SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BAPTISM AND TEMPTATION OF JESUS.
Matt. 3:13-17—4:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT.

"In that He himself hath suffered, being tempted, He is able to succour them that are tempted."—Heb. 2:18.

POINTED SUGGESTIONS.
By Rev D. W. Snider.

Jesus numbers Himself with the transgressors by submitting to, and, indeed, requesting a baptism that was a confession of sin, and which was unto repentance. As a mother shares the shame of her prodigal boy or wayward girl, though her personal conduct is above suspicion or reproach, so it would appear that the consciousness of the sins of men whom He came to redeem so shadowed the spirit of Jesus that He sought the baptism of cleansing which they needed while He consecrated Himself to fulfil all righteousness.

The humiliation of the manger-cradle, of which the babe Jesus was unconscious, while thus from the unstainable heaven He became manifest in the flesh, was a humiliation which was voluntarily taken when upon the threshold of His sacrificial ministry and borne with unwavering willingness until His death upon the Cross. He became poor.

But His humiliation into the place of the sinful was His exaltation. The Spirit descended upon Him and became in fullness His indwelling Guest, so that from the hour that the amazed John the Baptist granted the request of the Sinless One for a sinner's baptism, it was evident to all that the Man of Nazareth went about, even as He went into the wilderness, led by the Spirit. When the character is sealed and set in holiness it is pledged to victory. One day it shall be able to say: "I glorified Thee on the earth, having accomplished the work which Thou hast given me to do."

While that is so the devil does not seem to be aware of it. None are exempt from his strategic endeavors. He is prepared to try conclusions with Jesus. And it has to be confessed that the subtlety of man's adversary makes him a foe to be feared. The exhortation which warns men to beware of the wiles of the devil is made clarion and clamant by the woeful experience of thousands who have been snared and taken.

When Jesus was in solitude and when He hungered from long fasting as He pondered and prayed and prepared His soul to meet the problem of His Messiahship, the devil tempted Him. It was after the vigil and the fasting, and at the moment of the flesh weariness of Jesus, that he came. It was the time to strike if any time was vulnerable. He lay in waiting for this hour.

And he had three successive propositions to present of most plausible intent. They presented to Jesus certain methods of success. The devil did not seek to break down or divert the thought of Jesus from the mighty work for which He was born. On the other hand he suggested ways and means of a sure accomplishment. It is not often that a man's business or calling is at fault. The devil in him is seen in the way he goes about his business. The wily old foe does not care how many preachers there are or Sunday School teachers or scholars, so long as they will take pointers from him as to how to preach and teach and live.

But Jesus Christ cannot be led into any false or God-dishonoring or God-tempting methods. And He defeats the enemy of malicious suggestion by a definite appeal to the drill-book of conduct and character. He uses upon His foe the sword of the Spirit—the word of God. When the drill-book is known, the sword is found.

The devil left Jesus. And angels succoured Him. That was a splendid exchange. Where were the angels while the devil was in evidence? They do not harbor at the same port. The word of God is sufficient to make exit for the one and entrance for the other wherever in God's providence the lot of any man is cast.—Onward.

HOW A WOMAN CAN Build Up Her Health

This Open Letter From Mrs L. Hermann Will Be Interesting to All Women Readers.

The following letter, written from her prettily situated home in Ossining, on the banks of the Hudson, gives Mrs Hermann's experience with ill-health.

"I was never very strong.

"Thousands there are just like me, who have to pay double toll for every little extra effort or exertion. When the weather was fine, and I was able to get about, I enjoyed life and held my strength. But something always happened—a little too much done or some small sickness would put me back, and I would drop into the most miserable despondent state, unable to sleep or enjoy my meals. I decided to take the most nourishing and strengthening tonic made and was strongly urged to use 'Ferrozone.' After the first box I saw Ferrozone was doing me good, so I followed closely the Ferrozone Rules of Health,' and gained steadily. At first I didn't eat as well as I once did—I couldn't expect to. But there was a gradual improvement in my appetite, and this buoyed up my hopes, and convinced me Ferrozone was what I needed. It is less than a year since I commenced Ferrozone and already I am like a new woman. I eat more, sleep better, weigh more, am stronger, healthier, better looking than ever before."

No tonic has such a universal reputation for restoring health to girls and women—it's a woman's medicine that does good; try one or two Ferrozone Tablets with your meals—watch the result. Fifty cents a box, six for $2.50, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co, Kingston, Canada.
