

PRINCE EDWARD TODAY
STRAND TOMORROW AND THURS.
Local Event in Movies
CORPUS CHRISTI PROCESSION

Complete in moving pictures. Excellent views of the procession enroute, the sacred ceremony at Notre Dame, the immense congregation in reverent attendance and the crowds that lined the streets. ALSO

"LAND OF HOPE AND GLORY"

Produced in England.
And First of New Series "COLLEGIANS"
Today—Mat. 16c—26. Tonight 16c 26c 37c.

AT ROTARY

Yesterday was an open day at Rotary consisting largely of short speeches by Rotarians who attended the District Conference at Halifax. The speakers were W. M. Rowe, Charles Thompson, Charles Chandler, Walter S. Grant and Percy W. Turner. They were unanimous in agreeing that the Halifax Conference was one of the best ever held in the Lord Nelson hotel and the addresses delivered by the various representatives were of a very inspiring and entertaining order. Over three hundred delegates were in attendance including twenty-five from Newfoundland.

Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, Chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee in introducing Doctor Acker of Halifax announced that the Doctor would be here for a week in connection with the Clinic work and as a result of Rotary activity twenty-five new cases of children who would receive treatment had been brought to light. Volunteers were called for to provide cars to meet the trains tomorrow and also to go to the country for patients. Dr. Acker then spoke briefly regarding his work and supported the invitation already received from Miss Wilson, asking all interested Rotarians to call at the Red Cross rooms tomorrow and become more conversant with the work. "Fifteen hundred Rotary Clubs," the Doctor said, "have for their major activity, the Crippled Children's welfare, and this being a part of your local activity we want you to know more about the work."

The President read a letter from Mrs. H. M. VanBuskirk acknowledging flowers sent to Halifax on the occasion of the death of her husband a former member of this club.

A ladies dinner and dance at the Beach Grove Inn on June 24th, has been suggested and with Jack Webster as Chairman of the committee it is expected that this will be arranged.

Mr. George R. Earle of Yarmouth, N. S., was a guest yesterday.

LYNDALE SCHOOL

Standing of Lyndale School for the month of May.

Grade X-1, Ella MacLeod.
Grade VIII-1, Reginald MacLeod.
Grade VII-1, Pearl Hicken; 2, Annie MacKenzie; 3, Wendell MacLeod; 4, Mable Bruce.
Grade V-1, Hector MacLeod; 2, Louise MacKenzie; 3, Atwood Bruce; 4, Florence Munroe.
Grade III-1, Marion MacLeod 2, Billy Hicken; 3, Vivian Wood.
Grade II-1, Ivan Wood.
Grade I-1, Catherine MacKenzie 2, Sterling Hackett; 3, Catherine Munroe.

Baby Pillow Forms KA POK FILLED

40c

This much wanted line is just in and ready for your inspection. The size is 12x16 inches and the covering is a fine stout white muslin.

DOWN FILLED ONES AT $1.00

Moore & McLeod Limited

CAPITOL TO-DAY

CRAIG'S WIFE

WITH IRENE RICH
AND WARNER BAXTER
ALSO CHARLIE CHASE COMEDY

He loved the woman who bore his name, but she thought more of her home than of him, yet he blindly endured her dominance until a wonderfully poignant story abrim with drama, thrill, emotion and deep heart appeal.

ALSO CHASE COMEDY

3 BIG THRILLERS
CAPITOL THURSDAY

LAST OF "Mystery Rider"

WHO IS THE MYSTERY RIDER? ALL EXPLAINED IN THIS LAST THRILLING CHAPTER.

KEN MAYNARD

IN A GREAT WESTERN
"CALIFORNIA MAIL"

"Craig's Wife"
Achieves Triumph At Capitol

THE ARTISTRY OF IRENE RICH, WARNER BAXTER, VIRGINIA BRADFORD AND OTHER PLAYERS IN CAST WINS PLAUDITS OF BIG AUDIENCE

Demonstrating their approval with round after round of applause at the conclusion of the picture, the audience at the Capitol Theatre gave a most enthusiastic reception of "Craig's Wife" yesterday. The packed house exhibited a keen interest throughout the showing, and the comedy met with appreciative laughter.

