OTTAWA, July 25 — (CP)—In a parting message to members about to leave for their homes, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said Saturday in the House of Commons that the tide of war was "definitely turned" in favor of the United Nations.

"Everywhere the forces of freedom have the initiative," said Mr. King.

He contrasted the adjournment of the House a year ago when the United Nations had experienced only eight months of reverses, when the North American continent was threatened from the west and on the east the enemy U-boats "ranged destructively along our coast and into the Gulf and River St. Lawrence."

invaded the harbors of Naples, and Milazzo and Messina in Sicily, where they destroyed at least three small ships and hit at least five other small ships and boats.

The enthusiasm of the Italian reception of the American army in the west exceeded anything yet encountered, dispatches from Sicily said.

Cheering crowds pelted Gen. Patton with flowers as he entered an unidentified "large city," it was said. A similar reception had been met at Palermo.

110,000 Prisoners

The 50,000 prisoners in American hands represented an increase of 10,000 over previous figures. The total taken by the Allies thus far was expected to mount to 110,000 when all have been counted.

A number of natural barriers bolstered the Axis position in the northeastern tip.

At Catania the 8th army faced the toughest of them. German troops were entrenched solidly behind the confluence of three rivers and a cluster of 10 airfields at Gerbini where hundreds of German 88-Millimetre anti-aircraft guns, now used as field artillery, have converted these positions into box-like strongholds. The terrain was heavily mined.

Time To Spray For Apple Maggot

The first spray to control apple maggot should be applied on or about July 27th, and the second about August 10th. Use 1 lb. arsenate of lead to 40 gallons of water; or, if you cannot obtain arsenate of lead, use 3-4 lb. arsenate of lime and 3-4 lb. hydrated lime to 40 gallons of water.

Do not confuse the apple maggot, which makes small tunnels inside the fruit, with the codling moth larvae, which makes large worm holes on the outside of the apple.

Any further particulars regarding insect control can be obtained from F. M. Cannon, Officer-in-charge, Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Charlottetown.

Learns Husband Is Killed In Flying Accident

Mrs. Elmer Shultz of Tyne Valley was informed Saturday that her husband, Flt. Sgt. Elmer Shultz, had been killed in a flying accident in Saskatchewan. He was serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force and had been stationed at Defee, Sask.

Mrs. Shultz was formerly Miss Myrtle Ramsay of Tyne Valley. Her husband was from Hubbard, Sask.

Mrs. Shultz left Sunday for Saskatchewan by plane.

She met her husband when he was stationed at No. 9 Service Flying Training School when it was located at the Summerside Airport. —S

New Pay Scales For Women In R.C.A.F.

TTAWA, July 25—(CP)—New pay scales for members of the R. C. A. F. Women's Division were announced Saturday a short time after Defence Minister Ralston had informed the House of Commons that pay for women in the forces would be raised to 80 per cent of men's pay from the present 66 2-3 per cent.

An aircraftwoman, second class—a new recruit—now will make $1.05 instead of 90 cents a day, or $15.75 rather than $13.50 on each bi-monthly pay.

When she passes her first trade test and enters "C" group, lowest of the three steps she must climb to complete proficency in her trade she receives 25 cents a day in trade pay. This is advanced another 25 cents in group "b" and another 25 cents in group "a" when she will be making basic pay plus 75 cents a day. Up to nowk she would have made basic pay plus 50 cents a day.

This is how the new pay scale affects various ranks:

Rank	Basic Pay Old	Basic Pay New	Group "C" Old	Group "C" New	Group "B" Old	Group "B" New	Group "A" Old	Group "A" New
Under Officer Class I	2.80	3.35	3.00	3.60	3.15	3.85	3.30	4.10
Under Officer Class II	2.10	2.50	2.25	2.75	2.40	3.00	2.60	3.25
Flight Sergeant	1.70	2.00	1.85	2.25	2.00	2.50	2.20	2.75
Sergeant	1.50	1.75	1.65	2.00	1.80	2.25	2.00	2.50
Corporal	1.15	1.35	1.30	1.60	1.50	1.85	1.65	2.10
Leading Aircraftwomen	1.00	1.20	1.20	1.45	1.35	1.70	1.50	1.95
Aircraftwoman Class I	.95	1.10	1.10	1.35	1.30	1.60	1.45	1.85

Soviets Threaten To Trap Nazis At Orel

Escape Corridor is Being Narrowed Steadily.

