They were in the midst of several score of seals, which have been unusually plentiful along the Cape Breton coast this winter.

When their position was noticed by people on the shore, a call was sent to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachment at Glace Bay, members of which rushed two dories to the scene on trucks. Neil Kelly and William McKinnon, of Glace Bay, launched one of the dories and set out over the scattered ice.

Alternately rowing across open stretches and pushing their craft over ice pans, they finally reached the nearest five youths, Raymond Burke, Dan McNeill, Neil J. McDonald, Stephen Boland and Henry Nicholson. A few moments before the arrival of the dory, Nicholson, who is 14, had come close to drowning when he slipped into the water. The others had pulled him back on to the ice.

With the five men aboard the dories, the rescuers found themselves, because of the heavy ice, unable to proceed any further and were compelled to return to shore. As they rowed back, they could see two groups of two persons each and another of three persons slowly drifting away.

Tonight, the Montclair was making her way to the scene but it was not thought that the steamer would be able to locate the seven boys in the darkness. Nor would she be able to land before morning at Flint Island to ascertain the meaning of the distress signals flying from the lonely lighthouse.

Rise In Price Of Hogs

The following are extracts from a circular letter issued by the Canadian Live Stock Co-operative Association of Quebec:

In his budget speech, Hon. E.N. Rhodes announces that the Government will establish a Stabilization Fund in connection with the pound sterling, designed to stimulate the export to the United Kingdom of certain farm and fishery products, including cattle, bacon and hams, poultry, fresh fish, canned fish, canned vegetables, tobacco, cheese, milk products, eggs and honey.

Generally speaking, the Government proposes to peg the pound at $4.00 paying to the exporters the difference between the actual day to day exchange value and that established level.

What does this proposed plan mean to the livestock producers? A probable further increase in livestock prices particularly cattle and hogs.

Producers—be careful. You may expect offers for hogs in the country that may seem high at first but are not so in view of what we expect this plan means.

Your shippers should not get rid of their unfinished stock thinking that the customary drop is to be expected in prices following sudden similar rises that we have had in the past.

They should not sell without getting all possible information concerning real market conditions. They should not too early believe the stories that will be told them by anxious buyers. Prudence is wisdom.

Tell your shippers, neighbors and friends about this at once. Let them have a chance to benefit by this special advice that we are sending to all our shippers.

Today's hog market is very active at $5.50, fed and watered, with a $1.00 premium on Selects. We expect light receipts and a higher market for next week.

BUGLARY—It was discovered Saturday morning that during the night previous burglars had visited the store of Mr. Alton Burke, situated in the east end of the "Market Building and goods to the value of about $25.00 were taken, principally cigars, cigarettes and tobacco. It is supposed the parties who made this break secreted themselves in the main building when it was locked for the day. Entrance was gained to Mr. Burke's section, which is partitioned off by glass, by carefully removing one of the large sashes, which was placed in a butcher's stall. The canned goods on the counter were neatly piled on the floor. The intruders evidently took it for granted they would not be disturbed, as everything points to the job being conducted methodically. An exit was easily made on the south side of the building.

VENDOR'S STORE BROKEN INTO; 3 ARRESTED

Three local youths were arrested by the City Police Saturday charged with breaking into the store of the retail liquor vendor on Great George Street early Saturday morning. The arrests were made in the afternoon when the accused on whom suspicion had fallen were taken to the Police Station for questioning. As a result statements implicating all three are alleged to have been obtained. The young men were arraigned before the stipendiary magistrate in the Police Court Saturday evening, and were remanded till Wednesday. They were released on $200 bail each.

A check-up on the stock in the vendor's store revealed that there were nine or ten bottles of assorted liquors missing.

Police believe that the store was entered about 4 o'clock in the morning. Shortly before that hour Officer Higgins and Special Officer Lawlor saw one of the accused standing at the corner of Kent and Great George Streets, and later entered the other two at the corner by Zion Church. Officer Higgins states that he recognized both at the time, although they were not attired in their usual clothing. As there had been a late dance Friday night the presence of the three young men on the street at that hour did not arouse suspicion, and not until the break was discovered did the police connect them with any extraordinary circumstance.

The appearance of the door after the break would indicate that holes were bored in the narrow panel under the lock, that an arm was inserted, and that the catch on the inside was pried off.

The break was discovered about 6.30 Saturday morning by tenants living above the store, and was immediately reported to the police.

