Chicago Has Lifted Itself High and Dry

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Chicago has lifted itself fifteen feet by its own boot straps. In so doing, it has made the building of a subway more difficult, as city engineers point out, but it has freed itself high and dry above the level of Lake Michigan, and many of its downtown buildings stand on a level higher than the water level. The decrease was almost wholly accounted for by reduced grain shipments from the prairie provinces. Reports indicate, however, that the volume of production will not be seriously affected. A good portion of the wheat has been cut, but the situation is reflected in the current car loadings were smaller than in 1925 for the first time this year. This decrease was almost wholly accounted for by reduced grain shipments from the prairie provinces.

The Worlds Wheat Crop

The world over, increased prosperity increases wheat consumption, and wheat production itself is one factor in that prosperity. When Canada produces a large wheat crop selling at a good price, the buying power of the Canadian farmer is increased. The Canadian farmer then purchases more goods from the cities and towns, and the purchasing power of the industrial worker is increased and he, in turn, buys more wheat, with the result that Canadian wheat consumption tends to be higher in years of crops than in poor years. Forecasts and estimates for the wheat crops in twenty-seven countries in the Northern Hemisphere, producing about 85% of the world's wheat supply, indicate a total production of 2,861 million bushels for 1925, an increase of 1.2% over the 1924 crop. No record crops and no crop failures have been reported, and a more normal world distribution of the crop is to be anticipated this year than in the past few years. Last year, Europe's large crop resulted in unusually small shipments to European ports, while the surplus supply was absorbed by heavy shipments to the Orient. Since crops of European importation promise to be smaller than last year and their carryovers are moderately low, larger supplies promise to be available in exporting countries as a whole. International trade in 1925-26 is likely to be somewhat larger than in 1924-25, but smaller than in the two preceding years. Steady improvement in European stability is a further factor which gives promise that Europe will continue to buy wheat in good volume in the face of crop reductions this year. Constant study of the course of probable future demand in the world is an important factor in the world wheat situation as are estimates and forecasts concerning supply. The official estimate of Canada's current wheat crop was revised upward on September 10th, to 399,008,000 bushels. Since that date, however, adverse weather conditions have prevailed in the prairie provinces, resulting in a general lowering of grades, not only of wheat, but also of barley grains. Reports indicate, however, that the volume of production will not be seriously affected. A good portion of the wheat has been cut, but the situation is reflected in the current car loadings were smaller than in 1925 for the first time this year. This decrease was almost wholly accounted for by reduced grain shipments from the prairie provinces.

Successful Rally Day Services

It is not often that the United Church at Victoria is as crowded for room as it was on Sunday night last for the Rally Day Service. The auditorium was full to overflowing and the gallery was requisitioned by a number of young men.

The programme in two sections was splendidly presented. Mr. Elisha Wright the Sunday School Superintendent, guided teachers and scholars through the devotional period and the collection plates revealed $19.00 of the congregation. The second section, led by the minister, the Rev. Geo. F. Sears was a combination of short recitations by the various classes and a finely executed Pageant prepared by the Board of Religious Education of the United Church of Canada and entitled "United for Service". Great credit is due to Mrs. E. Boswell and her helpers Mrs. Jabej and Mrs. Donald Murchison for the care they took and the success they achieved in training the children for their respective parts. It was a delight to listen as primary boy or senior girl added their small or larger share toward the completion of an excellent programme.

In conclusion the pastor crystallized the spirit and sentiment of the service in a brief address to the Sunday School. It was an appeal to them to serve their God and their country so as to make Canada a land to love, to take as their heroes and heroines in life not men and women of the movie world or the pugilistic ring but those whose lives and efforts have benefited the world of human beings, and to be watchful of the demon of liquor, the wolf of impurity and the serpent of pleasure that are seeking to steal the very life and soul of Canada. It was a satisfied congregation that departed for the Benediction with a feeling that Rally Day Services were worth while when such deep impressions were made.

One Woman Candidate

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 7.—A woman is the only independent candidate for a state office in Kansas this year. She is Miss Carrie Carlisle of Winfield, now county superintendent. Both the Republican and Democratic nominees are men. The state superintendent is the only executive office ever previously held by a woman.