LONDON, July 25 — (CP) — The great Russian counter-offensive battering upon Orel from three directions engulfed 30 more populated places and swept forward 5½ miles today, Moscow announced in a special communique, and encirclement of the great Nazi air base appeared only a matter of time.

Red army columns driving down behind Orel have cut to within seven miles or so the Bryansk railway feeding supplies and reinforcements into the stronghold.

The Russians are steadily narrowing the 50-mile escape corridor held open by the half-encircled Germans, for another Soviet column is pushing up from the south to the west of the city.

The fresh Soviet gains followed an announcement Saturday by Premier Joseph Stalin that Germany's abortive summer offensive was smashed completely with a loss of 70,000 of the 500,000 men the Nazis had hurled against the Red Army beginning July 5.

House Of Commons Adjourns Until Jan. 27

OTTAWA, July 24—(CP)—The House of Commons came to the end of a long trail Saturday night when the final batch of estimates was approved and the business of a session which lasted six months was completed.

The vigorous debate that marked the session continued to the end, with money reform and old-age pensions legislation under discussion for most of the final day.

The House stands adjourned until Jan. 27. Adjournment came at 10:43 P.M., E.D.T. (11:43 P.M. A.D.T.)

New democracy members who support Social Credit policies, and Arthur Slaght (Lib. Parry Sound) and G.G. McGeer (Lib. Vancouver Burrard) advocated changes in the government financial policies to make greater use of the nation's credit.

Finance Minister Ilsley replied that he belived the existing financial policies in the best interests of the nation. Borrowings from the chartered banks by the Dominion often were at a rate of less than one per cent.

"The reason we borrow from the chartered baks instead of from the Bank of Canada, except to a very limited degree, is—as I have said on several occasions—that borrowing from the Bank of Canada is many times as inflationary as borrowing from the chartered banks," he said.

Increase Grant For Blind, Old Age Pensions

OTTAWA, July 25 —(CP)— A "special war supplement" not to exceed $5 a month for old-age and blind pensioners, of particular benefit to those with little or no outside income, was announced Saturday in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Ilsley.

The payments will be shared by the Dominion and Provinces on the same basis they now share old-age pension costs—75 per cent and 25 per cent, respectively.

At present old-age pensioners, under the agreement between Dominion and Provinces, receive a maximum of $20 a month or $240 a year, and are allowed an outside income of $125 a year without reduction of the pension maximum. Any excess of outside income over $125 a year is deducted from the pension.

The present ceiling for combined pension and income—$365 a year—will be retained. Thus the new maximum of $25 a month of $360 a year will be reduced by the amount of outside income received in excess of $65 a year.

Blind pensioners are allowed a higher outside income maximum—$440 a year for single persons and $640 for married persons or widows or widowers with children.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

The closing services of Rev. Dr. Miller's ministry in Charlottetown were held yesterday. Dr. Miller preached at both diets of public worship. His morning sermon was based on the text "I am determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ and him crucified"— an earnest plea to make Christ central in preaching, worship and life.

Dr. Miller took occasion at the close of his discourse to thank the congregation for their loyal and devoted cooperation, and to bespeak for his successor the fullest measure of support.

The following message from the four assistant ministers who had worked with Dr. Miller in Trinity was read:—

Rev. Hugh Miller, D.D.
Dear Dr. Miller,

On the occasion of your closing Sunday in the pastorate of Trinity after nine years of worthy service we should like to convey to you and through you to the congregation our very best wishes and kindest remembrances. We pray God's richest blessing may rest upon you and upon Trinity in the coming years.