TALKING TROUBLES OVER GREAT HELP

RHYL, Wales, Mar. 25.—(C. P.) —"If you have any difficulties talk them over with somebody, and you will be surprised how it will help you," said B. Wadsworth, presiding magistrate, at Rhyll, when Robert Ellis Hughes, a former member of the Rhyll Football Club, appeared on remand on a charge of attempting to commit suicide. His wife, on returning home one day, found him with his head in the gas oven.

It was stated that Hughes was worried about small debts and about having to draw unemployment pay. The case was dismissed and Magistrate Wadsworth said the Court would forgive the costs. Hughes thanked the Bench and expressed regret for his action.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning service which was broadcast by CHCK, the Rev. Dr. Vincent spoke on "Paul's Two Visions." Basing his thought on Acts 26, 13; 16, 9; 16, 25; the value of vision was recalled. The world material, intellectual, religious has been opened up to us by men of vision and without vision the people perish.

At Midday O King, I saw in the way a light from heaven," said St. Paul. Suddenly he had come face to face with Christ, the type of vision which changes men. Setting forth on his journey as an enemy of Jesus and his followers his vision makes him not only a friend but a mighty soldier of the cross.

"And a vision appeared to Paul in the night, . . . come over into Macedonia and help us." To him there came the vision of a needy world, with the challenge of his responsibility. Has it come to us?

"And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed and sang praises unto God." Men of vision get into trouble. He who with high courage answers the challenge "who follows in His train?" may expect that life will not be all easy, and so it was with Paul and Silas. With perfect trust and a spirit that admitted no defeat, they turned differently into triumph. Let us face difficulty as they did, with prayer and praise.

By request of the radio audience the choir sang "In the garden," with Mr. Dingwell taking the baritone solo, Mr. Quigley and Mr. Dinwell the duet. The anthem of the morning was Stainer's "What are these?" Sir John Bowring's "In the cross of Christ I glory" was sung as a congregational hymn in response to another radio request.

The large congregation in the evening heard with deep interest Dr. Vincent's final sermon of the series on prophecy "The practical value in the study of prophecy." The evening anthem was Prof. Fletcher's fine setting of "Crossing the bar."

A chorale "Tell me the old, old story," was movingly presented by the choir, with Mrs. Vincent taking the soprano solo, and Art Quigley the tenor. The flowers on the Communion table were in memory of Mrs. Charlotte S. Wellner, the gift of her daughters in Vancouver.

SACRED SONG SERVICE

The regular Y. M. C. A. service for students and young people was held in the Charlottetown Baptist Church last evening with Mr. John Carson, P. W. C. student, in the chair.

The special speaker for the meeting was ex-Principal R. H. Rogers, Court Prothonotary, who very capably dealt with the parable of the Talents.

The church was filled to capacity necessitating the use of the adjoining schoolroom to accommodate the large number of young people present.

The Baptist Choir gave a splendid rendition of the anthem "What are These that are Arrayed in White Robes" by Steiner.

The selecting and singing of several old Gospel Hymns was under the competent direction of Mrs. J. A. Lawson, who is to be complimented for her zeal and assistance in these services.

The students and young people extend their hearty thanks to all those who helped in this service, especially to Dr. Vincent, the members of the Baptist Choir and the organist, Mrs. Elliot Full, also to Mr. R. A. Pendleton of the Y. M. C. A.

These services are being conducted by students and young people of the various city churches, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. They are not meant to be a cheap form of entertainment, but are open to all young people who care to join in the cheerful yet reverential spirit of genuine christian worship.

Large numbers of young people are already enjoying the meeting but it is hoped that an even larger number will be in attendance at next Sunday evening's service, which will be held in St. Paul's Church at 8.30 p.m.

St. Dunstan's Basilica

The Masses were held at the usual hours at St. Dunstan's Basilica yesterday morning. At 11 o'clock the sermon was preached by Rev. Francis Lyons.

The subject of the evening sermon, preached by Father Lyons, was "The Blessed Eucharist." His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan was on the throne. He was assisted by Fr. Dougan and Fr. McGuigan. Rev. Chas. McCarthy gave the Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. The Corpus Christi Choir participated in the service.

Central Christian Church

"The Lord's Supper" was the subject of the morning sermon preached by the pastor at the Central Christian Church yesterday. The design and the time of observance of the institution was clearly indicated. The anthem, "O Holy Saviour, Friend Unseen," was sung by the choir. The Lord's Supper was observed as usual. The subject of the evening sermon was, "The Pillar and the Ground of Truth." The anthem was, "Sun of My Soul," with Mr. Leigh Dingwell singing the bass solo. Mr. Mason B. McKie also sang as a solo "The Stranger of Galilee."

