"Gallant Sons" Opens At Capitol

Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville, Gene Reynolds and a group of clever youngsters mingle thrills and comedy into rapid-fire entertainment in "Gallant Sons," drama of a group of high school students who add amateur detective work to their curriculum. The new picture opens to-day at the Capitol Theatre. Directed by George Seitz, of "Judge Hardy Family" fame, and with Gail Patrick and Ian Hunter providing the adult romance, the story deals with two boys close friends though their fathers are enemies. One of the men is convicted of murder, so the two boys band together with their schoolmates to trail down the real killer and clear the mystery. Through a musical cue, and amid many narrow escapes, comical and otherwise, the youngsters get the details of the crime, reconstruct it in a school play, and trap the criminal into disclosing his guilt. A fight between Jackie and Gene, tense moments in hideouts, adventure in a night club, a dramatic courtroom sequence and a gambling raid, are among the highlights. Other juvenile players include Jure Preisser of "Strike Up the Band," Leo Gorcey of the Dead End Kids, William Tracy and Tommy Kelly.

Jean Arthur Starred In Film Fantasy Riot!

Working conditions motivate the tongue-in-cheek, hilarious plot of "The Devil and Miss Jones," delightful film-fantasy starring Jean Arthur and playing today and Tuesday at the Prince Edward Theatre

The lovely actress is cast as "Miss Jones," conscientious sales girl in a huge department store, while veteran actor Charles Coburn portrays a barking, dyspeptic old codger, reputed to be the richest man in the world and unwitting owner of the giant emporium.

Combining warm, human drama with its sparkling comedy, the story concerns the efforts of the wealthy tycoon to investigate conditions in his establishment by impersonating a shoe clerk. His association and reluctant friendship with the pretty saleslady, his gradual regeneration and his ultimate and uproarious activities when he actually helps carry the torch of battle against his own unjust management, make for delightful entertainment.

Robert Cummings nas the romantic lead opposite the star, while Edmund Gwenn, Spring Byington and S. Z. Sakall have other featured roles. Sam Wood of "Kitty Foyle" fame directed this Frank Ross-Norman Krasna production for RKO Radio, with its gay adventures taking place in many famous spots in and around New York City, and including a hectic Sunday afternoon at Coney Island.

Official Opening Of New Ferry Service Saturday

Pictured here is the car ferry "Prince Nova" which plies between Wood Islands, P.E.I., and Cariboo, N.S. The official opening of the service took place Saturday.

Official Opening Saturday Of Ferry Service Between Wood Islands & Cariboo

Lieut. Governor LePage, Premier MacMillian of Nova Scotia and other Speakers express conviction that new service spells beginning of closer Interprovincial Trade. Enjoyable function at Pictou Lodge.

The Wood Islands-Cariboo ferry service, operating now for some weeks, was formally opened on Saturday. Despite unprepossessing frowns from the the Weather Man, a large number of invited guests, including many ladies, motored to the ferry terminal at Wood Islands Saturday noon, and embarked on what they anticipated would be a fairly rough passage. On the contrary, the weather cleared; the trip was most enjoyable, and the arrival at Cariboo coincided with the first gleams of sunshine that Saturday afforded.

Driven to the nearby magnificent C.N.R. hostelry, Pictou Lodge, the guests found themselves very comfortably entertained. After a most enjoyable luncheon, they departed. The trip back to Wood Islands, though slightly rougher, was enjoyed by everybody.

The visitation was important not only as marking the inauguration of a new ferry service between two Provinces, but because of the prospects of increased interprovincial trade and of tourist traffic. These factors were strongly emphasized by the speakers at the luncheon at Pictou Lodge.

Prominent among those present were the Hon. B. W. LePage, Lieutenant Governor of Prince Edward Island, Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Premier of Nova Scotia and Mrs. MacMillan; Hon. J. P. McIntyre, representing the Premier of Prince Edward Island; Senator John A. MacDonald; Senator John E. Sinclair; Mr. J. Lester Douglas, M.P.; Mr. F. E. Bawden, director of Trade Routes and Steamship Subsidies, Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, Messrs. L.R. Allen, Summerside and Wm. N. MacDonald, Pictou, vice presidents of the Northumberland Ferries Ltd.; Hon. Horace Wright, President of the Executive Council of Prince Edward Island; Hon. H.H. Cox and Hon. John A. MacDonald, Mr. J. A. Morris, president of the Maritime Board of Trade, and representatives of several town councils and newspapers in Nova Scotia.

Mr. R. E. Mutch, president of the company, presided at the luncheon function. The speechmaking was enjoyably interspersed with vocal selections by Mr. Charles Earle and Miss Margaret Sterns, with Miss Lillian Earle as piano accompanist.

On the return trip refreshments were served, and further vocal selections were given by Mr. Earle, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the passengers.