Yours Sincerely,
J. W. Barbour,
A. E. McKenzie,
L. M. Murray,
D. C. Boothroyd.

The evening sermon was the parable of the Sower, and the accompanying words "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear".

The special music at the morning service consisted of an anthem by the choir "Just As I Am" by Bowles and a vocal solo rendered by Miss Sally Wood, "O Lord, Thou Hast Searched Me Out" by Sterndale Bennett.

In the evening Mr. Stan. Beard, R.A.F., sang "Star of God" by Cooke and the choir gave the anthem, "Summer Suns Are Glowing" by Samuel Smith.

career that began with the Fascist march on Rome, in 1922. The international and domestic standing of Mussolini, however, has steadily deteriorated since he led his country into war in the summer of 1940.

Mussolini was conferring with Hitler last Monday when the huge American air attack was delivered on rail and airport installations at Rome.

"The ranks must be closed around his Majesty, the King Emperor, living image of the fatherland and example for us all.

"The communication which I have received is clear and concise. It will be scrupulously executed, and whoever imagines he can interrupt the normal development or who seeks to trouble public order will be struck without mercy.

"Long live Italy. Long live the King."

No Comment From Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Word of the resignation of the Fascist Premier Mussolini brought no immediate comment from the White House today but military quarters quickly raised question marks over Italy's future contribution to the Axis war against the United Nations.

The army and navy command officially was silent. But in other Washington quarters there was mention of President Roosevelt's recent reference to the invasion of Italy as possibly the beginning of the end of the war against the Axis.

An immediate re-appraisal of the war in the light of the retirement of the leader of Fascism in Italy was indicated.

Marshall Pietro Badoglio is considered in military circles here as the greatest professional soldier in modern Italian history. However, he has been opposed to the Mussolini regime and is understood to have objected to Italy's entrance into the war. His professional skill brought his appointment early in the war to a high post, but he was removed by Mussolini, many months ago.

Wholesale Prices

OTTAWA, July 26 —(CP)— The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Saturday that its wholesale price index advanced 3-10ths of a point to 99.5 in June with principal strength noted among vegetable products which rose 9-10th of a point to 91.3.

Price increases for lemons, bananas, wheat, barley, rye, Ontario wheat, flour onions and potatoes overbalanced lower quotations for oranges and hay, the Bureau said.

Many Pay Final Respects To Father Smith

A large congregation many of whom were unable to gain admittance were present at St. Malachi's Church on Saturday morning to pay their last respects to the late Rev. M. J. Smith, beloved pastor of Kinkora parish.

The remains had been moved to the church on Friday evening and lay in state in the sanctuary until ten o'clock Saturday morning when pontifical high mass of requiem was celebrated by His Excellency Most Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, Bishop of Charlottetown. The sermon was delivered by Rt. Rev. Msgr. G. J. MacLellan, V.G., of Summerside. He traced Father Smith's truly remarkable scholastic career and paid tribute to the work of his ministry among the people of Kinkora. Msgr. MacLellan concluded by reminding the congregation of their duty to pray for their departed pastor. Those assisting at the Mass were: High Priest, Rev. F. McQuaid; Deacons of Honor, Rev. R. Johnston, S. J. and Rev. W. J. McGuigan, CssR.; Deacon of the Mass, Rev. J. W. McCardle; Sub Deacon, Rev. W. A. Keefe; Master of Ceremonies, Rev. G. V. McCabe; Assistant, Rev. L. McKenna; Thurifer, Rev. L. Ayres; Acolytes, Revs. T. P. Butler and E. Robin. Assisting on the Sanctuary were Rt. Rev. G. J. McLellan, V.G., Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. McDonald, Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. A. Murphy and Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. A. McAuley.

