Mr. W. McKenzie Makes Eloquent Appeal To Farmers

Mr. Walter MacKenzie, M.L.A., made a special appeal to the farmers of Prince Edward Island last night. Mr. MacKenzie was speaking on behalf of the Progressive Conservative Party. Here are highlights from his speech:

"Have you ever taken enough time out from your long hours of labor to ask why you have to work so hard and so long to secure a mere subsistance level? I am quite sure, if we are honest with ourselves and try to think the matter out to a logical conclusion, that we will be compelled to admit we are to blame for many of the present conditions under which we farmers continue to live. I have said: Many of the present conditions. But we also want to remember that we farmers cannot take all the blame for them, for farmers as a group have to depend on certain policies of the government. And if the government shows a lack of understanding for our problems, or enunciates policies detrimental to our interests, then there is nothing we can do to help ourselves. And this, we must admit has been the case in recent years, both in peacetime and in wartime.

Now let us see what we can do on June 11th to make absolutely sure we shall be voting for the party offering us farmers the best guarantees of security and prosperity. I have studied exhaustively the respective policies of all parties concerning us farmers. I have tried to discover how important they thought we were in the scheme of things, how prominently they thought we should figure in the economic set up of the country.... and I have come to the honest and inescapable conclusion that the hopes and the welfare of farmers can be best fulfilled and protected by a government headed by a farmer, a Progressive Conservative government under the Premiership of John Bracken, the man who has given the solemn promise that he would see to it, if we elect his party on June 11th, that we receive our proper share of the national income. And he has made that promise not only when he was addressing us farmers, but when he was speaking to other groups as well all over the country.

Unfair Restrictions

"And now, allow me to say something about what the present Liberal Government has done, or rather has not done, for us in this province. Who, among you, could forget the restrictions of the War-time Prices and Trade Board directly responsible for the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to our potato farmers during the winter and spring of 1944? While there was a splendid market for both seed and table stock potatoes in the United States, we were denied the privilege of supplying this market because of Government restrictions. We were refused permits to export to this market until the demand had ceased to exist.

"The ceiling prices established in January, providing for monthly increases in prices, after potatoes were all in winter storage, encouraged our farmers to hold for the higher spring ceiling prices. This, with our transportation difficulties, was entirely responsible for our tremendous loss. Compare this with the consideration given the farmers of the Prairie Provinces in providing substantial floor prices for wheat, a non perishable product, while ceiling prices were applied to the perishable potatoes against the farmers of Prince Edward Island.

"We do not complain about any consideration given our brother farmers of the Prairie Provinces. We believe it was due them, because they elected men to Parliament who did properly represent them while our Liberal representatives from this Province were absolutely neglectful in taking our defence and protecting our interests. We are reliably informed that for the year 1944 farm family incomes throughout the whole Dominion averaged approximately $1200.00 per year, but when we break these figures down by Provinces we find that in Prince Edward Island the average was less than $600.00. We also know that about 16% of that income in Western Canada was made up of Government bonuses, while in Prince Edward Island bonuses amounted to less than one per cent of that same farm income. In comparison with this, consider our contribution in men and money to the war effort and the way we have been neglected when it came to war contracts. No others than the Liberal representatives of our Province and the Mackenzie King Government can be held responsible for that gross injustice under which we have suffered so much.

"It is hard to understand that today they should have the sad courage of asking you and me to send them back to Ottawa. What for, may we ask? So that we can be further neglected and further discriminated against? Yes, my friends, it is truly time for a change. Vote, everyone of you, on June 11th. Think before you vote, and then vote Progressive Conservative, and elect Messrs. McLure, McLean, McPhee and Strong, the men behind John Bracken, the true and tried friend of farmers."

Progress Made In Preparing War Trials

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, May 30—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Eden said today "very great progress" had been made in arranging for trials of German war prisoners as a result of conversations with Justice Robert Jackson, special United States prosecutor.

Justice Jackson, after completing a preliminary two-day survey of the work of the war crimes commission here and talking with Allied officials on the continent, left for consultations in Washington. He said he hopes to return "in about two weeks with a sufficient staff to carry our share of the work involved."

The American representative emphasized that his talks with British officials had shown there was no "substantial difference of opinion" on procedure to be employed at the trials.

It was established definitely that Russia would not be represented at the three-day conference of the Allied War Crimes Commission meeting here tomorrow. The Soviet has a similar commission of its own.

Russia's absence was viewed as a threat to complete success of the conference.

Signs mounted that a meeting of the four major powers—Britain, France, Russia and the United States—would be necessary to avoid confusion and conflicts. Justice Jackson, just before leaving for Washington, said he hoped Russia and France soon would name their representatives to the prosecution panel.

Asked what would be done with Joyce and with John Amery, son of L. C. Amery, Secretary for India, Mr. Eden told Commons it was a matter for the whole government to decide. Amery also broadcast for the Nazis and now is in Allied hands.

FISHERMAN DISAPPEARS

AMHERST, N.S., May 30 — Lobster fishermen are conducting dragging operations along the Northumberland Strait coast for the body of Earl Pye, 20, who disappeared Tuesday while he and Clarence Monk were hauling traps in their lobster boat. Monk was in the bow and heard a faint splash and when he turned Pye was gone. It is thought Pye became tangled in the gear and was hauled overboard.

AN OPEN LETTER TO CANADIAN EMPLOYERS...

PUBLIC INFORMATIONAL ASSOCIATION

P.O. BOX 178 . . TORONTO, ONT.

On Election Day, Canadian voters will be called upon to decide not merely what party they want in office but whether to change our entire system of Government. The decision will be tremendously far reaching and will affect the destiny of this country for years . . . if not for generations.

Employers have the opportunity, if not the actual responsibility, of helping their employees to post themselves on this issue of "State Socialism" . . . so that their verdict at the polls will be based on knowledge and conviction, rather than prejudice or mere discontent.

Someone has said: "We greatly overestimate the knowledge of the masses, but greatly underestimate their intelligence." We assume that the people know what it is all about when they do not. Then we condemn them for their decisions, although we did nothing to help them reach their decisions intelligently. Surveys show that the people of Canada do NOT know what State Socialism stands for.

Here are some of the things which you, as an employer can do to stimulate their interest.

1. Assist employees to get the facts about State Socialism, so that they will appreciate just how . . . if it became our system of government . . . it would affect their own future.
2. Encourage discussion groups . . . distribute literature and bulletins as a basis for discussion.
3. Make sure employees are given sufficient time off to vote on Election Day and urge them to exercise their franchise.
4. Impress upon every individual that it is more important to know for WHAT they are voting than for WHOM.

The advocates of State Socialism are conducting an intensive campaign to influence voters. It is in your own interest as well as the interest of the country to make sure that your employees get both sides of the story BEFORE Election Day and then have every chance to vote ON Election Day.

B. A. TRESTRAIL,
National Director.
