Stacpole, London manager of the Hudson's Bay Co. These gentlemen arrived in Quebec Monday evening at 10 o'clock, having been passengers on the Empress of Britain with delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference. country represented.

Along with these delegations have come another army of newspapermen, and it is a moot point whether the press representatives are less numerous than the official delegates. To a group of nearly sixty of them, Mr. Baldwin and Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas gave a mass interview this afternoon; and interviews are the order of the day.

Distinguished statesmen find themselves button-holed by small but enthusiastic parties of reporters, and deliver to the news-seekers halting, but extremely non-committal statements on things in general. They are all approachable—but this is only their first day in the Canadian Capital.

With the arrival of the really big men, the lesser lights, who had their day before the delegates came, have sunk into the background. Already they have begun to work, have sought out and conferred with the departmental officials concerned, and have prepared reports ready for presentation to their principals.

The British, South Africans, Indians and Rhodesians reached Ottawa this forenoon, while the Australians and New Zealanders, coming from a different direction, arrived early in the afternoon. The Irish Free Staters were already here, having reached the Capital on Saturday night.

Arrangements for the comfort and entertainment of the distinguished guests are progressing smoothly, and when things gradually shake down these arrangements will operate with the charm of well prepared machinery.

Tomorrow the delegations will put the finishing touches on their preparations, for the conference opens on Thursday with due ceremonial and color.

neighbor but the Minister died in a few minutes. He had suffered from angina pectoris for some years and the doctor declared excitement, caused by haste in his departmure for his summer home caused a stroke.

Born at Pownal, Prince Edward Island, February 17, 1866, Mr. Smith came West in 1883. He first taught school at Oak Point, Alta., later going to Camrose where he started farming.

In 1912 he entered Alberta political life and captured the Camrose seat for the United Farmers when that party took over the reins of Government in Alberta. He succeeded in winning the seat in every election following, maintaining his farm at the same time.

Crop Report

OTTAWA, July 19—(By The Canadian Press)—Nearly all Western Canada's wheat crop is in head and in the earliest districts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, filling and ripening are under way. Wheat cutting is due to start about the first of August, states a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today.

Still greater variation in Western crop prospects became evident during the past week, says the report. The lack of reserve moisture has led to some burning of early wheat, in the recent absence of effective rainfall, mainly in southern and central Saskatchewan, southern Alberta and the Peace River district. There was a notable improvement in conditions in southern Manitoba, and generally optimistic reports came from most of northern Saskatchewan and the entire central region of Alberta.

Believed to have been burning from 10 to 15 years, a fire has just been discovered under a hospital at Stoke-on-Trent, England.

BALDWIN

"I am extremely pleased that this conference has been called in Ottawa," proceeded Mr. Baldwin. "Many conferences had been held in the past, but never one approaching this in importance. To begin with, Great Britain had never had such a free hand to negotiate as that given her now by the British people. Secondly no conference had ever taken place at a time when conditions were so serious throughout the world. The opportunity and responsibility were very great, and he felt, Mr. Baldwin said that the opportunity and responsibility of the press was very great.

"I dread to think what failure would mean to the Empire," continued Mr. Baldwin. He also dreaded to think what effect failure of the conference would have on nations speaking other languages than that of Great Britain.

The spirit of the conference should be the spirit of a first class cricket eleven: "We don't care who makes runs as long as the side scores well. This is our spirit."

The British delegation was proud to sit and deliberate under the presidency of Prime Minister Bennett, Mr. Baldwin said. He believed that the Prime Minister of Canada was well qualified to conduct such a conference.

Mr. Thomas declared that he felt he had a special responsibility in respect to this conference, because, it must be recalled that it was an adjourned conference and he had been present at the first part. The very fact that he was present indicated a determination to make the conference a success. The condition of the world was not only economic it was psychological, Mr. Thomas continued. Depression had become prevalent in the minds of some people, and the "down and out spirit" was manifested by them.

"We were never in that crowd," interjected Mr. Baldwin.

"I was about to say with the exception of you and I," said Mr. Thomas with a smile.

If the conference could be made a success, the down and out spirit would have been killed, he continued. It ought to be a tremendous encouragement to the Canadian people to know that conditions in Canada were infinitely better than those in Great Britain. There the people had borne much heavier burdens cheerfully, and revealed a sound spirit.

would have majority support has failed, and the Government for several weeks has remained in the hands of the resigned Cabinet headed by Otto Braun.

The Federal Government has been under insistent pressure from the followers of Hitler and his ally, Dr. Alfred Hugenberg. At the same time, with the new German elections scheduled for July 31, when Hitler expects his growing successes to be crowned by a majority in the Reichstag itself, there have been bloody political clashes throughout the state. The Prussian Government has been in conflict with the Federal Government and the situation generally is considered intolerable by Chancellor Von Papen and the Federal Minister of the Interior, Baron Wilhelm Von Garl.

The Commissioner will serve until a regular government can be constituted for Prussia. His appointment will mean the removal of the present Prussian Cabinet. With the aid of the various state bureaus, he alone will govern Prussia's 38,000,000 inhabitants.

MARSEILLES, Ill., July 19—Four men were believed killed and more than a dozen wounded in a gun fight between workers on the Marseilles dam on the Illinois River and a delegation of union leaders today.