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

The Canadian Girls in Training for womanhood in Canada were featured at the morning service. There are about 100 girls enrolled in the senior and intermediate departments of this church and these all attended the morning worship attired in the distinctive dress of their organization and sat together in the front seats between the two centre aisles. There was a large congregation. The choir sang Te Deum Laudamus after the opening prayer and also a selection from the new hymnary at the offertory. Rev. Dr. Ramsay preached the sermon taking as his text Psalm 144, verse 12, "That our daughters may be as corner stones polished after the similitude of a palace." He extended in the name of the congregation, greetings to the C. G. I. T. and bespoke for the girls the support, sympathy and co-operation of the people, especially the parents. He further eulogized the leaders and affirmed that never was a finer or more effective work being done than at the present time. The girls give their annual concert in Hearz Hall on Thursday night.

The attendance at Sunday School remains very steady. It was 503 yesterday, but although the attendance is very satisfactory it is noted that the collections have dropped below the average of last year which is no doubt owing to the depression, and that reminds me of a suggestion given to me when in New York, knock the De and the I out of "De-press-ion" and we have "Press on." May that be our motto looking toward the Easter season.

Dr. J. C. Houston is the new Treasurer of the M. and M. fund and he has adopted "the open door" policy. By this arrangement he is prepared to receive special contributions from members or friends at any time. Please do not delay in making either your regular or special gifts until the end of the year. Dr. Houston's books are open now. Sincere thanks are extended to all the good givers.

Rev. C. N. Brown delivered a most practical and thought inspiring sermon at the evening worship from the text "Where there is no vision the people perish," Prov. 29-18. He referred to the many alluring tendencies of the present day which are constantly luring people, especially young people, into wrong or mistaken paths and the wrecked lives around me today tell the story where the paths lead to. The one thing necessary is to have a vision, to get in touch with God.

The choir with 36 present rendered a splendid anthem and Mrs. Fred M. Nash with Mr. James Calder gave a duet "The King of love my shepherd is," which was much appreciated.

VICTIMS

Rose pointed out that while this was one of the major aviation accidents on the coast, its severity was due to the loss of life of those on the ground.

In the home of Joseph Jordan, next door to the Arisas, a dinner party was breaking-up as the ship plunged from the sky.

Mrs. Tony Tocher a visitor, was struck on the head by a falling timber as the house collapsed.

Flames and pieces of fuselage shot in all directions. The motor of the plane ripped loose and tore a hole through a tree in a neighboring orchard. Crowds gathered as skyrocketing flames illuminated the sparsely settled district, plunged into the darkness when the plane caromed through electric transmission wires as it fell.

All available fire fighting apparatus was sent from San Leandro and Hayward, but the firemen were helpless. There were no fire hydrants in the unincorporated district and chemicals proved almost unavailing. The single motored, low wing monoplane was enroute from Los Angeles, to the San Francisco Bay aerodrome at Alameda. Evans, the pilot, had hundreds of hours of army flying to his credit. His widow survives. Brown, a capitalist and builder, was enroute here to a business conference. Mrs. Brown, who was to have accompanied him, said she changed her mind at the last minute because she had a premonition of danger.

Decrease In Shipping

SAINT JOHN, N. B., March 26.—(C.P.)—Exports through the port of Saint John during the calendar year 1932 were 20 per cent. below those of the previous year, while imports were down about 10 per cent, according to the annual report of the Harbor Commissioners. The report comments that the decrease of exports was largely due to falling off of the grain trade but adds that this trade gave indication of a considerable increase in 1933. It states: "The continued decrease in shipping through the port, particularly the exports, can only be attributed to the general depression which is being experienced through out the world. "In addition to grain, the export decrease was particularly noticeable in automobile accessories and potatoes. In imports the decrease was noticeable in bananas, lumber and fuel oil.

On the same date an additional 10 per cent. reduction was made in the salaries of officers and employees in supervisory positions. The report confirmed a previous announcement that "the general situation and the result of the year's operations, preclude the possibility of any further distribution for the year 1932 to either preference or ordinary stockholders."

The last common dividend was paid in the spring of 1932 for the fourth quarter of 1931 while the preferred dividend was paid for the first six months of 1932.

C.P.R. Financial Statement

(Canadian Press) MONTREAL, March 26.—An additional reduction of 15 per cent in the salary of the President and in the fees of Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway was put into effect on October 1, 1932. It was shown today when the Company issued its 52nd annual financial statement. The reduction was in addition to a 10 per cent. cut applied to these officials and the majority of the payrolls in 1931.