Dedication Services Held In Churches

ST. JAMES' CHURCH

In accordance with proclamation Dedication Services were held in all the churches here yesterday. The Protestant Veterans, Legion, active military forces and trainees attended St. James Church where Rev. T. H. B. Somers, B.D. S.M.T., officiated and preached an appropriate sermon on the text: "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me, O Lord? Forever? Hoy long wilt Thou hide Thy face from me".—Psalm XIII.

God sees the end from the beginning while man sees only a fleeting and distorted picture of the great plan, the minister said, referring to the elusiveness of God as seen from the standpoint of mortals.

"We are but creatures of a day". Would man have flung mountainous barriers across the planet; or have decreed the thunder's roar or the lightning's flash; but at the same time "would we wish an always level earth, an always cloudless sky, a world bereft of terror and glory? We would remove all suffering; but how, then, could we keep patience, heroism and compassion? We could not have made death but would we covet an endless tale of human days? We would never have made a calvary; but, oh, if that cross were ever taken from the skyline of our life! So we ponder. Then we remember that we are the creatures of a day. We see God then, and know that we are held by Him, even when we cannot see—"

"We ask why God hides?", the minister continued. "But what would we wish for worship? That God shall paint His swastika on every landscape, drive His mammoth tanks down every meadow, bellow His orders from every sky, and require us to "heil" at every corner?"

"Hitlerism is hardly divine; it is an infantile and colossal depravity. On earth that friend is best who is lowly, whose very quietness testifies to reserve of character and who gradually reveals depths of insight for us to explore, who wins by loyalty, who does good by stealth. In Heaven also, such a friend is best."

And God seems to hide because only so can man grow. The preacher likened God to a parent who sends a child to school and then leaves him to make his own way. He contrasted that with what happens when an over-fond but unwise parents coddels a child and does his lessons for him.

Why does God hide? "Because our eyes are dim and cannot see—because he is lowly and is best revealed in that Christ who walked with men—to lure us on from partial truth and poor achievement until we find Him in a worthier earth and a purer worship"

ST. DUNSTAN'S BASILICA

The military forces were in attendance at St. Dunstan's Basilica yesterday morning and in accordance with a Royal proclamation the day of special dedication to National Service and sacrifice was observed. About 200 soldiers, including the members of the Canadian Legion were present with the regular congregation.

High Mass was celebrated by Rev. William Simpson and the sermon for the occasion was preached by Captain, the Rev. J. W. McCardle, chaplain.

In his sermon Father McCardle said, "We are living through the most crucial hour of darkness of all our history—an hour blackened by the foul iniquities of the dictators of totalitarian states."

Continuing he said, "The first need of the hour, therefore, is to maintain a spirit of supernatural optimism based on humble confidence in God. We must banish all defeatism, pessimism and sadness from our hearts and from our lips. Let us rather with gratitude within us for the British spirit, which we must make Canada's spirit, look forward confidently to the hour when the shadows shall flee away and the light of a new resurrection illuminate the world. It is this spirit which will develop our finest moral qualities and our great national power. It is this spirit which shall make us as one in the realization of the struggle in which we are involved; and in our high resolve to make all necessary sacrifice so that the struggle may be continued until the scourge of "isms" are removed from the world. This spirit will make our chief thought, our chief aim, be to bring all the resources physical, intellectual, and moral of our great country to the attainment of that end.

"For this gift of freedom, now threatened, we will fight on and on and never surrender until the princes of utter darkness are vanquished, and this priceless treasure of freedom is assured for our children and our children's children yet unborn," he added.

"Finally we need to bring religion back into our personal lives, into the lives of our children, into our schools, and into the public life of the nation. We boast that we are a Christian nation. That we are fighting for Christianity. We must, therefore, humbly beg the Divine help in this crucial test for our country and for our own souls," he said.

Addressing the soldiers present, Father McCardle said, "Men of His Majesty's Forces, you who fight for spiritual values should exemplify these values in your own lives by the daily worship of God in humble persevering prayer. Religion is summed up as the complete duty of a Christian to love God above all things and our fellow men for God's sake. Religion is the spirit of unselfish service and sacrifice. Patriotism is perfect when the soldier is fired with the love of the Heart of Christ. History attests that the spirit of prayer has revered the soldier with martial prowess and endowed him with super-human courage. Love God and keep His law. He best loves his country who best loves his God. He best serves his country who best serves his God. In the days that are to come for our country, in peace or in war, in every trial of our nation's life, our safest shield shall ever be, and our brighest hope of victory to know, that if God is with us no foe can prevail against us."

Large Church Parade held

About 500 soldiers and veterans took part in yesterday morning's large church parade in connection with the National Service of Dedication. Thousands of other persons joined the military forces at the services which were held in the churches.

The parade attracted much attention as the soldiers of this war, accompanied by their older comrades of the last Great War, marched through the city streets. Citizens lined the route of march to watch the soldiers go past. The entire parade presented a fine appearance and many favorable comments were heard about it.

