ELKO PAPER PLANT

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—The contract for the first unit of the $13,000,000 pulp and paper plant at Elko, B. C., has been awarded to McDougall & McNeill, contractors of Vancouver and Calgary, according to word received by Alexander McDougall from his father, A. C. McDougall, senior member of the firm, today. The plant is to be erected for the Wigwam Pulp & Paper Company and is financed by prominent Canadian and American newspapers.

The first unit will have a capacity of 100 tons daily and will cost about $3,500,000, while the remaining two units, to be commenced just as soon as the first unit is in operation, will bring the total expenditures to $13,000,000.

WIRELESS ON TRAINS

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Interesting experiments have been carried out during the last few days on the Paris-Orleans Railroad by wireless engineers in the receiving of wireless communications. A receiving post having been rigged up in which the electric light installation on the car is used as an antenna they were able, while near Limoges, to intercept messages from Greenwich and later from the new French station at St. Assize. The result is declared to be very satisfactory and engineers state that by means of a special antenna attached to the roof of a car it will be possible to receive wireless telephone messages without difficulty.

The two Minute Trotter

By W. H. GOCHER

Peter Manning's mile in 1.59% was the outstanding feature at what was in all probability, the last race meeting over the Hudson River Driving Park at Poughkeepsie. It was the champion's first appearance in 1922 and while he had worked a mile in 1.59% at Cleveland few expected to see him beat two minutes over the sandy course.

The fractional time of the mile shows that Peter Manning trotted the last half in fifty-nine seconds. This in itself is an indication that the Azoff gelding is on his way to reduce the world's record of 1.57% which was made at Lexington last October.

Within a month or six weeks the race followers may have the pleasure of seeing Peter Manning reel off a mile in which the four quarters will average twenty-nine seconds. This would place the world's record at 1.56, three quarters of a second below the unpaired record for pacers which Directum I made in 1915.

Peter Manning will make his next trip against the watch at Hartford. On the second day of the Connecticut Fair he will be started to equal or reduce the New England trotting record of two minutes which is held jointly by himself and Lou Dillon. With a good day and track Peter Manning should go faster than he did at Poughkeepsie. Miles below two minutes by the trotters are very rare. To date there has been but twenty of them placed in the records. They were made by seven horses. The list was started in 1903 by Lou Dillon and Major Delmar. Each of them trotted one behind a pacemaker. The time for Lou Dillon was 1.58% and for Major Delmar 1.59%. Seven years elapsed before another mile below even time was recorded. It was made by Uhlman at Cleveland in 1910. He trotted in 1.58%. In 1912 the fleet footed son of Bingen cut his mark to 1.58. Three more miles below even time were trotted the following year by Uhlman. They made his score six.

In 1916 Lee Axworthy crossed the Rubicon of the turf. He was also the first stallion to appear in the two minute list. After trotting in two minutes at Syracuse he was taken to Lexington where he reduced the stallion record to 1.57%. He also trotted three other miles that year below even time. One of them being over the new track at Atlanta.

Peter Manning made his appearance in the two minute list last year. After trotting in two minutes at Readville in August he equalled Uhlman's record at Syracuse. Two more miles below two minutes were recorded at Columbus before he made a new world's record of 1.57% at Lexington. Another mile in 1.59% was recorded at Atlanta. This with the trip in 1.59% at Poughkeepsie gives Peter Manning six miles below two minutes. The tie with Uhlman should be broken at Charter Oak Park over which Uhlman pulled a wagon in 2.01% in 1910.

Nedda is the seventh member of the two minute list of trotters. She made her record of 1.59% at Toledo a few weeks ago and will start to reduce it at Syracuse next week. She will together with Arion Guy and Peter Manning be at Charter Oak Park during the Connecticut Fair and will receive her final preparation during the week.

Rain cut the Poughkeepsie meeting to two days. Only eight of the fourteen races programmed were decided. Of that number Murphy won three with Hope Frisco, Bill Sharen and Margaret Dillon, and Nat Ray two with Robert Direct and Peter the Brewer. Of the other events Fred Edman landed one with the two year old filly Brandywine in 2.11%. Grozier one with his Indiana trotter Wesley R. and McDonald one with King Watts with which he defeated the Great Volo, Legal J., Princess Etawah and Herbelwyn. Murphy's showing jumped the number of his winning mounts for the season to seventeen, within three of Cox and Erskine who at the close of the Poughkeepsie meeting were tied at the top of the list, each of them having won twenty races this season.

