LLOYD GEORGE READY TO ACT LONDON, Nov 26—David Lloyd George is studying the speeches of Georges Clemenceau, and "if a reply is necessary," the Welshman plans to make it within a short time. Questioned about the friendly though sharp utterances of the former French premier in his speeches in the United States—remarks that criticized both Lloyd George and England for allegedly deserting the cause of France after the armistice—the war premier made the following reply in an interview with the United News:

"This is not the time to discuss the speeches of Clemenceau in making in America. In the first place, I wish to see more complete extracts of what he is saying than have been printed in London thus far." Then the Welshman explained to the interviewer his future line of action.

"I plan to write an article covering the entire question of Franco-American-British relations, coming into the matter fully within the next few days. Anything that Clemenceau said which, of course, he considered. If a reply to him is necessary I will make it then."

Mother and Her Baby Are Relieved of Eczema

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Salt Burn, Sask., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Reany Gay, who died in Charlottetown, Nov. 27th, 1919.

They waltz my joy and comfort,
On thee my heart was staid,
But, oh how I do miss thee,
No one but God can say.

When my days of life are over,
Foes cannot come between,
I'll join thee on the Golden shore,
And sons of Zion sing,
Inserted by his loving Mother.

Ford Starts War On Fuel Magnates

(Special to The Guardian.)
DETROIT, Nov. 26—Announcements here today that Henry Ford has practically closed a deal by the term of which he will acquire valuable coalfields in Kentucky adjacent to his private railroad, the Detroit, Toledo and Iron road, and will as soon as possible begin the shipping of coal to Michigan, which is to be sold at cost to consumers is regarded locally at least as the most Utopian of the millionaire wizard's many innovations. The mines cost Mr. Ford close to $20,000,000, it is stated.

Not content with this, however it is Ford's intention to double track his railway in order that he may be able to handle to better advantage the heavy traffic which is expected to develop.

This latest move by the automobile magnate is construed as constituting a challenge to the coal barons of the country who, Mr. Ford frequently has declared, are charging unfair prices. The Ford theory that "things are out of balance," when individuals are compelled to pay as high as $16.50 a ton for coal that costs at the mine but slightly over $3 a ton, taken here in a literal sense.

If Ford can sell coal at $5 or $6 a ton and "break even," why cannot others do it, is the view taken by the "man on the street." In any case, Mr. Ford, whether his plan proves successful or otherwise once more gets himself on page one in every newspaper in the country.

British Labour Denounces U. S. Union

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov 26—British labor is cutting in its denunciation of the American federations of labor because the latter refused to join the International Labor and Peace conference at the Hague next month. British headquarters issued this report. It is not only a refusal of the international secretariat of the International Trade Unions at Amsterdam, but it is also a refusal to cooperate with the British Labor party which naturally supported the invitation in trying to find the ways and means of preventing future wars.

WHO ARE THE KINGS? The Kings of men— who are the Kings? Who are the giants that bear along

This world to everlasting things? Who is the influence that deters? What else would be a ravaging den?— The dreamers the philosophers, And prophets, are the kings of men.

They are the kings, whose spirit force Is as the life-compelling sun; Pursuing their majestic course Alone, serene, in boundless mood, They soar on transcendental wings; True monarchs of the common good— Though poor as slaves, they are the kings.

They are the kings who lead the van In freedom's unremitting fight; Whose cross is of the woes of man, Whose creed is for the truth and right;— Who victorious win, nor wield a sword, Who heal, while ruffian tyrants slay; Who should be revered and adored, Who should be set on thrones, but they?

They are the kings who contemplate The splendors of the starry road Whose faith is in the ultimate God;— Whose wisdom is the breath of life;— Who fold the world within their arms, From whom the world's redemption springs; Whose crowns gleam with immortal charm;— Bow down to them! they are the kings!— Reddie Mallet, in "Poems from Beyond."

Exciting Games In Tournament

The fourth round of the Billiard Tournament at Lambros Bros' hall proved to be the most interesting and exciting of any yet played.

The first game, which was won by Frank Nicholson, was very closely contested, both players disputing the lead at the beginning of the game and although Steele played a good game he was unable to overtake his opponent.

In the second game, Steele was successful in getting a few points in front of Nicholson, and played today a very difficult to understand, with the result that the game ended in a win for Steele.

The third and deciding game of this round was a splendid exhibition of the greatest billiard game in the world. At the outset both players took advantage of every opportunity left them, and never missed an opening to score.