Irene Rich gave what will undoubtedly prove the most artistic characterization of her screen career as the beautiful, scheming, and, at times, pathetic Harriet Craig. In a role which is utterly at variance with her own character and personality, this splendid actress gave a performance which was smooth, finished and convincing.

Warner Baxter was well received as the henpecked Walter Craig, particularly in the final sequences, after his blind adoration of his wife had turned to indifference. Virginia Bradford acquitted herself charmingly as Mrs. Craig's youngest sister, in love with an impecunious professor. Ethel Wales was, as always, excellent in a strong character portrayal. Carroll Nye, Jane Keckley and Lilyan Tashman are others whose work in important roles was highly commendable.

The novel technical effects achieved by William de Mille, who directed and produced "Craig's Wife" for Pathé, was admirable. The photography by David Abel was excellent. The picture is well worth while.

In Memoriam

MRS. JOHN M. MCLEOD

On the morning of May 22nd, 1929 there passed peacefully away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John M. McLeod Mt. Hope, William James McLeod of (Red House) Bay Fortune after a lingering illness of seven years, in which he was never heard to complain. The late Mr. MacLeod was the eldest of the family of Ralph and (Annie Conoham) MacLeod was born in Fairhaven, Mass. on Oct. 30, 1850, and was therefore in the 79th year of his age. When quite young his parents returned to P. E. I. Theirs are left to mourn their loss. His widow, four sons and one daughter.

er. George Bracken, Bay Fortune, Joseph Newton, Belmont, Mass., William Herman, Winthrop, Mass., Robert Clinton, now of Cambridge, Mass., and Ida M. wife of John M. MacLeod Mt. Hope, also one brother John MacDonald of Fortune Bridge. The funeral was held Friday, May 24th. Service at the house was conducted by the Rev. Thomas Constable, of Dundas after which the remains were taken to Bay Fortune where service at the church and grave were conducted by the Rev. A. D. MacDonald, of Bay Fortune and Souris. The following acted as pall bearers.

Norman MacSwain, Richard Curran, Allen MacLeod, John MacGowan Angus MacDonald, John MacPhee.

MARIE ODILLE GAUTHIER

The dark shadow of sorrow descended upon the whole community, when it was announced on Thursday, May 9th that Marie Odille, the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gauthier of North Rustico and niece of Rev. P. C. Gauthier, was numbered with the dead. The sad parting of a dutiful daughter filled the cup of sorrow of an affectionate family to overflowing and wounded the hearts of dear ones to such an extent, that time will never relieve the pain. About a year ago, she was stricken down by sickness, which at that time was not considered to be of a serious nature. She was removed to the Charlottetown Hospital, where an operation was performed and after a sojourn of three months in that institution, was conveyed to her home, where she suffered greatly till the time of her death, but she bore it with patience which comes through trusting in Him, who doeth all things well. Deceased was of a kind and cheerful disposition and endeared herself to all those who made her acquaintance. It will not be necessary for her friends to read this notice of her death, to enable them to learn of her good qualities, for her daily actions while in this life testified clearly and convincingly, that she was endowed with all those marvellous and beautiful qualities which guided her in the paths of righteousness, in the midst of a wicked world. She was a bright and intelligent pupil while attending school, as the writer can testify, he having been at one time her teacher. She was always obedient and attentive to her duties as a pupil. She excelled in mathematics—a quality which is rarely found in girls—which proves that her judgment was far better than many of more mature years. She studied for Entrance to P. W. C. in 1926, but when writing her first paper, English, she had to abandon her task, owing to sickness and was not able to proceed with the remaining subjects. If this misfortune had not happened, she would probably have been successful.

PRINCE EDWARD TOMORROW AND THURSDAY

MATINEE DAILY AT 3.30

BUD FISHER'S LATEST EDITION

Mutt & Jeff

The Ever Welcome Favorites

A Chorus of Young and Beautiful Maidens

PRICES

MATINEES, Kiddies 26c. Adults 52c. Any Seat. NIGHTS, 52c, 80c, $1.10. SEATS NOW SELLING.

HOW THE RED CROSS HELPED

The twin boys shown in the above photographs taken before and after the operation which straightened their legs, are only two of the many handicapped children helped by the Red Cross Society.

