ISLAND NOMINEE — Among the candidates to take part in the coming election in California on Nov. 8th is Mr. M. A. McInnis, Editor of the Oakland Maple Leaf, who will be the Democratic nominee for assemblyman for the 14th assembly district. Mr. Michael McInnis learned the trade of printing with the old Summerside "Progress", going as a young man to California. It was only a few years till he was recalled to the remembrance of his old friends in the three Maritime Provinces as the Editor of the "Maple Leaf." His standing in the City of Oakland, California, has ever been of the most respected and progressive. His many friends "back home" will join with his Californian supporters in wishing him victory in this election.

TORONTO, Aug. 18—(C.P.)—J. V. McAree in the Mail and Empire writes of human endurance in the days of long skirts and petticoats before the coming of the somewhat risqué shirt-waist.

"It was in the days when women did not wear low shoes except on special occasions, but kid leather, laced or buttoned half way to the knee. There were no beaches. If there were they would not have been any use to women, for this was in the days before they had learned to swim, except, maybe, Grace Darling. It was in the days when even what we now call bath tubs were a rarity. One of our friends tells us that his English teacher with great delicacy attached names to a certain well known process of the pores of the body. 'Horses sweat,' he said with an air at once final and genteel, 'men perspire and women glow.'

"We are here to say that in those days women did something more than glow. Soft collars for men had not been invented, but rubber or celluloid collars had. Every man not a laborer wore a vest and a stiff collar and starched cuffs. Belts were reserved for lacrosse players. In the circles in which we moved men had no special suits for summer, unless one might make an exception in the case of alpaca coats which were supposed to denote capitalistic if not indeed usurious practices. The man had his suit of clothes and the other suit, which was reserved for Sundays and holidays. Underwear was prickly. About the only sensibly clad man in those days was the farmer's laborer, who wore a shirt, a pair of pants, and a cow breakfast hat and a pair of boots and thick socks. Those were the days, ladies and gentlemen, of this more civilized but less rugged age, when men were men and when it was really hot."

UNUSUAL NEWSPAPERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(C.P.)—One of the typographical wonders of the newspaper world is the Scarsdale Inquirer, published by the Woman's Club at Scarsdale, N. Y., says The Quill. This publication has received warranted praise for several years from the National Editorial Association. It is printed on book stock, but even if it were printed on news, its clean, interesting display and make-up would make it shine in any collection. Naturally enough, its news policy appeals to women readers, and its editors are alert to the meaning of selection, rejection and correction.

Truly unusual is the case of Greenland's only newspaper. It is called Atuagagdliutit, which means "Freely Distributed Matter," so-called because printing and distribution costs of its 3,600 copies are shouldered by the Danish government. Although it is published only once a month, the Eskimo readers complain they cannot read an entire issue in so short a time. Its foreign news is transmitted by radio; its Greenland news is sent to Godthaab by correspondents in the many tiny coastal settlements.

WOMEN AS HEROES

MRS. JULIA TANTON

Mrs. Julia Tanton was born August 8, 1869 at Malpeque, P. E. Island, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan V. Rogers and departed this life, Tuesday, July 11, 1935, aged 73 years.

She was united in marriage to Albert W. Tanton, Esq., on March 30, 1879 and he preceded her in death on Feb. 28, 1931. Two sons also predeceased her. The surviving children are four sons, Ernest, Lloyd, George and Roy and four daughters, Mrs. L. S. White, Mrs. J. Bogan and Miss Winifred of Boston and Mrs. J. G. Whiten of Belvidere, Ill., as well as ten grandchildren, three sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Tanton was ill about three weeks and was nursed by her daughter, Mrs. J. Bogan. She was noted for her boundless hospitality and will be greatly missed in the community. She was a devoted mother and a loyal neighbor, ministering at all times to those in need. Her funeral was largely attended, services being held at the house and at the St. John's Episcopal Church, of which she was a valued and active member. Rev. Aronson White, D. D., conducted the services and three favorite hymns were sung by the choir. The pallbearers were: George and Leonard Pickering, Bruce Bernard, Loman Adams and Richard Hunt.

Girl Shoots Robber In Self-Defence

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 18—(A. P.)—A pretty 18 year old girl born amid the roar of a British barrage near the war battle lines in Belgium, was not to be daunted when three hold-up men confronted her.

Daughter of a Belgian mother and of a German soldier who was away fighting at the time of her birth, Rose Ruda had too much spirit to submit helplessly as the trio robbed the restaurant where she worked last night.

So Rose walked to the kitchen, obtained a revolver placed there for just such an emergency, and fatally wounded one of the robbers before she herself was shot in the arm. A short time later she helped capture the man she had shot, when he was brought to a doctor's office where Rose's wound was being treated.

The wounded robber, John Phillips, 23, of Cincinnati, died in general hospital with a bullet in his chest, four hours after he and two companions took $50 from the restaurant and from six customers, who were dining there.

Depression Makes Young People Dance

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—Mrs. Montie Beach, of Houston, Texas, first woman to head the dancing masters of America, believes the depression has made the young people dance more.

"Maybe they dance to keep up their spirits," she said today. "But dancing has changed a lot—for the better, I think.

"Maybe that is because the times are different. No more of this wild abandoned dancing. You know, it used to seem the young people had a devil in them they had to get rid of.

"Now they have poise and dignity; they are more subdued, they dance more smoothly and gracefully."

Mrs. Beach admits she is proud of her new office—"not proud for myself, but for all women."

WOMAN FOUND A SNAKE IN HER BED

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Aug. 18—A copperhead snake crawled into the bed of Olive Pine, 30, while she slept in her log cabin at Sylvan early today and bit her hand. The woman awoke and called to her brother, who took her to a hospital, where her condition was reported as not serious.

The snake apparently entered the cabin through a place where plaster had fallen from between logs.

LEMONADE STAINS

During the summer months lemonade stains are frequently incurred on frocks and table linen. Such stains are not difficult to remove, provided they are treated at once before the stain is allowed to harden. Sponge the lemonade stain immediately with cold water. After a few minutes it will be found that the stain has quite disappeared. If the stain has been left to soak overnight in cold water, and then sponged with cold, soapy water,

MAKE THE QUEEN HOTEL Your Headquarters FAIR WEEK

What did the singer mean when he called his country (the land of the free and the home of the brave)? "He was probably referring to bachelors and married men!"

BILLIARDS

The Delvay Hotel Billiard Tournament which commenced Thursday night at the hotel when the elimination games were held with Miss Dickie Dicks nosing out her five opponents and winning the much coveted prize. The large number of fans was kept in a state of excitement mingled with suspense as thrilling play after thrilling play was witnessed. The first game was played between V. Chatsoun of R. T. Holman's Ltd. and Bill Dicks of the Hotel. Dicks won by a lead of 14 points. In the next game Miss Nora Bowie of Brockville, Ont., won over Miss Molly Davies of Toronto, with a lead of 7 points. The next game between Bill Dicks and D. McCormack of the Hotel gave Dicks a win by 6 points. Miss Nora Bowie strove to outdo her opponent Miss Dicks in the next contest but in the last few minutes Miss Dicks rolled up a majority of 12 points. In the play-off Miss Dicks again handled a steady cue and the score board read 20-15 in favor of Miss Dicks which made her winner of the Tournament. The prizes were presented by Master Ronnie Heeler of Sackville, N. B. After the games the players were treated to refreshments.