Island Pastor Honored

PORT ELGIN, Sept. 1.—It is understood here, that the resignation of the Rev. Parmenas McLeod, (a native of Georgetown, P. E. I.) Pastor of the Presbyterian Church Circuit, which includes with Port Elgin, Shemogue and Tidnish Bridge, is in the hands of the Presbytery.

The news is a distinct grief to the host of friends, both of his own and sister churches, who esteem him, both as a man and a faithful preacher of the gospel. Never in its previous history, was the Presbyterian church in this locality, enriched by such large and earnest congregations, as were drawn to the services by the powerful influence of his pulpit utterances.

That he is something new in the line of our local preachers will not be denied. In the pulpit, he is his Master's Ambassador, and that alone. Logical, scholarly, eloquent, he is a fearless advocate of aggressive and Christianly, and the example and truth of the gospel, as he finds it in the Book, gives him the energy and bold courage, to "tear down the idols that the chips fall where they may. This may not please everybody, but he cares not to preach, to please the fads, and fancies and whims, of a worldly idea of Christianity. He gives the straight truth even though opposition may greet him, as a consequence. He has written Truth, across his banner and, will fall beneath its folds, if need be; but he will never lower the Standard, which teaches the true Fatherhood of God, and equally true brotherhood of man, as a doctrine of Christianity.

Others have preceded them in the same pulpit, all good men, whose memory is cherished. They were content with the ordinary utterances of the pulpit and preached the Gospel as best they could. Just as the Apostles were chosen, good, and true, and yet had among them men of greater and lesser note; none of them reaching the heights of eloquence attained by Paul, so, today in the Christian Church "there are degrees of glory," which may elevate some to more distinction than others. We have it here for never in the history of Port Elgin pulpits have they been occupied by an abler, more conscientious, and more eloquent minister, than the present occupant of our Presbyterian pulpit. He is the peer of them all!

His friends of all churches, most earnestly hope that he will stay with us, if he feels determined to not stay, and feels it his duty to leave, we earnestly hope, that he may find another flock, worthy of him, able to value him for what he really is, and esteem him as a shepherd, who will ever lead them in the right direction. His going away from us would be a distinct loss to both people and church in this locality. His teaching and presence anywhere, is a benediction.

REMAINS OF ROMAN THEATRE UNCOVERED

ROME, Sept. 2.—Recent excavations at Civita Lavina, known to the ancients as Lanuvium, have brought to light the remains of a most exquisite Roman theatre. The excavations initiated by Pope Gregory XVI, yielded a statue of the Emperor Claudius, which adorns the Vatican museum, but were abandoned, no serious attempt being made until the present time to continue them.

Lanuvium is one of the most ancient Latin towns, being mentioned in history as waging war against the Roman Republic 500 B. C. Later Lanuvium became the birthplace of the Emperor Antoninus Pius, while the Emperors Marcus Aurelius and Commodus lived there, the latter in fact having given proof of his presence as a gladiator in the very theatre which is now being unearthed.

On the ancient walls of the town may be seen the massive iron ring where legend says Aeneas tied his ship when he landed in Italy from Troy.

The theatre is one of the largest and most perfect hitherto found. Its diameter is more than 160 feet, being only a few feet short of the theatre at Pompeii.

Lanuvium was also renowned for its temple to the goddess Juno Sophia, and many medals and coins have been found bearing her effigy. The goddess is represented as wearing a goat's skin over her head in the guise of a helmet, with a spear in her hand, a small shield on her left arm and wearing a special kind of footwear with the points turned up. On the coins also appeared a figure of a serpent, reminding one that history mentions that near the temple a serpent was kept and fed with fruits and chestnuts by Virginians.

WOMEN IN "CAGES"

Fifty-one private letters of Dr. E. Barthez, physician to the prince imperial, have been translated by Bernard Miall to form "The Empress Eugenie and Her Circle." A letter from Barritz (1856) describes the empress personally and discusses the fabulous amplitude of the dresses she wore.

"All this stuff is supported by a sort of skeleton of flexible iron. The empress is greatly attached to this cage, which to us seems very ungraceful and inconvenient. She sticks to it in spite of the quips of the emperor, to whom she I know nothing of this effect, simply replies that she does not know how she lived so many years without a cage."

see why this taste—false in itself—has nevertheless a certain justness in its application."