For the past three years the Red Cross has organized clinics for crippled children at which Dr. T. B. Acker, the orthopedic specialist of Halifax, has made examinations and given consultations. In 1928 no less than 208 examinations were made, and many children were treated. This year's clinics as already announced, will be held in Charlottetown on Tuesday, June 11th, and in Summerside on Friday, June 14th, with Dr. Acker again in attendance.

PEAKE'S ROAD SCHOOL

(Honor Roll)

The following is the honor roll of the pupils of Peake's Road School for the month of April to date of May 10.

Grade VII (Sr.) 1 Helen E. Clark; 2 Mary J. Hughes, and Alvin R. McLeod.

AEROXON
With The Pin

The Honey Fly Catcher

You Must Do Your Bit in the war against the fly, carrier of germs and breeder of disease.

It is proven that AEROXON is one of the most convenient and most efficient means of combating this fly pest. It is convenient, because of the push-pin. It is hygienic; flies never get away when once caught. Each spiral gives three weeks' perfect service.

Beware of Imitations

Sold at drug, grocery and hardware stores.

La Cie C. O. Genest & Fils, Limited

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I.

SOLE AGENTS

Central Guardian

ONE MAN'S WIFE

Continued from page 2

HALF STAFF—The flag over the B. I. S. Hall was flying at half mast yesterday as a tribute to the memory of the late Peter McCourt, a member of the society.

POLICE COURT—There was a large docket at the police court yesterday morning, ten cases in all being dealt with. A man charged with being drunk while operating a motor car was given thirty days in jail. Five other drunks were each awarded a fine. Two speeders were similarly dealt with. Two motorists who failed to comply with the stop signals were also fined.

ENTERTAINED—Mrs. Henry M. Jenkins entertained delightfully at the tea hour on Wednesday, in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. H. Jenkins, wife of the member for Queen's, Prince Edward Island, who is her house guest at present. The tea table was centred with pink and mauve sweet peas, surrounded with tall mauve candles, while pink snapdragons and roses were used to decorate the rooms. Mrs. D. MacLaughlan presided at the tea table for the first hour and Mrs. R. Harvey the second hour. Mrs. R. A. Kembray cut the ices. Assisting in serving were Mrs. H. M. Giles, Mrs. Frank M. Stanford and Miss M. Jenkins.—Calgary Herald.

DEATH OF NOTED PREACHER—News has been received in this city of the sudden death in Indianapolis, Indiana, of Rev. James Mohorter, who was to have been one of the leading speakers at the all-Canada conference and Prince Edward Island Convention of the Churches of Christ, which is to meet in Charlottetown Wednesday morning. Mr. Mohorter suddenly passed away just on the eve of his departure for Prince Edward Island. Before attending the convention he had planned to spend a few days with Rev. W. H. Harding at his summer cottage in Coleman and Mr. Harding expected him last Wednesday evening, but on that date he received a wire of his sudden demise.

Innis, (equal) 2 Alton Crane and Russel H. Clarkin (equal)
Grade VII (Jr) 1 Carolina E. Grant and Pearl A. Hughes (equal) 2 Elmar J. Grant and Syprian T. Grant (equal)
Grade V. 1 Elizabeth Mae Crane, Gladys Fisher and Daniel W. McInnis. (equal) 2 Helen Gertrude Hughes 3 Edward Crane.
Grade IV. 1 Huggie Charles McDonald.
Grade III. 1 John W. Crane, James Crane and James A. McDonald, (equal) 2 James Francis Hughes, Mary M. McDonald and James M. McDonald (equal)
Grade II. 1 Mabel Anetta McInnis and J. H. McDonald (equal) 2 Bruce Martin Crane and Blanche Fisher. (equal)
Grade I (Sr) 1 Eileen Fisher and Harold J. Hughes (equal).
Grade I (Jr) 1 Lorne Peter McKay, and Lucille Grant, (equal) 2 Reta Marie McInnis, 3 Miriam McKay. (Patriot Please Copy)

CINEMA CLOSED FOR 5 YEARS BECAUSE MAN SAT WITH HIS WIFE

THE HAGUE, June 10—The whole of Holland is having a good laugh at the expense of the town of Rughpen in the province of Wrabant.