Lt. Col. F. I. Andrew, M. M., Officer Commanding No. 62 Canadian Army Basic Training Centre, was in charge of the parade which moved off from the Armouries at 10.35 a. m. It consisted of: Members of the Charlottetown branch of the Canadian Legion in command of Capt. J. F. Leightizer; No 6 District Signals under command of Lt. Col. K. S. Rogers; The Veteran's Guard of Canada under command of Lieut. F. A. Grimmer, M. M., Members of No. 62 Canadian Army Basic Training Centre under command of Major A. S. Robertson. The Light Horse Band, under the command of Bandmaster Thomas McFarlane, and the West Kent School Band, under command of Bandmaster William Hine, were in attendance and provided stirring martial music along the route of march.

The parade proceeded up Kent Street to Great George where the Protestant party went north to Fitzroy Street and back to St. James Presbyterian Church. The Catholic Party under command of Lieut J. J. MacDonald, continued south on Great George to Grafton, thence to Market and Richmond to Great George Street and St. Dunstan's Basilica.

At St. James Church, Rev. T. H. B. Somers, B.D., S.T.M., conducted the worship and preached the sermon. At St. Dunstan's Basilica, High Mass was celebrated by Rev. William Simpson and the sermon was preached by Captain, the Rev. J. W. McCardle, Roman Catholic Chaplain.

For the return march, both parties met at the corner of Grafton and Prince Streets. The parade then proceeded up Grafton and the "Eyes Left" was given at the War Memorial on Queen Square, His Honour, Lieutenant Governor B. W. LePage took the salute as the parade passed the Bank of Montreal. He was accompanied by Aides, Lieut. K. Birtwistle of the Navy and Major J. R. Paton, D. O. C., representative and Mr. W. G Spencer, private secretary.

The parade then continued by way of Queen and Kent Streets back to the Armouries where the members of No. 62 C. A. B. T. C. were served dinner.

Pope Pius

The Pope said the "fierce intensity of the trial" would endure "only for a fixed time."

The Pontiff, who had announced his speech as a message to the world, singled out Rome and the "whole Italian people" for special blessing before imparting his benediction on all. He said he knew Rome would not "deny that faith which has made her the mistress of the world and majestic to nations where Christian culture obtains."

Men, the Pontiff said, "think of human events in relation to their approximate causes and immediate effect," while "God sees them in their remote causes and judges their remote effects."

"We know well the most serious difficulty for those who have not the correct sense of the Divine comes from seeing so many innocent victims involved in suffering by the same tempest which overwhelms sinners," the Pope said.

He then urged that people not merely accept sufferings with resignation, but to love them, to glory in them, as the Apostles Peter and Paul did in their martyrdom, which the Pope's speech commemorated.

"Through languishing of faith in men's hearts, through pleasure seeking that moulds and captivates their lives, men are driven to judge as evil and unmixed evil all physical mishaps of this earth," the Pontiff said.

OTTAWA, June 29—(CP)—Hon. J. G. Taggart, chairman of the Bacon Board, said in a statement tonight that "a 50 per cent reduction in their usual consumption of pork products including bacon and ham, by the people of Canada during the next three months will be sufficient to permit the desired increase in shipments of bacon to Britain being made."

Prominent

Two sisters, Mrs. Benjamin Arsenault and Mrs. William Doiron are in New Brunswick.

Mr. Arsenault studied law in the Saunders Law office, conducted by the present Mr. Justice A. C. Saunders of the Supreme Court bench in this Province. After he was called to the bar he entered the office of MacQuarrie and Arsenault, the latter being Mr. Justice A. E. Arsenault also of the Supreme Court bench in Prince Edward Island.

When both members of the MacQuarrie and Arsenault firm were called to the bench Mr. Adrien Arsenault took over their practice.

Mr. Arsenault first entered politics in 1922, when he was elected in a by-election in the third district of Prince. He was re-elected at the general elections of 1923, 1927 and 1931, and was a member of the Stewart Government from September 1923 till 1927 when the ministry resigned after being defeated at the polls. Elected again in 1931, Mr. Arsenault was sworn in as a member without portfolio in the second Stewart Government, and again (October, 1933) in the MacMillan administration.

Mr. Arsenault was a very effective speaker, both on the platform and in the Legislature. He was a voluminous reader, and had expert knowledge of federal and provincial political subjects. He spoke both French and English eloquently, and had a rare gift for telling humorous anecdotes. He scored many successes over political opponents by his ready wit and ability to think on his feet. More than that, Mr. Arsenault proved himself to be a staunch champion of his constituency and was held in high esteem by all sections of the community.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and of the C.M.B.A. and La Societe L'Assomption. He was leader of the male choir of St. Paul's Church, Summerside.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning from St. Paul's Church.
