE BEST OF ALL GIFTS

A Remembrance That Renews Itself Every Week in The Year.

And Causes The Recipient to be Informed Regarding All That's Best And Most Interesting to Talk About.

This is the time of year when the both-ornament question of a suitable Christmas gift comes up. That gift in valued most which best symbolizes the good-will of the giver. The difficulty is to find something that will fitly represent the spirit of the holiday season and also possess a lasting value. Especially is this difficult when the price must be moderate. Wherefore, when the day grows shorter and Christmas draws near, nearly all people who dwell in civilized communities are asking each other, and themselves that ever-perplexing question—What shall we give?

Here is one answer, which seems to meet many requirements. If the subject of your kind thought and reasonable solicitude is a man or woman of fair education, associating with intelligent people, there is no gift which would be more acceptable and of more lasting benefit than a year's subscription to The New York Times Saturday Review of Books.

The New York Times Saturday Review of Books is a weekly publication of sixteen pages or more, giving all the news of the world of literature and comprehensive reviews of the best books, many of them written by eminent specialists in various branches. Its many columns in short, are filled with entertaining and instructive discussions of the uppermost literary topics by the best writers of this country. Read what distinguished men have lately said of it.

James Lane Allen, author of "A Kentucky Cardinal" and "The Choir Invisible": "Both the brevity of The New York Times Saturday Review of Books and the freshness of its temper render it a vital force."

Bishop Potter: "The New York Times Saturday Review of Books is a guide to the best literature of the day."

Andrew Carnegie: "The New York Times Saturday Review of Books is of rare excellence."

Thomas Nelson Page, author of "The Old Virginia" and "Marse Chan": "The New York Times Saturday Review of Books has kept us in touch with everything in the literary world on both sides of the ocean, and has given us, for now ten years, sound and trustworthy reviews of nearly all books of any general interest."

Will N. Harben, author of "Pole Brier" and "Ann Boyd": "The New York Times Saturday Review of Books reviews are always good, thoughtful and just."

Madison Cawein, the Kentucky poet: "There is no other weekly review of books that could take The New York Times Saturday Review of Books place with me."

Owen Wister, author of "Lady Baltimore": "Any American who desires that good books should be written in our country must hold The New York Times Saturday Review of Books a welcome and valuable publication."

Winsor Churchill, author of "Cognition": "I have always read The New York Times Saturday Review of Books with great interest, and I have been impressed with the fact that any author's books have been reviewed in it by men who have the broadest sympathy with the author's aim and temperament."

James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier Poet: "The New York Times Saturday Review of Books has the esteem of all thinking readers."

It is a liberal education to read The New York Times Saturday Review of Books. It is sent to any address in the United States for $1 a year—less than 2 cents a copy—postage paid. Send $1 to The New York Times, with the name and address of your friend, and a beautiful Christmas Card will be sent to him or her with your compliments, and the information that you have made him or her a subscriber to the New York Times Saturday Review of Books for one year. It is a charming way to remember your friends and to make them remember you every week in the year. Remember that the whole cost is only $1. Address The New York Times, New York City. Upon request a sample copy will be sent free of charge.

WATCH FOR THE GUARDIAN MAN

He Will Continue His Weekly Rounds This Week Giving Orders for Goods.

He will have with him Four Envelopes containing orders for $10.00, $3.00, $3.00 and $1.50, respectively.

No. 1 Envelope will contain an order on the Jewelry Store of W. N. TANTON, for ($10.00) ten dollars worth of goods in his line.