This town boasts a single cinema which is governed by municipal law, probably the most unique in the world's history of laws governing public places of amusement. The law decrees—on the grounds of public morality—that male and female patrons of the cinema must be rigorously separated, married or otherwise.

Recently the police paid a surprise visit and discovered a man sitting next to a woman, who turned out to be his wife. Notwithstanding this the authorities ordered the cinema closed for five years for violation of the law.

I AM FIFTY

Continued from page 4

come out of Pandora's box. It's not a question of an age limit. From cradle to grave the favorite slogan of every mother's son and daughter is always: "I know I used to be a dud, but I've leaped my mistakes. Here-after everything I tackle is going to go over big."

The fear of approaching old age? Having arrived at an age which seemed to me at 30 as forlorn as 81 does to me now, and perceiving that a change of tastes and desire have gone along with a change in age, I cannot help guessing that if I continue to yield myself naturally to the rhythm of the years, I shall find the inner time-table making as close and accurate connection for me then as now.

husband?" Mrs. Ogden asked when Yvonne's sobbing grew quieter.

"No, I must tell him myself. You are right. I must tell him soon—but it will be hard—for I have deceived him. I see now where it would have been far better for me to have been truthful from the first—to have told him I was lonely and must have occupation. It is too late now for that. But I will watch my chance. I will tell him soon."

"Perhaps you are wise," Mrs. Ogden agreed. "But I advise you to make an opportunity soon. You will suffer until you do."

Yvonne went through her dinner preparations in a daze that night. She longed to throw herself in Richard's arms and sob out her secret, now nearly a year old. She wanted to speak to him in his own tongue, to have him love her and admire her and be proud of her.

When was the best time to approach him? After dinner he sometimes relaxed and let her play to him. She would ask him to stay with her this evening, to let his work be forgotten for a few hours. Yes, she would tell him that very night.

She felt more cheerful when she had taken that decision. She tried to talk to him through dinner, making chatter about the food, about a new piece she was studying.

"Will you let me play it for you after dinner, Richard?" she asked coaxingly.

He nodded. "Yes I'll stay down a little, but it won't be for long. I'm in the thick of some things that won't wait to be finished."

Yvonne played for him and he listened as he had promised. Then she went and knelt by his chair resting her head against his arm. He stroked her hair absently.

"Richard," she began hesitantly. "Yes Yvonne."

"Do you never wish your wife was like other women, your own country women?"

"God forbid!" Richard spoke fervently. "There isn't a woman in this country who could be as faithful and patient as you, Yvonne. I know you are often lonely, and I have thought lately that when I am through with this particular work I have on hand, we would take a trip back to France. Would you like to go?"

Yvonne barely nodded her head. She forced herself to speak. "Sometimes," she said. "I long to be dressed like American women to speak your language, to be a wife who would be glad to take about with you."

"That is foolish nonsense, Yvonne. I am content with you as you are. Don't anger me by keeping such a foolish thought in your head."

"But suppose I disobeyed you?" Richard. Suppose I did learn your language, did learn to dress smartly, and to be like—like—well, like your friend Miss Lovelace? Would you be angry?"

"Angrier than I can tell you, Yvonne. I have your promise, given when we were married. I know you will keep it. And you must not think wicked thoughts about Miss Lovelace. I care nothing at all for her. I would not have you like her for all the world. Now we have talked long enough. I must get back to work. Dismiss this nonsense you have been talking. In a few weeks I will be ready for a holiday and we will go abroad together."

He rose, freeing his hand from hers, a slight frown on his face. He did not like to be disturbed by such ideas as Yvonne was expressing. They interfered with his work. He was quite content as he was. Still frowning slightly, he left the room.

Yvonne sank sobbing in a little heap by his chair. She had tried to tell him and failed. If what he said was right, then all that she had done was wrong. She lay sleepless a long time that night.

What was she to do? She could not, not unless all that she had accomplished during the last year. No evening is she wished to. And she knew that she did not wish to. She did not know quite how to express it, but it seemed wicked to her for her to give up her dancing.

"That is my gift from God," she told herself. But it was wicked too to disobey her husband.

Yvonne believes the way has been pointed out to her. She reaches her first real decision in tomorrow's installment. Do not miss it. Her trials are just beginning.