MINISTER

OTTAWA, July 19—(By The Canadian Press)—In connection with the resignation today of Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman of the Board of the Canadian National Railways, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, made this announcement:

"It is true that Sir Henry Thornton has resigned his position as chairman of the Canadian National Railways. In a letter written to me as Minister of Railways he says:

"In my opinion a publicly owned railway can only be successfully directed if the management has the complete confidence of the owners of the property. The public criticism to which I have referred indicates that such confidence is, at least, not general, and in this period of financial depression, and, in view of the further fact that a royal commission is investigating the whole railway situation of the country, I feel that I should tender my resignation."

Both the board of directors and the Government have accepted the resignation of Sir Henry.

"Until a successor is appointed we expect the vice-president in charge of operation and construction, Mr. S. J. Hungerford, to carry on as acting President.

"Mr. Hungerford has been the operating head of the Canadian National Railways since its consolidation in 1923, and was assistant vice-president of the Canadian National Railways at Toronto as far back as 1919. As he has spent his life in railway work and has the confidence of the officers and men, his being appointed acting president will be, we are sure, generally acceptable. He will have the same power and authority as the president to operate and administer the Canadian National Railways in their interest and in the interest of the people of Canada, without political or other interference of any kind. The Government in this are taking the same attitude as that which we have taken since coming into power.

"Mr. Hungerford is one of the outstanding railway men of this continent, and we hope the rank and file of the Canadian National Railways will continue to show to him and the railway that same loyalty and cooperation which they have shown in the years during which they have been employed, knowing that in this way they can best serve the railway organization of which they are a part. No one doubts or has questioned their fine efforts to serve the Canadian National in difficult times as well as in good times and I can assure them that they are no more anxious for its success than is the Government. Therefore as Minister of Railways I urge of them to give of their very best to assist Mr. Hungerford and his officers to carry the Canadian National back to that success which it deserves. In this effort Mr. Hungerford, his official staff, and the rank and file of the employees will continue to be assisted in every way possible by myself and the Government."

Sorry To Learn of Resignation

OTTAWA, July 19.— (Canadian Press)—In a statement issued tonight, Rt. Hon. MacKenzie King, Liberal leader said he was very sorry to learn of the resignation of Sir Henry Thornton as President of the Canadian National Railways, and greatly deplored the circumstances, whatever they might be, which had occasioned his resignation.

Mr. King added "I hesitate to express any opinion as to Sir Henry's resignation until I have fuller information than that which is contained in the anouncement by Sir Henry and the statement of the Minister of Railways and Canals. Very much can be read between the lines of both communications, and until I have a more detailed knowledge of the facts, than can be gathered from these communications, I think it advisable to refrain from making any immediate comment."

TOURIST

The party then visited St. Dunstan's Basilica, St. Peter's Cathedral the Public Library, inspected samples of Island handicraft at the Tourist Bureau, drove through Victoria Park thence to the Experimental Farm. The party spent the night at Beach Grove Inn.

In welcoming the teachers to the Province, Hon. Dr. MacMillan stated that the visit was of particular interest to him as a former teacher himself. He expressed the hope that the group would have an enjoyable visit and reminded the teachers that the Chamber in which they were sitting was historical ground, the room in which the Fathers of Confederation first met in 1864.

In extending a welcome on behalf of the City, His Worship Mayor Stewart remarked that the statement made by Joseph Howe regarding the different colonies of British North America, "We don't know you and you don't know us," is no longer true. Better means of communication have made the Dominion one great social unit. The visiting teachers were missionaries to enable the people of Ontario to become better acquainted with the people of the Maritimes. Their mission, His Worship stated, was a worthy one. In his remarks Hon. G. Shelton Sharp, Minister of Agriculture, gave some interesting historical data. The Legislative Assembly of Prince Edward Island is the second oldest in the Dominion. Due to the smallness of the Province in size and the nature of its industries, the natural increase in population go abroad to find homes. Hence Prince Edward Island is represented all over Canada.

Mr. H.H. Shaw, Chief Supt., of Education extended the official welcome of the Department of Education, and expressed his pleasure in meeting representatives of the teaching profession from other provinces. Islanders are hospitable and do most things for people as they should, except for their school teachers. Relatively, however, the depression has not affected the teachers of this Province, to the extent which it has in other provinces. The speaker in conclusion expressed the hope that the teachers would have an enjoyable visit and that they would gather much information that would be valuable to them. Mr. R. V. Earl on behalf of the teachers replied, expressing thanks for the welcome extended.

Mr. H. R. Stewart, Deputy Provincial Secretary, gave a brief historical sketch, and explained the details of the tablet in the Confederation Chamber.

This morning the party will proceed to Cavendish where they will visit Green Gables, and take a plunge in the surf, thence to Summerside for lunch at the Clifton House. After visiting points of interest the visitors will leave for Borden to cross to the mainland at four o'clock.

The teachers, who have already toured Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, express themselves delighted with the hospitality everywhere extended to them. "In the Maritimes we have discovered a beneficent triangle — scenery, weather, people." was the unanimous verdict.

Thornton May Return To U. S.

(Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, July 19—The New York Herald Tribune says Sir Henry Thornton, retiring President of the Canadian National Railways, is being considered for the post of commissioner of the association of western railway executives.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, is quoted as saying that Sir Henry's name along with others has been under consideration by the board but no decision has been made. The Association will meet shortly in Chicago to select its commissioner and Sir Henry's status will be threshed out at that time. He has not been tendered a formal offer and his attitude is not known.

The western group represents among others the Atchison, Burlington, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago and Great Western and Milwaukee roads.

Sir Henry is a native of Indiana and got his first experience in railroading with the Pennsylvania line. He was general superintendent of the Long Island Railroad for a time and later was general manager of the Great Eastern Railroad in England, where he made his reputation.