Nicholson led by a few points until about half way through the game, when Steele, by a beautiful piece of cue-work passed his opponent, and the spectators were at fever heat at this point. It appeared as if Steele would be a winner, when Nicholson settled down to a good break of 33 which brought him in a good lead. Not to be outdone, Steele ran off 23 points in a break, and again both players were very close together. Nicholson kept up his splendid work to the end of the game which resulted in a win for him.

Tonight the fifth round of the Tournament will be played, the contestants being James Johnson and C. Gregor.

Turks Refuse British Offer

(Special to The Guardian.)
PARIS, Nov 26—A Lausanne despatch to the Paris Herald says that overtures made by the British for surrender of their sovereignty in the Mosul district provided the Angora government ratifies the oil concessions in the Sykes Picot agreement have been flatly rejected by the Turks.

LAUSANNE, Nov 26—Richard Washburn Child, chief U. S. spokesman at the Near Eastern Conference at this morning's session reiterated the insistence of the United States upon the open door policy in Turkey.

Imposing Ceremonies In Caliphs Investiture

(Special to The Guardian.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov 26—Subdued festivities continue in the streets and suburbs of the city in celebration of the investiture of Abdul Majid as Caliph of Islam. Today, while French officers were present in full military attire there was not a single British or Italian uniform seen at the investiture.

Laxey Village I. O. M. Destroyed by Fire

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov. 26—Manxmen the world over will be sorry to learn that the pretty little village of Laxey, Isle of Man has been destroyed by fire.

The famous Laxey lead mines at this place which re-opened only three months ago after having been closed down for a prolonged period, employed practically the whole population of Laxey.

The vessel scudded some before a strong wind which increased to gale force. For a two-hour stretch, the skipper said, the Howard legged twenty-nine knots, and her average speed was more than eleven sea miles an hour.

The Howard was defeated by the Henry Ford in the elimination trials for the international fisherman's race this fall.

Celery demands a cool and moderately dry atmosphere for best storage. The roots should be covered with damp sand and the whole so arranged that the sand may be watered occasionally in order to keep the plants from wilting. Four bunches together may be placed upright in a row, with sand covering the roots, and a space a foot wide left between this and the next row. This space affords a suitable path for water to the plants as dampness on the foliage favours the development of rot. A good circulation of air is important in order to prevent dampness on the foliage. An earth floor is much better for celery storage than a cement one; consequently a cement floor should be covered to a greater depth with earth before putting these vegetables thereon.

A small patch of parsnips should be sown in the ground for spring use. These should be dug as soon as the frost is out and stored in a cool cellar with a covering of sawdust or sand.

Leeks may be stored in the same way as celery. A patch of this should be left also for spring use. It should be dug early and stored in a cool cellar in damp sand in the same manner as advised for storing celery in the fall.

SPORTS OUTFIT

A sweater coat of blue and gray checks about an inch wide has a band of plain blue about the edge of the coat and is worn with a plaid skirt of gray jersey cloth. A gray tam with a big blue pompadour completes a snappy outfit for sports wear.

HEALEY KNOCKS OUT LYMAN

(Special to The Guardian.)
HALIFAX, Nov. 26.—Nedder Healey scored his second straight victory in his professional career by knocking out Harry Lyman, of Moncton, in the eighth round of a ten round bout, at St. Patrick's Hall last evening before a packed house. Collin Kane and Jimmie Galvin fought a fast six round draw.

The weights were announced as Healey 140, Lyman 132. Both men came out of their corners fast in the first session and after a few seconds sizing up, Healey went after his man hitting him with several hard swings. Lyman took a good deal of punishment in the fighting but went to his corner equally as fresh as his rival.

In the second session Healey hit his opponent with everything but the ticket stubs. Lyman took a bad beating. Healey landing at will. Just a few seconds before the bell Lyman went down, but the bell rang before the referee had a chance to count. The song saved Lyman from a knockout.

Healey began where he left off, in the third round, "battering his rival all around the ring. Lyman was forced to do a lot of holding, but after two minutes of fighting he sent out a straight right from the shoulder which rocked Healey. The Halifax boy went right after his man again, but the ringing of the gong prevented him from avenging the blow. The fourth round was the slowest of the lot, both men being content with sparring and holding. Lyman forced Healey to miss several swings but Nedder was not worried and seemed to be resting up.

