Crawford, March In Delightful Comedy At Prince Edward

The new dramatic promise which Joan Crawford evidenced in "The Women" reaches a surprising culmination in "Susan and God," production of the RKO-Crescent Broadway hit which has become an ever greater screen success. The film, co-starring Fredric March and Fredric March, is the season's strongest supporting cast, showing at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Another surprise of the film is the performance of the youngster, Rita Quigley, who makes her screen debut as Blossom, the lonely, unwanted daughter of Susan and March, who makes Blossom the most sympathetic character in the script. Warm and understanding is Ruth Hussey's Charlotte, the family friend in love with Bruce Cabot, the young actress, Lenora, married to the pompous and much older Huggins (Nigel Bruce) but retaining it for the sake of the young actor, Clyde Ruckstein (John Carroll). Also deserving of singling out for the conviction of their performance are Rose Hobart as Irene, hostess at the Long Island house party where much of the action of the piece takes place; Bruce Cabot as her lover, Mike O'Hara and Constance Collier as Lady Wigsell, leader of the new movement.

Showing also for same two days is a re-imagined short entitled "Jerusalem."

Bodies Taken From Ruins Of Powder Plant

KENVIL, N. J., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Seven buried and mangled bodies were dug from the ruins of the explosion-wrecked Hercules Powder Plant today, bringing to 41 the number of known dead. Each shift of about 50 men each worked at the plant as usual during the day. They were set to work digging for more bodies. At nearby Dover General Hospital doctors and nurses still worked at top-speed to save the lives of 85 burned and mangled men. The people found some small reason to be thankful in a report furnished by William C. Hunt, in charge of the company's explosives department. He disclosed that 6,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, buried near one of the buildings that blew up, had not been detonated.

Housewife Teas Buy New Planes To Foil Hitler

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—There is apparently nothing Britons won't do to keep money flowing into the many "Spitfire funds" that have sprung up to buy fighter planes for the Royal Air Force. Here are some of the things they have done: A woman in Northern Ireland presented 20 goats to the organizers of one fund. They were sold at auction and brought nearly £50 ($225.50). Other gifts included a gander, a pedigree Ayrshire cow, a greyhound and a donkey.

Based largely on shilling contributions, the fund reached £30,000 ($1,335,000) in 11 days—enough to buy a plane for each of the counties in Northern Ireland. An entire squadron now is to be raised.

Business Contributes

The proprietor of a fish and chip restaurant gave to the Hendon fund the whole of his midday takings for one week. Shopkeepers in one area are giving the profits on the sale of a shilling necklace, the jigsaw puzzle. A prize bulldog called Spitfire was sold in behalf of another fund.

SUE WAS A WARM-WEATHER OFFENDER

It wasn't the first time Sue had noticed that men shied away from that everybody has to perspire to live—and warm, sticky weather greatly increases the amount of perspiration. "Weather Offender." We all perspire from a pint to three pints daily. This sweat left on the body, under the arms, around the waist, goes stale—decomposes. Then YOU have "B.O."

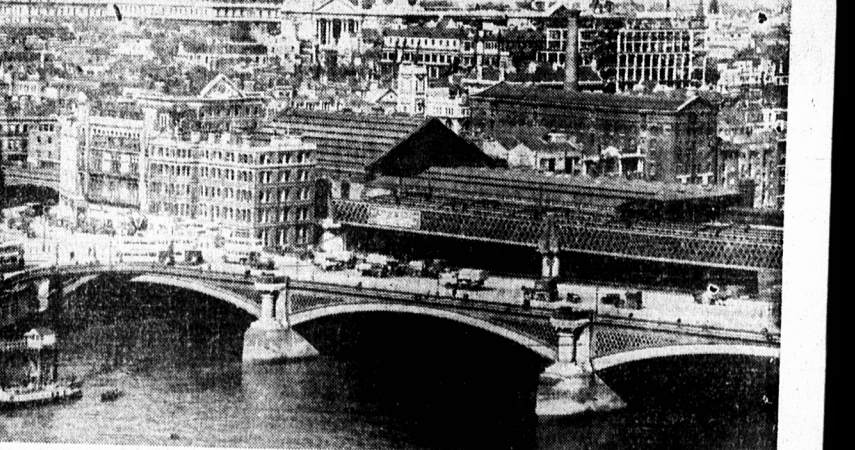

LIFEBUOY IN YOUR DAILY BATH Stops "B.O."

Federation of Hosiery Manufacturers' Associations announced a national fund in connection with the industry and within 24 hours the Hinckley Hosiery Manufacturers' Association raised $500 ($2,250). Within 36 hours of a meeting of members of the Wholesale Fashion Trades Association more than $3,000 ($22,250) was raised—enough for one plane and something towards a second.

Endangered

St. Paul's cathedral, the "parish church of the British Empire," stood in danger of destruction Sept. 12, with a German delayed-explosion bomb buried in a street beside its narrow churchyard. The area was roped off by air raid wardens. Additional fears were felt for the famous London landmark because it is built on wet sand. If German bombs dam the springs which keep the sand wet foundations might be undermined. In the foreground of this picture is Blackfriars bridge, with the cathedral dome in background.

On 20 acres of grassland on the English coast—side a pyramid of twisted metal is mounting rapidly skyward. It is a funeral pile of Luftwaffe ambition—the jumping place to which from all over the country R.A.F. lorries bring the broken, bullet-ridden remains of German aircraft, shot down by British fighters and anti-aircraft guns.