The following priests were present: Revs. B. Gillis, A. L. Herrell, J. C. McDonald, W. V. McDonald, W. E. Monaghan, A. L. Sinnott, R. V. Mackenzie, M. J. Rooney, P. Wood, G. P. Monaghan, P. The priest pallbearers were: Revs. M. Monaghan, O. Kiggins, T. Campbell, J. A. Gaudet, R. St. John, D. P. Croken. Honorary pallbearers: Dr. J. D. McGuigan, Dr. J. A. Johnston, Dr. J. Sweeney, Judge C. Gavin Duffy, Judge St. Clair Trainor, P. J. Smith, J. J. Trainor, V. McQuaid. Active pallbearers: J. P. Landry, Truro, Grand President C. M. B. A., J. E. Dalton, Summerside Past State Deputy Knights of Columbus, Peter D. McIvor, Aden Mulligan, Eugene Smith, John Shreenan.

The members of the Summerside Council Knights of Columbus and the Summerside and Kinkora branches of the C.M.B.A., were present in a body. The Summerside choir was in attendance.—S

Famous Artist Is Missing

ST. LOUIS, July 25 —(AP)—Mrs. Robert Barclay said Saturday she was informed her stepson, Lt. Cmdr. McClelland Barclay, famous artist, was missing in action. He lived in St. Louis as a boy.

She said she had received a telegram from Hamilton Barclay, brother of the artist, saying that as next of kin he had been notified by the United States Navy Department that his brother is missing.

The date and place were not given but Barclay has been in Australia and New Guinea making paintings and sketches for a permanent historical record of the war.

I'VE SAID GOODBYE TO CLOTHES THAT LOOK
HALF-WASHED

FOR BRIGHTEST WASHES
—without hard rubbing!

● JUST USE SUNLIGHT! Simply put a touch of this remarkable soap wherever the dirt or grease is "toughest." Right away Sunlight spreads a film of soap over the dirt. Then see what happens no matter how you wash the clothes! Without any hard rubbing, the most soiled cuffs, hems, edges come bright as new! And so delightfully sweet-smelling, too.

If anyone in the family is doing defense work, then you simply must use Sunlight. Quickly and easily it gets grimiest work clothes spotlessly clean. Yet Sunlight is safe for your colors.

FINE FOR HOUSEKEEPING. Use Sunlight for clean-up jobs all over the house. See how easily woodwork, tiles, tubs and linoleum come spotlessly clean!

Steinbeck Says Bob Hope Rates Recognition For Service In War

Tells How Actor Brings Laughter to Fighting Men Who Need It; Has Become Symbol to Army By Shows in Camps, Airfields and Hospitals

By John Steinbeck
(Special to the Herald Tribune and Charlottetown Guardian, Copyright, 1943)

LONDON.—When the time for recognition of service to the nation in war time comes to be considered, Bob Hope should be high on the list. This man drives himself and is driven. It is impossible to see how he can do so much, can cover so much ground, can work so hard and can be so effective. He works month after month at a pace that would kill most people.

Moving about the country in camps, airfields, billets, supply depots and hospitals, you hear one thing consistently, Bob Hope is coming, or Bob Hope has been here. The Secretary of War is on an inspection tour, but it is Bob Hope who is expected and remembered.

In some way he has caught the soldiers' imagination. He gets laughter wherever he goes from men who need laughter. He has created a character for himself that of the man who tries too hard and fails, and who boasts and is caught at it. His wit is caustic, but it is never aimed at people, but at conditions and at ideas, and where he goes men roar with laughter and repeat his cracks for days afterwards.

Does Four Shows a Day

Hope does four, sometimes five, shows a day. In some camps the men must come in shifts because they cannot all hear him at the same time. Then he jumps into a car, rushes to the next post, and because he broadcasts and everyone listens to his broadcasts, he cannot use the same show more than a few times. He must, in the midst of his rushing and playing, build new shows constantly. If he did this for a while and then stopped and took a rest it would be remarkable, but he never rests. And he has been doing this ever since the war started. His energy is boundless.