CONFERENCE ON SKATING MATTER

(Special to The Guardian.)
ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 26.—A conference between representatives of the Maritime Skating Association, assisted by the committee appointed from the Citizens' Committee, and the Y. M. C. I. spokesmen was held yesterday afternoon. Those present were Frank White, president of the M. A. S. A. and the following members of the committee—Lieut.-Col. Norman McLeod, W. Kenneth Haley and R. Douglas Paterson, while Humphrey Sheehan, D. J. Carr and C. Owens represented the Y. M. C. I. Discussion was full and frank, and the air was cleared considerably. Nothing definite is announced from the meeting, as those present prefer to let the results speak for themselves.

GENARO PUTS UP FORFEIT TO BIND VILLA CHALLENGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A forfeit of $2,500, binding a challenge by Frankie Genaro, New York flyweight, for a title match with Pancho Villa, the United States flyweight champion, was posted today with the New York State Athletic Commission. Genaro has boxed Villa twice before. They met in a no-decision bout in New Jersey and again at Ebbets' Field, Brooklyn, where Genaro gained the judges' decision in a bout before Villa became flyweight king by knocking out Johnny Buff.

ELIZABETH HOWARD MAKES RECORD RUN.

(Special to The Guardian.)
BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Veteran mariners discussed with animation today a new record of the fisherman Elizabeth Howard, made in her return here from Emerald Bank, off Nova Scotia. A total of 350 miles was covered in thirty one hours, Captain Albert Picco said, upon tying up his schooner at the Boston fish wharf yesterday.

The vessel scudded some before a strong wind which increased to gale force. For a two-hour stretch, the skipper said, the Howard legged twenty-nine knots, and her average speed was more than eleven sea miles an hour.

The Howard was defeated by the Henry Ford in the elimination trials for the international fisherman's race this fall.

Clemenceau Hits Back at Critics Will Go After Drury Govt. the Coming Session

(Special to The Guardian.)
BOSTON, Nov 26—The "Tiger" of France today lashed back at his Senate critics in an interview granted to the Associated Press, replying particularly to the criticisms of Senators Hitchcock and Borah. Clemenceau after noting that Senator Hitchcock had been defeated in the election and had only a few more days to serve, exclaimed: "Senator Hitchcock calls me a militarist. When he is free I dare him to go to France and learn the facts."

Answering Senator Hitchcock's demand that he explain why France insisted on using black troops in her army of occupation, the "Tiger" declared that Senator Hitchcock had been misled by German propaganda, and that today there was not a single black soldier in Germany. He demanded that Senator Borah's recent assertion that Clemenceau was primarily responsible for conditions in Europe because of his great influence in the drafting of the Versailles Treaty, the aged statesman declared his situation was "particularly distressing," since in France he had been most bitterly criticised "for having asked from Germans less than I ought to."

General and Seventy Men of Irish Irregulars Captured

(Special to The Guardian.)
DUBLIN, Nov 26—General Killy and seventy men of his irregular forces have been captured by General McKeown, of the Free State army, near Newport. The capture was due to an encircling movement by the national forces, which had been in progress in County Mayo during the past few days.

WHEN A COW LOSES HER APPETITE

For no known reason a cow at times suddenly stops eating and at the same time shrinks in her milk yield. Indigestion from some cause or another probably accounts for suspension of cud chewing and eating, but it is often impossible to assign the exact cause. At such times it is usual to give a cow a full dose of Epsom or Glycerin salts and the treatment sometimes succeeds; but we have had better results from the administration of two ounces of dilute acetic acid in half a pint of water night and morning for two or three days. At the same time it is well to withhold feed entirely for twenty-four hours, but to allow free access to salt and drinking water. In some cases it will be noted that muscular motions of the paunch have ceased. This is learned by placing the ear upon the flank on the left side. When this is noticed fluid extract of nuxvomica should be given in thirty-drop doses every three or four hours along with sixty drops of gentian root in a pint of flaxseed tea, instead of the acetic acid solution. Massage of the paunch on the left side of the cow will be of help in such cases. One or two ounces of glycerine and one quart of warm water given at intervals of two or three hours. Walking exercise also helps. After the withholding of feed for twenty-four hours whole oats may be the first feed offered and often is eaten in preference to anything else. In other cases green feed, tempts the appetite. In one case, for example, green rye and mangel leaves were taken with relish when other feeds were refused, and the cow soon regained her normal appetite. A. S. Alexander, V. S.