Hope takes his shows all over. It isn't only to the big camps. In little groups on special duty you hear the same thing, Bob Hope is coming on Thursday. They know weeks in advance that he is coming. It would be rather a terrible thing if he did not show up. Perhaps that is some of his drive. He has made some kind of contract with himself and with the men that nobody, least of all Hope, could break. It is hard to overestimate the importance of this thing and the responsibility involved.

The battalion of men who are moving half tracks from one place to another, doing a job that gets no headlines, no public notice, and yet which must be done if there is to be a victory are forgotten, and they feel forgotten. But Bob Hope is in the country. Will he come to them, or won't he? And then one day they get a notice that he is coming. Then they feel remembered. This man in some way has become that kind of a bridge. It goes beyond how funny he can be or how well Frances Langford sings. It has been interesting to see how he has become a symbol.

Must Lead Life of Symbol

This writer, not knowing Hope, can only conjecture what goes on inside the man. He has seen horrible things and has survived them with good humor and made them more bearable, but that doesn't happen without putting a wound on a man. He is cut off from rest, and even from admitting weariness. Having become a symbol, he must lead a symbol life.

Probably the most difficult, the most tearing thing of all, is to be funny in a hospital. The long low buildings are dispersed in case they should be attacked. Working in the gardens, or reading in the lounge rooms are the ambulatory cases in maroon bathrobes. But in the wards, in the long aisles of pain the men lie, with eyes turned inward on themselves, and on their people. Some are convalescing with all the pain and itch of convalescence. Some work their fingers slowly, and some cling to the little trapezes which help them to move in bed.

The immaculate nurses move silently in the aisles at the foot of the beds. The time hangs very long. Letters, even if they came every day, would seem weeks apart. Everything that can be done is done, but medicine cannot get at the lonesomeness and the weakness of men who have been strong. And nursing cannot shorten one single endless day in a hospital bed. And Bob Hope and his company must come into this quiet, inward, lonesome place, and gently pull the minds outward and catch the interest, and finally bring laughter up out of the black water. There is a job. It hurts many of the men to laugh, hurts knitting bones, strains at sutured incisions and yet the laughter is a great medicine.

This story is told in one of those nameless hospitals which must be kept safe from bombs. Hope and company had worked and gradually they got the leaden eyes to sparkling, had planted and nurtured and coaxed laughter to life. A gunner, who had a stomach wound, was gasping softly with laughter. A railroad casualty slapped the cast on his left hand with his right hand by way of applause. And once the laughter was alive, the men laughed before the punch line and it had to be repeated so they could laugh again.

Finally, it came time for Frances Langford to sing. The men asked for "As Time Goes By". She stood up beside the little G. I. piano and started to sing. Her voice is a little hoarse and strained. She has been working too hard and too long. She got through eight bars and was into the bridge, when a boy with a head wound began to cry. She stopped, and then went on, but her voice wouldn't work any more, and she finished the song whispering and then she walked out, so no one could see her, and broke down. The ward was quiet and no one applauded. And then Hope walke into the aisle between the beds and he said seriously: "Fellows, the folks at home are having a terrible time about eggs. They can't get any powdered eggs at all. They've got to use the old fashioned kind that you break open."

There's a man for you—there is really a man.

Soldiers To Work On Farms

OTTAWA, July 25 —(CP)— Defence Minister Ralston Saturday outlined to the House of Commons a plan under which some army personnel from operational units and depots in Canada will be made available to help relieve the manpower shortage in agriculture.

"Provision is being made to provide assistance in agricultural help, first, by way of compassionate leave which. . . . . is applicable in individual cases where there is hardship in connection with a particular farm or family; second, by detailing men from certain units or certain formations in the armed services to do work as directed by the Department of Labor," Col. Ralston said.

While the Minister referred to men in the "armed services" Defence Department officials said later he was referring in his statement to army personnel only.

Administration of the policy will be left to general officers commanding in the Atlantic and Pacific commands and in the various military districts, instead of having applications come to headquarters here, with delay in some cases.
